

Animals Howl Under Eclipse

By The Associated Press

The day turned into eerie twilight, then black night and back to day again. On the moon-darkened coast of Alaska, fishermen heard a pack of animals, possibly wolves, howl in the woods, and stars twinkled north of Anchorage at 9:40 a.m.

In Japan, a pink dawn turned to a sudden black sunrise, and the day started 29 seconds late.

The spooky spectacle of a total eclipse of the sun—blotted out in some areas by clouds—moved in an arc 10,000 miles long and 60 miles wide from northern Hokkaido, Japan, across Alaska and the top of Canada to Maine in two and three-quarters hours.

It was Sunday in Japan

and Saturday in North America.

In the band of totality the eclipse showed a black moon inside a pearly ring. To the south the partial eclipse hung like a nibbled cookie over Los Angeles and a clipped toenail over New York.

SCIENTISTS by the hundreds saw it from the air and ground and said they may have learned something new from an event as old as the universe.

At Fort Churchill, Man., U.S. Air Force men working for science on the rim of the Arctic Circle fired a barrage of rockets at the eclipse in the first space-age study of the spectacle.

The rockets carried instruments to measure changes in the ionosphere, the electrified layer high in the earth's atmosphere, and for special observations of the sun's spectrum.

A single fact-finding rocket was fired from Wallops Island, Va.

Americans experienced the eclipse in totality in Alaska and Maine. Canadians saw it as it cut down from Snag in the Yukon to the northwestern Maine border.

To the south, Americans and Canadians saw it to lesser degrees.

The last total eclipse for Americans in the northeast was on April 28, 1930. The next one for Americans will be on March 7, 1970, moving in totality across Florida, Georgia and the coastal areas of the Carolinas.

An army of scientists, amateur astronomers and just plain curious laymen watched the eclipse from land, sea and air.

U.S. Astronaut M. Scott Carpenter and a group of scientists whisked along the path of the eclipse in a jetliner to attain data on the freaky light emanating from behind a black blob of a moon. They hoped to find clues for man's future ventures into space.

For science, this was perhaps the most elaborately covered eclipse in history. With equipment of the modern age, scientists photographed it, timed it, measured it and simply looked at the beauty of it. Their results won't be known for weeks, perhaps months.

In Anchorage, the morning sun turned to a bright moonlight that cast eerie shadows as the eclipse first moved across the North American continent. Streetlights were turned on.

Most people in Anchorage heeded the warning that the rays of the eclipsed sun could damage their eyes. They peered at the eclipse with a device of pinholed cardboard.

Nuclear-Ban Pact Near Initialing

WASHINGTON (AP)—Administration sources said Saturday U.S. negotiator W. Averell Harriman may initial a nuclear test-ban agreement in Moscow early this week.

This indicated that the East-West negotiators have essentially agreed in principle on a ban against atomic testing in the atmosphere, in space and under water, and that no obstacles expected to block such an agreement have been encountered in the first week of thrashing out details.

In Moscow, Premier Khrushchev said Saturday night a nuclear test-ban agreement is in sight if Big Three negotiations continue their present course.

"The talks have been going on well. There have been no obstacles. If they go on as they have, an agreement is in sight," the premier told diplomats at a Kremlin reception. With a wave of a hand, he summoned Harriman to hear the comment.

CONCLUSION of such an agreement by Harriman at Moscow is expected to present the Kennedy administration with a need for followup action at home and abroad.

Domestically, President Kennedy has promised that in accord with the Senate's constitutional right to pass on treaties any test-ban agreement will be presented to that body for its advice and consent.

On the foreign front, he has promised to consult the Western Allies on any matters affecting them which have arisen at the Moscow talks and has said wider discussions among other nations should follow a test-ban accord. The Soviets have raised a number of proposals for European security and relaxing cold-war tensions which U.S. diplomats want to talk over with the Allies before deciding how to respond.

When Khrushchev opened the talks last Monday he apparently outlined things he wanted to come from the conference. His proposals

SLANG EDITOR DEFENDS LEXICON

(Editor's Note: A controversy over the American Dictionary of Slang has raged in California for two months. Some communities and schools have banned it. To find out how the dictionary was compiled and why it includes blunt terms, this newspaper contacted its final editor. This article gives his answers.)

By STERLING BEMIS
(Copyright 1963 The Independent Press-Telegram)

As the final editor of the Dictionary of American Slang, Stuart Flexner thinks he is "truly more conservative than the so-called 'conservative groups' said to be attacking the book."

Offered by this newspaper a chance to answer his California critics, Flexner continues the comparison:

"I seem to believe more faithfully in conserving our Constitution and its free speech amendment. I seem to want to conserve our individual and social sanity because I know that we cannot change reality by censoring it.

"I believe that educators should educate rather than shirk responsibility through censorship. I believe that such things as defecation, reproduction, thinking and speaking are very old, and should continue.

"I do not believe there is anything obscene about our dictionary, or reference books, or free speech, or thinking, or learning."

Many who have assailed the book as obscene have done so on the basis of 250 definitions of blunt slang terms in five pages of excerpts circulated by foes of the dictionary.

Circulation of the excerpts has been attacked by Dr. Max Rafferty, state superintendent of public instruction, who was among the first to brand the volume unfit for young minds. Dr. Rafferty now takes the stand that the dictionary should be available as a reference work for serious scholars at the college level.

The book contains an estimated 20,000 definitions of all types. It was compiled and edited by Flexner, who holds a master of arts degree, from a mass of more than 100,000 quotations and citations. They were assembled over a decade by Harold Wentworth, Ph. D.

Flexner first became interested in the sweep and range of the American language as a 17-year-old college junior. He devoted six years of library research to the project.

"The final six years and the final book was my responsibility," Flexner writes in a report prepared for The Independent Press-Telegram, "and I saw fit to include taboo and derogatory words. The publisher (Thomas Y. Crowell, established 1834) and I were in complete agreement.

TOP AIDES' PAY RAISED

$33,308,027 City Budget Gets OK From Councilmen

By GEORGE WEEKS

After granting salary increases to three top officials, Long Beach City Council Saturday approved the city's annual budget allotting $33,308,027 to tax-supported activities.

The final budget figure was $713,712 above the preliminary total recommended by City Manager John R. Mansell on June 11. But $332,253 of the increase was a special transportation levy which the manager indicated at the time would probably be necessary.

EXCEPT for the 5-cent special rate for the voter-approved transit fund, the new tax rate will be within three-tenths of one cent of last year's $1.373 per $100 assessed valuation, Mansell estimated.

The precise rate will be set next month after final valuation figures are fixed, including the State Board of Equalization's assessment of public utilities.

Councilmen unanimously increased the city manager's salary from $26,000 to $27,500 annually, the city attorney's from $23,400 to $24,600 and the city auditor's from $15,600 to $17,800.

City Auditor Murray T. Courson got the largest raise to bring his salary into traditional parity with the city prosecutor's, boosted at an earlier session.

IN ONE last pay action, the council also raised the scale for messengers and elevator operators from $397 to $408 monthly to bring them into parity with custodians.

Earlier votes had granted salary boosts approximating $1 million annually to virtually all the 4,000 city employees. They will become effective Sept. 1. The average increase was 3.3 per cent. In most respects the council accepted Mansell's pay recommendations.

Not included in the $33,308,027 budget figure is an item of $385,000 listed as a special reserve fund. This is revenue the city would get if possessory interest taxes on oil deposits were assessed against production contractors on the basis of 100 percent of the value of the oil in place.

ALTHOUGH the county assessor's office has adopted a valuation policy to that effect, the Legislature has passed a bill outlawing it. City officials don't expect to get the added money.

Copter Crash Victims Named

TOKYO (AP)—U.S. Navy authorities Saturday identified three men killed in the crash of a helicopter Thursday night near the U.S. Naval Air Station at Atsugi.

The Navy said they were: 1st Lt. Charles F. Munson, of Canandaigua, N.Y.; S. Sgt. John R. Scoblic, of Alton, Iowa; and Sgt. Robert J. Bartrow, Alhambra, Calif.

Woman Shoots Husband

A mother of four who shot her husband seven times after what police said may have been a 24-hour running argument, was booked for attempted murder Saturday night.

Mrs. Marlene Cowan, 30, of 2207 Lime Ave., began firing at Sharron Cowan, 35, as he walked out the back door of the house, according to Detective Charles H. Parks.

The man was taken to Memorial Hospital in critical condition with wounds to hip, thigh, hand and arm, but doctors expected him to live.

Twelve-year-old Bobby Creeden, the woman's son, was playing at the front of the house and saw the last of the fusillade as his stepfather staggered to the front yard and collapsed.

Neighbors reported that the couple apparently had been arguing almost steadily ever since Friday night, said Det. Sgt. R. A. Tally.

AF in Biggest Booster Test

COYOTE, Calif. (UPI) — The Air Force Saturday fired the free world's largest solid-propellant rocket motor—a 75-foot, 250-ton prototype of engines which will form the first stage of the Titan III-C space launch vehicle.

The Air Force said the motor developed a thrust of "in excess of one million pounds."

3RD IN TORRANCE

Ex-Officer Sought in Theft Gives Up

Ralph E. Walker, former Torrance police sergeant, wanted in connection with a Torrance burglary, surrendered to Torrance police Saturday.

His arrest was ordered Friday, but police were unable to find him.

He told them Saturday that he had spent the night in Crestline and was returning home when he read of the order for his arrest in a newspaper. He went straight home, called his attorney and surrendered.

HE WAS RELEASED on $1,050 bail. His arraignment is set for next Friday.

His arrest arose out of the burglary Wednesday at a medical building at 22509 Kent Ave. Two officers opened fire on a man who fled from the building. Shortly thereafter, they were joined by Walker, who said he had heard the shots and would help them.

Questioning and investigation led police to believe that Walker was the man who fled.

WALKER WAS SUSPENDED, and later resigned. He was a veteran of 12 years on the force, with an excellent record.

His arrest was the second blow to the Torrance department in two weeks. On July 6 two young officers were arrested by Los Angeles police and charged with taking a moneybag from two women.

Brazilian Coed Is New Miss Universe

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (UPI)—Ieda Maria Vargas, a dark-haired, 18-year-old beauty from Brazil with a cheering section all her own, as named Miss Universe of 1963 Saturday night.

The brown-eyed college coed from Porto Alegre was the first winner from her country and one of three Latin American beauties among the 15 semifinalists in the week-long pageant to pick "the prettiest girl in the world."

"It is such an emotion I couldn't think of anything at all," Ieda Maria said through an interpreter. She speaks only Portuguese.

She was crowned by outgoing Queen Norma Nolan of Argentina before about 5,000 cheering onlookers in the Miami Beach convention hall.

Clash Halted by Gas

CAMBRIDGE, Md. (UPI) —The National Guard had to resort to tear gas Saturday night to break up an imminent clash with a group of Negroes who had begun shoving the troops assigned to block a threatened demonstration.

When order was restored, Negro leaders announced that they were calling off a demonstration planned for Saturday night. However, they said that they would stage another demonstration this afternoon.

Later, a small group of whites tried to force their way through a National Guard barricade before the Negro section, but they were turned back. No arrests were made.

ONLY ONE tear-gas shell was thrown and there were no injuries. But the episode marked the first time in this eastern shore fishing town that the guard had to use anything but persuasion to deal with the Negro population.

Gen. George C. Gelston, commander of the guardsmen, said the Negroes involved in the incident were "just a couple of drunks."

But Mrs. Gloria Richard, an integration leader, accused Gelston of causing the plot by reading off tonight's demonstration.

She was one of seven Negro leaders who were meeting with Gelston in a shoe-shine shop a few yards away, when the flareup occurred.

L.A.C. Says: Power Forced Upon Them

In the book, "Dear and Glorious Physician," Tiberius Caesar is quoted as saying to Luke: "Power mad Caesars never seize power—it is forced upon them by a decadent evil and greedy people. Where are the liberties of the people then? They deserve the kind of lawmakers they have."

He was referring to the period almost 2000 years ago when Romans were ruled by ruthless dictators who provided spectacles in the arenas and a minimum incentive for people to work. Like many other periods in our history, it was the people's demands for free entertainment and their loss of morality that ended in destruction of a civilization.

In today's world we do not have the decadent orgies to entertain the people. But we are following a trend that is forcing ever-greater power in government. Our people are demanding more and more benefits—and are willing to turn over to popular leaders the freedoms they have so long enjoyed—and for which their ancestors fought to achieve.

When we realize that half of the Los Angeles County budget is for welfare payments, we should understand that we are well on the road to the welfare state that must end in a dictatorship by an all powerful government. When we continually spend more money than is taken in by the federal government, we should realize only disaster can be the result.

And yet, we find all levels of government granting more and more benefits to the people—most of which the people had always provided for themselves. We find large segments of our population willing to sacrifice freedom of enterprise in exchange for government handouts. This applies to people who want handouts for so-called urban renewal—farm subsidies and general relief.

We find the people enjoying immoral books, motion pictures and accepting the antics of actors and actresses which would have been banned by the producers 50 years ago. We permit our children to attend shows where such stories and characters are tremendous box office attractions. There is a moral let down—not greatly different than that which preceded the downfall of past civilizations.

Large organizations advocate the abolition of the loyalty oath. The restriction—or banning—of such filth as the "Dictionary of American Slang" is opposed by many of our college professors. We pay out vast sums of money for care of illegitimate children and increase the payments for each additional illegitimate child—and say it is better for a child to be brought up in such a home than for the children to be placed in a decent foster home.

In each of these activities the people are forcing greater power by government. Many of the government leaders gladly accept the power because the people vote for them if they promise more and more benefits. As the power grows, the people's liberties are given away to the edicts of the all powerful government. When a leader like Hitler or Mussolini appears on the scene, all power is given them. But, in every case in history, this has ended in disaster. Hitler and Mussolini lasted a relatively short time. But they gained power only because the people had failed to protect the freedoms they thought they wanted. It is a trend that should disturb us in this country because we are steadily giving up the liberties we have long cherished.—LAC

Lexicon Backed by Editor

"We decided such words had to be included for completeness and to give a true picture of slang. We tried to note such entries by the comment 'taboo' or 'derog.' Thus in innocent reader meeting such words for the first time is fully warned that they are not generally accepted in polite society.

"To have left out these words would have been a disservice to scholars and students of the language—and an insult to the credulity of any intelligent, serious users of the book. To leave out such words, among the most frequently used, would have been a mockery of scholarship."

The editor sees no reason why the dictionary as a reference book should be restricted to the college level.

"TO BAN a reference book," he writes, "is to ingrain upon the student a disregard for objective scholarship, for education, and certainly for constitutional democracy and free speech.

"If a few children get a thrill from seeing a taboo word, I feel sorry for those children, their parents and their teachers. But I certainly would not deny reference books to healthy children so that sick children will not see them."

Flexner doubts that youthful minds are corrupted by books.

"Words are not deeds," he says. "Deeds may be obscene, immoral, illegal, but individual words could be. If individual words could be immoral or illegal, then 'murder,' 'robbery,' 'rape,' and many others would not be in our books and newspapers.

"IT IS said that primitive groups confuse the word and the deed to say 'die' to a primitive person is to put a hex on him and that he may lie down and die. I do not believe there are any primitive tribes in California. (Any child who is old enough to read is not a primitive.)"

A child who writes a "dirty word" on a wall does not do so while copying it out of a book, the language authority contends.

"Such a youth has a problem beyond merely seeing a word in a book. To ban the book, the word, the wall, or the chalk, to cut off the child's hand or his mind—none of these will solve the problem the child has.

"ANY EDUCATOR who uses censorship rather than education to 'improve' a child's mind or morals is evading his duty.

"A healthy mind, no matter how young, does not abandon virtue for a word. A sick mind, no matter how mature, will never be cured by censorship."

The editor indicates amazement over the recent outcry, since in three years after its publication hundreds of magazines and newspapers reviewed the dictionary without calling it obscene.

THE LIST includes Time Magazine, the New York Times and the Christian Science Monitor. The dictionary was reviewed at length on Voice of America.

Flexner sums up: "Anyone has a right to refrain from buying the book or from looking at a copy. Any parent has a right to tell his OWN children not to read certain books.

"However, I don't think anyone has the right to tell ALL children that, to try to be a father to everyone."

tion hall, and a nationwide television audience.

THE RUNNERSUP were, in order, Miss Denmark, blonde Aino Korwa of Copenhagen; Miss Ireland, Marlene McKeown of Belfast; Miss Philippines, Lorraine Bennett of Quezon City, and Miss Korea, Kim Myung Ja of Seoul.

Ieda Maria's choice nearly brought down one side of the auditorium, where 50 young Brazilian exchange students at the University of Miami had been cheering and stomping their feet each time she appeared before the five judges.

As she paraded down the runway, her parents crowded to the police lines and she bent over and kissed them.

HER FATHER, 38-year-old Jose, a professor of economics at Rio Grande do Sul High School, said it was an "indescribably emotional moment."

Her mother, Alda, also a teacher, screamed "Ieda, Ieda—you've done it!"

Her father said "We always thought she was the greatest." Ieda Maria, the eldest of a family of six children, has three brothers and two sisters.

Asked if she had a boyfriend, Ieda Maria shook her head vigorously in the negative.

"I SEND a big embrace to all the Brazilian people," she said. She said she would like to go home as soon as possible.

Ieda Maria, who is attending a teachers' college in Brazil, won, besides her glittering crown, $7,500 in cash plus a $10,000 personal appearance contract.

IEDA VARGAS... Cheered

She will also take home thousands of dollars worth of other prizes.

THE GIRLS went on with the finals after a sit-down strike during afternoon rehearsals touched off when officials said the girls would not be named when presented during the 90-minute telecast, except for the 15 semifinalists. But the girls won their point and each of the 92 entries was named.

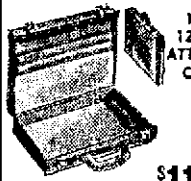

The girls paraded in glittering and flowing evening gowns, in colorful native costumes and then in skintight bathing suits.

A special "Miss Amity" which the girls voted on themselves went to Miss Scotland, Grace Taylor.

Susan Pratt, the Miss England who fractured her leg in an automobile mishap just after arriving here last week, was brought onto the stage in wheelchair.

Haiti Rebels, Troops Battle

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—Travelers arriving from Haiti Saturday night reported heavy fighting between insurgent and government troops in the foothills around the Haitian capital, Port au Prince. There were indications casualties were heavy in the fighting, stepped up since government troops killed antigovernment leader Clement Borgeot and his brother Harry July 14. Most fighting was said to have occurred at night. A Haitian woman said a rebel band attacked the military academy Thursday and killed two soldiers.

MOVIE BEAUTY QUEEN

Looks Like a Contestant, but This Doll's IBC Judge

By DOB SANDERS

When the International Beauty Congress opens its 1963 spectacular pageant next month all the beauty won't, by any means, be on the stage.

A good hundred and eighteen pounds of it will be in the judges' box watching the girls.

This will be in the form of Arlene Dahl, who is topping a stellar career as an actress and Hollywood glamour queen, with new career as a beauty expert and beauty book author.

The lovely redhead, by popular acclaim one of the most beautiful women in the world, is the latest of seven judges to be signed by Executive Producer Wayne Dailard to judge the contest.

THE BOSOMY beauty, with a head for revealing figures and a figure for revolving heads, has written a newspaper column on beauty entitled, "Let's Be Beautiful" and a book called, appropriately, "Always Ask a Man," due to be published this fall.

A native of Minneapolis, she began her acting career at the age of eight, got a minor part in a Broadway musical and springboarded in the usual fashion to fame in Hollywood with her first movie, "The Bride Goes Wild" with Van Johnson.

She was married to the movie Tarzan, Lex Barker and the Argentina Inver, Fernando Lamas, before marrying the Texas oil millionaire, Chris Holmes, in October, 1961.

SHE LIVES in Pacific Palisades with Holmes and her two children, Lorenzo Lamas, 5, and Carol Christine Holmes, 2.

Her addition to the judges' panel, along with Mrs. Aiko Yamakano, Japan's leading beauty shop

ARLENE DAHL

operator, adds the feminine touch and evaluation to the judging.

"Women tend to be more critical when they look at other women," the shapely Miss Dahl says. "While the men will undoubtedly examine closely the technical aspects of the girls' beauty, I will be looking for the subtle nuances."

THE MOST important thing is, of course, femininity. A girl may be extremely beautiful of face and figure but if she doesn't have the feminine grace and the inner beauty of the true woman, she cannot be judged a world beauty.

Although she has acted as a beauty judge several times in the past, once in Long Beach and several times on the East Coast, she says she is eagerly looking forward to her job here next month.

"Although it may sound strange I have never been in a beauty contest," she says. "I find I really admire the guts of these girls who walk out on the stage with their hopes pinned to their heart strings and compete. We should all be very proud of them."

IBC NAMES PANEL OF 7 JUDGES

The executive producer of the International Beauty pageant announced this week the names of the seven judges who will choose the 1963 International Beauty next month.

They are:

Vincent Trotta, former Academy Award-winning movie art director and dean of the IBC judges, who has served on the panel for 12 years.

Alberto Vargas, internationally known artist and creator of the Vargas girl in addition to the IBC girl.

Mrs. Aiko Yamakano, Japan's leading beauty authority who owns and operates a chain of beauty shops over the world.

Gordon Rau, make-up director for Warner Brothers studios and president of the Society of Make-Up Artists.

Irvin P. Mazzei, one of the founders of the American Guild of Variety Artists who is now western regional director of the guild.

Charles De Maire, internationally known creator of high fashion clothing and former director of wardrobe and executive designer for 20th Century Fox.

Arlene Dahl, movie actress, beauty columnist, author and Hollywood glamour queen.

Attacker Seizes Family

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A gunman held a father and his two daughters captive in their home overnight, raped the girls, then fatally shot himself Saturday as police closed in.

They identified the gunman as Howard D. Ayres, 22, a plumber, of Santa Susanna. He died at Northridge Receiving Hospital.

DETECTIVE Sgt. C. E. Anderson gave this account: About 3:30 p.m. Friday Ayres knocked at the door of Ralph Kesler's secluded home in an orange grove in the Granada Hills section of the San Fernando Valley.

He asked to use the telephone, was admitted, then drew a .22-caliber automatic pistol.

With rope he tied up Kesler, 53, and his daughters Kathryn, 22, and Sheryl, 18. Kesler's wife is visiting relatives in Texas.

DURING the night, the invader released the two girls and raped them. Their father remained tied in another room.

Early Saturday Kathryn told the man she was a diabetic and had to keep a life-or-death appointment with a doctor in Reseda. Ayres warned that if she didn't return he would harm her father and sister.

The girl went to the doctor's office and called West Valley police but told them she was returning to the house.

OFFICERS waited until she was inside. Then 30 to 40 policemen with rifles, shotguns, bulletproof vests and walkie-talkies surrounded the home.

Shortly before noon, Sgt. Anderson telephoned from a neighbor's house. Kesler answered. Anderson said the place was surrounded.

Ayres went into the bathroom and shot himself. Police moved inside and found him on the floor.

Claim 'Ridiculous'

CATALINA TO REPEL INVADERS

By EDWARD F. O'CONNOR JR.,
United Press International
Demands by ultra-nationalists in Mexico that American return Catalina and other offshore islands drew a mixed reaction Saturday from residents and officials.

Some took the demands as a big joke, others discoursed freely and fluently on the alleged legal impossibility of such an action, despite this week's cession of the Chamizal—a multimillion-dollar strip of land in El Paso, Texas—to Mexico.

THERE'S supposed to be a big rhubarb on this," said Mrs. Isabel Buell, wife of the island's resident Los Angeles County Sheriff's Deputy. "I think we'd probably fight for Catalina. I don't think Mexico could get her."

Jim Townsend, assistant to the president of Santa Catalina Island Co. which owns the island, said the possibility of its return to Mexico:

"That's ridiculous. I think it's something President Kennedy could answer."

Townsend, however, said "it isn't totally funny at all, even though in a way it is. After all, it is a problem for our government isn't it?"

TOWNSEND last night telephoned Philip K. Wrigley, the company's president and principal stockholder, in the east.

Wilmington Firemen Save Plant

A fire of major proportions in the Texaco refinery was averted Saturday afternoon by the quick action of the Wilmington Fire Department.

The fire broke out in a 10-story cracking plant just south of Pacific Coast Highway. Battalion Chief Jack Douglas said. Three engine companies, a truck company, a squad company and a boat tender were rushed to the scene. (A boat tender is equipment that generally works with fireboats.)

The blaze was quickly extinguished. Firemen stayed at the scene several hours because of smoldering insulation.

Wrigley's other interests include the Chicago Cubs baseball team; Wrigley Field in Chicago, where the team plays, and Wrigley Chewing Gum.

"Our viewpoint is this," Townsend said after the call. "Regardless of the validity of Mexico's claim, it doesn't change the ownership of Santa Catalina Island. All it would do (if the island were returned to Mexico) would be to change the jurisdiction it comes under."

"We naturally would prefer it to remain under the American flag, otherwise if you went to Catalina you'd have to get a passport and go through customs."

HE SAID Wrigley did not plan to contact Washington about the matter.

Wrigley's father purchased the island from a wealthy pioneer California family—the Bannings—about 1919 and is an infrequent visitor. The island has about 1,500 permanent residents, but the number swells to several thousand during the summer months.

Regardless of who's right or wrong, the attitude of many islanders and vacationers probably is summed up by an island official, Avalon's city manager, Felix Karpien:

"We stand ready to repel any invasion that might be forthcoming and will fight to the last man."

Bay City 'Bombing' Quiz Set

An inquiry has been ordered into the accidental bombing run on Market Street in San Francisco by a U.S. Navy jet fighter, the commanding officer of the naval air station at Los Alamitos reported Saturday.

Capt. William P. Tanner Jr., said the chief of Naval Air Reserve training, Glenview, Ill., "has convened a formal board of investigation which will commence an immediate inquiry into causes for the incident."

THE TWO-FOOT-LONG practice bomb, which contained a small charge designed to give off a cloud of smoke on impact, landed in the middle of the street at high noon Friday.

Nobody was injured, but the bomb gouged a hole in the asphalt a foot wide and four inches deep before ricocheting in a 300-foot arc over several buildings and fell on a truck and baffled three men eating their lunches in the vehicle.

The bomb did not explode despite the bounce.

Several hours after the bomb fell, red-faced military officials identified the pilot of the A4A Skyhawk as Lt. R. A. Kiner, 32, 1026 Acacia St., Anaheim.

KINER, unaware that he had lost one of his six practice bombs, returned to Crow's Landing in Central California from what he thought was a routine practice mission. The loss was discovered later, after he had left the field.

Kiner, when reached at Los Alamitos naval air station late Saturday, said he "first heard about the bomb over a radio newscast," and "thanked God it didn't hit anybody."

He said he was completely dumbfounded when told that his jet plane was missing one of its practice bombs.

WORLD NEWS BRIEFS

Ships Collide in Fog, 18 Die

QUEBEC (AP)—A big British ore carrier, making its way through heavy fog, collided with a freighter half its size and sank in the St. Lawrence River Saturday. Late Saturday night Quebec police counted at least 18 dead, 16 missing and 17 survivors in the river tragedy.

Maritime officials said the carrier went down so swiftly there was no time for an SOS. A marine radio estimate earlier had put the toll at 22 dead based on a report from the tug Foundation Valiant, which was directing the search for survivors. Authorities said a final tally was still to come.

Woman Admits 'Kidnap' Was Hoax

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Police said Saturday that an attractive 28-year-old mother's kidnap story was a hoax concocted to avoid scandal.

Mrs. Sylvia May Wilson and Daniel Myrick, 27, were booked on suspicion of conspiracy to make a false police report.

"I don't know how I got into this," Mrs. Wilson said. "I sat talking to Danny at the West Winds bar Monday night and it kept getting later and later, and then I was too frightened to go home."

"It wasn't a planned thing — premeditated — we just went off together," she explained. "I'm not unhappy with my husband — nobody could be unhappy with him — he's a wonderful person and his folks have been wonderful to me."

Mrs. Wilson was found on U.S. 101 by Ventura police Friday, with her hands taped behind her and her clothing torn. Police said she told of being tied nude to an old iron bed in a mountain cabin after being shugged and kidnaped from a shopping center Monday afternoon.

Rail Talks Continue Through Weekend

WASHINGTON (AP)—New and intensive efforts aimed at breaking the railway labor deadlock were pushed by government mediators Saturday night as President Kennedy made ready his recommendations to Congress for legislation to avert the threatened nationwide strike.

A government team headed by Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz met in a Saturday night session with representatives of the carriers and scheduled new meetings with officials of the five operating unions for Sunday.

Kennedy Golfs in (Partial) Darkness

HYANNIS, Mass. (UPI) — President Kennedy golfed through the eclipse Saturday.

The chief executive, after nearly three hours of cruising aboard the White House yacht Honey Fitz, went to the Hyannis-Port Club in the late afternoon to play golf with his sister, Mrs. Pat Lawford, and James Reed, assistant secretary of treasury.

Nearly Nude Escapee Recaptured

LEWISTON, Idaho (AP)—A six-foot Texan, who wiggled out of jail here Friday clad in nothing but pink panties, was back in the same jail Saturday along with her fugitive boyfriend.

Mrs. Millie Jones, 36, returned wearing grimey jeans, a blouse and boots . . . but wanting to comb-out her matted blonde hair.

She had sapped a jailer, then released boyfriend William Splawn, 40. Outside, they stole a car from a shocked clerk but wrecked it 15 miles south of Lewiston.

A ground and air posse Friday couldn't find the two-charged with unlawful flight in connection with armed robbery in Eastland, Tex. But Saturday, the glint of a shotgun barrel in some thornbushes gave away the pair's hiding place, and they were captured.

Mistaken U.S. Soldiers Fight Battle

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—Apparently mistaking each other for communist guerrillas, U.S. soldiers fought a battle against each other at an airstrip 65 miles south of here Thursday night. One was killed and another was wounded.

U.S. military authorities, disclosing the gun battle today, classified the incident as accidental. The army in Washington identified the dead soldier as Spec. 5 Carl Ballard of Madill, Okla., and the wounded man as Spec. 4 Donald L. Whitehouse, Route 1, Crofton, Ky.

Heavy Rains in Midwest

By United Press International

Thunderstorms which dumped up to 5½ inches of rain on the midwest, leaving death and destruction, Saturday pushed from Oklahoma to the Appalachians, bringing severe weather warnings to parts of nine states.

Indianapolis, Ind., got 2.34 inches of rain Saturday and Lexington, Ky., more than 2 inches.

The storms broke a week-long heat wave in the midwest. In Indiana three persons were killed by lightning.

WHILE K TALKS PEACE

Military Chiefs Say Russia Still No. 1 Menace to U.S.

By ELTON C. FAY

AP Military Affairs Reporter

WASHINGTON—U. S. strategic planners began weighing the possibility of a world power realignment long before the current angry Soviet-Chinese dispute and Premier Khrushchev's talk about a non-aggression agreement with the West.

But the fact that this possibility has been considered for more than a decade and almost certainly is being looked at today has not changed the professional military man's belief that the major armed menace to this country continues to be the Soviet Union.

The potentials of the discussions in Moscow still are too nebulous to warrant any recasting now of American military strategy.

ON THE OTHER hand, the Joint Chiefs of Staff maintain a folio, constantly revised, of contingency war plans. It is patterned to estimates of what changes might, or conceivably could, occur in international situations, with accompanying combinations of powers.

Russia and her relationship with present or erstwhile allies as well as the free world is a prime factor in the JCS "program for planning" folio.

The program is divided into three strategic plans — long-range, medium-range and short-range. Each is reviewed and changed annually.

The plans, of course, also are patterned to national military objectives as established by the President and the National Security Council. The military planning is coordinated with political, psychological and economic factors. The Joint Chiefs therefore keep close liaison with the State Department and other agencies in an effort to make the military plans as realistic as possible.

THE FIRST of the three plans—the "Joint Long-range Strategic Estimate"—covers a four-year period, beginning eight years after a revision of the previous plan. This means that the estimate is projected 12 years into the future.

The mid-range strategic area is covered in the "Joint Strategic Objectives Plan" (which the Pentagon calls "JASOP.") The JCS dictionary says this plan "translates U. S. national objectives and policies for the time-frame five to eight years in the future into terms of military objectives and strategic concepts and defines basic undertakings for cold, limited and general war which may be accomplished with the objective force levels." (This means the size and weapon equipment of the Army, Navy, Marines and Air Force.)

The JCS short-range plan embraces a period of one year and therefore is a "fighting plan" to be used in event of a war tomorrow morning.

KHRUSHCHEV, in a speech in Moscow Friday, put forth his idea about non-aggression. He said Russia believes that "the form of a non-aggression pact can be solved without any great difficulties to the mutual satisfaction of both sides."

A non-aggression pact is not an alliance of military strength. It is intended as a guarantee that one country won't attack another. Russia had such a pact with Germany in 1940—which was scrapped shortly in the flame of World War II.

Although a non-aggression agreement is not a document for mutual military support it can provide indirect benefits for a participant.

A non-aggression pact with the West could leave Russia with more confidence in preparing for any future clash of arms with Red China. Or it could be used by Khrushchev to reduce some of the burden on the Russian economy imposed by maintenance of the present huge Soviet military establishment.

Mr. O's Music Camp

By GEORGE ERES

OHLENDORF HILL, Arrowbear Music Camp, San Bernardino—Quite a trill being here. It's music, music, music—all day long and into the night. And not a mother around to scream, "You get right in here and practice!" These kids like to practice!

Ohlendorf Hill is named after Fred Ohlendorf, who during the school year, runs the music program in the Long Beach Unified School District. Every summer, he drives truckloads of kids up to his camp for some intensive music in the mountains. There are camp periods for elementary school, junior high school and senior school groups. Many of the youngsters keep coming back each summer for more.

Like the mythical Prof. Arlo Barf lyricizes in the music camp's anthem: "Arrowbear's the place to be, Full of fun and harmony, Even when we have KP! It's music, music, music."

THE UNIQUE thing about this place is that while at home, the kids won't listen to anything but maybe Hayley Mills or rock and roll, up here more than 100 youngsters will dig a Mozart quartet or a Hindemith trumpet solo and say it swings.

It's not that they're just a bunch of long hairs. Off in a corner during the recreation period, you'll find a little combo that's running through some pop tunes.

And if Susie suddenly discovers "there's nothing to do during the recreation period," she things nothing of picking up her music and going off to one of the camp's practice rooms.

While there's a heavy regimen of music practice, rehearsal and theory, there's also time for dances, swimming and other kinds of recreation.

THE KIDS themselves named it Ohlendorf Hill. And Fred Ohlendorf who somehow only has to open his mouth to make the youngster giggle has managed to attain a rapport with the teen agers that make it possible for him to order KP and never get a nasty look.

"Mr. O," as he is called by campers, dons a gaily colored shirt, old pants and comfortable shoes for his days at camp. The shirt hangs outside his trousers. He pats his stomach.

FRED OHLENDORF
He's a Long Hair

"Some of my campers tell me I'm getting a little stout."

They creep up behind him and put their hands over his eyes and say, "Guess, who. I play clarinet."

THERE IS an easy informality about the camp and between campers and staff.

But for Ohlendorf it's more than a summer recreation camp; it's a summer camp with a purpose.

And when he or his other staff members step up on the podium at camp concerts or rehearsals and the time comes for music, there's fun in that too. The youngsters don't become different; just that part of them that feels akin to the music takes over. The teasing and the horsing around stops. They like music—and everybody around them likes music.

Mr. O danced a little jig on the podium. He'd promised he would if the orchestra played the way it should.

"Sometimes I think of the possible things that can be done about enlarging the camp — about changing its appearance," he said while munching a hot dog at a cook-out. "Then I decide I don't want to spoil the natural setting of the camp by too many changes. I guess, I could handle about twice as many campers with more housing. As it is I have to turn down some applications."

The applications have to be made well ahead of time—for the senior high school camp, as far as a summer ahead.

THE youngsters form lasting friendships at the camp. They return year after year and during the off-camping season have reunion dances. In some cases, these friendships became quite serious.

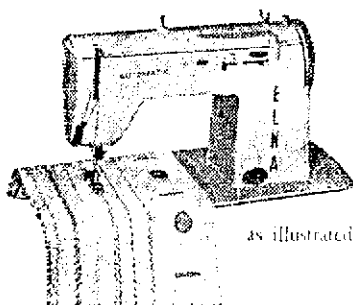

For instance, there was this junior high school boy and girl walking arm in arm through the camp.

When they passed by, she was saying to him: "I had some trouble with Telemann's 'Air and Courante' but I got it after practicing a while."

He nodded understandingly.

Animals Howl Under Eclipse, Scientists Seek Space Clues

Millions of Americans saw the eclipse on television. In New York, where the eclipse was 88 per cent total, the sun showed up on TV screens like a clipped toenail hanging in the sky.

At Fort Simpson, in the Canadian North West Territory, the total eclipse lasted the longest—100 seconds.

At Grand'mere, Que., a thick cloud cover hanging over the area all day broke up just six minutes before the show began overhead, and hundreds of scientists from Italy, The Netherlands, France and Switzerland quickly scribbled notes and clicked their cameras.

THE HIGHWAY into Grand'mere were clogged with cars with sightseers.

Japanese scientists who watched the black sunrise in northeastern Hokkaido reported successful sightings. A study team of the astronomical observatory in Tokyo took four pictures of the corona—the sun's outer rim of incandescent gas—from a plane at 13,120 feet.

The sun was totally eclipsed there at 4:14 a.m. Sunday (2:14 p.m., EST Saturday). Actually, the Hokkaido sunrise was delayed only 29 seconds.

CLOUDS BLOTTED out the eclipse in parts of Canada.

The shadow of the eclipse raced across the continent at a speed of 1,800 miles an hour.

At Orono, Maine, a gathering of scientists with cameras at the ready were drenched in rain as the eclipse darkened the day. The rainclouds blanked their attempts to photograph the event.

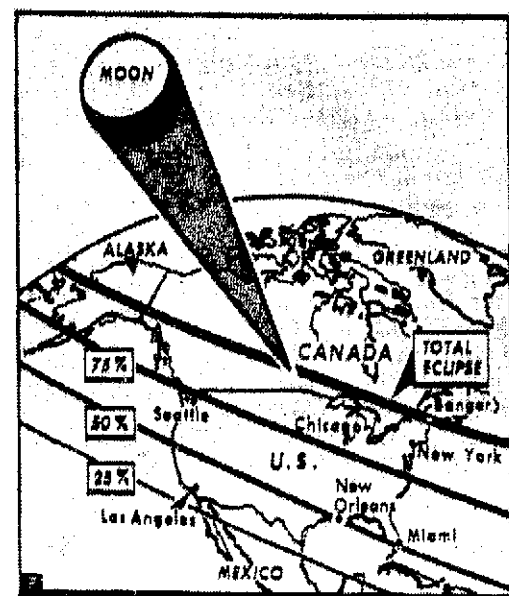

BUT NEAR the northwest Maine town of Caratunk, a cloud cover opened just after the eclipse began and closed again a few seconds after it ended. In that clearing, scientists of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) said they were able to take more than 40 photographs during 62 seconds. They hoped the pictures would help determine the quantity of comets that streak around the sun. Comets could be a hazard in space travel.

In a jet airliner seven miles above Maine, 85 scientists, newsmen and photographers saw the full eclipse in all its glory.

But many missed the phenomenon of "Baily's beads," the jewels of light lasting a second or two, as the final rays of the sun streamed down through the valleys of the moon.

LONG BEACH YOUNGSTERS view partial eclipse Saturday by projecting rays through pinhole in cardboard. The group was in MacArthur Park.

THE ECLIPSE was seen in all parts of the United States, but it was total only in Maine and Alaska. Map shows how much of sun was eclipsed in other areas.

PANIC CALLS

Eclipse Warning Peril Jams I, P-T Board

The nation was warned that it was dangerous to look directly at the eclipse even through smoked glass.

Some people got only part of the message, the word "dangerous." The Independent, Press-Telegram received a number of calls like these during the Saturday afternoon eclipse:

"Is it safe to let my children play outdoors?"

"How soon will the eclipse be over? I want to take a sunbath as soon as it's safe."

There were other misunderstandings:

"Will the eclipse take place or has it been called off?"

"Any news of the eclipse? Is it still scheduled?"

"If this is an eclipse, why doesn't it get dark?"

(The eclipse was only about 26 percent here.)

Nuclear Ban Pact Initialing Due Soon

complicated the negotiations, but clearly opened the way to later talks which apparently are headed for a summit meeting, perhaps in the fall.

THERE IS no agreement on a summit meeting. But President Kennedy has indicated he is ready for such talks any time, provided there is something to be accomplished, and both Khrushchev and Prime Minister Macmillan of Britain ordinarily like face-to-face meetings at high level.

Administration sources stressed Saturday that Harriman's initialing of an agreement at Moscow will not in itself be a binding commitment. They said Harriman has authority only to signify his agreement as a U.S. negotiator. Then the document is to be referred to Washington for governmental review.

WHETHER the U.S. Senate will agree is a moot point. Prospects are for considerable debate, at least because a number of legislators have indicated opposition to a test-ban pact with the Russians. Sen. Stuart Symington,

D-Mo., said Saturday any nuclear test-ban agreement must make "it possible to detect any cheating" before he can support it.

Meanwhile, it was announced in Moscow that Khrushchev has summoned the leaders of his East European satellites to Moscow for a summit conference Wednesday.

Western experts said Khrushchev may well take advantage of the meeting to discuss the Sino-Soviet talks which ended here Saturday as well as the apparent peace offensive he has launched toward the West.

MOSCOW (AP) — Communist China's mission to Moscow suddenly broke up camp Saturday night and flew home to Peking, apparently failing to patch up the ideological feud which has split the Communist world.

Premier Khrushchev gave the mission a farewell dinner at the last minute but he showed no sign of giving in to Peking's demand that he drop his policy of peaceful coexistence with the West and follow a line of militant Communist revolutions. Two weeks of secret talks ended presumably without solution and possibly even widening the breach between the world's two Communist giants.

Shadow Races Past Jet

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer

ABOARD A JET ECLIPSE FLIGHT OVER MAINE (AP) — Like a hint of doomsday, the ominous black shadow engulfed the sky and clouds.

Venus and Mercury and two winter stars gleamed brilliantly, and suddenly the sun was blotted out save for a bright pearly and yellow halo.

This was the minute of the magnificent total eclipse of the sun for 85 scientists, newsmen and photographers soaring seven miles above the earth.

PERHAPS the most stunning aspect, from this height and angle aboard an American Air Lines eclipse flight, was the onyx cloud sweeping out of the northwest, racing at 2,800 miles an hour, as the Moon covering the sun cast its narrow dark shadow down upon the earth. The shadow swept 10,000 miles from Japan to the Atlantic in 2 1/2 hours.

On the thick, snowy white clouds below, first came a darkening cast, like a clothes wash to make a housewife ashamed, 10 minutes before full eclipse. Then, almost like a menacing knife edge, came the deep shadow itself, born of a brief death of sunlight, the clouds below changing to dark blue and black.

AT THE instant it engulfed us, the last direct rays from a tiny red crescent of the sun were snuffed out. Many of us missed the sight of Baily's Beads, the jewels of light lasting a second or two, as the final rays of the sun streamed down through valleys and gorges on the rim of the moon.

But the "Diamond Ring" shone bright, sparkling a gem of light in the circle of the moon and sun, the last point of the disc of the sun being covered.

Long Beach Fighter Pilot Hits Target as Author

By VERA WILLIAMS

Richard Bach, who started his writing career by selling a story to the Southland Magazine in the early 1950s when he was in Wilson High School, is going great guns.

His first book, "Stranger to the Ground," first person narrative of a fighter pilot, will be published in August by Harper's.

Portions of it appear in the July issue of Harper's magazine.

Reader's Digest has bought the condensed version.

20th Century-Fox is looking at the galley proofs.

And Bach has been named West Coast editor of Flying magazine.

He has just flown his family out here in his Fairchild-24, and they are getting settled in their new home on Palos Verdes Peninsula.

BACH, son of Roland Bach, manager of Long Beach Chapter, American National Red Cross, and the late Ruth Bach, Long Beach's first and only city councilwoman, was reared in what then was "Lake-wood Village." He was graduated from Wilson High School in 1954, and attended State College one year.

Formal education and the adventurous lad did not mix, so he became an aviation cadet in the Air Force, training in Texas and Florida. He was a peace time jet pilot from 1956 to 1959, flying F-86s, F-100s and T-33s. Then he came back to Long Beach and flew C-119s out of Long Beach Municipal Airport for a year as a member of the Air Force Reserve.

In June 1961 he went to New York as associate editor of Flying. Four months later he and his squadron, the 141st Tactical Fighting Squadron of the New Jersey Air National Guard were ordered abroad because of the Berlin crisis. They were in Paris, Berlin and Chaumont, France, for eight months.

"IN WILSON I was a student of John Gartner, creative writing teacher. I wrote an article about the Excelsior Telescope Club, which I sold to Southland. It ran under the title 'They Look for the Man in the Moon.' When I was in the Air Force, I sold Southland an article on tikis, called 'The Gods in Midway City.'

"Suddenly, abroad, I wanted to put across what it is like to fly a fighter plane. I had been a great admirer of the writer, Antoine de Saint-Exupery, killed in 1944. There were good war-time writers, but most of them had been shot down.

"Since then there had been writers, mostly outside, looking in, who wrote about the glamour of flying. I wanted to write about flying with a calm, factual approach, and present it the way it really is.

"I buckled down to write my book. My roommate got pretty sick of hearing the typewriter click from 8 p.m. until 2 or 3 in the morning. And I took considerable kidding because the fellows knew I was writing a book about the squadron.

"FIVE PUBLISHERS, including Harper's, rejected the manuscript. Then I got an agent, Ken Littauer. He submitted it to Harper's—and Harper's took it. Nothing like knocking on the door at the right time. And before, I had knocked as a free lance writer. Now it was an agent knocking."

The publisher praises his book as "deserving comparison with the best of Saint-Exupery."

As West Coast editor of Flying, Bach has headquarters in Beverly Hills.

His wife is the former Bette Franks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Franks, 935 Molino Ave. They have a daughter, Kristel, 4, and son, Robert, 1½. And they consider the Fairchild-24 a member of the family.

L.B. Opera Membership

TEACHER SPENDS $1,000 ON MUSIC GIFT FOR BOY

A Long Beach woman who teaches school in Los Angeles has purchased a $1,000 life membership in the Long Beach Civic Light Opera Association for a 10-year-old Negro boy.

Mrs. Roy S. Huddleston, 245 Nevada St., purchased the membership for James B. Hicks Jr., Los Angeles, because she believes it will be a continuing source of cultural enrichment to him and will aid in the realization of his goals.

The boy is a piano student at the Institute of Musical Arts in Los Angeles and maintains a B average in his school work. He is interested principally in science, wants to become a scientist, and was his fifth-grade class representative at the California Museum of Science and Industry's Science Workshop in Los Angeles.

Mrs. Huddleston, became interested in the boy through his mother, Mrs. Evelyn Hicks, who was employed as a secretary at the school where she teaches.

Rocky Claims He'd Rather Be Right Than President

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York came to the annual Governors' Conference Saturday vowing he would "rather be right" on the civil rights issue than be president.

The statement by the 1964 GOP presidential contender was promptly followed by the conference chairman's announcement that he will recommend placing civil rights on the agenda for debate—and that it be given continuing study by the executive committee.

Gov. Albert D. Rosellini of Washington, the conference chairman, told a news conference that his proposal "somewhat parallels" Rockefeller's own civil rights resolution, but said he still wants the conference to return to its old rule that unanimity is necessary for approval of resolutions—a change Rockefeller opposes.

ROSELLINI'S announcement represented a limited victory for Rockefeller's campaign to give civil rights priority at the conference. It is not now on the conference agenda.

The chairman's proposal would not necessarily require a conference vote of approval.

Rosellini said he had not consulted the Kennedy administration on his new approach. "It's strange that they preach to the civil rights do not want the support of issue, and that it was not an effort to appease Rockefeller. He said he assumes the

Asked if it was an attempt to "grab the initiative," he said that was wrong because "the issue as he said their party is."

Rockefeller flew into the 1964 conference with his new bride, "Happy," and ran into hostility of some fellow governors opposed to his civil rights stand. But he came up with his own sharp declaration.

DEMOCRATIC Gov. Otto Kerner of Illinois set the stage for Rockefeller's arrival by accusing him of trying to use the 55th Governors' Conference as a "political platform." Rockefeller told newsmen the two principal issues at the governors' meeting are "gag rule"—revising conference rules to require unanimity on adoption of resolutions—and civil rights.

The New Yorker wants to stick to the present two-thirds voting rule. But many governors feel staging a civil rights battle under the umbrella of the existing rule which permits controversy on the floor might destroy their organization.

Kerner favors returning to the rule of unanimity.

CITING THE failure of Congress under the Democratic administration to deal with the civil rights issue, Rockefeller said he had not consulted the Kennedy administration on his new approach. "It's strange that they preach to the civil rights do not want the support of issue, and that it was not an effort to appease Rockefeller. He said he assumes the

Major Viet Offensive Hits Reds

SAIGON, Viet Nam (UPI) — Striking from air and ground, South Vietnamese troops launched a big offensive against Communist Viet Cong guerrillas Saturday, scoring a major victory, the government announced.

Vietnam's air force said 500 guerrillas were killed, but ground forces said they could account for only 300 dead. U.S. military authorities in Saigon said they could confirm 200 dead.

EVEN the lowest figure is extraordinary in the war against the Red guerrillas.

The government said 18 South Vietnamese troops were killed and 50 wounded in the battle 25 miles northwest of My Thau in the nation's southern delta area.

Details of the operation were slim. "All we know is there has been a hell of a big battle," a military spokesman said.

FOUR battalions of government infantry were involved in the operation when it opened Saturday morning. The operation was originally planned to take three days. The government forces took into battle several companies of armor, air force support and helicopter-borne troops.

Viet Cong strength was not known.

Reprisals Continue in Syria

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — The Syrian government Saturday renewed "widespread" arrests of soldiers and civilians allegedly involved in Thursday's abortive revolt. More executions were expected.

The capital, Damascus, was reported calm but uneasy following some shooting in the morning.

Authorities lifted the 24-hour curfew briefly Saturday morning but had to reimpose it within an hour because "subversives mingled with people leading to some shooting and some injured," according to Radio Damascus.

Martial law continued for the third consecutive day.

TWENTY persons, military and civilians, including a signal corps colonel, died before firing squads Friday after brief courts martial.

The government dominated by the Baathist Party, said it is in complete control of the nation, including the north, following the uprising which apparently was more an internal struggle for power than the usual conflict between pro- and anti-Nasser factions.

Syria's borders remained closed to all but food carriers. Some telephone calls were getting through after long delays. Damascus Airport was closed to passenger traffic.

Hungary Chief, K's Paths May Cross

BELGRADE (UPI)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev and Hungarian Premier Janos Kadar will visit Yugoslavia separately next month but their paths may cross, informed sources here said.

The sources said Khrushchev is expected to begin a two-week visit Aug. 20. Kadar is expected to arrive in Belgrade earlier.

There has been no official confirmation of either visit.

Grabs Shark's Tail, Captures Him

STRATMERE, N. J. (UPI) — Electric company lineman John May saw a shark swim past a dock near his home so he reached in, grabbed its tail and, with the help of five neighbors, hauled it ashore. The shark was a 15-footer weighing 300 pounds.

Brown Signs Laws

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Brown has signed into law a number of bills approved by the general session of the Legislature, including:

SB1180 Teale: Appropriates $78,000 for a feasibility study of the proposed Agua Fria Dam on Mariposa Creek in Mariposa County. The dam would be built with Davis-Grinsky funds if deemed feasible by the State Department of Water Resources.

AB257-1941 Lunardi: Transfers revenue from licensing and registration of small boats from the state general fund to the State Division of Small Craft Harbors and specifies it is to be spent for small craft harbors programs.

AB952 Williamson: Makes it a misdemeanor to possess alcoholic beverages in or on any public schoolhouse or grounds, as well as to consume, sell, give or deliver them, except when used in connection with a course of instruction given at the school.

AB1437 Casey: Requires that names for grand jury list be selected from the several wards of judicial districts in the county in proportion to population.

AB1492 Burton: Increases from $10 to $25 the minimum unemployment compensation weekly benefit amount.

AB1748 Davis: Requires any person under the age of 18, instead of 16, to present a certificate of competency in safe handling of firearms when applying for first hunting license.

AB1767 Kennick et al: Requires that all signal controlled intersections, instead of only those within incorporated cities, have street name signs clearly visible to all approaching traffic, rather than only to the principal flow of traffic.

AB2160 Knox: Provides that for physically handicapped, minors 16 years of age or over, two clock hours of attendance in a special day school or class in combination with two clock hours of attendance in an approved occupational training program shall constitute one day of attendance.

AB2306 Quimby: Establishes a procedure to commit mentally ill county or city jail prisoners to state hospitals, with time spent in the institutions counted against the jail sentence.

AB2405 Porter: Prohibits a person from stating in an advertisement of his goods that he is a producer, manufacturer, processor, wholesaler or importer, or that he owns or controls a factory or other source of supply of goods, when such is not the fact; prohibits a person from misrepresenting in any other manner the character, extent, volume or type of his business.

AB2441 Foran: Provides that women employed as executives, administrators or professionals must be paid $400, instead of $350, per month in order to be exempt from maximum hour provisions.

AB2449 Carrell: Authorizes a maximum speed of 70 miles per hour on certain freeways to be determined by the California Highway Patrol and State Department of Public Works; requires signs to be placed on such freeways directing slow-moving traffic to use the right-hand lane.

AB2986 Knox: Requires the State Department of Public Health to monitor radioactive materials in the environment in such media as air, milk, food and water, in such locations and frequency as the department deems necessary to determine radiation exposure to the people; requires department to make public to news media the results of its monitoring at least once a month.

AB3006 Veysey: Prohibits the taking of pheasant within 300 yards of any vehicle from which pheasants are being released into an area for hunting while such pheasants are being released.

AB69 Dannemeyer et al: Increases number of judges in Anaheim-Fullerton Municipal Court from four to six; provides that if a municipal court is established in the Laguna Beach-San Clemente Judicial District there shall be one judge and that officers and attaches of the superseded justice court shall succeed to the positions of the municipal court.

Plan Caribbean Isle Paradise

By FRED TAYLOR KRAFT

Independent Press-Telegram Travel Editor

COZUMEL, Mexico — An army of Mexicans, armed with machetes and axes, has started hewing into the dense, largely unexplored jungle of this lovely but relatively unknown Caribbean island to transform it into one of the great tropical vacation playgrounds of the world.

Crop Plane Kills Man Guiding It

MERCED (UPI) — A 30-year-old flagman was killed Saturday when a crop-dusting plane he was directing crashed into him and overturned in a rice field. The pilot walked away from the wreckage uninjured.

It was the second crash of a crop-dusting plane in the Merced area in less than a week.

The dead man was identified by Asst. County Coroner Joseph Sabo as John Trujillo, 30, of Merced. Sabo identified the pilot as Dale Landy of Turlock.

SABO SAID Trujillo was standing on a ditch bank guiding the plane when it crashed into him and overturned in the rice field. The plane, a Cessna 441, was carrying a load of rice. It was flying at an altitude of about 100 feet when it crashed.

Lindly lowered himself from the plane and went for help, Sabo said.

On Tuesday, Robin DeWing, 30, a pilot for the Merced Mosquito Abatement District, was critically injured when a wing of his low-flying plane hit the ground and caused the craft to crash. DeWing is recovering from his injuries at Mercy Hospital in Merced.

Pretty Baby

LAWRENCEBURG, Ky. (AP) — Rita Lynn, 16, who was judged the prettiest baby at the 1948 Anderson County three hours. There you trans-Fair, has been named Miss Anderson County Fair of 1963. Lues' prop-type cruisers for "YOU SEE THAT?" a Mexican asked, pointing to the scene above. "Acapulco, Mexico's Riviera looked just like that only 15 years ago." This is a section of Blue Beach, on Cozumel.

The three-hour flight to Merida, Yucatan, and then hop across the peninsula to this paradise.

If you decide to go before Balsa opens his El Presidente, you may take the short drive from the excellent landing field and airport to one of the half-dozen existing hotels in Cozumel or at Blue Beach, a short distance from town. Accommodations are surprisingly comfortable and the food is invariably excellent.

Once you get located, you're in for the time of your life. Since the average annual temperature is 75 degrees (high summer temperatures reach 86 degrees, winter evening, 65 degrees) you're at home in any type of informal sports attire you may select. Most visitors practically live in bathing suits or shorts.

And you're in luck if you skindive. The coral sands extend far out to sea, making these pellucid depths one of the outstanding skindiving areas in the western world. Spear fishing (every size and color of fish imaginable are found here) and great reef exploring are unsurpassed — often through one of the uncounted galleon carcasses that strew the bottom of the channel through which pirates, adventurers once passed.

FISHING IN these waters becomes a great adventure. Sailfish, tarpon, jewfish, bonita, kingfish, snapper and Spanish mackerel are everywhere. A friend, Leslie Muse of Columbus, Ohio, decked a six-foot sailfish during his wood. first 15-minutes aboard a fishing boat. The world's best bonefish flats are found at Boca Paila, an overnight boat trip to the mainland. Since rental equipment is limited, I'd advise fishermen to bring their own equipment. But you can rent a fishing boat, without outriggers, for about $24 a day (American). No one thinks of coming to Cozumel without taking a boat trip. On these rustic but delightful adventures, the destination generally is a remote, unspoiled beach for a picnic lunch of freshly caught lobster (lobstering is the island's chief industry), swimming, or snorkeling. Such jaunt costs about $8 a day per person, and the favored stop is San Francisco Beach, about eight miles from San Miguel — where the visitor swims while his lobster catch is broiled by an expert native cook over a fire of palm fronds.

A highlight of these trips can be the occasional capture of a giant turtle which swimmers ride to the strand. And there are always the coral forests, the fish in myriad colors, the crystal lagoons where rare species of the Caribbean may be viewed from secure lime-stone shelves.

BUT THE blue, blue waters are only one attraction at Cozumel. You may take horseback trips into the jungle to ancient ruins from whose vantage points Maya Indians watched Cortez pass to invade the mainland of Mexico. Or you may hunt to your heart's desire. Although there are few wild animals on the island — and no poisonous snakes — the nearby mainland is well inhabited with jaguar, puma, ocelot, wild boar, deer, wild turkey and pheasant. (The problem of bringing fire-arms into the country should be taken up with your Mexican consul.)

There are several nightclubs and restaurants which offer music and dancing. And before you leave, don't forget that this is a duty-free zone where handicraft from all over Mexico may be seen at prices far below you'd expect to pay.

Add to all this the island's genuine hospitality and you begin to understand why Cozumel. You may take horseback trips into the jungle to ancient ruins from whose vantage points Maya Indians watched Cortez pass to invade the mainland of Mexico.

TERRORIZES FAMILY

Youth Gang Wrecks Home, Stones Police

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A gang of youths went on a rampage here Friday night, smashed up an apartment, terrorized the occupants, then hurled bricks and stones at police.

When it was all over, Mrs. Florie Hursey's apartment was a wreck of glass, brick and splintered wood.

One police wagon was dented and its emergency light smashed.

The street was littered with debris thrown by the youths.

Eight persons were arrested.

Saturday, police were still scratching their heads and wondering "why?" They made several more arrests.

The trouble apparently started when the youths, estimated at a dozen, set out to avenge a friend whose leg had been slashed in a street fight.

Instead of "Joe," they spotted Mrs. Hursey, 23, Joe's 19-year-old brother, Percy, and Mrs. Hursey's sister, all waiting for a bus.

SOMEONE yelled, "There's Joe's sister!" and a chase began.

During the 20-block scramble to Mrs. Hursey's apartment, the youths threw bricks and stones. One pick-welding teenager threatened to split Mrs. Hursey's head open.

"We ran like hell," Mrs. Hursey told a reporter. "We didn't know why they were mad at us, but we ran anyway."

When they reached their apartment, they locked themselves inside. This brought a salvo of bricks from the gang outside.

The family ran upstairs and had just finished calling police when the youths broke down front and rear doors and burst inside.

AS SOME began smashing everything in sight, others headed up the stairway. But Percy repelled the attackers by throwing empty soda bottles at them. He got a kick in the groin in return.

Downstairs the youths worked themselves into a frenzy, smashing windows and frames, overturning the refrigerator and all the

Move Day for Negro Not Set Yet

The Negro attorney whose deposit on a home brought an end to racial demonstrations in a swank Turrance residential district said Saturday that he didn't know when he would move in.

"I haven't made any plans," said Odie B. Jackson Jr., of Los Angeles, "I don't know when it will be."

Builder Don Wilson's Southwood Riviera subdivision was picketed on weekends by the Congress of Racial Equality for about a year. The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and other groups joined CORE from time to time.

The demonstrations ended when Wilson accepted Jackson's deposit, agreed to sell to Negroes and to employ Negro salesmen.

Youth, 18, Has Hearing Set in Murder Case

Preliminary hearing for Laurence Roberts, 18, 2234 Wayside St., Compton charged with murdering a service station attendant here June 12, was set for 9 a.m., July 31 in Compton Municipal Court, following arraignment Friday.

The suspect, according to Det. J. L. Pratin, has admitted being the triggerman in the killing of Harley M. Odneal, 43, of Downey, in an attempted robbery of Odneal at his uncle's service station.

Roberts was arrested last Tuesday along with three juveniles believed to have participated in the attempted robbery and killing. The three younger members of the foursome have been turned over to juvenile authorities.

Two Buy Old Fire Station

P.T. Los Angeles Bureau

The Board of Supervisors has approved the sale of an old fire station in Downey to two Pico Rivera men, who bid $27,010 on the 15,680-square foot site.

Buyers were William Leve-loff and William G. Abernathy of 9001 Telegraph Road.

The fire station, abandoned by the county when the area in which it is located was annexed to the city of Downey, is at 8822 Lindell Avenue.

The property still has a 180x90 ft. fire house on it, but Leve-loff, a restaurateur, said he hasn't quite decided what he and his partner will do with the station. "We'll hold it a while and see," he said, "or maybe we'll sell it."

Ocean Floor Yields First Ore Deposits

By JOSEPH L. MYLER

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The ocean floors are beginning to give up some of their vast store of mineral treasure.

The first ton of ore ever "mined" from the deep seabottom is now being analyzed.

Meanwhile, the shallower coastal seas in many parts of the world are being prospected or exploited — for diamonds, gold, silver, platinum, iron, tin, phosphorite.

Eventually, according to John Crawford of the Bureau of Mines, the sea is bound to yield a rich harvest of minerals which are becoming yearly more scarce on the continents.

Scientists know the ocean floors are strewn with wealth waiting only to be picked up. It is up to the mining engineers to locate it precisely, determine where the richest deposits are, and invent the machinery for bringing it economically to the surface.

TO MINE the deep sea will require development of a new technology. In some respects it will be almost as difficult, though hopefully not as costly, as flying to the moon. And it will be more immediately rewarding in terms of products useful to mankind.

The first ton of ore ever dredged up from the deep sea consisted of potato-sized nodules rich in manganese and containing varying amounts of iron, nickel, cobalt and copper.

It was recovered from a depth of 12,000 feet about 200 miles west-southwest of the tip of Mexico's Baja California last January by the Spencer F. Baird, a research vessel of the Scripps Institution of Oceanography.

The 2,000-pound "sample," which took about five days to dredge up, was obtained for the Bureau of Mines which is now studying it at the U.S. Metallurgy Center in Reno, Nev.

Manganese nodules, a product of mysterious sea-water chemistry, grow on the bottom of all of the world's oceans. The richest deposits so far found are in the Pacific. Some have been estimated in value at $500,000 per square mile.

BUT BEFORE mining interests can be expected to invest millions of dollars in novel equipment to reap this wealth, they must have detailed information as to location, concentration and content.

The Bureau of Mines wants to go after this information. Mining in shallow waters near the continents can be done by more or less conventional means. Japan is digging iron ore at depths of about 200 feet.

Tin is being recovered from shallow waters in Indonesia. Gold, silver and platinum have been found in "interesting amounts" off the coast of Alaska where considerable exploration is now going on. Diamonds are being sucked from the sea floor of south-west Africa.

On the continental shelf off California are such deposits of phosphorite at depths of 600 to 1,000 feet. Phosphorite is a source of fertilizer.

The United States is largely dependent upon Africa for manganese, which is used in batteries, steel and other alloys, and reactive chemicals.

ACCORDING TO Dr. John L. Mero of the University of California at Berkeley there is enough manganese, copper, cobalt and nickel in the ocean depths to meet man's needs for a million years at present consumption rates.

The Bureau of Mines this year asked $1.8 million for a study of deep sea mining prospects. The Budget Bureau trimmed the request to $412,000, which the House threw out. The Senate restored $228,000.

This, if it survives the legislative process, will be enough to start the survey. The bureau would use a ship lent by the Maritime Commission from its reserve fleet and would base the operation in government-owned surplus facilities in the San Francisco bay area.

If the first research work produced good results the project, Congress willing, would be expanded into the Atlantic.

Halcyon Ball to Speak at Dinner Meet

Halcyon Ball, director of finance for the 1967-68 California World's Fair, will be the guest speaker at the dinner meeting of the Long Beach Chapter, Military Order of the World Wars, at Allen Center (U. S. Naval Station, Terminal Island) next Wednesday evening.

Ball, a native of Long Beach and president-elect of the Lakewood Rotary Club, will speak on what the fair means to Long Beach in prestige and international recognition and to the state economically.

Cmdr. Forrest P. Brown, USN Ret., commander of the chapter, will preside.

Travel via Postcard

LONDON (UPI)—The magazine Time and Tide carried an advertisement offering postcards from abroad for persons who decide to vacation at home this year.

SOMETHING NEW, MORE OLD

Roundup Time Like Old Days

COUNCIL HILL, Okla. (UPI)—A working cowboy arriving from the wild and woolly west of a century ago would find things just about the same at a modern-day cattle roundup.

There would be a few changes, of course. Today's cowboys have been known to travel in jeeps—and some even check fences with those funny-looking things called helicopters.

The cattle are different. They're fat and not as tough as the longhorns of days gone by. But when it comes to working them at roundup time, it's just like the Old West.

Dick Shannon, tall ramrod of the Slash S Ranch in eastern Oklahoma, says there's a good reason.

"We do it like they did it in the old days because there's just no better way to handle cattle," he says.

FOR THE SLASH S cowpuncher, roundup means the day begins before dawn and ends after the sun goes down. The pay is $90 a month, bunk and beans.

Cattle are handled with the same equipment and techniques developed centuries ago by Spanish drovers and adopted in the United States.

The branding iron is still the best way to mark cattle. And a horse is the only way to move and herd them.

COWBOYS DON'T CARRY six-shooters strapped on their hips nowadays. But a rifle or pistol won't be too far away in case of coyotes or rattlers. The rest of their garb is right out of the pages of Zane Grey.

They wear wide-brimmed hats, chaps, boots and spurs and they eat out of a chuck wagon. The rope isn't used as much as it was in the old days due to construction of holding and branding chutes.

Letter From the Past

CHELTENHAM, England

(UPI)—Mrs. Agatha Thompson, 65, admits she is a little old for the love letter which arrived at her home last week.

But she wasn't too old when a former boy friend mailed the letter 42 years ago in Banbury, less than 100 miles away.

"It must have slipped down somewhere," a baffled spokesman for the post office explained.

Flying Saucers of Seeds on Exhibit at Library

"Flying saucers" of seeds of fire resistant plants have landed and may be seen in the Boys' and Girl's Room at the Main Public Library, according to Mrs. Lorna Kugler, children's librarian.

Replicas of the "saucers" form a part of an exhibit of fire resistant materials loaned to the library by Dr. Robert Gonderman, plant physiologist, and the Los Angeles State and County Arboretum at Arcadia, which is experimenting with fire resistant plants.

The "saucers" are constructed of two thicknesses of tar paper cut in six inch squares, each piece containing 4 V-shaped slashes forced out into opposite directions. Seeds are attached to the tips with a water soluble glue. Which crease to Vatican employees to ever way the saucer lands, meet rising costs of living.

Some of the seeds will touch the soil. The tar paper provides an elementary sort of hot house as well as protection from wildlife.

One of the possibilities now being discussed is for "seed-ing" of areas with these "saucers" from helicopters.

The display is part of a series planned for the Boys' and Girls' Science Club which meets at 3 p.m. each Saturday at the Main Library.

Pope Considers Pay Increases

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—The Vatican city-state's 1,000 lay employees received an extra month's pay this month as a bonus from Pope Paul VI. 4 V-shaped slashes forced out into opposite directions. Seeds are attached to the tips with a water soluble glue. Which crease to Vatican employees to ever way the saucer lands, meet rising costs of living.

Would-Be Chauffeur Starts Accident Chain

BURLINGTON, Iowa (UPI)—Lester C. Hartman, 51, must have been nervous when he took his test for a chauffeur's license. He did not get the license.

With license examiner Tom Falls sitting beside him, Hartman started the semi-trailer truck and promptly crashed into a parked car, which in turn flattened a parking meter and plowed into another car, which was shoved into a third car.

BEACH COMING
MALCOLM EPLEY

YOU know how somebody can ask you a name you know well — but somehow the question itself establishes a mental block and dangles if you can think of it.

This situation created a ludicrous incident at a cocktail party here the other eve. A couple of fellows were talking about newspaper writers and they struggled in futility to think of the name of a certain metropolitan columnist.

Finally they gave up, agreeing that the columnist must have an unusual name or they would have it by that time. Probably some name they don't hear very often.

Later they looked it up. The name: Kennedy. Bill Kennedy.

TO GET some material for publicity releases, the drama dept. at Long Beach State College asks all actors in a coming production to fill out forms listing other shows done, hobbies, favorite sports, pet peeves, etc.

This was done in connection with the upcoming show, "Pursuit of Happiness" (July 25-27 and August 1-3).

The results show most of these dramatic artists think alike. A majority of them gave as their pet peeve: "Filling out forms like this," and "answering stupid questions."

ITEM here the other day mentioned the tv commercial as a hazard to people trying to take off poundage, and this brought an interesting note from Peggy Thompson, a Long Beach member of TOPS — the anti-overweight society.

Peggy said TOPS members are well aware of the tv commercial time threat and added that some of the substitutions for eating during these interludes are pretty hilarious.

She, for instance, immediately leaps to her feet and spends all the commercial time executing the twist. At the outset, her husband thought she was nuts. But when he saw the results, he gave the strange living room gymnastics his hearty o.k.

AND now for a little Sunday mental exercise.

City Councilman Bill Graham has turned up some questions from an examination in history given to Long Beach high school students back in 1899.

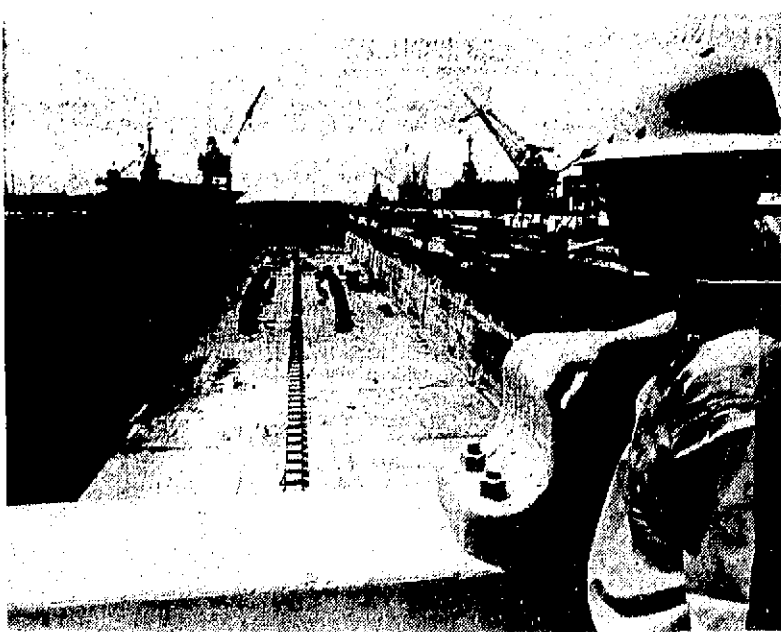

How about making a try at these 12 questions (the 1899 students were given a choice of 10 out of 12)?

1. Give an account of the First and Second United States Banks.
2. Give an account of the great inventions made during the administrations of Washington and Jefferson.
3. What were the causes of the War of 1812?
4. What were the political parties, and which were successful in the contests between 1817 and 1869?
5. Give an account of (a) the Erie Canal, and (b) the first railroad.
6. (a) What were the three great contests of Jackson's administration? (b) Describe the trouble between South Carolina and the General Government.
7. Describe the Omnibus Bill, or Compromise of 1850.
8. What was the Dred Scott Case?
9. Describe and give the importance of the battle between the Merrimack and Monitor.
10. How, when, and by what methods has territory been added to the United States?
11. Describe the election of Hayes in 1876.
12. Give an outline of our late war with Spain.

How was your score?

STARLIGHT SERENADE

Area Artists in Pops Spot

The second in the series of free Starlight Serenade Summer Pop Concerts at 8 p.m. July 30 in Bixby Park will pay a musical tribute to Long Beach Diamond Jubilee.

"The Salute to the Diamond Jubilee," program will feature the Long Beach Symphony Orchestra, conducted by Lauris Jones; accordion virtuoso LaVoy Halle; Clayton Ivey, who has sung with the Roger Wagner Choral, Hollywood Bowl, Los Angeles Philharmonic and San Francisco Opera Company, and the Camerata dei Musica (camaraderie of musicians), under the direction of Frank Ahrold.

MRS. HERMAN H. Ridder, chairman of the Summer Concerts program of the Long Beach Symphony Association, said the concert is aimed at highlighting the artistry of Long Beach musicians as a tribute to the celebration of the city's 75th Anniversary celebration.

"As in the past concerts, which have drawn thousands of listeners to the park," she said, "listeners are invited to make a family outing of the occasion—bring picnic dinners and enjoy a summer evening in the park while listening to the music."

SOUND, which proved a bugaboo at the last concert, is being tackled anew. Jones, who will act as master of ceremonies for the program, said city of Long Beach sound engineers who have taken on this problem know their business. "Pre-concert tests will be made this time to make sure there will be no slip-up."

The Long Beach Motor Bus Co., again will step up its schedule of bus runs from 20 to 10 minutes on the Broadway run for those who wish to take buses to the park and will watch the traffic to add any additional service required.

Halle, who has established a firm reputation for his artistry on the accordion and as composer and teacher will be featured with the orchestra in a movement from a concerto by Gallinini.

THEY TOUR MEXICO

Honeymoon Trip on Motor Scooter

Bounding over the Mexican terrain, newlyweds Dave and Carleta Taylor are making a wide-open honeymoon tour—on a motor scooter.

Taylor, member of the Independent, Press-Telegram editorial staff, and his wife left Long Beach June 29 and have covered about 1,200 miles—according to the motor scooter speedometer.

"Not counting a new tire I had to buy in Los Mochis to replace a blowout in the desert, while vultures stood around kibitzing the operation, the tab for the operation of the scooter thus far, including gas, oil and a new spark plug, has come to about $7.85," writes Taylor.

The figure on the speedometer doesn't tell the whole mileage story, though.

"CHUGGING OUT of Guaymas for Ciudad Obregon," Taylor notes, "we ran headlong into a storm complete with thunderbolt topping. We unpacked the scooter and were rummaging around in the bottom of the duffle bags for our ponchos when three fellows pulled up in a diesel freight cab and trailer. They spoke no English and our Spanish would paralyze a jumping bean."

Sign language attempts at communication got the Taylors nowhere. The three men took turns lifting the motor scooter's rear end, and Taylor figured it was time to say "gracias" and "vamos," when the three men "hoisted the whole machine, bag and baggage, into the trailer of their truck. The two of us were ushered into the cab of the truck with the driver and we were off on a 65-mile highball run through the storm to Obregon."

VISITING the newspaper office in Obregon, the Taylors reported that "newspapering here is somewhat different than at home. One of the printers had a guitar, another a pair of maracas, two more good strong voices, and the four of them were standing on the sidewalk in front of the office at 11 p.m. wailing Mexican music. . . I don't know whether that newspaper ever got put to bed, but I can tell you we made a night of it."

At last report, the vagabonds on the motor scooter honeymoon had entered Mazatlan and were "greeted in full-dimensional stereo—two brass bands stationed at opposite ends of a wild outdoor beach-side cantina playing for all they're worth to the customers in between."

Weighty Problem for Drydocking Crew

By BOB SANDERS

"It's kind of like trying to seat a dead elephant on a milk stool in a murky bathtub."

This is the way Lt. Cmdr. George W. Shaffer, 16372 Rhone Lane, Huntington Beach, describes his job as docking officer at the Long Beach Naval shipyard.

Last week he had his 36th chance of the year to practice his delicately massive art when he put the 33,000-ton amphibious assault carrier USS Valley Forge in the blocks of Drydock No. 1.

Without a hitch the big elephant settled on the milk stool as 600 million gallons of murky water was pumped out of the big bathtub.

Responsibility hangs heavily over all of the 50 men involved in the drydocking operations, but for Cmdr. Shaffer it becomes almost unbearable just before the big ship sets down on the keel blocks.

The "Happy Valley," as she is known to her crew, was put into the drydock for a three-and-half-month FRAM (Fleet Rehabilitation and Modernization) overhaul in the shipyard.

In preparation for the big ship's arrival 60 million gallons of water were pumped out of the gigantic 100-by-60-foot, 40-foot-deep drydock. This "de-watering" took 52 deep-well pumps four hours and left the cavernous dock bare to the bottom.

Nearly a hundred wooden keel blocks were meticulously placed to catch the great keel and the water pumped back in. When the dock was 40 feet full the Happy Valley started its entrance.

"Everywhere" is Shaffer's description of his station during a docking.

Shortly after 8 a.m. the Happy Valley crossed the dock's sill and hovered over the keel blocks. As great pumps slowly eased the water from the dock the ship groaned comfortably onto the blocks.

Cmdr. Shaffer heaved a great sigh of relief and put his pipe back in his mouth. Now all he has to worry about is getting her off in October.

Do ships ever keel over on the blocks? Cmdr. Shaffer winced: "It has happened, but never here."

Then he crossed his fingers.

'HAPPY VALLEY' sits high and dry—after nearly 60 million gallons of water have been pumped out by 52 deep well pumps working four hours.

Residence Streets to Get White Lines in Center

By GEORGE WEEKS in the council have been re-whose reports to that effect Long Beach residential streets will be painted with Manager John R. Mansell, sent.

a four-inch white center line to guide motorists in foggy weather, even though the city's traffic specialists recommended against the innovation.

The center-line project is one of numerous additions ordered by the City Council in the new budget adopted Saturday after preliminary approval earlier in the week. Councilmen added $40,000 to the 1963-64 budget for the materials and labor, plus an estimated $14,500 in capital outlay. Some 575 miles of residential streets will be painted.

Councilman Robert F. Crow won the support of his colleagues in contending that the center line will promote safety despite a Police Department prediction that the effect will be to encourage speeding.

However, two other street-painting proposals suggested

Wild Car Kills Motorcyclist

An out-of-control car driven by a sailor from San Diego Saturday struck and killed a motorcyclist in unincorporated Hacienda Heights east of Whittier.

Stanley Stolluss, 31, of Hacienda Heights, was dead on arrival at St. Jude's Hospital, Fullerton.

The sailor, Clyde Perkins, 22, from the USS Henry Wilson, was booked on suspicion of manslaughter at the Norwalk sheriff's station.

Garage Looted

Two surfboards, a sleeping bag, fishing gear and a rug worth a total of $185 were taken by burglars from his garage, Chester D. Collins, of 358 E. Arbor St., told police Saturday.

ONE PAINT JOB would have created red zones to ban curb parking within 30 feet of all street corners.

It would have eliminated nearly 27,000 parking spaces, including 870 in the downtown district, Mansell estimated.

Maintenance of such red zones would cost $70,000 annually, plus the yearly loss of $18,700 from 176 metered parking spaces, according to the city manager.

The second proposal would have reinstated the old practice of painting street names on the curbs at intersections.

Most major intersections are now posted with two or more street-name signs, Mansell reported, although the city is continuing installations in residential districts.

The stenciling would have cost $40,000 a year.

'No New Taxes' Pledge Furnishes Lesson, Irony

GOV. PAT BROWN, who last year chided New York's Gov. Rockefeller for retreating from a campaign pledge of no new taxes, was in a position this week to understand how such a promise, made in complete good faith, might come to be broken.

Like Mr. Rockefeller, Mr. Brown campaigned last year on a pledge to hold the tax line, but this week he put his signature on a bill hiking the state gasoline tax and truck weight fees and authorizing an increase in vehicle license fees.

Gov. Brown, commendably, refuses to accept the rationalizations which others have been offering for this action.

When the inevitability of new taxes became quite clear, apologists declared that the special session was a new page, that the no-new-taxes pledge had applied only to the regular session.

After Gov. Brown signed the tax increase, they argued that the governor had merely promised not to ask for new taxes; he had not said he would refuse to approve them if somebody else asked for them.

These quibblings did not square entirely with remarks made by the governor over a period of many months.

AS RECENTLY AS MAY 7, he had rejected the contention that a gasoline tax hike would not really represent a new state tax. The levy would be "new taxes," he said, and a "violation of my pledge." It would be "that much more money out of the pockets of the taxpayers."

Upon signing the tax hike this week, Gov. Brown acknowledged his pledge once more and said, honestly and simply: "I made a commitment and I wanted to keep it." However, he had decided he could not withhold approval of a measure having overwhelming support from many sources, including the legislators. Hence, new taxes.

A lesson and an irony emerge from the episode. In this era of spiraling spending the promise of "no new taxes" is one which, however sincerely made, can be made only at a hazard. It is a worthy ideal, a goal the executive officer should work toward and urge other officials to accept—but it is not a thing which can be delivered like lunch on a tray. While the executive branch can express an opinion and propose a course of action, it cannot commit the legislature. Promises, then, always should be made with this explicit qualification.

AS FOR THE IRONY, it is this: Gov. Brown, striving to keep a promise made to the public, was pushed against the wall by a public request which, if answered, meant violation of the promise. The gas tax bill, providing additional funds for city and county streets, had the support of 57 of the state's 58 counties and of all the cities.

In view of that pressure, it is hard to assert that the governor broke faith with the people or acted contrary to their desire. They seem to have had less interest than he in holding the tax line.

TFX Row May End In Obsolete Plane

ACCORDING TO SOME who claim they know, the long-dragged-out fight over the TFX, which is still holding up changes in the Pentagon high command will probably end in the following fashion: Both Boeing and General Dynamics will receive contracts to build prototypes of the TFX plane. By the time the prototypes have been built, the whole plane will probably be declared obsolete.

WYOMING DEMOCRATS may have a battle of academicians in the 1964 senatorial race. Present holder of the Senate seat is Gale McGhee who used to be a professor at the University of Wyoming. Rumors are that he may become involved in a primary contest and his likely opponent will be his former boss, President Duke of the University of Wyoming.

AN AIR OF DISCOURAGEMENT is enveloping the national legislators. Almost to a man they are describing this session of Congress as "the worst ever." Said one congressman bitterly the other day: "Oh, we had a very busy week this week. We passed an automobile seat belt law."

The inactivity of Congress is so great that most members believe that it will be Christmas before this session finally staggers to a close.

Just what the trouble is no one seems to know. The answer probably lies in the leadership, but both Senate Leader Mike Mansfield and House Speaker John McCormack are personally popular with their colleagues who are therefore very loathe to place the blame upon them publicly.

A FRIEND OF OURS who infrequently visits Washington was in town recently. At a dinner party, he made some rather sweeping statement and was immediately challenged about it. A vigorous argument ensued in which our friend did not have the better of the debate. He finally heaved a sigh and remarked: "The trouble with Washington is that it shakes my faith in my most firmly held banalities."

Future College Grads May Be Billed for Their Training

SACRAMENTO — A tax on brains is likely to face serious consideration before future California legislatures.

Object would be to tap future college graduates after graduation for some of the cost of public-financed instruction at California colleges and universities.

The bumper crop of war babies from the World War II era is reaching college age. Their numbers will jam present college campuses and put increasing financial pressure on the public treasury.

A sign of things to come was a 1963 bill by Assemblyman John Collier, R-South Pasadena. The Collier bill would have obligated college students to sign a note for instruction costs—to be paid back after graduation when a graduate's income tops $6,000 a year.

FOES OF the Collier bill promptly branded it a major policy break from the traditional California concept of free education through college.

"This is an unfair tax on brains," says James Corley, vice president of the University of California.

Vice Chancellor Don M. Muchmore of the state college also noted that actual teaching costs are not known yet. Much more revealed, however, that studies are under way to determine the exact costs of California college instruction per student.

IN VIEW of this stiff opposition to any 1963 plan for deferred-tuition fees, the Collier bill was sidetracked into interim study. But the Collier concept is far from dead and buried. Muchmore, a Long Beach resident, indicated the state colleges favor a study on future college financing.

And Corley of the University of California also favored a two-year study on the Collier proposal. The deferred-tuition plan is certain to have strong financial appeal in an era of state budget pinches.

Collier estimated that if college graduates for recent years had been signing notes for tuition costs, an additional $130 million would have flowed into the budget.

If the legislature had okayed the Collier plan for the upcoming school year, the Assemblyman estimated it would have netted the state $500,000 in its initial year. Collier argues that the income of college graduates tops other persons. He says therefore that they should pay part of the bill personally.

The Collier plan also protects the college graduate failure. If his income doesn't reach at least $6,000 a year after graduation, his tuition note would not fall due. The Collier plan could be revamped considerably when it comes out of interim committee. Another possibility: straight tuition without the due-later notes.

AS ORIGINALLY proposed, the plan would call for "teaching costs" to be figured on the same basis as tuition for nonresident students. Nonresident fees at state colleges now is $500 a year. At the university, it is $600.

But university officials apparently feel this is a tax on brains. And though the tax collector has zeroed in on everything else, some campus defenders hope to keep brains off the tax ledgers.

JFK Awards Maritime Post in Deal with Sen. Eastland

to maritime commissioner Ashton C. Barrett by the two Alaskan senators, Ernest Gruening and Bob Bartlett. Unlike many senators from the same states who pull apart, the two Alaskan senators operate as a team. When Commissioner Barrett, who comes from Mississippi, appeared before the Senate Commerce Committee for reconfirmation for a second term, Gruening, the senior Alaskan senator, was waiting for him with the cordiality of a Kodiak bear surprised in an Aleutian berry patch.

"I am opposed to this appointment," he said, and read a 12-page statement explaining why.

Sen. Gruening is not a member of the Senate Commerce Committee so could not cross-examine the object of his scorn. But after he had given the commissioner a series of Kodiak bear hugs, the other Alaskan senator, Bob Bartlett, who is a member of the committee, took over as follows:

BARTLETT: Mr. Barrett, did you have any connection in any way with the maritime industry before becoming a member of the commission?

BARRETT: No, sir.

BARTLETT: What had been your business?

BARRETT: My what?

BARTLETT: Your business?

BARRETT: Well—in the clothing business, laundry business, and also real estate. I own property, commercial property, in Biloxi, Gulfport, Birmingham. . . I developed a subdivision, made some money off that, and am now developing some property in Birmingham, Alabama.

BARTLETT: Now, you say?

BARRETT: Yes, sir, my son-in-law is representing me. He is also one of the major stockholders.

BARTLETT: But you were actually in business at the time of your appointment?

BARRETT: Yes, sir.

BARTLETT: And you had no association previously with the maritime business?

BARRETT: Not directly.

Backers Say Clay Can Fill Rocky-Barry Breach to Win

MEDAL OF HONOR winner Robert W. O'Neill of Bronxville, N. Y., urges Republican leaders to draft Gen. Lucius D. Clay as "a middle-of-the-road Republican who could unite all factions and elements of the Republican party and is probably the only Republican who could be elected president."

Former Congressman Hamilton Fish, 74 of New York, is on the O'Neill committee to draft Clay and said Friday that although Clay would not be a candidate, the General had given assurance that he would accept a draft.

So now a prospect that he has not yet been buried under a label, Clay indeed deserves a line on his qualifications as the breach-filler the GOP needs.

That need was stated in emphatic terms this week by columnist William S. White, who said many GOP professionals thought Gov. Rockefeller's July 14 blast against his party's right wing may have destroyed his own presidential chances as well as those of Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona.

CHANCES OF these symbols of left and right have been paralyzed, White believes, but the "great moderate Republican center" remains intact. From this center, he sees 1964's GOP nominee as likely to be Gov. Scranton of Pennsylvania, Gov. Romney of Michigan or Sen. Thruston Morton of Kentucky.

Those names also occurred to one Dwight D. Eisenhower, who is reputed to have added a fourth among his favorites, Lucius Dubignon Clay. Herein, of course, lies the nucleus of a label-making venture to tab Clay an Eisenhower Republican.

Clay, a 66-year-old Wall Street investment banker who can do one-handed push-ups, is probably best known to the public as the man who called the Soviet bluff in the Berlin blockade of 1948 when he was military governor for the U. S. zone of Germany and commander-in-chief of U. S. forces in Europe.

He became chief executive of Continental Can Co. in 1950, a year after leaving the Army, and pumped the firm's annual sales volume from $400 million to $1.1 billion. He left the company last year at age 65 and started his investment banking career as a senior partner in Lehman Brothers.

HOUSER

GENERAL CLAY is also a director of General Motors, Allied Chemical, American Express, United States Lines and Chase International Investment Corp.

Spearheader O'Neill promotes Clay because "I am deeply interested in the defense of the United States and of the free nations against the aggression of world Communism."

O'Neill describes Clay as—next to General MacArthur—one of the greatest administrators in the history of our country, and "only recently he raised a million dollars for release of the Cuban prisoners captured at the Bay of Pigs."

O'Neill also attaches, by inference, the "can't win" stigma to Rockefeller, Goldwater, Scranton and Romney: "This letter urges the nomination of a Republican candidate for President who can win. The only thing that counts in politics is success as in battle."

Columnist White would seem to agree in characterizing Rocky as one who would rather scuttle his own and his party's chances next year than reduce his civil rights demands to the degree entertained by Goldwater.

GOLDWATER BACKERS, most recently and vehemently the national Young Republican convention in San Francisco, have vocalized a separate but equal death wish—in some observers' view—in demanding what they deem to be the long overdue presidential test of pure conservatism versus liberalism.

Rail Fact-Finders Are Not Needed

EDITOR:

We read in the paper July 11 "Panel seeks solution to rail crisis." This panel, appointed by President Kennedy, will report its fact findings on July 22, and he will submit it and legislative requests to Congress.

The fact is, another fact-finding board appointed by the President last May gave him all the facts needed regarding this promised rail strike. In order to keep the railroads in business it was found necessary to eliminate unnecessary jobs, but if they did, the unions would tie up the nation with a strike. It was also decided that the railroads would be within their rights.

We don't need panels to decide how to run railroads. Our problem is union leaders who don't know yet what makes the wheels go around. What makes jobs is business that can make a profit. If the Reds get over here, there will be no more $4 per hour jobs and just to make sure there are no strikes they shoot a few union leaders every morning before breakfast.

Oilman Responds to Pearson Piece

EDITOR:

In reference to a June 30 Drew Pearson column written by his associate, Jack Anderson, on H. L. Hunt:

Hunt is no more eccentric than the average person. He is for depletion allowance on all depletable natural resources but does not mix this with his campaign for Americanism. Hunt is opposed to Communism, Socialism and all attempts to compromise between Freedom and slavery. He has been an unskilled laborer, farmer and businessman since the age of 13.

It is well known that the wild story is untrue that "Hunt got into the oil business on a roll of the dice." Hunt does not carry a "flash $1,000 bills," and it is widely known that he and his household live frugally and drive small and middle-sized American cars.

Hunt never once "plugged the oil depletion allowance along with his concept of Americanism." The Hunt Petroleum Co. did not supply LIFE LINE's radio and TV minister with a script. The "accompanying private letter" from Mr. Quinn was not "private" as it was a transmittal letter similar to those sent to the Vice-President of the U.S., hundreds of Members of Congress, commentators and publications. Hunt has not seen the letter from Wayne Poucher to a fellow churchman concerning Poucher's ministerial relationship with Hunt which so delighted the columnist.

The columnist concerns himself with the "grizzled old billionaire" making his peace with his Maker. He could have easily learned that Hunt belonged to the Methodist Church and moved his membership to the Baptist Church in 1960.

Hunt did not apply for LIFE LINE's second class mailing permit. In politics, Hunt is a registered Democrat although he votes for the candidates he considers the best, whatever their political party may be. Hunt does encourage good people to run for office and has granted leaves of absence to employees to enable them to serve in public office.

Shelter Appeal Gets Results

EDITOR:

The sensitive and informative coverage given to the need for shelter homes which appeared in your paper on July 14, is receiving excellent response. The Child Welfare Division in your area received 150 inquiries in the first two days after the appearance of Mr. Brackenbury's story. Many, I am certain, were from people that should develop into good foster parents.

On behalf of the three Los Angeles County child placing agencies and the children that need care, thank you for your fine help.

Southeast Asian countries have been favoring measures restricting Chinese land-holding in their areas, as their Chinese populations have become too numerous and strong for comfort.

There are millions of overseas Chinese throughout the world, most of whom retain a deep affinity for their homeland. Chinese in America usually come from Canton province and speak Cantonese (a different language from the northern, official, Chinese, called Mandarin, or Kwo-yu), while the Chinese colonies in Asia are likely to come from Fukien province and speak still another dialect. The Chinese writing system, however, is the same for all.

Overseas Chinese call themselves Hwa-chao, meaning "flowery leaves" indicating they are leaves of the Flowery Kingdom, as China is classically known. What we call Chinatown, the Chinese call Tang ren kal chieh—literally, "The Section of the Tong People," referring to one of the great Chinese dynasties, during which China attained her widest influence in Asia. Chinatown is also sometimes called Hwa-pu. "The Flowery Place."

FORT DIN, N. J. (UPI)—The food still may not be just like mother makes, but the U. S. Army is experimenting with making the serving of it more homelike.

At reserve training mess halls here last week soldiers gave up the traditional trays with individual compartments. Instead, they were offered an extra large tray and individual glasses, cups, bread and butter plates, dinner dishes, dessert dishes and cereal bowls.

The china is white decorated with two light blue rings. It's also unbreakable.

Sgt. I.C. John E. Janega, the mess steward, said acceptance of the new china by enlisted men has been enthusiastic.

Potters' Union Chooses L.B.

Delegates of the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters meeting in Las Vegas for their 1963 convention announced Saturday they have chosen Long Beach as the site for their 1964 convention.

E. L. Wheatley, the union's president, said the 220 delegates represent 112 locals with 20,000 members.

In other action the convention voted to promote equality of opportunity on a local level and to provide scholarships for immediate families of union members. Other topics discussed were automation and imports.

Hunt Plane Reported in Crash

FARMVILLE, Va. (AP)—Police officers and rescue squadsmen searched along the Appomattox River in Cumberland County Saturday night for a military air transport plane reported to have crashed.

State police said officers could not locate the site of the unconfirmed plane crash.

Federal Aviation Agency officials in Washington said there was no military plane reported overdue in this area.

Farmville police said the crash was reported to them by a man who identified himself as George Yeatts of Cumberland County.

They said Yeatts told them he had received a telephone call from "a Gen. Johnston" who said he was aboard the plane when it crashed and that 20 had been injured and needed medical attention.

Yeatts quoted the "Gen. Johnston" as saying the military plane was enroute from Maine to Florida.

L.B. Youth, 16, Drowns While Skin Diving

A 16-year-old Long Beach boy drowned Saturday while skin diving off White's Point in San Pedro, police reported.

Jerry Komatsu of 1829 W. Burnett St., was swimming with a friend, Craig Plumlee, in a 16, of 1980 San Francisco speedboat across the River Ave., when, in a dive, he lost his air tube.

Another swimmer, Jack Roberts, Ontario, saw the boy in the water and pulled him from the ocean.

The boy was pronounced dead on arrival at San Pedro saying he was taking it for a receiving hospital.

Douglas Loses $2-Million Suit for Midair Collision With Jet

A Douglas Aircraft suit to recover $1,975,509 damages from Northrop Aircraft for the 1957 midair collision of a Douglas transport and a Northrop jet fighter was turned down Saturday by a Los Angeles jury.

Before the trial both companies had agreed on an all-or-nothing decision on the claims.

After two days of deliberation the jury decided not to force Northrop to pay Douglas damages for the collision which occurred over San Fernando Valley and took the lives of all four aboard the Douglas DC-7, the pilot of the survivor, testified in Superior Court the jet's radar was not the Pacoima Junior High School playground where the collision.

More Deep Sea Pressure Tests on Men to Start

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON (AP)—The second phase of a U. S. Navy program to test how men can live under the high pressure beneath the sea is scheduled to get under way Aug. 15.

The Navy said that four candidates for this phase of project "Genesis I" have volunteered to spend two weeks in a tank at New London, Conn., under conditions equivalent to that of 200 feet beneath the sea.

Later, at a date still undecided, the final phase will be undertaken. In that test, the experiment will be full-scale, with men living in a chamber sunk into 200 feet of water in the open sea.

IT IS NOW routine for men to live for protracted periods at depths of several hundred feet—in submarines. However, the atmosphere in a submarine is kept the same as that on the surface, a pressure of about 14.7 pounds per square inch. Polaris missile subs can remain submerged for up to 60 days.

But the Genesis research program is directed at determining man's capability to live for weeks or longer under conditions like that in which divers operate. A diver's body adjusts to the surrounding pressure as he descends. But he must be decompressed slowly as he surfaces or kept in a decompression tank until his body readjusts to surface pressure.

Mouse Egg Study to Cost U.S. $46,731

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., cited in the Senate what he called examples of the "imagination" of the men on President Kennedy's New Frontier.

Williams said the Department of Health, Education and Welfare has approved research grants providing:

- $46,731 for a study of the "regulation of development of the mouse egg."
- $9,740 for a study of the "physiological adaptation of the Mexican free-tailed bat."
- $4,120 to promote a study of the "effects of frustration on a reflex response."

THE BUSINESS WEEK

Order Strong Medicine to Hold Dollar Standing

By DARDEN CHAMBLISS

NEW YORK (AP)—The Administration has prescribed strong medicine for the nation's balance of payments illness that has recently taken a turn for the worse.

These efforts to preserve the dollar's good credit rating in international commerce took the spotlight in the week's economic events.

The Federal Reserve Board boosted the interest rate it charges commercial banks, thereby seeking to make investments here attractive enough to keep more money at home.

President Kennedy called for a tax on purchase of foreign stocks on U.S. exchanges to discourage investment money from leaving via that route.

And Kennedy announced that the country has, for the first time, arranged to tap the International Monetary Fund for 500 million, if needed, to counter any speculative raids on the dollar.

The moves represent further efforts to treat the international payments problem selectively, with least possible side effects on the domestic economy.

The balance of payments problem had raised new concern because it has faltered this year on what had seemed to be a path in the right direction.

The current problem is generally dated to 1958, when the deficit jumped suddenly to $3.4 billion. That means that America paid out that much more—for purchases, investments, military and economic aid and the like—than it got back from foreign countries. In 1959, the deficit grew to $3.8 billion, and in 1960 it was $3.9 billion. Then it was trimmed to $2.5 billion in 1961 and last year it was down to $2.2 billion.

This year, however, imports—with a new wave of domestic prosperity and more money to spend on such things—rose faster than exports. And investments abroad, where the industrial growth rate is higher than in the United States, rose faster than foreign investments here. Largely because of these two trend changes, the deficit began to grow, indicating an annual rate of about $3 billion.

It was against this background that the government acted.

President Kennedy told the congress Thursday "while none of us welcomes higher interest rates at a time when our economy is operating below capacity, an increase in short-term rates... should have little if any adverse effect on our economy."

"I have been assured by both Treasury and Federal Reserve officials that they intend to do everything possible... to avoid any reduction in domestic credit availability and any upward pressure on long-term interest rates while the economy operates below capacity."

President Kennedy reported that higher-than-expected tax revenues and lower-than-expected spending reduced the budget deficit for the year ended June 30 to $8.2 billion, a welcome change from the $8.8 billion that had been forecast.

ANOTHER highlight of the week's news was still being evaluated for plus or minus values. That was a critical report by the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) on stock trading practices.

'MONSTER' DREDGE... Chews Up Harbor Floor

EARTHY PROBLEM

Powerful New 'Teeth' Put on World Fair Pier J Job

By BUCK LANIER

Don Graham has an earthy problem: He needs 33 million cubic yards of soil.

That's what he is endeavoring to get as project manager for Construction Aggregates of Chicago. It involves making "something out of nothing."

The "nothing" is Long Beach Harbor silt and the "something" will be 310 acres of 1967 World's Fair land that just was not there.

Graham, a veteran of dredging work all over the U.S. and Canada, claims "this is one of my toughest assignments."

DON GRAHAM Earth Mover

AFTER STARTING he saw he would be a long way from bringing up the 33 million yards to sandwich into a huge pyramid based on millions of tons of rock.

It will be Pier J, the Fair power chewing away on the bottom.

"I needed more horses running around in that cutter-head and I need them in a hurry," the Canadian-born engineer said.

"I called Western Gear Corp. in Everett, Wash., and told them the problem. Officials were amazed, but came through in record time. Then I was able to see my goal of 1 1/2 million cubic yards a month in sight," he said.

Nurse Ruled Responsible in Hit-Run Death

GARDEN GROVE — A corner jury ruled Friday that Mrs. Aphrodite Chilimpis of Costa Mesa was "criminally responsible" for the traffic death of Jack D. Lawton, 25, of Santa Ana, and today she faces possible prosecution.

Deputy District Attorney Cecil Hicks said that his office is studying the transcript of the testimony before the coroner's jury and will meet with Garden Grove police before deciding on a complaint.

Lawton was hit July 5 while crossing Garden Grove Boulevard east of Harbor Boulevard. Mrs. Chilimpis, 37, a registered nurse employed at the county's Juvenile Hall, told police that she had hit "something" but insisted she did not know it was a person. She later called officers and said it must have been "a pedestrian," after fellow workers saw extensive damage to her car. He died July 8.

Santa Ana Woman; Three Men Held for Hiding Illegitimate Baby's Death

day, 2 p.m., Hunter Mortuary.

TYER — Donald H., of 840 Cedar Ave., died Friday. Surviving are wife, Ruby; daughter, Mrs. Alice Nelson; son, Donald H. Jr. Service Monday, 2 p.m., Westminster Memorial Park Mortuary.

GOLDNER — Louis, 77, of 4437 E. Fourth St., died Friday. Surviving are wife, Anna; son, Maurice; daughter, Mrs. Myrtle Gordon; sister, Mrs. Fannie Sommer. Service Sunday, 3 p.m., Temple Sinai, Long Beach. Groman Mortuary in charge.

A young Santa Ana woman and three men are held in Orange County Jail for Arkansas authorities on the charge of concealing the death of her illegitimate child last March.

Jerry Kay Scheuer, 20, of 2109 W. 11th St., waived extradition.

Three other persons have been arrested on the same charge, police said. They are John T. Potts, 27, the baby's father; his father, Rhodes, 64; and John's brother, William, 15, all formerly of 1410 Highland St.

The death of the Scheuer baby occurred at the time of the death of Potts' baby by his wife, Rose. Both babies, about three months old, died under mysterious circumstances and were buried in shallow graves in a remote area near Russellville, Ark., police said.

According to officers, Mrs. Scheuer; her husband, Leonard, 22; the Potts and four other young Potts children left Santa Ana last December to live in Tennessee.

A few weeks after they reached Albuquerque, N.M., early this year, Leonard Scheuer was arrested on grand theft charges and jailed. The rest of the group continued on to Tennessee.

Mrs. Scheuer told authorities there was an argument near Russellville. She left briefly, and found the babies dead when she returned. She said John Potts told her the babies suffocated in their sleep. They were buried a short time later, she added.

The group then returned to Albuquerque, where Mrs. Scheuer called her mother in Santa Ana requesting money for bus fare back to California, and she returned to Santa Ana in June. The Potts remained in New Mexico.

Bill to Make Kite Flying in Capital Legal

WASHINGTON (AP)—A New Jersey congressman plans to introduce a bill to make kite flying legal in Washington.

"The President, poor fellow, has to go all the way up to Hyannis port to teach his children how to fly one," said Rep. Frank Thompson Jr.

The New Jersey Democrat, who likes to fly kites himself, recently discovered that flying kites and hot air balloons is punishable here by a $10 fine.

British Service Unity Dooms Storied Admiralty

By TOM OCHILTREE
LONDON (AP) — The admirals around the table scribble on pads placed before them and speak in hushed tones of nuclear submarines and Polaris missiles. Somehow they seem more like monks than warriors as they analyze the West's deterrent and second strike capability and compare it with the nuclear punch of the other side. Their conversation is as grimly topical as the fears of tomorrow. But the setting is odd. This is the oak paneled board room of the admiralty, a place for snuff boxes and powdered wigs. Now switch the time back to the autumn of 1805, the room is the same. The identical tall clock ticks in the corner. Above the fireplace the same wind dial flickers. * * * *
IT IS THE small hours of the morning and the secretary of the Admiralty, William Marsden, works on papers by candlelight. As far as a worried London knows, Napoleon is still unchecked—his sea power still intact. Suddenly in through the door by the clock stumbles a tired, mud stained lieutenant from the sloop Pickle. The lieutenant, his voice heavy with emotion and fatigue, tells Marsden: "Sir, we have won a great victory but we have lost Lord Nelson." That is how the news of Trafalgar broke. No wonder the room is regarded by Sir Winston Churchill and many others as an inner sanctum of British history. Yet its status seems destined to change soon. It may become a museum instead of continue as the nerve center for the direction of the British navy. Yet change seems inevitable now that Prime Minister Macmillan's cabinet is moving to integrate the navy, army and air force in a strengthened defense ministry and house the top echelon of all three services in a new building a short distance from the Admiralty. Although this new building only has four sides, London wits already have nicknamed the structure the Pentagon. The planned organizational arrangements for the British services are, in fact, much like those operating in Washington. After integration, Britain's Board of Admiralty, War Council and Air Council presumably will become largely powerless relics meeting occasionally to settle questions of discipline and minor domestic affairs. THIS WILL be a bitter pill for such a proud old body as the Board of Admiralty.

B-9—INDEPENDENT-PRESS-TELEGRAM
Long Beach 12, Calif., Sunday, July 21, 1963

IT'S 100-1 FLOYD WON'T LAST 15 ROUNDS

By DAVE LEWIS

LAS VEGAS—After Sonny Liston knocked out Floyd Patterson in the first round 10 months ago, one of Vegas' leading bookmakers posted a sign on his odds board: "Liston vs. 3 gorillas—Liston 5-8 favorite."

Patterson is far from being as formidable as three gorillas, thus Liston rules a prohibitive favorite for their thrice-postponed return bout here Monday night at the Convention Center.

Latest odds are "5 and 3." If you want Liston, you must lay $5 to win $1. If you like Patterson, you get $3 for a dollar bet.

There is no heavy betting at those odds. The most brisk action has been on how far the fight will go. It's even money it won't go over five . . . and 100-1 that Floyd will be around for the full 15 rounds.

In the long and colorful history of the heavyweight division, longshots have paid off their backers almost as often as the favorites, but as one bookie says "You better believe the odds this time."

Jimmy (The Greek) Snyder, one of the leading oddsmakers in Vegas for the past several years, recently handicapped the fight on a round basis.

Jimmy says it's 15-1 against Liston stopping Floyd in the first round as he did in their first fight last September 25 in Chicago when Patterson was counted out in two minutes and six seconds.

But the odds drop to 5-1 that Sonny will end in the second, and to 3-1 that the finish will come in the 3rd, 4th or 5th rounds. After that the odds soar on Floyd's chances of staying upright.

Despite the disheartening odds on Floyd's chances to regain the title, a heavyweight championship fight is still one of the great spectacles in the sports world and a capacity crowd of 8,000 including nearly 500 newspapermen from all over the world, is expected to watch the fight in the Convention Hall.

Meanwhile, as many as another 400,000 persons may watch the fight on closed circuit television in 143 theaters and auditoriums in 109 cities, while a half-million more will watch in on Community Antenna Pay-TV in Canada and a few spots in this country.

It is estimated by radio officials that another 50 million will listen to the broadcast of the fight over ARC. The fight, incidentally, will get under way at 7:30 p.m.

The gross from the ancillary rights—TV, radio and movies—has no chance of coming close to the record $4,200,000 for the first Liston-Patterson bout. Promoters will be happy to get $1,250,000.

Even that will mean a good pay day for the two fighters. They split everything 30-30 . . . and likely will collect around $100,000 each from the ancillary rights for half-million dollar payoffs.

Any thoughts that a "fix" may be in for Patterson have been completely discounted. There have been a few rumors to this effect started by suspicious people who think they may be setting up a third fight.

But there appears to be no suspicious angles even though Liston is still reported to have connections with underworld characters, who share in his "take."

Furthermore, there is no suspicion of a betting coup since there is very little action on the fight.

As one veteran fight man says "circumstances certify it's on the level."

For one thing, there is animosity between Liston's camp and Patterson's promoters—the Bolan Brothers of Championship Sports, Inc.

The Liston group intends to break away from them . . . and this can be done only if Sonny wins.

The Liston group, in fact, already has set up its own promotional group . . . Intercontinental Promotions, Inc., to stage Sonny's future fights—the first one being with Cassius Clay in Philadelphia on Sept. 30 which will break all money records in boxing history. It's being rated a $6 to $10 million production.

"Intercontinental," incidentally, is composed of three men . . . Liston and the two brothers of his advisor, Jack Nilon—Bob and Jim.

INJURED DILLARD OK

Moon Shadow, Sandy's Blast Dim Braves

By GEORGE LEDERER

MILWAUKEE—Shortly before the moon cast its shadow on the sun, Frank Howard caused another eclipse in Milwaukee Saturday when his third home run in 24 hours edged the Braves, 5-4.

Appropriately, Howard was playing right field as Wally Moon's shadow, just as he did Friday night against another lefthander.

Every bit as rare as the total eclipse of the sun was a home run by Sandy Koufax, and he was bleeding from the nose, but doctors said the injury is "not too serious."

"I don't know if I could have tagged him (Dillard) or not," said Wills. "It all happened so quick. I automatically threw to first base."

DODGER OF DAY

FRANK HOWARD

Hit game-winning home run and singled for 5-4 Dodger victory over Milwaukee.

the second of his nine-year career and second at County Stadium. Sandy's first home run gave him a 1-0 victory over Warren Spahn, June 13 last year. His homer Saturday was good for three runs, but still wasn't enough of a cushion on which to rest a stiff left shoulder.

Koufax, admitting he was "tight all day," was forced to leave in the sixth inning and Ron Perranoski came on to register his 10th victory in 12 decisions.

THE UNUSUAL mid-afternoon darkness also cast its gloom in both dressing rooms. Don Dillard, pinch-running for the Braves in the ninth inning, was carried from the field on a stretcher and was taken to a hospital vacated by the Dodgers' Bill Skowron an hour earlier.

Skowron had six stitches taken in a lacerated right thumb, the result of catching Lemaster's foul pop against the first base railing in the third inning.

Doctors ordered Skowron to rest his thumb for "at least two days," but it may be two weeks before he will be able to swing a bat. Four stitches were taken on the top side and two below.

"Come on, Fairly," said Skowron, after returning to the clubhouse with his thumb heavily bandaged. Ron Fairly, the Dodgers' regular first baseman, is to rejoin the club for today's concluding doubleheader after taking two days off to attend the funeral of his grandfather in Los Angeles.

DILLARD was injured on a weird game-ending play that left Braves manager Bobby Bragan almost as stunned as his pinch-runner.

With two out in the ninth and Dillard at first, running for Joe Torre, Mack Jones grounded behind second base. Shortstop Maury Wills scooped up the ball and, with Dillard fast approaching second, hit him squarely above the right eye and sent him sprawling past the bag.

The ball rebounded near the mound, where Perranoski picked it up and tossed to Jim Gilliam, who tagged the prostrate Dillard a few feet past the bag for the game-ending out.

Dillard's right eye was puffed, the brow was gashed and he was bleeding from the nose, but doctors said the injury is "not too serious."

"I don't know if I could have tagged him (Dillard) or not," said Wills. "It all happened so quick. I automatically threw to first base."

BRAGAN absolved Wills of any blame. "He had no chance to make a tag. His only play was to first base and the only way they could have gotten the out was the way it happened," Bragan thought Jones

Golf's Iron-Man Crampton Fires 65, Leads PGA by 2

DALLAS (AP)—Bruce Crampton, youthful tournament iron man from Australia, fired a sizzling record-tying 6-under-par 65 here Saturday and forged into the third-round lead of the 45th Professional Golfers Association Championship with a total of 208.

The handsome 27-year-old Sydney professional nailed birdies on the final two holes, sinking a dramatic 10-foot putt on the 18th hole, for a score of 31-34 and a two-stroke edge over Dow Finsterwald.

Finsterwald, also on a fiery birdie binge which matched the scorching Texas weather, shot 34-32-66 for 210. He holed out from 50 yards for an eagle 3 on the 543-yard 12th hole and one-punted eight greens in a bizarre round.

Dick Hart, the sensational young darkhorse from Hinsdale, Ill., who led through the first two rounds, fell back under a barrage of bogeys.

Arnold Palmer, the people's choice, never found the inspirational spark which sets off his fabled comeback finishes.

He took a two-over-par 73 for 220—a dozen strokes off the pace. In three rounds, he had a fantastic total of 14 bogeys.

Masters champion Jack Nicklaus, rocking the 7,046-yard, par 71 Dallas Athletic Club course with powerful sledgehammer blows, came to the short 16th hole tied with Crampton for the lead. However, he hit his tee shot over the green, blasted 10 feet away and missed the putt for a bogey.

He had a 15-foot putt at the final hole for a chance to tie Finsterwald for second place, but he sent the ball past the cup on the high side—three feet away—and finished with 69 for 211.

Defending champion Gary Player, apparently out of it after a 149 total for the first two rounds, rallied with a 67 and moved into a contending spot at 216 although he was bitter over an altercation with a magazine photographer.

Six under par going to the 15th, Player became upset when he started to putt and found himself looking almost squarely into the telescopic lens of a still camera.

He moved away from the six-foot assignment and asked the photographer to move. The cameraman did, but not enough. Player asked him again.

Finally, the rattled little South African putted and missed for his first bogey.

He glowered at the photographer.

Channel 2, 1:30 p.m.

"You probably cost me the tournament," he said. "Don't you have any feelings for anyone?"

Player proceeded to three-putt the next hole.

Crampton's 65 tied the course record set by Don January two years ago.

The pros call him the "iron man" of the circuit.

He played 38 straight weeks last year before returning to his home in Sydney, and has played 27 straight PGA events this year, a mark of durability unmatched by any of his contemporaries.

Malicious, Nevada Bin Triumph

By ERNIE MASON

While a near-record performance by Greentree Stable's Malicious in one division of the $130,000 added Hollywood Juvenile Championship may have earned him two-year-old honors for the season, a victory by Suisun Stable's Nevada Bin in the other section Saturday may have etched more vividly in the minds of the 55,591 who watched the heart-stopper.

Malicious stamped himself as one of the finest two-year-old developments to be seen in the West in many seasons as he raced to a spectacular two-length, wire-to-wire triumph in the $94,400 first division, being timed in 1:09 3/4, only one tick off lucky Mid's more excitement and suspense.

Nevada Bin, a recent $10,000 claim by the five-man Suisun Stable, trimmed two of his former stablemates, Nevada P.J. and Leisurely Kin, in a thrilling three-horse tussle and then withstood a stewards' inquiry to pay $17,800.

Nevada Bin, one of a host of top juvenile prospects owned by Nevada J. K. Houssels, became "trading material" several weeks ago when it appeared that the stable had sufficient strength for the rich Juvenile Championship in the colt Nevada P.J. and the fillies, Leisurely Kin and Sari's Song.

So trainer Jess Byrd ran him in a $10,000 claiming event and trainer Pete Laid-ley promptly halted the youngster for the Suisun contingent, a new stable made up of five Los Angeles area men who are in the food business.

Nevada Bin also led wire-to-wire but jockey Ray York had the son of Binary doing his best to stall off Nevada P.J. by a neck while Leisurely Kin was another neck away in third place.

The stewards posted the inquiry skin immediately as they checked the films to observe the early run down the backstretch in which several contenders were eliminated because of jamming. However, the first three finishers were held blameless and Nevada's victory stood.

The triumph netted the newly formed quintet $60,

IT WAS WORTH THE STRAIN

Burly Dave Davis of U.S. track team uncorks winning heave of 61-11 1/2 in U.S.-Russia meet in Moscow Saturday. Yanks finished 1-2 in shot-put, with Parry O'Brien in the runner-up spot.

—Associated Press Wirephoto

IN ADDITION to Connolly and Hayes, other U.S. winners were: Jim Dupree of Los Angeles in the 800 meter run in 1:47.8; Dave Davis of the U.S. Marines, who paced a 1-2 sweep in the shot put with 61 feet, 1 1/2 inches; Ralph Boston of Los Angeles, who scored a revenge victory over broad jump rival Igor Ter-Ovanesyan with 26 feet, 10 1/2 inches; John Uelses of La Salle College, who led a 1-2 sweep with a leap of 16 feet, 7 1/2 inches; the first 16-footer ever performed in Russia; and Uis Williams of Arizona State in the 400-meter run in 46.2 seconds.

The defeat of Jones in the hurdles was a shock to the U.S. team, which had regarded the Petroier as the "surest winner on the squad." First Jones was left at the start as the other three runners went all the way in a race that was called a false start.

Then, in the re-run, he could do no better than third as Anatoli Mikhailov, the Soviet champion, surged from behind to nip Blaine Lindgren of Glendale, Calif., at the tape

ON THE other hand, Soviet coach Gabriel Korobkov was a happy man and said: "Our men are doing almost the impossible, especially in the track events. The points ratio is fully satisfactory."

The U.S. relay team, anchored by "world's fastest human" Bob Hayes, who had opened the men's program by winning the 100-meter dash, finished first. But then the judges announced that it was disqualified because the third U.S. runner had passed the baton too soon to the anchor man.

Connolly's surprise appearance and triumph in the hammer throw made up somewhat for the Yank defeats in the relays and the hurdles.

HEFTY HAL, from Los Angeles, had cabled the U.S. team several days ago that he wouldn't be able to compete because of a back injury. But he showed up here from Tampere, Finland, where he is teaching school. He uncorked a winning heave of 219 feet, 3/4 inch that was some 13 feet shorter than his world record but plenty good enough to keep the Soviets from scoring an expected 1-2 sweep in this event.

Hayes, the Florida A & M football player who recently set a world record of 9.1 seconds for 100 yards, blazed to victory in the 100 meters in 10.2 seconds but was dissatisfied with his time, two tenths slower than the world mark.

"I did not get a very good start," Hayes said, "even though I thought I had the power, I know I can do better."

The crowd, second largest of the year, wagered $4,492,270, a new Hollywood Park record for a single day handle. The old mark of $4,406,319 was established on Gold Cup day last year.

Wil Rad, Wilbur Clark and Bill Radkovich's stakes-winning youngster, was closest to Malicious through the six-furling journey, which was the first of the year for two-year-olds at that distance, but he never really menaced the Greentree colt.

Valenzuela came within a neck of scoring a sensational sweep, losing narrowly with Nevada P. J., whom he said didn't seem to want to move past his former stablemate in the stretch.

CHAMPIONSHIP REGATTA AT STADIUM TODAY

Banzai Streaks to Record

Barry McGown of Altadena, skipping his famed dragboat "Banzai," shattered the world's gas record Saturday during the qualifying round for J. C. Agagianian's National Championship Regatta at Marine Stadium.

McGown traveled the quarter-mile in 138.03 mph. Earlier in the week, he had predicted a run of 130 mph.

Bob Ellis, who also qualified, was the old record-holder with a 123-mph standard set in "Golden Thing." McGown also holds the world fuel record of 161 mph set at Marine Stadium earlier this year.

Gerald Berry of Nevada was the day's second best qualifier in his Allison powerboat, "Purple People Eater." Berry pushed his machine, powered by a 1,710-cubic inch V-12 engine, to a speed of 123.62 mph.

Both boats will be competing during today's program which begins at 12:30 p.m. The format of the show will be similar to Agagianian's car races, with a trophy dash starting things off, followed by heat races and the main event.

Tony Maricich, the San Pedro fireman, led unlimited SK Runabout qualifiers with a 75.80 mph clocking in his "Suddenly." Maricich won the Fourth of July Regatta at Marine Stadium.

Anaheim's LeRoy Penhall in "Sizzler" was third.

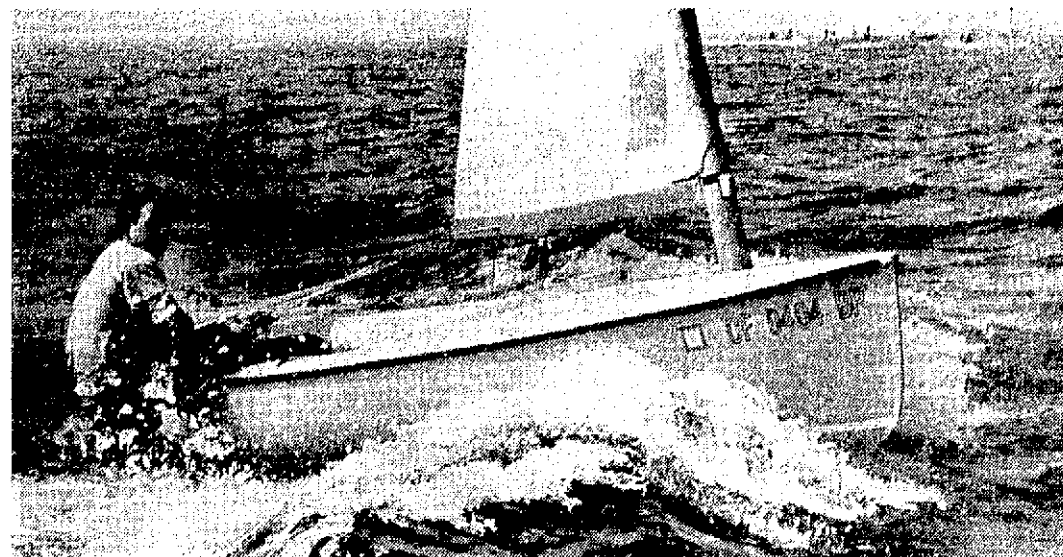

McGown has not run at Marine Stadium since his 161-mph timing—his speed forced the recreation commission to ban fuel-powered boats in drag races.

However, to compete in the Agagianian meet, the Altadena flash converted his craft to a blown Chrysler power plant. Although both records are unofficial, McGown now holds a claim on the Stadium standards.

Tickets for today's show are $2 for adults and $1 for children. Kids under eight get in free.

Shrine Grids Visit Hospital—Faces Reveal Game's Meaning

By DOUG IVES

They were neither in uniform nor near a football field, but the 50 youths who will comprise the North and South squads for the Shrine High grid classic in the Coliseum Aug. 1 went into training Saturday.

The boys visited the Shriners' Crippled Children's Hospital in Los Angeles—for which the game is played—and a few hours later these well-muscled lads had undergone a mental conditioning of which there is no substitute.

You didn't need to ask the footballers the impact of their brief stay in that hospital. You saw it on their faces. Thoughts of personal glory seemed flushed from their minds as they pondered the more important reason for the game.

All proceeds, and that has amounted to hundreds of thousands of dollars in the past 11 years, go to the Shriners' Hospital so that some less-fortunate child may have the care and treatment which may some day give him (or her) a new lease on life.

THE ACTUAL MUSCLE-FLEXING starts today, with the South working out at USC and the North at UCLA. Two-day drills are on rap every day for the next 10 days, save for a few hours' relaxation to pose for the cameraman Monday.

All workouts are free to the public. The weather could alter the starting times, but tentatively they are 8 to 11 a.m. and 2 to 5 p.m.

Long Beach athletes have always played a big part in this most worthy of games, and this year is no exception. The stake this time may be more important than ever because the coach and quarterback are from this city.

Eugene (Skip) Rowland of Wilson, along with El Rancho's Ernie Johnson, will serve as co-coaches for the Rebels. Two other Bruins, quarterback Craig Westermarck and end John Tigner, are among key personnel.

This marks the second time a local man has coached. Poly's Dave Levy ran the show in 1960 when the South won 13-12. Incidentally, that is the only win the Rebels have had since 1955. They have managed two ties since then, however, and lead the series, 5-4-2.

THE GAME, DESPITE ITS importance, has drawn smaller and smaller crowds since the peak year of 1957 when 85,931 watched the underdog North swamp their rivals, 32-0. Last year's 37,334 was the lowest attendance ever.

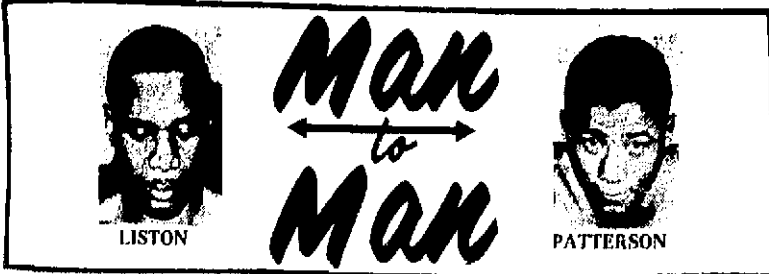

Rowland was chosen by his contemporaries—the first time a coach has been elected and not appointed because his team won a CIF title—to revive interest in the game by presenting a more wide-open offense, which the fans want.

Rowland, basically, is conservative in total number of plays used, but his clubs have always liked to throw the ball around—and they've always done it with a great deal of success.

HARD TO PASS BY

Linda Mollman, 17-year-old coed from Burbank, helps advertise fact that Southland football season will begin with the 12th annual Shrine North-South game at the Coliseum, Aug. 1

By JERRY WYNN

Man to man, heavyweight champion Sonny Liston and former champion Floyd Patterson have a fistic date in Las Vegas Monday night.

Man to man, this is how they shape up verbally.

How do you like Las Vegas?

LISTON: "One town is just like any other to me. The only difference here is that they got slot machines, and I could do without them. Patterson is a lot easier to hit."

PATTERSON: "I think it is a great place to stage fights. In fact if I am fortunate enough to beat Liston, I would like to hold my next fight in Vegas."

What strategy will you use in the fight?

LISTON: "Tag him as quick as possible. I'd like to get it over within about a minute and a half."

PATTERSON: "I will have to be more cautious than ever before, stay at long range and make Sonny come to me. With his reach, you can't carry the fight to him. If I can keep moving all the time and make him chase me, I think condition will be the deciding factor. And I know I am in better condition than he is. I've never felt better."

What do you consider the strong point of your opponent?

LISTON: "His speed, I guess."

PATTERSON: "His strength and his tremendous reach. He also punches hard with both hands, especially that left hook."

What do you consider the weak point of your opponent?

LISTON: "His chin."

PATTERSON: "Well, there are a few things I don't want to mention because I didn't get a chance to test them in our first fight. But for one thing, Sonny is slow. Fast-moving men have made him look pretty bad in some of his fights. Secondly, I don't think he is in top condition to go 15 rounds at a fast clip."

What do you think of the "bad guy vs. good guy" publicity?

LISTON: "Are we trying to find out who is the best man in the ring or the nicest. Just because Patterson is a nice fellow don't mean he's the best fighter especially when everyone knows by now I'm the best."

PATTERSON: "I think it's in poor taste. Liston is the champion now and a champion shouldn't be called a bad guy. As I said after our first fight, Sonny would make a good champion."

Would you like to meet Cassius Clay as your next opponent?

LISTON: "I'd like that loud mouth Cassius for my birthday and Johansson for Christmas."

PATTERSON: "Definitely. If I beat Liston, I would like to fight Cassius early next year."

What is your prediction of the outcome Monday night?

LISTON: "I'll chase him until I rock him to sleep, and it will be quick."

PATTERSON: "I feel I'm in better condition both physically and mentally this time. A win would mean a lot to me, and I feel I can win."

And may the best man emerge triumphant!

KRAL NAMED PRESIDENT OF CENTURY CLUB

Steve Kral is the new president of the Long Beach Century Club, officials announced Saturday. He succeeds Miles Sines.

Attorney Kosta George is vice president for the 1963-64 term, while Frank Mansuy and Claude Jennings will retain their posts as treasurer and secretary, respectively.

Current directors are Abe Azar, Pat Phelan, Bob Maury, Bob Wenke, Wayne Bryson, James Judson, Hank Hollingworth, Jerry George-

son, N. Jack Dilday Jr., Hal Solomon, Mike Salta, Bill Lockyer, Dean O'Hare and Oscar Contratto, Sr.

The sports booster club's installation dinner will be held in August.

Ralston, McKinley in Finals

RIVER FOREST, Ill. (AP) — Dennis Ralston, second-seeded national collegiate champion of Southern California, and Vicki Palmer, a University of Arizona freshman, battled into the finals of their respective divisions Saturday in the National Clay Courts Tennis Tournament.

Ralston, 20-year-old Davis Cup team member, needed 2½ hours to dispose of Ronald Barnes of Brazil, 7-5, 6-4, 11-13, 6-4.

The 18-year-old Miss Palmer advanced with a 6-4, 2-6, 6-3, decision over Gweth Thomas of Shaker Heights, Ohio.

IN TODAY'S championships, Ralston faces his Davis Cup doubles partner, Wimbledon titlist Chuck McKinley, who will be seeking his second consecutive clay courts crown.

The powerful stroking Miss Palmer will face 20-year-old Nancy Richey, daughter of a Dallas tennis professional, for the women's championship.

Darlene Hard, of Los Angeles, and Maria Bueno of Brazil won their 15th straight tournament doubles championship. They breezed past Carole Caldwell, of Santa Monica, Calif., and Billie Jean Moffitt of Long Beach, Calif., 6-2, 6-2.

Cycle Title to Gunter

Veteran Al Gunter from Alhambra pulled a big surprise Saturday night at Ascot Park in Gardena by romping away with the American Motorcycle Assn. national 8-mile title.

A turnaway crowd of 10,000, the largest ever at Ascot, saw Gunter take the lead on the third lap and win going away by 50 yards in the 20-lap feature.

It was Gunter's third 8-mile championship, but he had been running far under his previous form this season. Western riders, as usual, dominated the race. Sammy Tanner of Bellflower was second, Jack O'Brien of Santa Monica third and Dick Hammer of Lakewood was fourth.

Expert 4-mile Al Gunter, Sammy Tanner, Jack O'Brien, Dick Hammer, George Roeder, Ripon White, 7-34-0, Amelito, Bob Ende, D. Waugh, Ed Padoeff, Bruce Holland, no time.

NAMES IN NEWS

Marlene Stewart Strait has won the women's 65 over 60. Outfielder Roger Maris of New York has left the hospital and will be in uniform today. Bobby Wilson and Mike Sanger scored singles, wins to move Britain's 4-1 one cup tennis win over Spain, while Jan Erik Lundquist and Ulf Schmidt combined to beat South Africa's Abe Seale and Gordon Forbes in 4 sets. Sweden took an insurance-like lead. Boston's Celtics have slotted No. 4 draft pick, Oklahoma State's Camille McCutcheon, a 6-8 center. Long Beach's Andy Maricich is in film shoot in the PGA tourney in Altamonte, Fla. Braves are evading a move to Atlanta. An Atlanta sportswriter, Jim McMillin, has said Georgia Tech will drop out of the Southeastern Football Conference in January.

PCL Results

Rams Strong for Patterson

The Rams, pro football battlers, take a surprising view of the heavyweight championship fight at Las Vegas Monday night.

In a poll of 15 players, conducted by the Independent, Press-Telegram, only eight Rams favored champion Sonny Liston while seven stood up for underdog Floyd Patterson. The poll:

Jon Arnett: "Liston. The tougher, more experienced fighter."

Pervis Atkins: "Patterson. He's a better boxer and has authority in both hands."

Dick Bass: "Liston. The man to beat the boy in live rounds."

Zeke Bralick: "Patterson by a KO in fifth round."

Joe Carroll: "Patterson. Liston won the last one, so they have to set up a return."

Lincoln Crew: "Liston by a KO early, I do for the positive thinkers, and Patterson isn't confident enough."

George Greer: "Liston inside of 10. He's never made any move, and he's honest. Patterson is rich."

Alvin Hall: "Patterson, and it won't go 15 rounds. I'm positive."

Deacon Jones: "Patterson in fifth. That's all I have to say."

Cliff Livingston: "Patterson. I like Liston, but I have to go the other way."

Lamar Lundy: "Liston in third. Patterson is going to improve, but no more than two rounds improvement."

Marlin McKeever: "Liston will blow him out in second round."

Ed Meador: "Liston by KO in third. He's too powerful."

Larry Sheahan: "Liston by a KO in three rounds. He has too much reach."

Danny Villanueva: "Patterson by a decision. I guess it's because I want to see him win."

Mills Breezes in U.S. Ladies' Open

CINCINNATI, Ohio (UPI) — Mary Mills, an unshakeable 23-year-old Mississippian who turned pro less than a year ago, Saturday won the U.S. Women's Open golf championship by four strokes with a 4-under-par 288.

Pro Grid Briefs

Compiled from Wire Reports
Viking—Fran Tarkenton completed 14 of 25 passes for 355 yards in the first team scrimmage, though the defensive team won a 25-20 decision on the club's scoring system. Tarkenton and linebacker Rip Hawkins have been named co-captains.

Giants—Five rookies, including former University of Iowa punter Ed Wilson, were cut. Regulars will report Monday. Colts—End R. C. Owens showed rapid improvement in a Denver hospital, but his one-month-old son Darren remained on the critical list. Owens' wife Tina and son were involved in a double accident Wednesday night that claimed the life of their 4-year-old daughter Pamela.

Hers—Veteran offensive tackle Len Ralston showed the rest of non-veterans to sit as the team goes into its second day of drills.

Packers—Coach Vince Lombardi put his team through a bruising running and passing drill and seemed that "top" the first time in 10 years. We haven't got a poor prospect."

Engels—Former Baylor end Ron Gagliardi was the standard of an all-around workout, making an over-the-shoulder catch of a TD pass from 30 yards out.

Raiders—Quarterback Bo Robinson suffered a pulled groin muscle and will be out three weeks.

Patriots—Former NFL veteran Bobby Walsdon and rookie Art Graham started as Boston combined its first scrimmage in the season with a field goal program in Andover, Mass.

500 ARCHERS COMPETE IN NATIONALS

Over 500 of the nation's top archers will be competing at the Downey Indoor Archery Lanes, Bellflower and Imperial Hlwy., in Downey today in the final leg of the National Indoor Archery Championships.

The matches began Saturday in Covina, and the winner will be determined after today's matches.

The shooting is scheduled to start at 8:30 this morning and run through 4:30 p.m. There is no price of admission.

Democracy in a Cat Fight

Ever since I can remember I have been trained that democracy and the United States are synonymous and offer the greatest way of life. I still believe that, but recently I have started to wonder if democracy and our country actually are in step with each other.

Couldn't democracy be made a bit more workable, not the way the Russians want it, but in the good old give-and-take way that is essential to all successful partnerships?

I am thinking of that Sacramento hassle which Gov. Pat Brown calls "intransigent," "irreconcilable" and "uncompromising" are synonyms for the word and all can be applied to Assemblywoman Pauline Davis and Sen. Ronald G. Cameron, both Northern California Democrats and each chairman of the Fish and Game Committee of the two houses of our Legislature.

As has been discussed in this column previously, Sen. Cameron had a simple bill to extend the regulatory powers of the Fish and Game Commission for another two years, such as has been done since 1945.

The routine bill was passed by the Senate and sent to the Assembly, where its first stopping place was on Mrs. Davis' desk.

She promptly tacked on an amendment demanding that only three-point bucks, or better, be killed in north-eastern California for TWO years.

MRS. DAVIS RAMMED THE BILL through her committee and the Assembly and sent it back to the Senate, where the upper house members didn't like what they saw. The Fish and Game Commission already had voted such a provision about deer, but only for ONE year. Mrs. Davis wouldn't settle for less than two years.

The fact that she didn't like Cameron, the fish and game commissioners and, generally speaking, the Department of Fish and Game that controls and directs the affairs of the state's millions of sportsmen, had a bit to do with her action.

When Cameron asked her to come to an Assembly-Senate conference on the amended bill, she refused, saying she was "too busy." So the measure died and with it the powers of the Fish and Game Commission.

Without such powers, the commission can do little. It can not set season dates and fishing and hunting regulations.

Then came the block-bustin' verbal decision of Deputy Atty. Gen. Ralph W. Scott that because of the Legislature's failure to act, the commission's powers already were dead. Atty. Gen. Mosk overruled that and let the archery deer hunters start their season on July 13.

But the damage already had been done and many archers didn't take to the woods because as one said, "We don't know what the hell's going on."

OTHER HUNTERS STILL AWAIT Mosk's ruling on whether the hunting seasons will follow the 1963 dates and regulations, as already passed by the FGC, revert to the 1962 rules, or be a combination of both.

Gov. Brown has said that he would submit the mix-up to the Legislature, which is now in special session, "in five minutes if I thought that I could get agreement." But he added that both sides remained "intransigent."

The governor called the insistence of Mrs. Davis that a three-point buck law be written into the bill as "an evidence of the deadlock of democracy." Most sportsmen of this state are calling it worse than that.

If I have been asked once, I have been asked 500 times, "How do we get rid of Pauline Davis?" The answer is that we don't unless the voters of her own district decide they don't want her in the next election.

Mrs. Davis, meanwhile, says that she is willing to meet Cameron or the governor, but that she won't drop her two-year three-point amendment. Cameron says he won't accept it.

Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh, D-Los Angeles, says that the Legislature leadership will not approve putting the matter before the current session. "It would be just another dog fight, or perhaps we should call it a cat fight," he said.

THE WHOLE MESS COULD be cleared quickly if Cameron and Mrs. Davis would give and take a bit, such as most of us have to do in private life to make a success of anything.

A simple bill to extend the powers of the FGC, without an amendment could be passed easily. Mrs. Davis knows that but she dislikes the commission, so she's having no part of such a plan.

Instead, on Friday she offered a bill to approve the 1963 hunting regulations as set by the commission, but without restoring the FGC's powers. This occurred after DFG Director Walter Shannon said that the state would lose upward of $100,000 in license money if seasons did not open on a Saturday.

Mrs. Davis said: "Had I not introduced this bill the majority of the state's sportsmen would have been seriously inconvenienced. I just could not stand idly by and see this happen."

There also was a matter of tens of thousands of dollars involved in printing which was stopped by the mixup. That was money that you and I paid into the DFG treasury in license fees.

Thomas R. Richards, a member of the FGC, had this to say:

"This is what happens when the Legislature starts fooling around with a state commission appointed by the governor and a department (DFG) that is attempting to work for the good of the resources."

THE PACIFIC QUEEN

PACIFIC SPORTFISHING INC.
PROUDLY PRESENTS...

Deluxe Addition to the Port of Long Beach Sportfishing Fleet

Newest Luxury Craft Now on Albacore Runs

Newest addition to the fine fleet of sportfishing boats operating from the Port of Long Beach, the deluxe 85-foot Pacific Queen is now on a daily albacore run, Pacific Sportfishing Inc., announced.

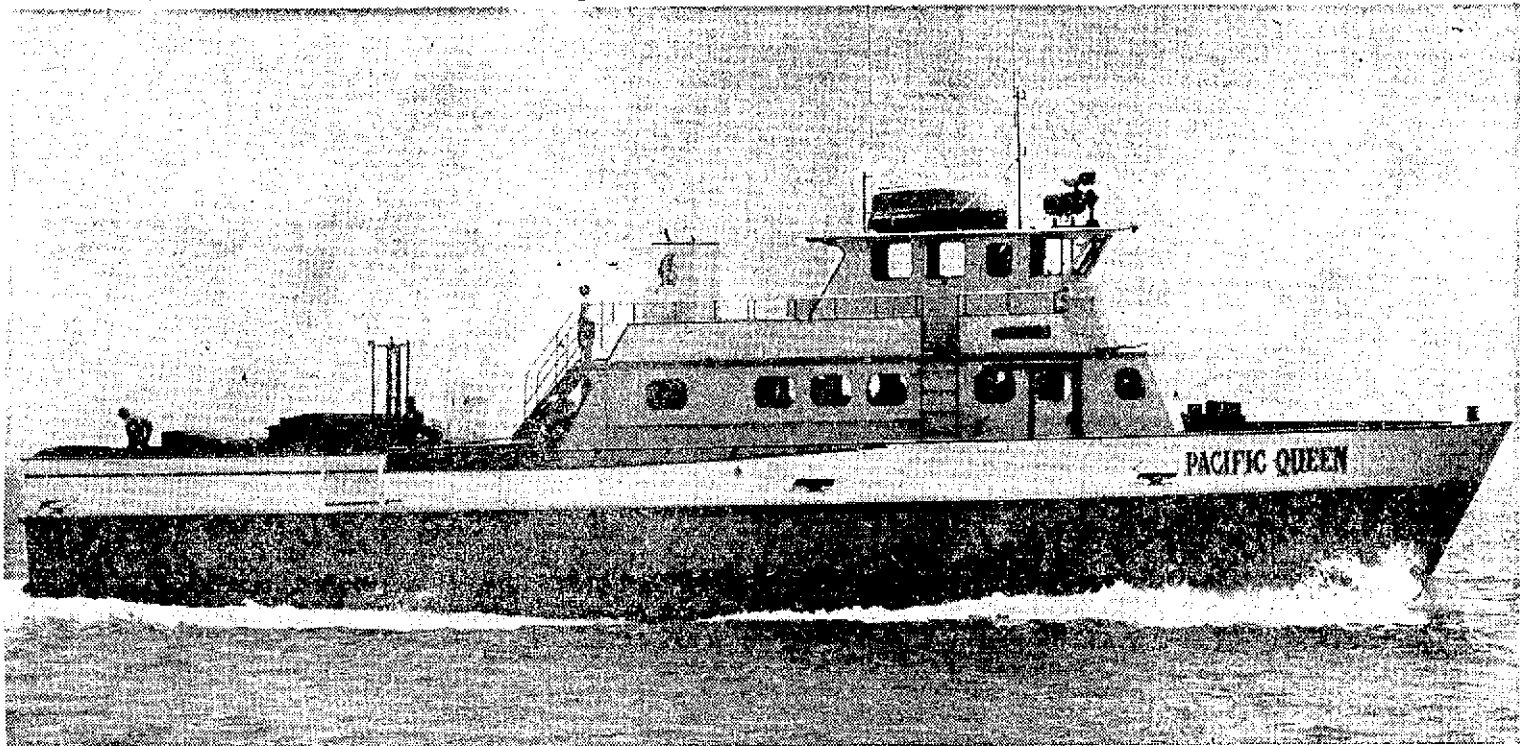

Designed for speed, luxury and comfort and equipped with the best of electronic gear, this Queen of Pacific's sportfishing fleet is the culmination of years of planning by A. O. "Port" Leavitt and E. E. "Eddie" McEwen, owners of Pacific, the Southland's oldest sportfishing firm. Capt. McEwen will be at the helm of the Queen.

Spacious deck, large all-electric galley and sleeping berths for everyone aboard are but some of the many features on the new boat. Foam rubber mattresses 5 inches thick, covered in Naugahyde, are found in each berth. Among incidentals which add to passenger comfort are individual lighting, electric plug-ins at each berth for electric blankets or shaving.

Powered by Cummins VT-12 diesel engines with 3200 horsepower, the Queen also has twin auxiliary diesels to provide 110-volt AC power for the electronic gear and lighting.

Raytheon radar, automatic direction finder and depth recorder are all of the newest models. The Queen also has automatic pilot, 150-watt radiotelephone and Citizens Band radio among other electronic equipment.

The heavy planked hull of the craft is designed to plane on the water and Capt. McEwen said tests runs proved: "She really is a Pacific Queen in her own right."

PACIFIC QUEEN—BUILT FOR SPEED AND COMFORT

Newcomers to the Southland or tourists are just as welcome aboard a sportfishing boat at Pacific as the veteran fisherman. Crewmen will help the newcomer in learning the fundamentals of deep sea fishing. Hot food galleys are in operation on every trip.

The finest tackle is available at all times at the Pacific Tackle Store, either for purchase or may be rented. The Galley, long a favorite eating place for throngs, operates cafeteria style at the landing in daylight hours while Greg's Coffee Shop is open day and night.

For the small boater the Pacific Hoist is in operation daily using two sling hoists to speed launching.

Queen Joins Outstanding Fishing Fleet

"Fish With Fishermen" has long been the motto of Pacific Sportfishing Inc., which has been operating in the Port of Long Beach more than 35 years.

Fine boats and the best of skippers have been the policy of Pacific's successful operation throughout the years. And now the Pacific Queen joins the fleet of well known and outstanding sportfishing boats operated by the landing.

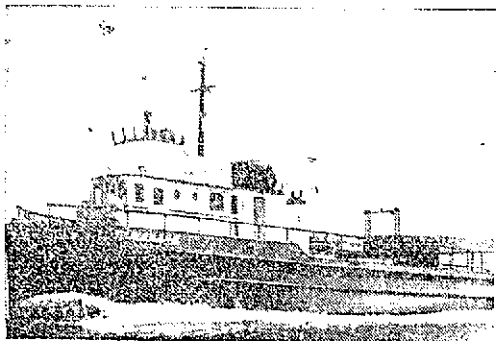

Recognizing that sportfishing is largely recreation for the patrons when they spend a day at sea, Pacific's owners offer clean, well-built, comfortable boats and friendly and helpful crews. They have provided much pleasure and relaxation for thousands of Southland residents. And, they have continually provided the best of fishing for those patrons.

Other Pacific Sportfishing boats operating on daily or half-day trips are:

THE FISHERMAN, skippered by Pat Jackson.
THE FISHERMAN II, skippered by "Whitey" Ashley.
THE SEA SPORT, skippered by Jack Montgomery.
THE ESTRELLA, half-day trips, skippered by Jimmy Goldsworthy.

TWO-FISTED MAN OF ACTION

Spillane Plays 'Self'

By WILLIAM GLOVER

NEW YORK (AP)—"If I do a book," Mickey Spillane observed the other day, "people think I'm a genius."

"But if I stand up to do something else, they think I'm a jerk."

As a man of action, Spillane is out to rectify such skepticism. The husky, crew-cut sire of blood-and-blond paper-back best-sellers has become his own fictional hero, Mike Hammer, on the movie screen. With a time limit.

"It's a challenge to see how far you can go," he says. "I agreed that if this one came out all right, to do another. Also I've written a scenario—I'll change it into a book later—that I'd like to act in. Then I'll do a fourth film and quit."

THE REVIEWS Spillane has gotten for his initial Hammer incarnation in "The Girl Hunters" have been warm and even surprised that the ex-fighter pilot has so skillfully enacted the incarnation of his alter ego.

He is less than rhapsodic about those who have previously portrayed Hammer.

Spillane's only previous acting experience was in a 1954 celluloid, "Ring of Fear," a circus thriller that made hardly comparable demands on his thespian potential.

"It's kind of strange," he says of the confusion that has always existed between him and Hammer. "This cross-identification has been going on for years."

ALTHOUGH he admittedly keeps his hard-boiled operative "my own age" and provides him with "the same background," Spillane is wary about any other similarities. Asked whether Mike's penchant for mayhem is a sublimation of any suppressed actual urge, Mickey's reply is a terse: "Nah."

For some aficionados, Hammer has attained an existence more real than his creator. While "The Girl Hunters" was being made in England, the set was visited by several saturnine gentlemen. Later some members of the constabulary dropped in.

"They wanted to know what the guys had been there about," reports Spillane. "Turned out they were some mobsters, but as far as I was concerned they just wanted to see Mike."

THIS BUSINESS, to Spillane, is a matter of manufacture rather than high-falutin' artistic creation.

"I put out products," says the man whose volumes have totalled a sale of 70 million copies. "If there's the ring of the cash register, that's enough. I'm not writing for three or four guys who pick prize novels, but for a million people who want to be entertained."

The same pragmatic attitude applies to the Spillane movie.

"All of us deferred our salaries, and brought it in under $400,000."

"Of course, if that kind of film-making idea spreads, it'll knock hell out of the star system. My idea is, if you got a good product, go out and sell it and the money will roll in."

Stamps Not Girls Tony's Target Now

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — This happens when you have just married an 18-year-old beauty like Christine Kaufmann: Tony Curtis, whose next film is "Playboy," has had more than 1,000 pictures submitted to him by beautiful young women who want to appear in the movie.

The other day producer Stan Margulies walked into the office to find Curtis literally ripping apart the new batch of envelopes.

"I'm glad to see our star is showing such enthusiasm in selecting girls for the film," commented Margulies.

"Look," Curtis said calmly, "selecting the girls is your job. I'm just looking for stamps for my stamp collection."

Thelma Ritter's Daughter in Debut

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Another show business child has got the acting bug. Monica Moran, daughter of actress Thelma Ritter, makes her debut as Sandra Dee's beatnik college chum in "Take Her, She's Mine."

GOLF OF SORTS

Just Puttering Around Course

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — George Gobel and a buddy were playing golf at Lake-side Country Club, one of the few golf courses that has a well-stocked bar at the ninth hole.

After an interlude of martinis, George's partner said he couldn't hit his tee shot.

"I see four balls," complained the golfer. "You can hit it," cheered George. "You're holding four clubs."

DIRECTORS MEET IN CITY FOR FIRST TIME

Douglas Executives Feted in Long Beach

By VERN ANTHONY
Southland Progress Editor

Douglas Aircraft Company's board of directors met at its Aircraft Division facility in Long Beach for the first time the past week, inspecting the mockup of the DC-9 twin jet passenger transport at first hand and receiving a financial report of improved profit figures over both the preceding quarter and the comparable period of 1962.

The board was hosted by Long Beach civic groups Wednesday evening with a tour of the harbor and a dinner at the Captain's Inn at the Marina.

The cruise was aboard the large yacht Malibu operated by Les and Howard Thuet out of Avalon.

SPONSORS of the event were the Chamber of Commerce, Southern California Edison Co., General Telephone Co. and the Independent, Press-Telegram.

Meeting of the directors in Long Beach for the first time was partially the result of an invitation the Chamber issued after the Douglas announcement of its plans to develop and build the short-range DC-9 jet planes. Copies of a resolution commending the program and an invitation to meet in Long Beach were mailed to each director last April by the Chamber.

Directors also wanted to view the new nine-story administration building at the Douglas plant here and to inspect the DC-9 mockup, it was explained.

Although at the board meeting, Donald Douglas, chairman, was unable to go on the cruise or attend the dinner.

SPEAKING at the dinner, Dr. Orville W. Cole, Chamber president, made introductions and welcomed the guests.

He cited "common interests" of the city and of the Douglas company; predicted an expanding growth of high-rise building in Long Beach, now that the subsidence problem has been solved; and pledged the Chamber's full cooperation with Douglas.

"We mean to stay here . . . and to bring a lot of business," Donald Douglas Jr., company president, told the group in his response. He lauded the city's cooperation with the firm; thanked the sponsors of the cruise and dinner.

OTHER DOUGLAS people at the board meeting included:

Jackson R. McGowen, vice president and general manager of the Long Beach Aircraft Division; Charles Able, vice president and general manager of Missile & Space Systems Division; Milo Bekins, chairman, Bekins Van & Storage Co.; Dr. W. J. LONG BEACH BANK BUILDING SOLD

INCLUDING LONG BEACH

Janss Corp. Plunges Back Into Big Deals

Purchase of seven large office buildings from the Security First National the past week—including the 12 story, 146,000 sq. ft. bank building at 102 Pine Ave., Long Beach—in a multimillion dollar transaction marks reentry of the Janss Corporation into the Southland real estate investment field.

The Long Beach structure was built in 1925 on the site of the first house ever built in the city.

Other buildings purchased are:

Hollywood Security Building, 6777 Hollywood Blvd., 12 stories, 54,802 sq. ft.; Hollywood First National Building, 6385 Hollywood Blvd., 7 stories, 67,874 sq. ft.; Pasadena Security Building, 234 E. Colorado Blvd., Pasadena, 8 stories, 132,719 sq. ft.; Glendale Security Building, 102 N. Brand, Glendale, 6 stories, 51,935 sq. ft.; San Diego Security Bank Building, 233 A Street, San Diego, 14 stories, 105,634 sq. ft.; and Fresno Security Bank Building, 1058 Fulton St., Fresno, 15 stories, 112,328 sq. ft. Total square footage is 671,292.

THE BANK will continue to operate its branch offices in the buildings under long term lease arrangements with the Janss Corporation.

In San Diego, where the bank's division headquarters and the main San Diego office adjoin the building sold to Janss, the banking quarters will continue to be owned by the bank.

Remodeling, including installation of air conditioning and automatic elevators in certain of the buildings, is planned. The buildings will be managed for the Janss Corporation by the William Walters Company.

The Janss Corporation, pioneer real estate firm, which since 1898 has developed more than 100,000 acres of land in Southern California, liquidated its corporate holdings in West Los Angeles, including famous Westwood Village, in 1954 and moved its operations to Ventura County where it is developing Conejo Village.

"THE PURCHASE of the seven bank buildings," said Edwin Janss Jr., president, "is part of our over-all plan to reenter the field and diversify our real estate holdings and development."

"With the reemphasis on centralization of metropolitan areas we feel there is a great future for ideally located and well maintained office buildings in California's downtown areas."

First step the Janss organization took in its reentry into the metropolitan real estate investment field took place in April when it moved its corporate headquarters from Conejo Village to the Santa Monica airport, where the firm soon will be engaged in redeveloping that area for the City of Santa Monica.

The firm also is planning large-scale real estate projects in other parts of the country, Janss said.

ANNIVERSARY

Lakewood Center to Celebrate

Lakewood Center merchants will observe the 11th anniversary of the huge shopping area with a Birthday Celebration Sale Thursday through Saturday.

The three-day promotional event will emphasize bargain prices in a wide variety of merchandise lines at the stores and specialty shops of the 105-unit center, said Fred Sanchez, president of the sponsoring Lakewood Center Businessmen's Association.

In conjunction with the sale, a roundtrip flight for two to Las Vegas will be awarded as a prize.

The trip will include a two-day stay at the Starlight Hotel and $111 in cash. Tickets for the prize drawing will appear in the Press-Telegram on Wednesday and in the Independent on Thursday.

Penney Co. Shows Gain

A 3.3 per cent increase in June sales has been reported by J. C. Penney Company, nationwide department store chain.

Volume for the month rose to $135,687,820 against $131,420,766 last year, an increase of $4,267,054, according to the firm's New York office.

Board to Honor Affiliate Group

BUENA PARK—Twenty-five affiliates of the Buena Park-Cypress-Dairyland Board of Realtors will be special guests of the board at its breakfast meeting Thursday, according to Mrs. Hazel Dascenzi, board president.

Meeting place will be O'Garra's restaurant, 3030 W. Lincoln Ave., Anaheim, at 8 a.m.

Trophies will be presented to the affiliates to show the board's appreciation of their cooperation.

YE OLDE DAYS IN ORANGE COUNTY

This map bears little resemblance to a modern map of Orange County; but most of the names are familiar, with a truly historic ring . . . Santa Ana, Los Alamitos, Santiago, Bolsa Chica, etc. Map reverts back to county's pastoral past when large Spanish and Mexican ranchos partitioned the area. Rancho ownership began breaking up in the late 1860s after drought years impaired cattle grazing activities. Cities, subdivisions and freeways have snuffed out the old trails of the rancheros; but memories linger on, and ranch-style homes still are popular.

DONS MAJOR'S UNIFORM TWICE A MONTH

Builder Lyon Still Finds Time to Command Air Force Unit

By DAVID MURRAY

Six days a week—sometimes seven days—William (Bill) Lyon, president of Luxury Homes, Inc., of Fullerton, is busy planning Dutch Haven Homes, Newport West Homes in Huntington Beach, Sunny Hills Homes in Fullerton and a new 2,000-home development in Sacramento.

Twice each month, he becomes Maj. William Lyon, along as guests from March

United States Air Force Reserve. As group commander of the 943rd Troop Carrier Group of the 729th Troop Carrier Squadron, he devotes Friday evening until Sunday afternoon leading a six-plane squadron of C-119's. The mission can be anything that headquarters assigns.

RECENTLY, a group of landlubbers was invited to go along as guests from March

Air Force Base, together with a company of airborne troops, for a target parachute jump in the El Centro area in Imperial Valley.

This proved to be the hardest day's work some of the guests could remember, because an Air Force regulation required that everyone wear a standard parachute at all times while airborne.

At 10 a.m., this piece of equipment, weighed only 40 pounds.

By 6 p.m., it weighed 140, and all the landlubbers were getting more stoop-shouldered by the minute.

PILOTS included a Los Angeles police motorcycle officer, a school teacher, an accountant and an attorney.

Occupations of the paratroopers were as varied. But they had one idea in common: Jump from the plane, get it over with and get home.

Equipped with nerves of steel, the paratroopers joked on the long, hot flight. Until the alert signal was given.

Then they were on their feet.

At the "Go" signal—six went out the plane door in five seconds. This fast debarkation may have been speeded by one of the jumpers. Married only two weeks, he had to get home to paint the kitchen.

NEVER AGAIN as I barbeque in my back yard on a Sunday afternoon, and watch the planes fly overhead shall

J. D. INGHAM
Assistant Manager

San Pedro Ship Yard Post Filled

J. D. Ingham has been appointed assistant manager of Bethlehem Steel Company's San Pedro Ship Repair Yard. The appointment was announced by T. C. Ingeestill, general manager, Pacific Coast District, and is effective immediately.

Ingham formerly was superintendent of Bethlehem's Brooklyn 56th Street Yard. In this capacity, he recently was in charge of the conversion of two former troop transports into complex missile tracking stations. When these vessels were completed early this year, Ingham was transferred to the San Pedro Yard. He now lives in Long Beach.

WELCOME ABOARD

Major William Lyon welcomes one of guests boarding bus for March Air Force Field and flight with his squadron.

Los Altos Hospital
Due to Open in Fall

Construction is nearing completion on the new Los Altos Hospital at 3340 Los Coyotes Diagonal, Long Beach.

The hospital will open with 99 beds, complete surgeries, delivery rooms and all necessary facilities for a general hospital.

The hospital was designed by Kite and Overpeck Associates, AIA, and constructed under the direction of the William Simpson Construction Co. It is centrally located, with easy access from two of the main traffic arteries in North East Long Beach.

One of the features of the hospital is the intensive care unit, designed to give the patient the latest advantage of modern equipment with all of the necessities for the care of the acutely ill patient in one central unit.

Less seriously ill patients will be placed in the medical and surgical sections of the hospital.

A 24-HOUR emergency service will be maintained, with physicians in the area on call should they be needed.

Opening date for the project is expected to be in the middle of October.

The hospital is only one of the contemplated units on the master plan of the medical center, which includes a medical office building and a convalescent hospital.

Organization of the hospital's auxiliary is under way and plans are being made for an open house to introduce the facility to the community.

HB Permit
Total Sags

Do-It-Yourself addicts and small contractors were about the only ones who took out building permits for new construction in Huntington Beach during the week of July 9-15.

The figure, in terms of construction valuation, was $42,822 — and after doing better than $3.5 million the week before, too.

Nearly one-third of the valuation total was for concrete and wood fencing.

Largest single permit, for $12,950, was issued to Rancisco Tinoco for construction of a family home and garage at 7521 Warner Ave.

OTHERS INCLUDED:

Mildred Johnson, 8011 Marmalade Circle, patio cover, $50; Manalios Music, 1847 Main St., piano, $500; Arthur L. Knight, 5602 Middlecott Drive, patio roof, $200; J. M. Hyvonen, 1207 Pine St., garage, $7,164; Lee A. Carahan, 5702 Marshall Drive, new garage and convert existing garage to bedroom and playroom.

Forty-five fence permits totaling $15,391 were issued during the period.

NEW FACILITY OPENS MONDAY

Another first for this area is the opening Monday of Pacific Plan, a California loan brokerage firm, at 5028 Faculty Avenue, adjacent to the Lakewood Shopping Center. With 19 of its branches in Northern California, the company opens its 20th — and first in Southern California — branch in Lakewood-Long Beach, according to Russell Collier, general manager.

Pacific Plan Has Office
In Lakewood

Pacific Plan, a California loan brokerage firm that was first to bring the homeowner's loan to Northern California, has announced its 20th California office will be opened Monday in Lakewood at 5028 Faculty Ave., adjacent to the Lakewood Shopping Center.

According to Russell Collier, general manager, each year thousands of Californians use their improved homeowner status to meet their pressing obligations.

"The California Homeowner's Loan allows a longer pay-back period and results in a monthly loan payment that is up to 40 per cent less than conventional loan payment figures," Collier said.

Last year, homeowners borrowed about $6 million through Pacific Plan, with loans averaging slightly over $2,000 each, Collier stated.

In addition to its loan offices, Pacific Plan as a brokerage firm, places such investment with private investors at interest rates controlled by the state.

Fountain Valley Tiara Estate Premium Room Is Big Feature

What is a play or hobby room; luxurious private bedroom suite; or two extra guest rooms? The answer is easy: the 500 square-foot Premium Room featured at Tiara Estates Fountain Valley community, newest beach-oriented development of Farrow Development, according to Dick Murray, sales director of Farrow Realty Corp.

"The determination of the bonus space," said Murray, "is up to the individual family and its specific needs. But the extra space is ideally suited to many uses in addition to those listed."

AN EXTRA "bonus" of the bonus room, said Murray, is that it provides a distinctive home, since the Premium Room is built above the garage.

It is one of 10 elevations available at the newer 68-residential-unit in Fountain Valley, which was begun 45 days ahead of schedule due to its popularity.

"The Premium Room in one model combined with other features and the other residences and their features add value to the homes at move-in and are some of the reasons for unprecedented demand by buyers," the sales director added.

Extra features which add lasting value at move in, according to Murray, are carpets, drapes, fenced rear yards and front lawns.

ANOTHER FACTOR which has contributed to the development's popularity is the wide variety of floor plans and elevations, Murray said.

Priced from $17,990 to $21,300, the homes may be purchased by veterans for nothing down. Also available are low FHA terms and conventional financing.

Model homes are open daily on the southeast corner of Bushard and Heil. To visit the project drive the Santa Ana Freeway to Brookhurst, drive south on Brookhurst to Edinger, then east to Bushard.

Other permits were issued to Joe P. Sade, 11832 Santa Rosalia St., carport, 5400; Gene Crowell, 10250 Western Ave., patio roof, 5800; J. G. Kintner, 11343 Jane Way, addition of family room, 52,250.

Herbert Cook, 6081 Starr St., building project, $1,000; Cal-Western Cabinet Co., 10510 Fern St., commercial shaving bin, $2,800; J. Grahm, 10351 Courtright Road, swimming, $275; Robert Eiken, 7891 Buell St., patio, $355; J. Brewer, 10300 Hickok St., patio, $402; and Adrian Rocke, 10900 Flower St., two-car garage, $1,000.

Stanton Permits Tally at $17,932

Twelve building permits for construction totaling $17,932 were issued by the Stanton Building Department during the past week.

Ferris-Peters-Marty of Santa Fe Springs took out permits for construction of two retail stores, each costing $1,750, at 9055 and 9061 Cerritos Ave.

Permit to rebuild a garage and repair fire damage was issued to Lloyd De Pretto, 12281 Georgian St. The cost was listed at $4,600.

Hudsen, Brooks on Program Tuesday

James E. Edmonds, July program chairman for the Long Beach District Board of Realtors, has announced that H. R. Hudsen will be guest speaker at the Tuesday breakfast meeting at the Crown cafeteria.

Hudsen is the 1963 national president of the Society of Industrial Realtors. He has been in the industrial real estate business since 1929.

Bill Brooks, Long Beach Realtor, also will be on the program. He has been a member of the Long Beach board since 1937. He specializes in industrial and commercial properties.

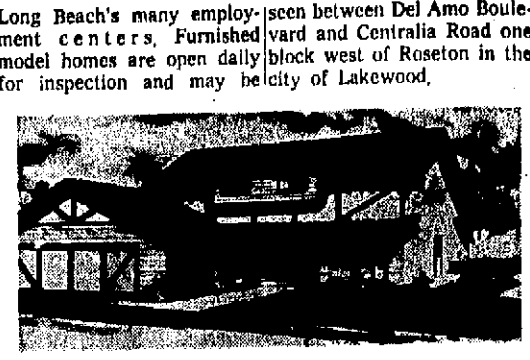

Brooks' subject will be "New Industries Benefit the Realtor."

Brooks is president of Southern California chapter of the Society of Industrial Realtors.

Lakewood East Sunshine Home Designed for Larger Families

Compton-Lynwood Sales Clinic Monday 250 Bankers at Regional Parley

Eugene C. Peckham, president of Western Training Services, Burlingame, Calif., will be guest speaker at the sales clinic of the Compton-Lynwood Board of Realtors Monday at 7:45 a.m. in the Board Annex, 401 N. Bullis Road, Compton, it has been announced by sales clinic chairman Robert MacCormack.

The subject of Peckham's talk will be "A New Psychological Approach to Selling."

A management psychologist, Peckham trains all levels of management in business and industry.

Ray Laessig, program chairman of the day, has arranged the event through Ed Shaheen, Realtor from Long Beach who will introduce the guest.

Some 250 Southern California and Arizona bankers attended the 29th Annual Regional Conference of the American Institute of Banking, District 7, held recently at Pasadena.

In the group were numerous officials from Harbor Area banks.

Plans for the coming year were discussed. Harbor District soon will announce a schedule for classes in its educational program.

The regional conference was held at the Huntington Sheraton Hotel.

Fat in Fire Is Fact This Time

SALINA, Kan. (AP)—The fat was in the fire—literally at a packing company in Salina.

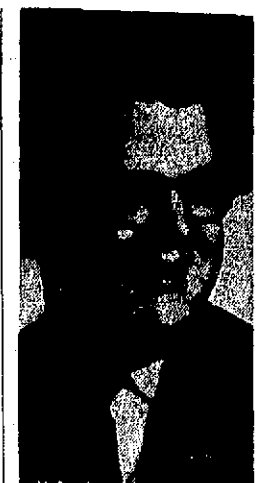

The blaze began in a smoke room where hams and bacon were being cured when fat from the meat apparently dripped into the fire, flared up and started the blaze. About 2,200 pounds of meat was in the smoke rooms.

Los Alamitos to Have New Business Building

Construction has been started on a 7,200 square foot building to house the American Building Center in Los Alamitos.

This is the first of a series of building centers to be located in Southern California to supply the needs of local home owners with paint, hardware and lumber supplies in small quantities for their own use.

"The emphasis at the American Building Center in Los Alamitos will be aimed at the growing consumer market in Los Alamitos, East Long Beach and West Orange County," Bob Marks,

GARDEN GROVE TREASURE HOME

Here is an interior view in a Tiara Estates Treasure Series Home in Garden Grove. The development will hold its grand opening of the large homes today.

Tiara Estates Opening Treasure Series Today

Grand opening of Tiara Estates Series homes in Garden Grove at Lewis and Lampson, 30 in Anaheim at Ninth and Orangewood, and Chapman will be held today, a 96-unit apartment complex, Tiara Estates Garden Apartments, in Garden Grove, Inc., builder-developer, announced.

The $2 million, 50-home residential community was previewed for the press, executives and civic officials at a special party recently, Tiara Estates Treasure Series represent one phase of the Orange County development firm's projected 1963 volume of 600 homes and apartments, Farrow said. Already started this year are 147 Tiara Estate homes in Fountain Valley, 47 in Garden Grove at Lewis and Lampson, 30 in Anaheim at Ninth and Orangewood, and Chapman will be held today, a 96-unit apartment complex, Tiara Estates Garden Apartments, in Garden Grove, Inc., builder-developer, announced.

The Treasure Series homes are 1½, split-level and two-story residences with four bedrooms, den, family room, and separate dining room. All have large patios and some have rear sun decks. Each residence is highlighted by central entry halls leading to separate living and sleeping quarters for maximum privacy and comfort. Picturesque wrought iron railings in some models divide upper levels from central entry halls and provide a contrasting touch in the open floor plan.

Labor Relations Will Get Airing at L. B. Forum

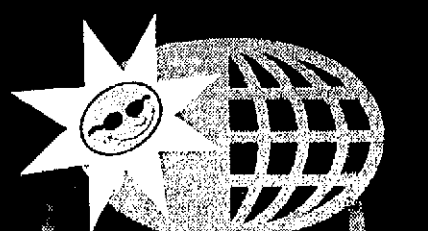

"A Forward Look at Labor Relations for Management" will be discussed at the Wednesday session of the Long Beach Community Forum by John R. Van de Water, a management and industrial relations consultant to firms in various Southern California industries. The weekly breakfast get-together of the membership of the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce will be held in the Crown Cafeteria, Alhambra Avenue and First Street, beginning at 7:15 a.m. Forum chairman Pat O'Connor said Van de Water's presentation will serve as a prelude to four meetings to be held in August for executives and supervisors who want to know their rights and duties during union organizational drives. The meetings will be sponsored by the Long Beach Chamber and the Personnel Industrial Relations Association.

There are fireplaces in the master bedrooms in some models, and all residences have hardwood floors in the dens. Through each Treasure Series home is nylon carpeting, mural wallpaper, custom lighting fixtures, FM intercom system and custom hardware. The homes are priced from $35,000 to $40,000.

Glen Mar Attracts Buyers to New Unit

Numerous "first visit purchases" have been noted at the new Unit 4 Glen Mar homes in Huntington Beach, relates Ron Walker, sales manager of this residential community located one and one-half miles from the Pacific Ocean.

"Generally," Walker noted, "families shopping for a new home come back several times before making the final decision, which often represents the major investment of their lifetime. Our sales force, however, reports that many take just one look at the scenic, smog-free locale of Glen Mar and decide then and there that this is it. Since our opening of unit 4 we have sold 10 new homes per week."

GLEN MAR's three and four-bedroom homes are priced from $17,950 with 30-year terms to veterans and non-veterans and low down payments of $395 with monthly payments of $117. Immediate occupancy is available. Two-story, five-bedroom homes are priced at $23,950.

Another factor contributing to the frequent first time decision at Glen Mar, the sales manager added, is the solid reputation of Macco Realty Co. which continues to re-

Leisure World Sales Now Over $70 Million

AMPHITHEATER IN USE

Shown is a portion of the crowd in the new amphitheater at Leisure World gathered last week to hear Ivan Nestingen, Undersecretary of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, speak on President Kennedy's Medicare program.

Sales at Leisure World, reportedly the nation's largest senior citizens' project, have totaled $70 million because of the combining of carefree living, luxurious garden-type apartments with outstanding recreational, social facilities and the inclusion of free transportation within the community and the availability of medical services, all included in monthly payments, according to William G. Brangham, general sales manager.

"Residents have found Leisure World the ideal answer to retirement living yet enjoy the wide assortment of social activities offered in three of the giant project's lavish clubhouses," Brangham reports.

ANOTHER POPULAR feature includes among the medical facilities available in-home nurse calls, calls to the doctor's office, all drugs, medicines, diagnostic tests and physical therapy treatments. Nine fulltime plus two part-time doctors and 17 nurses are on duty at the community's contemporary $500,000 medical center.

Other attractions include a newly opened 2,500 seat amphitheater modeled after the famed Hollywood Bowl, where a number of productions in dramatics, musicals and special pageants have been presented by and for residents of Leisure World.

Anyone 52 years of age or over is qualified to purchase at the development with no physical examinations necessary for acceptance. At the completion of the master plan, a total of 6,476 cooperative apartments will be completed, a nine-hole golf course, swimming pool, lawn bowling courts, rogue courts, seven churches and a complete intra-city transportation system. Adjacent to the sprawling complex is an ultra-modern shopping center offering complete retail marketing facilities.

New Personnel Officer Named

Thomas A. Alexander has been named personnel director of the Colwell Company, statewide mortgage banking firm, it has been announced by Bundy Colwell, president.

Alexander, who has been active in the industrial relations field for more than 15 years, will coordinate all phases of Colwell's employee relations program.

The Colwell home office is in Los Angeles, with divisional offices including one in Anaheim.

A GARDEN PARK ESTATE

Handsome one and two-story residences at Garden Park Estates, Knott Ave. and Garden Grove Freeway, are a blend of luxurious modern conveniences and quality components that assure the buyer of lasting value, officials state.

Many 'Hidden Values' Offered to Garden Park Estates Buyer

Luxurious modern conveniences that make light of work and upkeep in Garden Park Estates' one and two-story homes are beautifully blended with sound, quality construction and the quality components that spell enduring value to the buyers in the walled community at Knott Avenue and Garden Grove Freeway, officials state.

There is emphasis on "hidden values" as well as the big ones that can be seen such as genuine fire-resistant lath and plaster walls and ceilings and roofs of cedar shingle or crushed rock. There is rock-wool insulation for comfort control, and all-year comfort is assured by thermostatically controlled forced air heating.

Plans with two bedrooms and a convertible den, and three and four bedrooms with family rooms and dining rooms. Expressly created for the larger family, the stunning two-story homes are designed with five big bedrooms and these plans feature two handsome fireplaces: the second in the upstairs master bedroom and the first in the living room.

Changes His Title By JFK Meeting

NASHVILLE (AP) — "Mr. Patriotic" has changed. It was that Kennedy presidential handshake that did it.

"Mr. Patriotic" is a 9-year-old Nashville lad named Danny White. He has red hair. And in typical boy fashion, he gets a lot of bruises. So folks in his neighborhood began putting name and coloring together and said they had a boy who was red, white and blue—thus "Mr. Patriotic."

Then President Kennedy came to town and shook his hand.

Right off the lad downed his title.

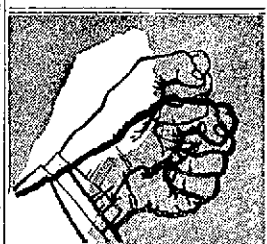

"Don't call me patriotic," he said, "I'm a Democrat."

By Stage Coach

BARKERVILLE, B. C. (AP) — This former northern ghost town has been renovated. An ancient stage coach will carry tourists through the area this summer and the old courthouse, abandoned since gold rush days, has been rebuilt as have other old landmarks.

Buyers Guide to Medallion Homes

The only electrically modern homes... in every price range

The Medallion Home Award is a cornerstone for modern living—a solid basis for a home's lasting value, today and in the future. Compare the detailed electrical construction requirements for the Medallion Home Award with those for any other type of new home symbol.

You'll discover the Medallion Home Award is one award that requires a new home to conform to specific and rigid standards that mean important values for the buyer. Here are just some of the qualifications:

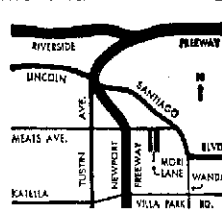

1. A flameless electric kitchen equipped with major appliances, including range and oven.
2. Full "Housepower" Wiring provides capacity for at least twenty circuits, considered a minimum for modern living; large enough wires; 240-volt service for the electrical capacity every home needs.
3. Abundant lighting planned for comfort, convenience and beauty. A total-electric Gold Medallion Home gives you all these benefits plus:
4. Flameless electric home and water heating.

Are Your Christmas Cards Ready?

...Those for Clinic Are—
Local Artists Saw to That!

ARTISTIC MRS. Don Gill works on sketch for Christmas card. Job of designing cards for Long Beach Children's Auxiliary sale was natural for her. She has always made greeting cards for her family. A long-time watercolorist, she has just begun to paint in oils.

Staff Photos By
JOE RISINGER

"Well, the worst of the Christmas rush is over—thank heavens for that!" says Mrs. Don Gill, artist mother of three little girls.

"I printed 'rejoice and be merry' on cards till one in the morning—but they're done now."

Christmas cards complete in July?

Is Mrs. Gill pushing for an early yule; a second celebration in August?

"Oh no," she hurriedly replies. "I'm all for the old-fashioned December date. It comes too quickly as it is."

Then?

"The cards are for Auxiliary to Long Beach Children's Clinic. I'm among five non-members who volunteered to submit designs. Money from auxiliary sale of the cards will benefit local children."

Other busy women who contributed card art work: Mmes. Eugene Kirkpatrick and John Campbell, Long Beach; Helen DeTar, Newport; and Allen Beek, Balboa.

THOUGH THE idea of locally designed Christmas cards is not unique as a means of fund raising, this is the first time it has been tried in Long Beach, to their knowledge.

And, from the looks of the now completed eight cards (quite professional, but different), sales should make a merry jingle in the clinic's till.

It's a good cause, too. Founded in 1939, the clinic (staffed by 33 pediatricians) provides care for area children under 15 whose families are unable to meet large medical bills.

THE CARDS (tax deductible) will range in price from 10 to 14 cents (less for larger orders), according to Mrs. Reed Williams, head of the ways and means committee in charge of the project. Orders of 300 or more will be addressed and mailed free of charge.

They may be purchased through Mrs. Williams, 259 Granada Ave., or Mrs. Earle Prater, 1431 Josie Ave.

Professionally printed in stunning color combination, they range in subject matter from traditional religious motifs to whimsical children and angels.

How to Make a False Impression

...glue on lashes, comb in some hair

By Mary Ellis Carlton
I-PT
Fashion
Editor

Most women who have an eye for beauty but no fringe benefits have, at one time or another, tried false eyelashes.

But the complaints fly thick and fast: "I can't put them on" . . . "they don't look natural" . . . "I'm afraid they'll come unglued."

So, to get some pointers from the experts on how to whip on an eyelash in a flash, I, P-T editor Mary Ellis Carlton visited Elizabeth Arden's swank Fifth Avenue salon while in New York recently.

For this and some other hints on how to make beguiling false impression (like with the comb-in hair-piece above), read on.

Now . . . Just comb in your wig

New York model demonstrates glue-on glamour

If your eyelash batting average, like mine, is zero—then false eyelashes will help you score in the beauty department.

But if you, like me, have tried and eyed the results with alarm, then wore them anyway, only to have one fall in your bowl of soup, you'll want to follow these how-to-do hints from Elizabeth Arden's showroom model, Christine Lee.

She wears her fringe benefits with security, from morning till night.

Her comment: "Without them I feel undressed." This echoes the beauty philosophy of mannequins from New York to New Anywhere . . . also of fashion-conscious femmes on Mainstreet, U.S.A., who have mastered the art of instant eye appeal.

Using me as a subject who could be greatly improved, Christine trimmed, fringed, glued and renewed my faith in false eyelashes. The results are shown above.

HERE'S A play-by-play of how to improve your eyelash batting average:

1. When selecting your eyelashes (real hair or mink, please), buy brown ones if you are blond; black if you're brunette or redhead. Tools you'll need: the eyelashes, of course . . . also glue (comes with lashes), tweezers, a single-edged razor blade (or manicure scissors) and a flat surface for feathering.

2. First and most important, holding the false lashes with a tweezer, determine their width in relation to your own. ("Most would-be eyelash wearers give up here because the fake variety, if not trimmed to size, will not stay securely anchored.") Snip off the false eyelashes so their width measures one-quarter of an inch from the corner of the eye to the end of your own lashes.

3. Then comes the shaping and feathering—most important for a natural, they're-really-mine look. The lashes should be shorter at the corner, longer in the curve, then graduated down somewhat at the outer edges. Christine accomplished this by holding each eyelash securely with her forefinger on a flat surface (she used the back of a glass ashtray), then scraped hairs with the blade of a pair of manicure scissors until proper lengths and shaping were achieved.

Warning: "Except for snipping off a section of the false eyelashes to make them the right width, all shaping should be done gradually by scraping the surface of the hairs. To cut them gives a too-blunt appearance. Also," says Christine, "you may get over enthusiastic and cut them too short."

Christine furs and feathers her own lashes with a razor blade, but for the beginner, she believes the blade of a manicure scissors is safer.

Another warning: hold the lashes securely with the

People Who Like People Are Having Fun

By Iola Masterson
I, P-T Women's Editor

'TIS THE season to be jolly, tra la and all those other la la las. Pepper and Wally Simmons have warned their neighbors not to think they've slipped their leashes when they see them put up Christmas decorations this week. They're having a Christmas in July mid-year tinsel shindig at their home next Saturday.

Pictured below, Wally and Pepper start hauling out the paraphernalia of Noel. Funniest thing that's happened, thinks the hostess, is that the Turkey Advisory Board has sent them "greetings," with the fond hope that this sort of thing catches on.

A Christmas in July season to be jolly!

Yep, they'll serve traditional turkey and all the trimmings, just like at the holidays. A real tree, too, even a visit from Santa Claus and there will be gifts "to suit their personalities" for everyone. They've been gathering this odd assortment of presents, howling all the while, for months.

A few of the Santa's helpers bidden to come and share the festive champagne, midnight supper and gifts are "Corney" and John Booth, Kathy and Bill Epton, Juanita and LeRoy Carlisle (Juanita is president of Symphony Jrs. in which Pepper is very active), Liz and Russell Peterson, Vera and Charles Goodrich, Rene and Harry Simon, Elsie and Bill Siapne and minny more.

REASON TO celebrate—so why not? So they did. Juanita and Harry Frishman entertained at a "be-happy-over" party last Sunday in honor of Harry's promotion from commander to captain in the U.S. Naval Reserve, one of darn few such promotions to high rank since the end of the war. As we say in the hill country, "Hit jest don't happen much no more."

Scattered among the happy guests spotted were such military as Capt. Bill and Anita Marie Tanner (CO, Navy Air Station, USN), Air Force Colonel Jim and Lucille Norton, Capt. George and Irene Reinhalter, USNR, and Comdr. Ed and Lillian Hyka (USNR).

Among civilians wondering where they could go to register amidst all the brass were Ruth and Dr. George Scouter, Edna and George Wagner, Dale and Fred Kraft, Donna and Dr. Pat Rocchio and Pat and Bob Wilcox and Harry's mother, Marybelle Frishman, 83, up from Oceanside for the happy day.

HOSTS of friends have been crying in their beer (or coffee) over the loss of long time popular residents, Sylvia and Rod Sherwood. They're being transferred to Minneapolis, Minn., where Rod has been appointed head of production for the big Ford plant there. He has made the move—Sylvia leaves around the first of August. They've already bought a home in Edina, beautiful suburb of Minneapolis.

Farewell parties have been in vogue with latest to take place next Friday. Hostessing the goodbye luncheon for Sylvia will be Dorothy Wise, Virginia Muchmore, Nadine Vander Lans and Carol Hoagland. It's to be at the Wise's.

IMPRESSIVE, that's what. When Dr. James Ragland and his bride, the former Ruthe Vaughan, leave on their honeymoon trip Aug. 3 (they'll return about Sept. 10), Jim will go armed with letters of entree to embassies in London, The Hague and Paris to do research on diplomacy of the 1930s.

Jim has a contract with W. W. Norton for a book he's doing on Franco's rise to power in Spain. When Senator J. W. Fulbright heard about his proposed trip and hook he personally wrote letters to the American embassies and answers poured back with open arms welcome to Jim and Ruthe.

"ALWAYS A perfectly swell night." That's the way one appreciative guest of other years (and this one, too) described Nell and Louie Gunn's annual ice cream fiesta, set to fill the night with sweetness Monday at their home, 5311 Vermont Ave. It's a homemade ice cream, cake and authentic, live Mexican entertainment evening. No wonder—"swell."

BACK TO cool ocean breezes from home in Bloomfield, Ill., are Shirley and Chuck Planting, staying with her mother, Clara Hancock, as they do on their almost annual summer trips here.

Marie and Bill Todd entertained for them at dinner round-up of old friends, mutual types, last Wednesday; a buffet for 30 or 40, give or take 10. Chuck is just here for a week but Shirley, with children, Scott and Susie, will remain for a happy month.

ANYONE planning a trip to Indonesia soon? Would this traveler like to perform a Good Samaritan deed at some time? Here's the scoop. It seems that Pauline and Jim Sutherland, 143 Morningside St., have been sending educational material to a young man in Djakarta, a fellow who is desperately trying to get some education in American ways.

His latest request is for books in accounting which were recommended by his teacher. The four books are expensive and Pauline and Jim have purchased the first one. Now they come to second hurdle. It costs over $20 to send it air mail. When sent normal shipping it takes up to six months to reach the boy! So maybe someone could tote this one; mail when they get to Indonesia. The Sutherlands wonder, too, if perhaps some service club couldn't help them provide their student, or others like him, with educational materials. If so, they can certainly provide you with info. Or call me and I'll put you in touch.

SEE THOSE happy smiles below? You would

wear those happy smiles also and as well if you were Madeline and Bill Boyer (he is veep of Westates Petroleum Co. here). They are pictured before polar jet fly off to Europe. Their itinerary? Oh, happy days, well you can imagine.

JUST A bunch of peddlers—that's what you can call the Naples Bicycling Club. Better health through better exercise is old hat (and continuing fun) for them. They meet every Sunday morning at 7:30 a.m. (good heavens, on SUNDAY?) for a ten mile spin.

First they meet at a home for coffee to get their bones warmed up for the athletic event; then they peddle. Witness their after coffee beginning from Betty Jo and Jim Cost's home last Sunday below as, from left, Betty Jo and Jim, Dick and Margaret Russell (on tandem), son Rick Russell and Dorothy Ellery strike out. Others in the 19 regulars on the ride were Bill Ellery, Jim Abbott, Don Gilroy and Wynne and Jim Galloway.

They peddle every which way from their Naples homes — have fun, exercise in the sun.

A BRING-your-own steak bake and no host cocktail whing and games soiree will fill the air with sounds of pleasure tonight at Joanne and Jim Gray's College Park Estates home as they open their digs for Alpha Phi alums and husbands. Assisting mein hosts will be Nellie (she's alum prez) and Dick Krahenbuhl and Keith and Barbara Lopp. Affair is from 3 p.m. and on and on and on.

PINK AND blue news makes headlines for Peg and Leroy Leatart. Daughter and son-in-law, Gayle and Lt. John Sterling received their adopted baby daughter on Gayle's birthday, which makes Peg and Lee grandparents for the first time.

The Sterlings live in Annapolis where John is an instructor at the Navy Academy. The baby, six months old, has been tentatively named Sara Jane. The Leatarts, who had hoped all this joy would occur while they visited back there in June, will return late summer and again at Christmas to take full advantage of Sara Jane's winsome ways.

HEAD unbowed and paint unspattered, Dorris Martinson is coming through like a pro on her one woman project as volunteer inside-of house painter. Dorris, single handedly, has painted every room except for one bedroom taking time out as she swishes that brush, rolls that roller, for her regular volunteer duties in the emergency room as a member of the Auxiliary to Community Hospital.

LIFE in pine-scented high, dry mountain air ends this weekend for Marge Quinn who has spent the week at Big Bear with daughters, Colleen and Karen, and their guests, Debbie Weih, daughter of Betty and John, and "Lolly" Lawson, daughter of Dick and Elva.

Lakewood Grads Wed

Lakewood Community Methodist Church was chosen for the wedding of Barbara Lee Molter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert H. Molter, and Howard Phillip Kirschner, son of Mrs. Sadie Kirschner of Inglewood and Martin Kirschner of Canoga Park.

The bride wore a bell skirted gown of embroidered silk organza over taffeta with a chapel train. Janet Hassell attended the bride as maid of honor. Jerald Dick served the bridegroom as best man.

OTHER members of the wedding party included Mrs. A. James Hughes, Jacque Bachar, Judy Kirschner, Diana Miller, Tom Redwine, Terry Hall, Jeff Kirschner and Mike Brief.

The couple graduated from Lakewood High School and now attend Long Beach State College. The new Mrs. Kirschner also attended the University of California at

On their return from a wedding trip to Northern California, the couple will reside in Bellflower.

Cake Decorating Expert to Give Demonstration

Mrs. Marie Dobbins of Manhattan Beach, a teacher in a school of cake decorating and a television personality, will demonstrate the art of cake decorating at a luncheon meeting of the Christian Women's Club Wednesday at 12:15 p.m. at Lakewood Country Club, 3101 E. Carson St.

Everyone is welcome to attend this non-denominational group's luncheon and reservations may be made before noon Monday with Mrs. Minetta Plesscher, 430 Orlena Ave. Nursery service is available at a nearby location.

Guest speaker will be Mrs. Millie Dienert, area club representative from the East, who will discuss her work. Music for the program will be given by Kathy Williams, accordionist.

Six Young Women Will Be Brides

Eckman-Hainey

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hainey are this week announcing the engagement of their daughter, Anne Marie, to Keith Arnold Eckman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Eckman, all of Long Beach. The couple plans a wedding in June of next year.

Miss Hainey was graduated from St. Anthony's High School. Her fiancé, who is now attending Long Beach City College, was graduated from Jordan High School.

Walton-McArthur

Next February Georgia McArthur will say wedding vows to become the bride of Terry Walton. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George R. McArthur, Long Beach, and he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Walton of Compton.

Brunch on Ebell Slate

Summer brunches continue to attract large crowds to the Ebell clubhouse, and the next such event is Wednesday with Group E members serving as hostesses.

Mrs. Robert C. Swanson, group chairman, will be assisted by Mmes. Dan F. Gridley, Linda F. Hoover, H. F. Byers, John E. Searies and E. Ellsworth Callen.

Reservations for either the 11 a.m. or 11:30 a.m. servings may be made with Mrs. Guy Hodson or Mrs. Swanson.

Bridge, canasta and the awarding of door prizes will follow the brunch.

The bride-elect was graduated from Jordan High School where she was president of Delta social club and a flag girl. She is now a student at Long Beach City College.

Her fiancé was also graduated from Jordan where he was president of Kappa Sigma Chi. He is attending LBCC.

Stewart-Rutschman

Among girls announcing their engagements this summer is Judith Ann Rutschman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Zaccour of Lakewood. She will become the bride of Monty Gene Stewart, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Stewart, also of Lakewood. No date has been set as yet for the ceremony.

Both were graduated from Lakewood High School, where Miss Rutschman was a member of Socii. She plans to attend Long Beach City College in the fall.

Owens-Choura

On Valentine's Day of next year, Miss Susan

Choura will become the bride of Terry W. Owens.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Choura of Long Beach, the bride-elect was graduated from Lakewood High School and attended Long Beach City College where she affiliated with Entre Nous.

The prospective bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Owens, Long Beach, was also graduated from Lakewood High School and attended LBCC. He plans to continue his education at Long Beach State College upon release from the 101st Airborne Division of the Army where he is a paratrooper.

Diffine-Hillman

A wedding in August of 1964 will unite Miss Dion Hillman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Hillman of Kailua, Hawaii, and Don Paul Diffine, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Diffine of Long Beach.

Miss Hillman attended the University of Hawaii for two years and is now a senior at Abilene Christian College, Abilene, Texas.

Her fiancé was graduated from Poly High School and Long Beach City College, and is attending Long Beach State College.

Stearns-Axline

Engaged to Pvt. David R. Stearns, son of Mrs. Dorothy Stearns of Long Beach, is Peggy Axline, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Axline of La Mirada.

Granddaughter of Mrs. Catherine Gallenkamp of North Hollywood and the late Oscar Gallenkamp of Pasadena, Miss Axline was graduated from Excelsior Union High School, Norwalk, where she headed the drill team in her senior year. She attended Cerritos College where she was a member of Theta Phi.

The bridegroom-to-be attended school in Ohio. He is serving with the Army in Virginia. No wedding date has been set as yet.

Yacht Club to See Film

Alamitos Bay Yacht Club will meet at 8 p.m. Friday in the clubhouse, 5437 E. Ocean Blvd., with Commodore Charles Kober in the skipper's chair.

"Samoa," a sound and color movie of a photographic tour of Polynesia, will be shown by James K. Galloway, program chairman. This beautiful land, with its mountains touching the blue waters of the Pacific and their peaks hidden in the rain clouds, is called one of the few unspoiled islands left in the South Seas.

The Lido 14 Fleet will host the social hour with Captain and Mrs. George Lounsbury, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Albert F. Schmidt and Dr. and Mrs. Kenneth W. Pierce, manning the galley.

Surprise Due at Luncheon

A "Yankee Doodle" surprise luncheon Wednesday is being anticipated by members of the Retired Officers' Wives and Widows Club and their guests. The event will take place at noon at Motell's Garden Room, Third Street at Alamitos Avenue. Mrs. Louis H. Murray will preside.

A short business meeting will follow luncheon, and cards will round out the afternoon.

Reservations may be made with Mrs. Cathleen Wilson, 3409-B E. 1st St. or Mrs. Harvey King, 11362 S. Reagan St., Los Alamitos.

To Fete Pair in Montana

It might almost be said that Mr. and Mrs. William T. Shockley are going out of their way to observe their 60th wedding anniversary. On Tuesday night the couple departed by train for Bozeman, Mont., where they will spend almost a month with their daughter, Mrs. Oscar G. Keyes Jr., and her family.

Joining them in Montana for a visit will be another daughter, Mrs. Donald A. McGeachy and her family of Fair Oaks, Calif.

A gay family reunion and party was planned for Saturday, and today the couple will be greeted during an open house by friends and relatives, many of whom live in various parts of the United States.

The Shockleys were married July 22, 1903, in Bellefourche, S. Dak., and have lived in Long Beach for 35 years. Their home is at 3225 Ransom St.

Members of United Emanuel Presbyterian Church, Mr. Shockley sang in the choir and was assistant treasurer for almost 10 years, while his wife was active in church circles. The couple has five grandchildren and four great grandchildren.

YC's Slip Into Dancing Shoes

Although they will not venture into the briny, Young Californians will at least be at the water's edge when they and their guests assemble Saturday at the Edgewater Inn for their dance with the theme "Midsummer Night Cruise."

Roger Bacon's orchestra will play from 9:30 p.m. to 1:30 a.m. for the 400 guests anticipated.

Mrs. Ray Crutchfield is dance chairman, and Mrs. Jean Yadon has charge of decorations. Impressive door prizes will be awarded during the festivities.

As is traditional, proceeds from the annual dance will be given to Exceptional Children's Foundation.

Cocktail parties are planned in various members' homes prior to the midsummer night's frolic. Among the hosts are Messrs. and Mmes. John Crutchfield, 6431 Marita Ave.; Robert Ray, 5742 Monlaco Rd.; Stan Carrol, 6880 E. 10th St., and Mrs. George Hanania, 3619 Lomina Ave.

Mrs. Dale Dalton and Mrs. Harold Herst will co-host a pre-dance party in the Dalton home, 1531 Ramillo Ave., and Mmes. John Buckley, Norm Hastings and Robert Benson will combine their party in the Benson home, 3139 Heather Rd.

BPW's Plan 'Their' Week

Trust a business woman to get things done early. It will not be until autumn that the man in the White House proclaims Oct. 6-12 as National Business and Professional Women's week, but cogs are already turning for local observance.

A banquet in the Petroleum Club on Oct. 7 will find the four Long Beach business and professional clubs—Manuela Nieto, Belmont Shore, Long Beach National and Margaret Ives—gathering for dinner and a program.

This year BPW clubs have deleted the word "contest" from their program and will honor all career women in the Long Beach area.

A letter of invitation is being mailed to all business, professional firms and service clubs to join BPW in paying tribute to the outstanding career women of their organization and hosting her as an honored guest that night.

GENERAL chairman of the Long Beach participation is Kathryn (Mrs. Sam C.) Campbell, who points out that the year's theme is "Responsibility of Full Partnership."

At the turn of the century there were almost no jobs open to women outside their own homes, she said. In the 60 years since 1900 the trend has nearly reversed. Today, almost no field of work outside the home is closed to competent women who must or wish to work. Expectations are high that full partnership in all areas is within reach now for all ready to assume full responsibility.

Accepting responsibility outside the home came to Kathryn Campbell when she was in her forties. Arriving in California from Ohio, the Campbells had seven children to support; it was the tail-end of the depression and jobs were hard to find. Her first was as a telephone solicitor with the magnificent salary of $12 a week.

A BUSINESS course at Poly High's night school and at another business school gave Kathryn experience enough to be appointed to set up and organize the War Finance Bond Office here. She received a citation from the U.S. Treasury Department for her service during the eight successful campaigns here.

Next came real estate school for the busy Mrs. Campbell, and 13 years ago she opened her own office.

As if careering doesn't keep her busy enough, she has studied music for 20 years, and has sung as a church soloist, in choirs and concerts. She has served as president of various organizations, has helped organize clubs, did Community Chest, Red Cross and USO work during the war years. She has been a BPW for 15 years.

Any thought of slowing down? Goodness, no, Kathryn says. In November she and Sam will have been married 50 years and there will be a big celebration to plan—this time not as a Business and Professional Woman, but as a loving wife and mother.

Friends to Honor Joneses

Mr. and Mrs. Jack P. Jones, 3610 E. 14th St., will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary at the Hotel Tropicana, Las Vegas, as guests of a friend.

The Joneses were married in England July 21, 1913. They came to America shortly afterwards, settling in Wilkes-Barre, Pa., where they were in business for 10 years.

In 1923, they moved to Long Beach where Mr. Jones and his brother have operated a business for 40 years.

DURING THEIR first years here, they were members of St. Luke's Choir and in 1926 formed the First Community Players group, the "Parish Players" at the church.

Mrs. Jones was a Red Cross aide during the war. She has been active in the Daughters of the British Empire and also was a member of Louis Dean Players, Mission Theater, for three years. Mr. Jones is a member of Loyal Order of the Moose, Long Beach Lodge 600.

League Debutantes Will Don Medallions

IN A PREVIEW of happy things to come, Mrs. Richard D. Browning and Mrs. Marvin P. Clark, standing left, display dainty gold medallions to mothers of three future Assistance League debutantes, Mrs. Vernon A. Williams, standing right, and Mmes. E. Tennyson Moore and Charles E. Skedmore, seated. Gifts will be presented the 1963 debutantes at a tea Wednesday in Assistance League clubhouse.

A medallion tea, one of the most significant parties preceding the presentation of the Assistance League debutantes on 1963, will take place Wednesday afternoon in the Assistance League clubhouse.

In the throng honoring mothers and their debutante daughters at the traditional event will be members of the Assistance League, Rick Racker junior auxiliary and Las Hermanas auxiliary.

In a brief but impressive ceremony each mother will present her daughter with a gold medallion, hung from a slender gold chain, engraved with the year, Assistance League and the debutante's name. Each presentee will express her appreciation to the League which is providing the gifts. Mrs. Fred E. Tucker, chairman of the mother-deb committee, will introduce the mothers and daughters.

TEA WILL BE served from an antique teakwood table centered with an arrangement of ancient gold fans nestled in pink, white and gold flowers. Dainty refreshments will adhere to the pink, white and gold theme.

Greeting the guests at the door that day will be Mmes. Mark J. Kuffel, president of Assistance League; Robert H. Lintz, chairman of Rick Rackers; Wolf R. deLyre, chairman of Las Hermanas, and Kenneth S. Wing, general chairman of the 1963 debutante ball.

Assistant hostesses will be the provisionals of 1962 who are providing the tea from proceeds of their special project, the Silver Ball of 1962.

Guests will be welcomed by Mrs. Wing prior to the medallion ceremony.

Mrs. Richard D. Browning and Mrs. Marvin P. Clark are co-chairmen of the tea.

Grandmothers
California State Grandmothers Club, 44, will have a noon luncheon Wednesday at the home of Mrs. J. W. Lonsdale, 224 E. Nacoe Ave., with Mrs. Lura Lease as hostess. A business meeting will follow.

WSCS Meeting Thursday to Feature Young People

Women's Society of Christian Service, North Long Beach Methodist Church, will meet Thursday in the church, 5600 Linden Ave., with meditation at 10:30 a.m., business meeting at 11 to be followed by noon luncheon.

Sandra L. Pinney will show colored slides during the 1 p.m. program and tell of a mission church tour she attended with 31 other students and five counselors.

The tour included stops at foreign churches in Mexico as well as in Arizona, New Mexico and California, sponsored by the Southern California-Arizona Conference.

Music will be by Mrs. Millicent Luth, soloist, accompanied by Mrs. E. P. Sturges and, on violin, by David Luth.

Harvey Kemp, who received his B.A. from Long Beach State and who will enter School of Theology, Claremont, this fall, will lead the afternoon devotions. The public is welcome to attend.

Couple on Honeymoon

Shatto Chapel, First Congregational Church, Los Angeles, was setting for the marriage of Janet Key Harrison, daughter of Velma Harrison and Clifford Harrison, both of Compton, to Clifford Eugene Andre, son Marcella Andre, Culver City.

Matron of honor was the bride's sister, Pattie Tiernan. Her other bridal attendant was Bardelle Sprinkle, sister of the bridegroom.

For the ceremony the bride chose a gown of Chantilly lace detailed with pearls and sequins. A small tiara held her shoulder length veil and she carried a bouquet of white rosebuds with an orchid.

Best man was Lynn Bramwell and seating the 150 guests were Keith Sprinkle, Nigel Jackson and John Sutton.

The new Mrs. Andre is a graduate of Dominguez High School and attended Lawton Medical Assistant's School. The bridegroom attended San Bernardino College and is a member of the Hollywood and Far West Ski Club.

Following a honeymoon to Carmel and Sequoia, the newlyweds will make their home in Culver City.

Set Card Party

Court Marian, 1669, Catholic Daughters of America, will sponsor a card party Wednesday at Woodmen of the World Hall, 11 W. Plymouth St. The public is invited to enjoy bridge, pinocle, five hundred or canasta. Games will begin at 8 p.m. Refreshments will be served, according to Helen Hildebrand, chairman.

Senior Citizens

A dessert luncheon is planned for Monday noon at Machinist's Hall by the National League of Senior Citizens Club of Long Beach. The public is invited.

COUNTER ACTION For Beauty's Sake!

Cosmetics are a million dollar business—with a million new items and innovations a year. Keeping track can keep the would-be-beauty slim from sheer exhaustion—dashing downtown every day or so for the latest, the newest, the best in products guaranteed to create or maintain that prized illusion of youth. Here are some of the newest.

Under $1 For the girl who can't wait for her nails to dry, there's a guaranteed dryer in a spray can. Paint the nails pretty, then spray and you're on your way. No more hand-waving waiting or smeared polish.

Under $1.50 New spray-on-for-tanning, also keeps bugs away. No worry about burning or picking up sand flees with this handy addition to a beauty's beach bag. Another wonder in an aerosol can—what next?

A fast seller already, lash building kit is totally new concept in eye appeal. One application not only darkens lashes—it thickens and adds length. It's odorless, won't flake or run with water.

Putting on make-up is a process that calls for some ingenuity. First, you get it on just right, then you hope it stays put. Well, liquid that keeps lipstick from coming off has been a favorite for some time. But, what about those penciled brows? No gal likes to discover she's been raising only half a brow half-way through the evening. There's a solution. It's a new liquid that keeps brows permanent permanently. Just dab on and arch brows without a care.

And, to be sure you're quite secure—fragrantly lovely at all times, carry new deodorant compact. It comes in dry powder form with puff to put on. Fits in purse easily; handy at all times.

Meet Tuesday

Rev. Richard Gaul, S.J., will speak to members of the Carmelite Nuns' Auxiliary Tuesday at 1:30 p.m. in St. Anthony High School's cafeteria, Sixth Street and Alamitos Avenue. Rev. Gaul has just returned from El Paso, Texas, where he has been working with youth in that area.

One's never too young to begin grooming for good looks. Even baby hasn't been forgotten. His or her wisps of unbecoming straight hair—can become a cap of curls. The baby hair treatment that purports to do same, also is said to keep scalp clean and healthy.

Under $4 For big people with big problems (dull, straight hair) new permanent wave is advertised to color and curl at same time. The color-conditioner home permanent also blends grey tones into natural shades.

L. B. Artists Win Awards

By ELISE EMERY
Arts Page Editor

Two members of Long Beach State College art department won $50 cash awards in the Los Angeles All-City Outdoor Art Festival which opened July 13 and closes today.

James J. Van Elmeren won with his oil painting, "Lunar II." Vic Smith's winning oil was "August."

Today, from noon to 6 p.m., Bob Click, also of LBSC art faculty, will demonstrate serigraphy at the festival.

Nine purchase awards and nine cash prizes totaling more than $5,000 were selected in the competition. Top purchase awards of $1,200 each went to William Brown of Santa Monica, Richard Haines, also of Santa Monica, and Robert Frame of Pasadena. All submitted oils.

The festival is open to the public today without charge from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. with such special attractions as arts and crafts demonstrations, a children's corner, band and jazz concerts and folk singing.

paintings won second place for oils in the 1963 Long Beach Art Association Invitational Show.

Says Mrs. Constance Janssen, branch librarian, "That art plays a leading role in the lives of many Long Beach residents is dramatically illustrated by the fact that the Dana Library auditorium is booked with one-man art shows for every month through January 1965.

"Art books, from how-to-sketch-and-draw to books of fine reproductions, have the second highest circulation for non-fiction at Dana branch library. (Travel and history of foreign countries is first.)

"Almost one-tenth of the branch's total book budget is used to purchase art books such as these currently enjoying brisk circulation:

A CONSTANTLY increasing number of works in a variety of media are available for rent at Long Beach

Museum of Art's Rental Gallery. The minimal fees range from $3 to $12 for a three-month period, depending on the sale price of the art. Gallery hours are noon to 3 p.m. on Fridays, 1 to 3 p.m. Saturdays, and 2 to 4 p.m. on Sundays when receptions are held.

Among Southern California artists represented in the rental collection (all works may be purchased, also), are Orval Dillingham, Milton Gershgoren, Frederick Hammersley, Gerd Koch, Roger Kuntz, Ernest Lacy, Marilyn Prior, Alex Vilumsons and Emerson Woelffer.

THE 43rd ANNUAL National Exhibition of the California Water Color Society will open at Otis Art Institute Nov. 7 and continue through Dec. 27.

Applicants for exhibition entry blanks may write to the recording secretary, Irma Altridge, 9450 Cherokee Land, Beverly Hills. Any artist may submit works and if they are selected for the show the artist becomes a member of the society.

Deadline for the entries will be Sept. 21. Jurors of selection and awards are Richard Haines, chairman, and Phil Dike, Emil Kosa Jr., Ed Reep and Douglass Parshall. Alternates are John Loeper and Delmer Younkum.

LONG BEACH ART Association will offer a "Christmas in August" sale next month in its gallery, 800 E. Ocean Blvd., when buyers may get an early start on holiday gifts shopping.

Members may bring in their paintings July 29 from 1 to 7 p.m. None of the art offered for sale will be priced at more than $50.

TWO EXHIBITIONS spotlighting pop art will go on view at Los Angeles County Museum Wednesday.

"Six Painters and the Object," was selected by Lawrence Alloway, curator of the Guggenheim Museum, New York, and includes work by Jim Dine, Jasper Johns, Roy Lichtenstein, James Rosenquist and Andy Warhol.

"Six More," also chosen by Alloway, features work by Billy Al Bengston, Joe Goode, Phillip Hefferton and Edward Rucha, all from Los Angeles, and Melvin Ramos and Wayne Thiebaud from Sacramento.

'Pursuit' at LBSC Thursday

"The Pursuit of Happiness," a comedy about bundling and other quaint New England customs at the time of the American Revolution, will open in Long Beach State College's summer theater tent this Thursday.

The plot concerns a young Hessian mercenary soldier who deserts the British side for the cause of liberty and the pursuit of happiness. The latter, for him, becomes interwoven with the pursuit of Prudence, a comely Connecticut maid.

Their courtship, involving bundling, rouses the objections of a Puritan clergyman.

JESS MAY plays Max the Hessian. Becky Jackson is Prudence and Herb LaBin plays the clergyman. Others in the cast are Carmen Vietes, Kathryn Offile, Charles Peters, Verne Thomas, Harold Cook and Wayne Beauvais.

"The Pursuit of Happiness" will play Thursday through Saturday this weekend and next. Tickets are available at the boxoffice prior to the performance.

PURSUIT PRUDENCE

Jess May plays Max, the Hessian soldier who meets the Puritan maid, Prudence, played by Becky Jackson, and learns both about bundling and the ideals of the American Revolution. Play is "The Pursuit of Happiness," Long Beach State College summer stock presentation in the tent theater Thursday through Saturday and Aug. 1 through 3.

IN SHAKESPEARE FESTIVAL

Shylock (Nathan Adler of Long Beach) demands his pound of flesh in scene from "The Merchant of Venice" which opens Chapman College's Shakespeare Festival Wednesday at 8:30 p.m. Pleading with him are Lorenzo (Peter Bergel) and Salerio (Thomas Mielson). The college also will produce "The Tempest" Thursday night. The two plays will be presented on alternate nights through Aug. 4.

Announce Programs for Bowl

Three of the four Hollywood Bowl concerts next week will be conducted by Andre Kostelanetz — a Tchaikovsky program Tuesday night, music of Maurice Ravel Thursday night, and a Gershwin concert Saturday night, all at 8:30.

"Dixie at the Bowl" will fill the huge outdoor amphitheatre with jazz Friday night at 8:30. The Pete Fountain Quintet, Jack Teagarden and his all-Stars, and Muggsy Spanier and his Dixieland Group will be on hand.

Assisting Kostelanetz Tuesday will be Christian Feras, violinist in the Tchaikovsky "D Major Concerto." On the Ravel program will be Lorin Hollander, playing the "G Major Piano Concerto"; Blanche Thebom, contralto in a performance of "Scheherazade," three poems for vocalist and orchestra; and Diana Steiner violinist, will perform the "Tzigane."

THE ANNUAL Gershwin concert — 20th Hollywood Bowl presentation of music by the famous American composer, will have Earl Wild as piano soloist in the "Concerto in F," and "Rhapsody in Blue." Played for the first time in the Bowl will be "Catfish Row," a suite from "Porgy and Bess," orchestrated by the composer. Also new to the Bowl will be a performance of Gershwin's "Promenade."

Magnolia to Open New Paintings by Kay 'Peter Pan' Friday on View at Veltman's

"Peter Pan," the children's drama known throughout the English-speaking world, will be presented in its original play form by Magnolia Theater, opening at 8:30 p.m. Friday.

Elfin Eva Raber, veteran of many local productions, will portray Peter.

In the J. M. Barrie story, Peter has run away to Never Never Land to escape growing up and lives in the trees with the fairies. One day he shows the Darling children how to fly and persuades them to come home with him.

THEY HAVE MANY adventures, including encounters with Peter's terrible enemy, Captain Hook, leader of the pirates. They are protected by Tiger Lily, the Indian princess, and the fairy, Tinker Bell.

Ron Albertson, director of speech and forensics at Bellflower High School, will appear as Captain Hook. Bonnie Gallup will make her debut at Magnolia in the role of Wendy.

Eddie Shaw plays Michael

Eva Raber

Darling and Kerry Johnson. John Darling. The parts of Nana, the dog, and Crocodile are taken by Judith McCall, Judy Lundquist is Liza and Tiger Lily.

OTHERS IN the cast are Joe Gallagher, John Shaw, John Galan, Jimmy Frazier, Drew Eshelman and Bennie Stevenson. Pat Brown and Jean Hess direct.

Jack Kay has a one-man show of his recent paintings at the Veltman Gallery, 5604 E. Second St., running through Aug. 7. It is an interesting show from many aspects. Kay not only has tremendous facility in paint, but real knowledge of form, space, light and color.

The works break down into three categories: a series of portraits, landscapes and "industry-scapes" and abstractions. It would be easy for Kay to go on with what he is doing but he shows every indication of continuing to investigate new possibilities.

AMONG THE portraits, there is a trend toward gaining depth and volume by looking through a room to a light beyond. The subject is in front of the light which plays, flickeringly.

Kay's use of color is most stunning in the 'scapes. He gets amazing vitality from a closely-controlled, well-high monochromatic palette.

AMONG HIS more abstract works, "Aerial Sea" is lovely. The view is looking down on smooth-washed rocks and pebbles all in blues and browns. Gem-like sparkle is in "Evening Orange Tree" and "Chandelier Study." The latter is placed side-by-side with a more specific painting of a highly elaborate wrought-iron chandelier.

Explore Island of Hawaii

By RACHEL MORTON
L. P. T. Music Critic

The Island of Hawaii, the largest of the chain of islands that make up the unbelievably beautiful land of Hawaii, (now the 50th state of the United States), is one hour's flight from Honolulu, which is on the Island of Oahu.

We boarded the fine two-engine plane of the Hawaiian Airlines and all too soon, were set down in Hilo, the principal city of the Island of Hawaii. A limousine awaited us and then began the spectacular drive of eight-and-a-half hours along the east coast to the west coast of Kona. Our friendly driver, a handsome Hawaiian informed us graphically of things of interest along the way.

THE FIRST STOP was a visit to the Orchids of Hawaii Nurseries, where millions of orchids are shipped to the Mainland every day. All kinds of exotic orchids were shown us as we walked through the many gardens and greenhouses. We passed mile after mile of fields of coffee bushes, their bright red berries mingling with the unripe green berries. Kona coffee is famous and comes from these very fields. It is also very expensive, even in Hawaii.

Major and Minor Notes

ALL OF THE Hawaiian Islands are volcanic in origin, but the Island of Hawaii is still smoldering far below the surface, and in many places we saw steam arising hissingly from the earth. There have been volcanic eruptions as recently as 1961 and in 1952, a crack opened which poured 4 million cubic yards of lava in one half hour. Within 24 hours a lava lake was formed 50 feet deep. This eruption lasted 136 days and spilled enough lava to pave a four-lane highway from Hawaii to Boston!

THESE LAVA flows, as we saw them, mile after mile of black misshapen masses of ugly rock on which nothing will grow, were most depressing and we were glad to alight at the attractive Volcano House where we were served lunch. True, the hotel is built on the rim of the dormant Kilauea volcano and the windows look out over a vast crater which bubbles forth steam in many places.

In midafternoon we walked over the incredible black sands of the beach in Puna. The ocean has pounded the black lava flow into pulverized grains of black sand and, although we walked through it, our shoes were not soiled at all and people picnicked blithely all along the dusky shore.

IT WAS GOOD to arrive at the attractive and picturesque Kona Inn! Our room, with its little balcony, looked through graceful coconut palm trees to the beautiful Pacific, just then blazing in a red-gold sunset. The dining room, open on all sides, was most inviting, as was the food. I noticed that there were no doors or glassed-in windows in the lobby or in the large adjoining area, where, after dinner, a program with Hawaiian dancers and musicians is given nightly.

And so, with the soft sea air blowing lazily and the waves lapping gently on the shore, we went drowsily and blissfully to bed, after a thrilling day in Hawaii. Next week I will take you to the Island of Kauai.

Enduring Comedies on Film Series

"Harold Lloyd's World of Comedy," the happy return of the madcap comedy of the '20s, will be shown in the Long Beach State College Little Theater Saturday at 7 p.m. and again at 9 p.m.

The film, which Variety called "A return to the golden age of laughter," features the best sequences from eight of Harold Lloyd's great comedies produced in Hollywood between 1923 and 1938.

Lloyd, always characterized by a straw hat and horn-rim spectacles, somehow manages to escape from one suspense-filled, hilarious fix after another.

Featured are sequences from "Safety Last!" (1923), "The Freshman" (1925) "Hot Water" (1924), "Why Worry" (1926), "Girl Shy" (1924), "Professor Beware" (1938), "Movie Crazy" (1932) and "Feet First" (1930). A short feature, "Bowl of Cherries," will be shown at both presentations.

On Stage...

COMMUNITY PLAYHOUSE, 5031 E. Anaheim St., "Susan Slept Here," 7:45 p.m. Thursday; 8:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday.

MAGNOLIA THEATER, 2400 Magnolia Ave., "Peter Pan," 8:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday; 7:30 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

Couturiers in Europe's boot-shaped country completed showings of their fall-winter collections this week end, right on the heels of press week showings by New York designers.

Coming next: the Paris collection, slated to begin Monday.

Although it's too early to predict Paris, the New York and Italian showings had many things in common, among them: fake and fancy furs, long slinky dresses for evening, a slim and relaxed silhouette for daytime, also fancy trappings for at-home wear.

THE WATCHWORD for Italian collections, according to AP wire service, was "think mink." The forecast was that next winter will be both cold and expensive for buyers of midday's things. The creations were anything but penny-pinching.

Hemlines and the basic silhouette, for the most part, went unchanged. The accent was on femininity and precious furs.

Included in the Italian fashion menagerie were "amusing" little furs like pony and tiger, along with blue-chip stocks like mink and chinchilla.

Velvets as deep-piled as luxurious rugs, rich brocades and elaborate embroidery blended into the mink-framed fashion picture.

THE SHAPE was gently fitted, with the sheath a hands-down winner as the basic dress.

Collars, capes and shorter coats emerged as an important fashion trend.

PET ITEM by Laura Aoonie of Rome, a three-piece knit mountain outfit. White fluffy sweater with black yarn motif is worn with black, full-length trousers. Long reversible jacket in black and white, cossack hat complete outfit.

DOING DOUBLE DUTY, this soft cowhide blouse ties together suit of black astrakhan wool weave. Jacket has simple line in front, longer and wider treatment in back. By Rome's famous Fantana Sisters.

Wives, Too, Must Earn Their Keep

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

I feel like telling my wife to pack. I know I love her and our two children but my bachelor quarters were not like this.

She never was much of a housekeeper, but I thought when we bought a home of our own she'd take a certain pride in it. If there is a spark of pride it's in the fact she can lie around and watch TV day after day and let the clutter lie.

I come home night after night tired as a flat tire to an almost warm TV dinner. If I can wade through the litter that covers every available path, that is.

I have told her and re-told her that she has it clean tonight—or else. And she goes right on watching Casey at surgery or Andy solo. Now I like a good boxing match once in a while from that old fluke box but I don't like sparring with my wife night after night because the clutter thickens on the same old plot.—LET HER PACK.

DEAR LET HER:

Women who think they are their own bosses often go berserk. They forget that they, too, must earn their keep, if not by the sweat of the brow, at least by its fairness.

The woman who lies around while litter rises is sick. Perhaps psychiatrists know how to straighten her up. She certainly isn't fair to let her end of the load down on Daddy's tired head. And worse, she brands her little family as trash with the trash piling up around them.—M.M.

Dear Molly Mayfield

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

I suppose, in fact, I'm sure, all you grownups consider us teen-agers absolute idiots. But may I tell you that at least half the adults I know act more idiotically than we do, and that includes my parents.

My mom and pop were arguing the other night about which one looks younger. Mom said pop did, and he said she did. Of all the nonsense! They're both 42 and they both look it.

And yet they dare tell me I'm dumb! — SWEET SIXTEEN.

DEAR SIXTEEN:

Sixteen, mind you, but not so SWEET! And not so smart, either. Smarty, yes, but not SMART. You little fool! Can't you see your mom and pop were being absolutely, uniquely charming! They'll never lose each other, that's for sure, not with that kind of fact and understanding between them.

Oh, what a lot you have to learn! (Go ahead and hate me.)—M.M.

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

My son promises to come see me but I usually have to trump up something to get him here. I'm sure his wife runs over him and won't let him out of her sight. And I'm sure I've lost my happiness with my son because of her.

I don't see how he can forget or be content after all we've meant to each other. I wanted to live apart from all my children, but this boy is one who needs me and I need him. He is my baby.

His wife says they intend to include me in this and that, but haven't found the time.—NOT WITH IT.

DEAR NOT:

Your baby has bounced. And it takes forever for a mother to realize this—with the last one. The sooner the better, dear mother. Find your happiness elsewhere or you may not find it at all.—M.M.

Cross Ruff Well Done

South found himself in a rather tough four-spade contract and his play is worthy of study as an example of proper cross-ruffing technique.

felt that the cross ruff could almost certainly succeed if he handled it properly.

His first play was to ruff a diamond. He wanted to make all his three small trumps. Then he cashed the king of clubs and led a club to dummy's ace. In order for a cross ruff to succeed it is essential to cash all your side tricks before the opponents get a chance to discard.

THEN SOUTH ruffed another diamond with the four of trumps and a heart with dummy's eight. This gave him six tricks in and all he had to do was to make four more trump tricks.

He led a third diamond from dummy. East ruffed with the jack, but South overruffed with the queen. Then he ruffed another heart with dummy's ace of trumps.

Now he played another diamond and it did not matter what East did. South could make his last two trumps and his contract.

Lashes in a Flash

forefinger, otherwise in shaping you may pull out too many hairs.

4. After the eyelashes are prepared, paint a liner on your eyelid with liquid eyeliner (brown for blonds, black for brunettes and redheads). Christine recommends liquid because it smooths on more easily, also can be wiped off if you goof. (Pencil has to be removed with grease.) The liner is a must, says Christine, to hide the eyelash strip (although it is near-to invisible on Arden lashes).

Then lightly mascara your own lashes, upper and lower.

5. This done, hold the lashes dead center with tweezer and place mid-eye. With back of tweezer, work ends into place. For the new round-eye look, they can be placed slightly above your own lashes. Fill in any white spaces with liquid liner.

Arden lashes are pre-glued, says Christine, which makes it easier for the beginner. The pre-glue lasts about 10 wearings, after that a thin line of glue must be applied.

6. Care of the lashes is all-important, says Christine (hers last six months). She soaks them in soap and water about three times a week, pats on a towel, wraps them on a pencil, covers with paper and anchors with a rubber band. Next morning, they're dry and ready to flutter luxuriously all day.

Christine recommends two pair of lashes—a longer pair for evening, shorter for daytime.

When removing them (and they should always be removed before retiring), pull off from the outer corner.

And always—but always—put them away in their box. Many an eyelash, mistaken for a centipede, has been ground into the floor by a male fool.

EYELASHES HAVE BEEN battling around for a long time, but something new has been added this year in New York's glamor world.

You might say, beauty experts have flipped their wig. After many complaints from the grassroots about wigs that have to be done at the beauty parlor, they've come up with a simple innovation: that takes to your own hair with the whisk of a comb (see sketch, page W-1).

At Elizabeth Arden (most New York salons have one variety or another), the new hair piece is called "Capri-corn," is based on a tortoise shell comb curved to fit securely around the head. Each is custom made to exactly match a woman's own hair color.

Once the comb is placed on the head, the number of style variations possible becomes a matter of higher mathematics. It can be combined with a woman's own hair in innumerable ways.

Its primary benefit: bolstering at the crown of the head, adding volume to limp locks. It can conceal wind-tossed or salt-filled hair in seconds.

Best news of all: any woman can handle the hairpiece herself. Its beach and pool life this summer should be virtually nonstop.

Unlike a wig, it requires no special case for travel, can be rolled and placed in suitcase, beachbag or handbag.

Perhaps the simplest coif to be achieved with "Capri-corn" falls into place as it is put on. It is combed forward at the sides, flipped upward or under at the ends. A sufficient amount remains at the back to give a lift to the crown, conceal a woman's own hair to nape of the neck.

It's also great for an upsweep in the evening, arranged, perhaps, with a cluster of curls at the back of the head.

Most beauty salons in New York say they will be available in California shortly.

AND HERE'S ANOTHER feminine weapon available this fall at cosmetic-counter arsenals: false eyelashes. They're made of human hair embedded in a colorless net that is easy to glue to the browline.

Say the producers, Tournier Custom Make-up Salons in New York: "They're designed to give definitely expressive eyebrows to women whose natural eye foliage has been plucked to a skinny line."

Vaudeville Back at St. Luke's Social

Don't you believe that vaudeville is dead! It will be presented loud, clear and lively at an old fashioned ice cream social July 28 at the Parish Hall at St. Luke's Episcopal Church from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m.

The hall will be decorated in a Gay 90's theme at the benefit for youth work that includes summer camp and the Youth Building Fund. Ice cream and homemade cake will be served by the junior group of the Episcopal Young Churchmen. The senior group will take K. P.

Featured in the vaudeville show will be members of Sparetimers, a group of mothers who have been "bitten by the show biz bug," according to one of the group. The women have given 64 performances since their original appearance at Lafayette Elementary School two years ago.

An old touring car, a row boat, a bicycle built for two and a trolley are among the props designed and built by originator-director Mrs. William Pearson for the act. The members of the group have made and assembled a colorful wardrobe with a variety of accessories.

THE SPARETIMERS have 27 children and 7 grandchildren. Every member is active on a P-T. A. executive board as well as other school, church and civic organizations.

Members include Mmes. Pearson, Harold Atkinson, Halg Elmasian, William Galloway, Homer Blake, Chalmer Donovan, Clint Merithew, Stephen Lucas and Lest Hanson.

M. C. for the show will be Pat Tomper, who will enter his third year at the Episcopalian Seminary in the fall. William Maxwell, USN, will entertain at the piano and there will be community singing.

Can can girls, Pat Taylor and Linda Wickstrom, will act as hostesses. Atmosphere will be provided by Gary Walker as a Keystone Kop and David Frinell will handle the audio.

Brothers Steve and Mike Pell are presidents of the senior and junior groups, respectively, of Episcopal Young Churchmen of St. Luke's.

Alamitos Garden Club to Hear Theater Cast

Cast members of Virginia Country Theater will entertain at Thursday's meeting of Alamitos Bay Garden Club.

The meeting, the first of the new club year, will take place at 11:30 a.m. in Jean Norris's home, 5519 E. Ocean Blvd.

Greg Killingsworth will direct theater members in numbers from "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying." Mrs. Samuel C. Cameron, vice president of the club, arranged for the program.

VIRGINIA Country Theater which was organized

this year, includes 200 teenage members, all of whom have interest in the theater. Next year's production will be "Ballad of the Bottle-neck," a revision of "Destry Rides Again."

Singers taking part in Thursday's program will be Peggy Boucher, Kathy McCadden, Steve Warner, Cindy Parsons, Gary Lamprecht, Pam Porterfield, John Stamper, Pam Nistrath, Paul Nistrath, Marian Crane, Margaret Daugherty, Nan Daugherty, Gary Elliston, Sue Lennert, John Krause, Paggy Handley, Gayle Chips, Joy Dunleavy and Dave Shadle.

Alumnae to Meet for Luncheon

Long Beach Chi Omega Alumnae will meet Thursday noon for salad luncheon followed by bridge play and swimming.

The party will take place in the home of Mrs. F. Dudley Moss, 5530 Anaheim Rd. Mrs. Robert Galloway, 158 Rivo Alto Canal, and Mrs. Lee Warner, 3621 Rose Ave., are in charge of reservations.

St. Luke's Is Scene of Double Vows

Mrs. Frederick D. Hill

Mrs. Gary A. Boro

Three hundred guests witnessed the double wedding ceremony uniting Sandra Ellen Boro to Frederick D. Hill and Garna Jean Garren to Gary A. Boro at St. Luke's Episcopal Church.

Parents of the couples are Messrs. and Mmes. Albert F. Boro of Long Beach; Frederick W. Hill, Poulsbo, Wash.; and William F. Garren, Golden, Colo.

The new Mrs. Hill chose a formal gown of peau de soie with tulip skirt and chapel train for her wedding. Her matron of honor was Mrs. David Wulfsberg. Roger Nilsen served Hill as best man.

THEIR OTHER attendants included Mrs. Raymond Hill, Suzanne Hill, Stacy Swain, Mark Finn, David Wulfsberg and Raymond Hill.

The newlyweds are graduates of the University of Washington, where the bride affiliated with Alpha Delta Pi and the bridegroom with Zeta Psi.

Following a tour of California and Oregon, the couple will make their home in Poulsbo.

THE FORMER Miss Garren wore a full length peau de soie gown with a full skirt and brush train. She chose Debbie Hamilton for her maid of honor. Edward Gadden Jr. attended Boro as best man.

Other members of the bridal party included Stacy Swain, Mark Finn, Mary Garren, Mary K. Mansir, Thomas Heinsohn and David Rowlands.

The new Mrs. Boro attended Long Beach City College. Her husband is a graduate of Polytechnic High School, LBCC and the University of Southern California.

On their return from a wedding trip to Mexico City, the couple will reside in Philadelphia, where the bridegroom will attend the University of Pennsylvania Dental School.

Littigs to Live in Oakland

First Christian Church of Oakland was chosen for the afternoon wedding of Judy Ann Myers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Myers of Long Beach, to John Stevenson Littig, son of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas R. Fisher of Westwood.

The bride chose a white silk organza gown for her marriage. Janet Johnson attended her as maid of honor. Tom Goetzl served the bridegroom as best man.

THE NEW Mrs. Littig is a graduate of Lakewood High School and a senior at the University of California at Berkeley. Her husband is a graduate of UC, where he received his masters degree.

On their return from a honeymoon trip to Carmel and Monterey, the couple will make their home in Oakland.

Kennyettes Plan Clinic Benefit

Kennyettes noon luncheon and card social Tuesday at Veterans Park Clubhouse, 28th Street and Pine Avenue, will benefit Long Beach Childrens' Psychiatric Clinic.

Committee members include Mmes. William Buchanan, Lester Cooper, Edna Hess, Frank Newcomb and Lelia Prine. Reservations may be made with Mrs. Sue Wood, 444 W. Ninth St.

Aug. 6 has been chosen for the date of the group's annual picnic at 11 a.m. in Bixby Park.

CHEF OF THE WEEK

Once 'Golden Saint'

By MILDRED K. FLANARY
L. P. T. Food Editor

Shure 'n Old Ireland would be proud of the likes of him and his... Michael Kevin, 5½, Cathi Colleen, 4, Tammi Dean, 2, and Daniel Sean, 1.

Today's Chef of the Week William Dean O'Hare, is a member of Eastman Dillon Union Securities & Co. Marlene, Mrs. O'Hare, was "Miss Welcome to Long Beach" in 1954.

O'Hare was born in San Pedro, but being the son of a naval officer, he didn't remain there long. When he was a little over a year old, the family transferred to Houston, Tex., then to Hawaii. He returned in time, however, to enroll in first grade at St. Anthony's, where he remained through high school.

He then entered UC, Berkeley, on a Gene Witter Memorial football scholarship. In fact, he and John Olszewski, John Peterson and Bill Mais went there en masse. They were a backfield unit on St. Anthony's CIF championship team in 1948. At "Cal" they were dubbed the "Golden Saints."

O'HARE MAJORED in speech, history and psychology. He was a member of the Big-C, the Skull and Key, the Triune Society and pledged Sigma Nu fraternity.

His labors, while in college, were many. They included various jobs at the race track at Golden Gate Field, the stadium and serving in several restaurants.

Having joined the ROTC in college, he went into the Air Force after graduation and from '54 to '58 flew jets out of Barksdale Air Force Base at Shreveport, La.

William Dean O'Hare

Now inactive, he is a captain in the Air Force Reserve.

With his service hitch completed, he joined the Dean Witter Co., where he remained from 1958 to 1961. It was then that he and three other Witter men opened the Long Beach office of Eastman Dillon Union Securities & Investments.

IMMEDIATE past president of the Long Beach Century Club, O'Hare is still a director. He's an honorary member of the Long Beach Motor Patrol Association, a director of the Long Beach

Yacht Club and a member of the Pacific Coast Club. He chaired a membership drive for the Long Beach Safety Committee.

When he works out, he goes in for a game of squash. But mainly, as an avocation, he sings. He made his debut as soloist with the St. Luke's Boys Choir during the time it served as background for several Hollywood movies. In fact, a certain aptitude test placed O'Hare in the field of entertainment. He played the lead in the operetta "Tom Sawyer" opposite Erine O'Brien.

OUR "CHEF'S" culinary propensities showed up early in life. He never played with toys as a child—it was always pots and pans in the kitchen.

His recipe for Beef Macaroni is of Yugoslavian origin. It's one of his mother's favorites. She served it to the mayors of both Shanghai and Tientsin, China and to many Navy personnel while his Dad was serving in foreign ports.

BEEF MACARONI

- 3 lbs. lean stewing beef, cut in large pieces
- 1 lb. ground round
- 2 onions
- 2 cloves garlic
- 2 tbs. olive oil
- 2 cans tomato sauce
- 1 can tomato paste
- ½ tsp. cinnamon
- ¼ tsp. nutmeg
- Salt and pepper to taste

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

A Sermon to Remember

DEAR ABBY: My husband has been a minister for many years, and we have faced this problem over and over. It's the misconstrued picture of the pastor's work. Time and again I've heard children go uncorrected when they say, in the presence of their parents, "The preacher doesn't have to work." Adults make remarks about how hard it must be to have my husband underfoot all day. Or how nice it is that he has to work only on Sundays. Or he can sleep as late as he wants to in the mornings. Abby, my husband gets up at 6:30 a.m. and retires between 11 o'clock and midnight every night.

His days (and many evenings) are filled with meetings, conferences, church administration business, fund raising, counseling parents of children in trouble, mediating in family and marital quarrels, preparing sermons and speeches for community and civic affairs. He puts in hours and does work that would kill a younger man. Some people think that unless a man works behind a desk eight hours a day, or goes to a factory and punches a clock, he isn't really "working." I love our people, Abby, and don't want to hurt them, but I do wish they had a better understanding of the minister's work. Can you help me?—PASTOR'S WIFE.

DEAR WIFE: I hope I have.

DEAR ABBY: I found a hairpin in my husband's shirt pocket and I don't own a hairpin. I asked him how it got there and he swore up and down he didn't know. Now I know my husband and I can tell if he's lying by looking at his mouth. Well, his mouth betrayed him and I am sure he was lying to me about that hairpin. I can't prove anything. What would you do if you were me? I am 62 and he is 69.—NOT STUPID.

DEAR NOT—If I were you I'd throw the hairpin away and forget it.

DEAR ABBY: Tell "His Mother," whose son had to repeat the fifth grade, that I know how she feels because it happened to my boy years ago. And it was the best thing that ever happened to him, as he received a good grounding in fundamentals that has held him in good stead ever since. As his teacher told us, "If he is not able to keep up with the class and do the work, think how much harder it will be later on." He quickly adjusted to being left behind by his contemporaries, and it was never harmful to him psychologically or otherwise. It was a blow to his parents' pride. Don't blame the teacher. She's doing what is best for him. Someday you will be thankful.—MRS. S.

CONFIDENTIAL TO G. G.: For some valuable insight into a young adult's character, take notice of how he (or she) treats his parents. And for some additional valuable insight, notice how he (or she) treats the grandparents.

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Claretian Guild

Claretian Guild will sponsor a dessert luncheon at noon Wednesday at 728 Elm Ave. Canasta, pinocle, bridge and 500 will be played. Mrs. Elizabeth McAllister and her committee will be in charge.

1 lb. elbow macaroni
Grated Parmesan cheese

Heat oil in 4-quart sauce pan. Brown pieces of beef in oil. Add ground beef and brown. Add onion and garlic and saute until onion is limp. Add tomato sauce, tomato paste and seasonings. Stir for a few minutes.

Add water to cover, bring to boil and simmer for 1½-2 hours, or until beef is tender. Stir occasionally.

If sauce gets too thick add a little water during cooking.

Cook macaroni according to directions on package. Drain macaroni. Remove pieces of beef to a platter. Mix sauce with macaroni, place on separate platter and sprinkle generously with Parmesan cheese.

Serve with: Green salad, French bread and dry red wine. Serves 6.

TELEVISION LOG OF THE SUNDAY NEWS AND THE INDEPENDENT-PRESS-TELEGRAM

By BERT RESNIK
TV and Radio Editor

BARRY SHEAR, 40, television producer-director, is a one-man revolution.

By nature, he is as spirited as his production, "The Lively Ones," a half-hour musical program which is as classical in its individuality as the first jet.

What the jet did for air transportation, "The Lively Ones" did for staid musical variety shows.

It transported the musical variety from the dodoism of deceased vaudeville to the heights of the space age.

And "The Lively Ones" did it during the summer when no one was supposed to be watching.

It performed its musical mission so magnificently last year that it earned an Emmy nomination for Shear and was snapped up for another eight-weeks' summer engagement starting 9:30 p.m. this Thursday, channel 4, in COLOR.

ONE-MAN revolutionist Shear, in his criticism of musical variety shows and television in general, is subtle.

"It's about time that television got out of the idiot class," he said.

"I would rather fall flat on my—fall flat—than take the easy money and do an Ed Sullivan."

"It's about time the television industry stepped out creatively like the movies did."

"If nobody attempts to step forward, the television viewers will go back to the 30-cent movies."

UNAFFECTED WITH false modesty, Shear claims this summer season's "The Lively Ones" will be "three times the show" it was last year.

The "three times the show" includes two sequences shot in Long Beach.

The Long Beach Naval Shipyard and the Reef Restaurant were used for the locations.

At the shipyard, show host Vic Damone and guest Allan Sherman dance and sing aboard the minesweeper USS Conflict. The featured song is "Consider Yourself One of the Family."

But the family got bigger than Shear expected for the closing shot.

"About 3,000 sailors walked past," the producer-director said.

THERE WAS ONE OTHER technical problem at the shipyard.

"We scouted the location for two days beforehand," said Shear. "Then when we got down there to do the shooting, someone had put up an oil well."

At the Reef, a cliff was used for a watermelon-brigade beach-party scene. And a decayed rowboat surrounded by tropical vegetation and beautiful girls is the setting for shipwrecked Damone to sing "At Long Last, Love."

Both the Reef scenes include Quinn O'Hara and Gloria Neil, Damone's new "Lively Girls" for the summer series.

SHEAR PROMISES that his series will feature "stars, not freaks."

He said he could have had Vince "Ben Casey" Edwards, Dick "Dr. Kildare" Chamberlain, Paul Anka and other entertainers of that caliber.

But he didn't want them.

"I'd rather have a real star like Mel Tormé—even though he's been a loser for years."

"I don't believe the Paul Ankas represent music," he said.

SHEAR

In representing what Shear considers music and in presenting entertainers who he believes are stars, the producer-director has one major objective.

"I want to get the feeling across," he said.

"When you have a performer who delivers, you have an obligation to present him the best way to get over what he's trying to say at the moment."

ATTEMPTING TO illustrate the "best way," Shear told of an upcoming sequence in which "O Sole Mio" is Damone's featured song.

"That's a number that's been kicked around a million times," said Shear.

For the millionth-and-first-time, Shear went back to memories of his childhood.

He recalled that Mulberry St. in New York was closed three times a year for an Italian festival in honor of St. Gennarus.

"Everybody had a ball," he said.

The television show's settling for "O Sole Mio" recreates the Mulberry St. ball and Damone sings the song in Italian.

"What we're trying to do is take our cameras and use them for what they're intended—not vaudeville."

TYPICAL of what cameras are "intended" for follows:

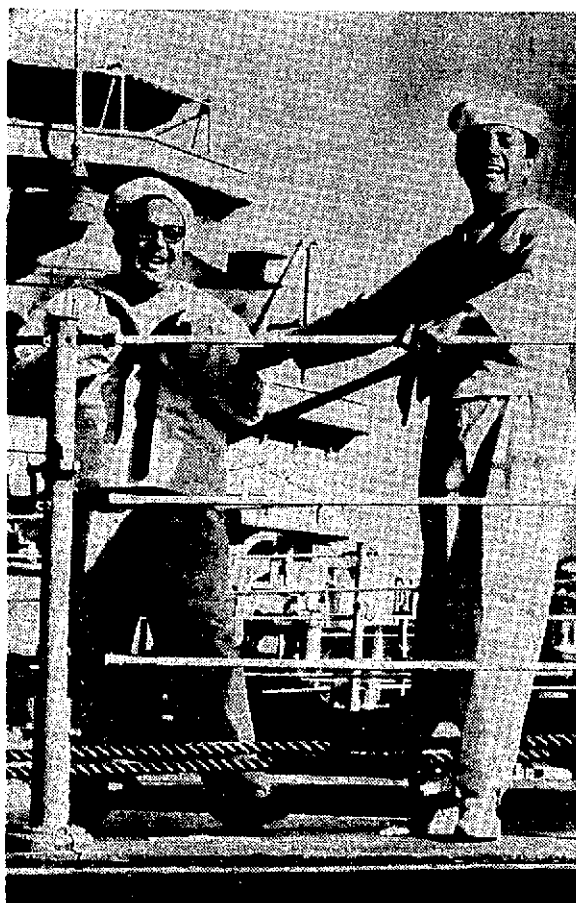

1. The cartoon character Bullwinkle Moose doing a Bossa Nova with Damone (a TV first according to Shear).

2. The Benny Goodman Sextet playing

GOVERNORS' CONFERENCE—Host governor Farris Bryant (D-Fla.) and chairman Gov. Albert D. Rosellini (D-Wash.) will "Meet the Press" at 6 p.m., ch. 4 (black and white today only) from Miami Beach, followed at 6:30 p.m., same station by a report from conference headquarters at the Deauville Hotel with Sander Vanocur viewing the background, objectives and significance of the conference.
ED SULLIVAN—It's a reannal Small Show at 8 p.m., ch. 2, with repeat of the widely-acclaimed hour of last December devoted entirely to Podrecca's Piccoli Theater, Italy's world-famous puppets. Regular variety act format is followed, with all performers under 36 inches tall.
SHOW OF WEEK—Walter Malthau is narrator for a repeat film record of the actual operations of Rescue Company One, a trouble-shooting unit of specially-selected men in the New York City Fire Department. An NBC camera crew lived with the firemen for 3 months to get the story told at 10 p.m., ch. 4.

Pan and Fan Mail

Despite the fact the "Tom Duggan Show" was scheduled at 11 p.m. on July 3, another show again took his place.

Tom does have many fans and personally I feel his commentaries are among the very, very few honest ones still on the air.

We feel it an evening lost without turning him on for awhile at least.

Rachel Gose, Buena Park Channel 11 claims they are tired of "lost evenings."

When Tom didn't show for his show July 3, they told him to get lost. He's been fired.

During the 1939 World's Fair held on Treasure Island, San Francisco, a pageant called Pageant Under the Stars was held portraying 1,500 characters of the history of California.

Surely pictures must have been made of it and why hasn't it ever been shown on TV?

There surely is a record of it somewhere as it was very wonderful.

Try and locate it and show it as a special sometime.

Ruth Dennis, Lomita Based on some of the other shows they call "specials," your suggestion sounds like a good one.

THE DOCTORS—With Jock Gaynor and Margaret Moser of the original cast both departed, the Hope Hospital staff is augmented by James Pritchett as new chief of staff and Ann Williams (Erica Brandt of the defunct "Young Dr. Malone" series) as an outpatient assistant. In another format change, the 12:30 p.m. ch. 4 series, shifts from daily dramas to week-long 5-parters, opener dealing with a dying woman who refuses treatment until after the wedding of her daughter.

VACATION PLAYHOUSE—Ten first-run comedy pilots that didn't land a sponsor take over at 8:30 p.m., ch. 2, for the vacationing Lucy show. Opener stars Ginger Rogers in the dual role or twin sisters, both successful career women, who get entangled romantically with a fickle playboy. Cesare Danova and Charlie Ruggles co-star, with Gardner McKay making a brief appearance as himself.

DR. FRED SCHWARZ—The president of the Christian Anti-Communist Crusade is heard at 9 p.m., ch. 11, in a special address titled "Is the Split Between Russia and China Real or Phoney?"

SPECIAL

MISS WORLD Beauty Pageant — Miss California is chosen in second of two live telecasts from the Moulin Rouge, 9 p.m., ch. 13. Winner will compete in the London finals next fall.

THE LIVELY ONES—Most refreshing breath of an unimaginative summer of repeats is the Barry Shear-produced color musical series, designed as off-beat show-casing for more than 50 guest headliners, and replacing for 8 weeks the vacationing "Hazel," at 9:30 p.m., ch. 4. Vic Damone returns as star for the new edition, with Quinn O'Hara (Smitty) and Gloria Neil (Melvin) as his lovely "dates." Opener features Benny Goodman and his sextet, Joanie Sommers, Red Nichols and His 5 Pennies, Bullwinkle J. Moose, folk singers Steve Admiss and Bill Crofut and Count Basie and his orchestra, with settings ranging from the Long Beach Naval Base and POP to New Orleans' French Quarter.

WORLD OF SOPHIA LOREN—Alexander Scourby narrates a repeat portrait of the actress who rose from begging as a waif in the slums of Naples to a best-actress Oscar, at 10 p.m., ch. 4. Tony Perkins, Vittorio de Sica and Anatole Litvak are among those appearing in Paris, Rome, Naples and New York filmings.

'Naked City' Star Describes Feeling About Losing Series

By DICK KLEINER
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

How does it feel to lose a series?

According to Paul Burke, who has lost his, it's a somewhat mixed feeling. In some ways, he's happy to see the demise of Naked City in other ways, he's sad.

"I liked the show," Paul says. "And I liked the part I played. What I liked best about it, I think, is that there was more improvisation in this show than any other television series. Why, we often were told by the police that we had to leave the location where we were shooting in 15 minutes. So we'd have to do the scene right then—without rehearsal."

"THAT'S GOOD for actors. It's good—if the actors know their business, and ours did."

So Paul will regret losing a good part in a good show. But there's another side to the question.

"I'm relieved that the show is going off," he says. "It's very hard work. Last year, the doctors thought I had Addison's disease. And I said to myself, 'Well, I'm not going to live to be an old man, that's for sure.'"

"THEY LATER found out it was adrenal cortex shortage, caused by prolonged fatigue. The doctors ordered me to move into New York City—I had been commuting from Scarsdale—and insisted I have a 30-day vacation last summer. Bert Leonard, the producer, had planned to shoot straight through the summer."

"This year, since I lived in the city it was easier. They had a car pick me up and take me home every day. But I'm still exhausted."

With the show finished, the Burke family left to spend the summer in the California desert (they all love extremely hot weather), and he will learn to play tennis and teach his 13-year-old son to hunt rabbits and "just play." Then he hopes to do a year of making feature films, after which he'd like to get another series.

He's a glutton for punishment—and, on the other hand, a lover of television series.

BACK-ACHE

IF YOU SUFFER PAINS OF AN ACHING BACK DUE TO OVER-EXERCISE OR NERVOUS TENSION, BEGIN AT ONCE TO ENJOY THE BENEFITS OF DEEP PENETRATING HEAT AND GENTLE MASSAGE IN YOUR OWN BATHTUB, WITH A

Many common aching backs are the result of too much physical activity or unusual exercise . . . or the everyday tension that tightens back and neck muscles. Muscle spasm causes pain until nature slowly repairs the damage and relaxes the sore, tight muscle.

Tension headaches and aching backs often respond quickly to hydromassage. The forceful, moving water filled with bursting air bubbles is the kind of massage that relaxes muscle spasm and stimulates local blood circulation where applied. The Jacuzzi Whirlpool Bath provides the warm water massage doctors and therapists recommend to speed up the relaxation process and help nature do her job.

If you suffer pains of an aching back, muscular soreness, headaches—you should try a Jacuzzi Whirlpool Bath in your own home bathtub. This pleasure can be yours immediately—perhaps tonight.

FIRST BIG-MONEY QUIZ SINCE SCANDALS ABC-TV Readies '100 Grand' for September Airing

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—If it's true that "you can't change human nature," then network television's first big-money quiz show since the scandals of recent years, "100 Grand," is a pretty fair bet to be a big hit when it premieres in September. The past success of such programs is a proven factor.

On the other hand, if that maxim about human nature holds true in many areas, then it is an equally fair bet that there are sweaty palms and nervous reservations aplenty in the network set over the possibility—however remote—of another scandal, especially if "100 Grand" should cause a revival of other big-money quizzes.

For the past temptation to dishonesty on such programs also is proven.

**★ ★ ★
DESPITE THE SCANDALS, there still are plenty of quiz shows on the networks, but the prizes involved are not much in comparison with what they used to be, so the temptations have been lowered. But even so, human error in one form or another is always in the shadows. For instance, in April NBC-TV had to replace three broadcasts of its daily "Say When" quiz upon learning of the "inadvertent" appearance of a female contestant related to an executive of the Radio Corp. of America, which owns NBC.

The network issued a statement saying the lady apparently didn't know the two organizations were affiliated. And her prizes, estimated at about $5,000 in value by NBC, were to be divided between two losers.

**★ ★ ★
ABC-TV, WHICH came out clean in the scandals, is the network bringing back the big-money question-and-answer format that once held the nation spellbound. Its top prize is $100,000.

Naturally ABC says the show will be foolproof against temptation. What's more, "public service"—that useful pair of words that has been employed to butter up many a project—is even involved. At last report, the idea of the show was to have an amateur oppose an expert selected by a city on a specific subject. If the amateur wins, he keeps the loot. If the expert wins, his earnings go for his city's benefit.

**★ ★ ★
THE QUESTION is whether "100 Grand" is worth the risk it entails. Since the scandals, the networks have striven hard to establish themselves as providers of much "public service." In addition, only recently, there have been investigations of the ratings system, demands for softer and fewer commercials, and losses by the networks over control of the best hours of their affiliates for programming.

Government and public pressures for responsibility are stronger than ever. Another mess could be a tremendous blow to network television in general and to ABC specifically.

FAY SPAIN defends Bob Fuller when he's suspected of murder during the "Laramie" repeat at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, channel 4 in COLOR.

JULY • WILLBANKS SELLS QUALITY CARPET FOR LESS

CLEARANCE

The Willbanks Story:

The Willbanks Carpet Co. is a departure from the usual carpet specialty shop. It was founded on the premise that quality carpet, backed by expert installation, could be sold at a minimum mark-up in sufficient volume to be profitable. The extension of this premise was to operate without frills and costly fixtures from a low rent and thus low overhead location in a factory warehouse on a side street in Signal Hill. By eliminating high rent and other cost-raising features, the company decided it could afford to pass on to its customers the substantial savings by giving more carpet at less cost.

WILLBANKS HUGE WAREHOUSE STORE. Truckloads of carpeting arrive daily, bringing you this area's largest selection of fine carpet. Large quantity purchasing enables you to get the best carpeting at realistic prices.

"CHAPEL LANE" ALL-WOOL PILE

by Gulistan

All-wool face with a textured four-dimensional pattern. This interesting effect is formed by a combination of design on design—the basic design being surrounded by a second one. Chapel Lane has a double pile back, adding strength and unsurpassed life span. 15 colors to choose from.

WILLBANKS SPECIAL PRICE
$9.95 per sq. yd.

100% HERCULON PILE

It's Here! The First New Carpet of Herculon — Polypropylene

Continuous Filament fiber made by Hercules Powder Co.—one of the strongest man-made fibers known today—fashioned into beautiful broadloom that is amazingly soil resistant and easy to clean... absorbs less moisture than any other fiber... lovely colors are locked in. Will never fade, never change. Rugged, durable and strong... takes years of hardest wear.

THE WILLBANKS PRICE FOR THIS TERRIFIC CARPET

OUR COVER

Beneath the surface of the waters of the world lies a mysterious, weightless kingdom that once was denied to all but the most daring of men with primitive equipment. Today, a quarter of a million persons in Southern California alone go underwater on summer weekends and vacation periods to enjoy Nature's wet wonderland by virtue of one of America's fastest growing sports—skin diving. Many, like the serious fisherman on today's cover, turn their hobby to profit by providing fish for their family's dinner table. Whether it's just for fun and sightseeing or whether there's a purpose to their visit, or both, men and women, even whole families are taking up the fun of skin diving. For more about this fascinating pastime, see Page 9.

NEXT WEEK

Thirty years ago a small contingent of Army Air Corps men ventured into the Mojave Desert to establish a bombing range. From that beginning grew the sprawling Edwards Air Force Base, recognized today as the Free World's most vital flight test center. Next week, Southland takes you to Edwards AFB in story and pictures to show you why it has gained world-wide prominence.

LA REINA RULE

WHAT YOUR NAME MEANS

Send your name to La Reina Rule in care of Southland Magazine, 604 Pine Ave., Long Beach 12, Calif., for origin, meaning and brief genealogy, for reply only in this column.

colored black where it lies on the silver background, red over the gold background.

DEAR MISS RULE: Please explain WENGER. — H. W., Long Beach.

H. W.: WENGER is a variation of the German surname Wanger. This property terminology, "Wang-er," meant "man owning a home on a grass covered hillside." The Wenger shield, granted in Bavaria in 1788, is a shield divided into four sections. The upper left and lower right sections have a rampant unicorn on a background colored silver on its upper half, black on the lower half. Where the unicorn lies over the black background it is silver; over the silver background it is black. The remaining two sections of the shield have a blue fleur-de-lis on silver.

DEAR MISS RULE: Have you the background on GRASSO. — E. G., Garden Grove.

E. G.: GRASSO is traditionally Italian, and was a physical descriptive term for the family ancestor. This name meant "stout one." Grassos became barons in Sicily many centuries ago. Their coat-of-arms has a warlike black eagle centered on a red shield.

DEAR MISS RULE: Please give the history on BURDICK. — Mrs. M.V., Long Beach

M.V.: BURDICK was taken a millennium ago by ancestors who lived in Leicestershire, England, at "Burbeck," a locality name meaning "castle at the brook." Family records list Adam Byrbeke of Oxfordshire in 1507. In the late 1500s this name evolved into the spellings Birbeck and Burdick. The family shield is black, decorated with a gold chevron between three silver bear heads.

DEAR MISS RULE: Would you give genealogy on CAMPBELL.—S. C., Norwalk

S. C.: CAMPBELL, a great Highland Scotch clan name, was first recorded in the 1200s. In old Gaelic Scotch, Campbell meant "crooked mouth," recording the first clan-chief's facial characteristic. The Campbells of Argyll were the main division of this clan, and claimed descent from a chieftain who was created Lord of Inchow in 1280. Campbell chiefs held the office of great master of the king's household for centuries. The Campbell shield is covered with eight alternating black and gold triangles, their points meeting in the center. The clan motto "Audaciter et aperte" means "Boldly and openly."

DEAR MISS RULE: Kindly give data on DAILEY.—R. D., Huntington Beach.

R. D.: DAILEY is from the Gaelic Irish "Dalac," with the unusual interpretation, "frequenter of assemblies," indicating an intelligent progenitor who attended religious, political or philosophical discussions. Dalac's sons assumed the clan name O'Dalac, later converted to Dailey and Daly. Dalac was a descendant of Maine, son of Niall of the Nine Hostages, great 10th century Irish king. The O'Dalacs or O'Daileys were natives of Westmeath in the center of Erin. Their coat-of-arms has a rampant lion in the center of a shield colored silver on the upper half, gold on the lower half. In each upper corner of the shield is a small red hand. The lion is

'The Bible of the Poor'

By Harold A. Park

GLASS and paint, lead and solder, acid and resin and heat and light are prime ingredients in the stained glass window industry. Artists and craftsmen who weld these drab and colorful opposites into figures, scenes and symbols of beauty, grace and dignity put vitality into these ingredients.

Five thousands years ago Arabs set translucent glass in plaster to create designs and to give effect, against light, of sparkling jewels. The real predecessors of the modern stained glass craftsmen, however, labored in the 11th Century in producing windows for cathedrals of England and the Continent. Their windows were referred to as Biblia Pauperum or The Bible of the Poor.

THE AURA of mystery and romance inherent in stained glass can be sensed in a visit to The Judson Studios of California, 200 S. Ave. 66, Los Angeles. Artists and craftsmen—all dedicated churchmen of many denominations—create permanent art there. Horace T. Judson, owner of the studios, captured the significance of the completely installed product in these words: "Stained glass windows have been called 'Cathedrals of color between cliffs of masonry.'"

It is interesting to follow the step-by-step production of stained glass windows. First, the theme of the proposed message in glass is decided upon by church and studio representative. Arthur Y. Park, born in Honolulu of Korean parents, then makes the first drawing for the window, usually sketched one inch to a lineal foot.

OTHER ARTISTS work it up into a full-sized drawing or "cartoon" from which pattern drawings are made. These are cut into pieces and stuck on heavy plate glass. Colored glass is then cut to the pattern and stuck to the easel holding the pattern. Those pieces requiring paint for design or shading are painted, then fired in a kiln. Glaziers group the related pieces of glass into correct leaded positions in the windows and ce-

RAGS TO RICHES TO RAGS . . .

Hollywood Once More on Its Way Up

Hollywood Boulevard is still the West's "great white way," but its appearance is now less flamboyant. A premiere crowd is seen in foreground above.

By Lou Jobst

HOLLYWOOD, a drowsy little hamlet that rose to flamboyant fame and riches as movie capital of the world and then began a downhill slide, is on its way up again.

The new Hollywood is urbane, mature and discreetly affluent.

Gone are the images of the past—the sexy, ostentatious Hollywood of the 1930s when the extravagant and bizarre were the routine and the honky-tonk Hollywood of the late '40s and '50s when the once glittering streets became cheap tourist traps.

In their place is rising a permanent financial, residential and cultural center that is still a power in the international entertainment market, but less possessed with ballyhoo and bravado.

"CONCEIT we've got rid of," says a long-time Hollywood observer. "We had to. But we're still one of the five best known cities in the world and that means something."

Hollywood and Vine, the Sunset Strip and other Hollywood locales are still among some of the most famous spots on earth and each year hundreds of thousands trek into town to see them.

They're due for a shock.

They'll find a skyline studded with high-rise buildings where once banks of premiere searchlights stabbed night skies.

They'll find old landmarks have vanished. And new ones are everywhere!

At Sunset and Vine, a block down the street from celebrated Hollywood and Vine, gawking place of millions, they'll find one of Southern California's tallest buildings, a 22-story office and finance center.

SCORES of other high level trade and professional centers, including three 20 to 40-story buildings, are either going up or are in the planning stage.

Radio Corporation of America is building a nine-story West Coast headquarters around the corner at Sunset and Ivar. Three other skyscrapers are to rise across the street from the National Broadcasting Co. offices.

More than $1 million has been spent in laying a star-studded walk along famed Hollywood Boulevard, which contains plaques with the greats of Hollywood film history. The total bill for the street facelift is to date more than $20 million.

Many downtown district stores, which housed second-rate curio and souvenir shops during the downhill ride of the '50s, have been remodeled and turned into first class merchandise centers which rent for as much as $45,000 per floor.

It is necessary to interject here a brief biographical sketch of Hollywood to fully appreciate the import of the town's new rags to riches saga.

HOLLYWOOD, a pineapple plantation briefly in the late 19th century, was born in November 1903 when residents voted 88 to 77 to incorporate.

The name was given the community by Mrs. Harriet Wilcox, wife of a Kansas businessman who moved to Southern California to become a rancher. Mrs. Wilcox picked up the name from a Chicago suburb she had once visited and liked.

Until 1910 Hollywood was a sun-baked ranching area, connected to central Los Angeles by a single dirt road. With the invention of the motion picture camera, its year-round (in those days) sunshine attracted the fledgling movie industry.

The first studio-office was located in a bar at Sunset and Gower in 1911. Within three months there were 15 other companies in town and within three decades it was the center of 90 per cent of the world's film production and home of a multi-billion-dollar movie industry.

AFTER World War II it fell into decline.

The face of the outlying residential districts including the Hollywood Hills, celebrated for two generations as the home of the stars, also changed drastically.

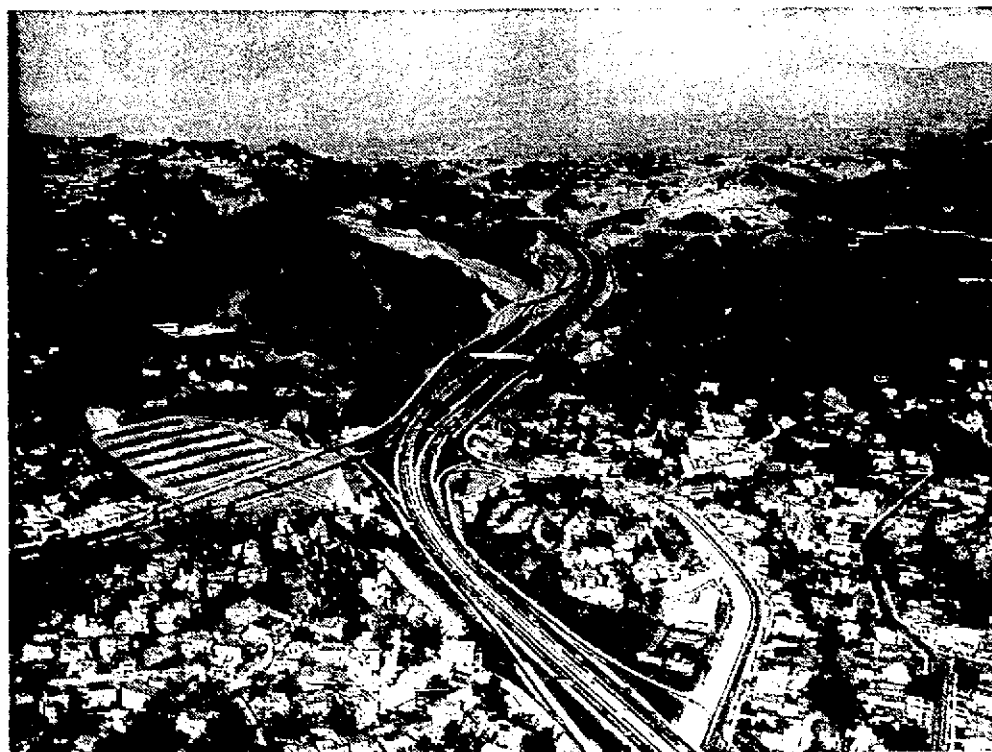

With a fast-rising permanent population, more than 25,000 multiple apartment houses have been built in Hollywood in the past 10 years.

And while the new home developments in the hills hardly match the elaborate mansions and palaces of yesteryears, they reflect the city's more stable and conservative opulence.

In one development, a 375-acre project in Nichols Canyon, 650 custom-built hillside homes are selling for $100,000 to $300,000 each.

OUT ON THE STRIP, where the famed night clubs such as Tropicana, Mocambo and Ciro's and the luxuri-

Mysterious Realm of the Skin Diver

By Lee Craig

IN OUR DAY, when World War II was yet a year or two away, skin diving was just about that.

Swimming trunks and dime-store underwater goggles gave us entry and an eye-popping — if somewhat distorted—view of a mysterious new world in which there was no sound and where the law of gravity had little effect.

We changed from dabblers to fanatics almost overnight when two products became available: swimfins and distortion-free diving masks.

Eventually, we developed tools for taking the offensive in our new environment.

We sharpened tire irons for prying the plentiful abalone from rocks. After we'd lost a few irons in the dense bottom growth, we learned to paint them a bright orange and to tie rubber wrist thongs on them.

Our first attempts to spear fish were made with wooden broom handles with four-pronged frog gigs on the ends. The only blood we drew with these was our own.

Finally, we came up with a clumsy, eight-foot pole with three straightened shark hooks, weighted so it would float with a foot of its length above water.

These allowed us to give each other deeper, bloodier wounds but occasionally resulted in a few speared fish, so we were pretty well satisfied.

THE WAR BROKE UP our group. We scattered among the armed forces and never got together again. Most of us have since confined our underwater activities to dips in the neighbor's pool.

However, a recent peek at the sport indicates it has managed to keep going without us.

The authoritative Skin Divers Magazine says there are approximately 250,000 Southlanders now who are ardent underwater fans.

The list of new-fangled gear available to them is unbelievable.

A well-dressed skin diver these days wears a soft-rubber face mask, fins, a rubber suit to keep him warm, a knife, waterproof watch, depth gauge, rubber booties to protect him from jagged rocks and either a snorkel or a couple of tanks of compressed air so he needn't bother surfacing every few minutes.

Auxiliary equipment is even more amazing.

MARKER BUOYS, safety floats, warning flags, life jackets, automatic decompression meters, underwater compasses, waterproof flashlights and a variety of spears capable of handling anything from a 600-pound grouper to a four-pound bass.

For those with weak eyes, there are face masks with

Today's well-dressed skin diver goes into action with a complex assembly of gear that enables him to extend the scope of his hobby far beyond limits of early days.

Mask, fins, homemade spears and leather lungs were the mainstay of skin divers in the beginnings of the sport. Above, author (left) and friend, Bruce Ogilby, in 1940.

built-in optically ground lenses. And, as an ultimate gift for the skin diver who has everything, a two-man submarine, battery-powered with an aircraft type control stick, can be obtained.

Of course, hazards of the sport have also grown, in some respects.

The chances are much greater, with SCUBA (self-contained underwater breathing apparatus), of diving to dangerous depths. Also, a diver spearing an illegal sport-fish now may feel a tap on his shoulder from another skin diver wearing a badge. In self defense, even the game wardens have had to go underwater.

ONE OF THE biggest boosts the hobby has received has been its growing family aspect.

Schools are now available where parents and children alike may learn diving from the time-tested experience of others. Kiddie-sized equipment is available and one manufacturer has come up with colorful wet suits designed to appeal to the woman of the house. Sales indicate they're rising to the hilt.

Times have changed. Skin diving has become big business and a far cry from its pre-war horse and buggy days.

However, it's fun to recall when, if you saw a large, indistinct shape swimming along the bottom, it had to be something to spear.

Now, chances are, it would just be another skin diver.

MINOR BUT MEMORABLE

My Most Interesting Court Case

By Ruth M. Bauchet

Clerk of the Municipal Courts of the Long Beach Judicial District
As told to Walt Hoster

BECAUSE it was a milestone in legal annals and not because of the innate importance of the action, the most interesting case I ever handled is Case File No. 1—the first case as the Long Beach Municipal Court began to function. The date was July 24, 1925, also significant because it marked the establishment of the first Municipal Court in all of California.

The date is the anniversary of my first day in the Long Beach Municipal Court and now in retrospect after 38 years I realize how close I have been to the city I love and how I have felt the throb of its pulse.

Case No. 1 was a minor claim and delivery action in the sum of $250 and damages and court costs of $45. Subsequent cases ran into millions of dollars and an ever-changing panorama of thousands of stories written and enacted by the people of the Long Beach municipal area.

DURING THE FIRST year of operation the court handled 9,103 cases with a total revenue of $91,577.04. For the fiscal year which ended June 30, 1963, the rate has leaped to a total of 194,518 cases with a revenue of more than $1½ million.

That is how I have picked up the best of the pulse of the Long Beach area. I have seen your names and faces and I have met you.

Most poignant dramas—some comedy, some pathos—have been embraced in the 38 years I have been in the clerk's office or have been your Municipal Court clerk.

Noble and understanding men have been in the stories with you. They are the judges and their aids who listen and know truth and justice. They are the ones who settle your problems and differences and who countless times make friends from enemies. They are you, the people who form juries.

DEAN of the state's Municipal Court justices is Percy Hight, who served 20 years in the Superior Court and now presides in Department 5; Judge Martin DeVries, chosen Long Beach Man of the Year, came into the play in 1933 and now heads Department 2; Presiding Judge Charles T. Smith holds hearings in Department 6; Lyman B. Sutter is judge of Department 1; Judge Kenneth E. Sutherland heads Department 3, and J. Merrill Lilley is the sixth justice, presiding in Department 4.

You have met your clerk and the judges. Now meet some of the people.

If you live in the Long Beach Judicial District the odds are about three-to-one that you have been in court witness chair—as plaintiff, defendant or witness. The odds become even greater that you have had a part in the play when you consider the court categories, felonies, misdemeanors, traffic, civil witnesses were forced to travel to Los Angeles for the filing or trial of actions in a greater amount. Upon the establishment of the Long Beach Municipal Court the amount was raised to $1,000; upped and have become acquainted with the center stage—the and small claims. The cast in our play depicts everyone from jaywalker to murderer.

We have 194,000 cases a year and draw from an estimated half-million population in the judicial district. Yes, we have become acquainted.

TODAY the cases represent 1,161 felonies; 11,683 misdemeanors; 12,279 drunk drivers; 52,232 moving traffic violators; 117,820 illegal parkers; 5,034 civil action makers and 5,369 small claimers.

This shows an increase of nearly 2,000 per cent in the 38 years I have been in the clerk's office.

In 1925, the civil jurisdiction of the justice courts was $300. Attorneys, litigants and to $2,000 in 1929 and boosted to $3,000 in 1949.

On Jan. 1, 1952, the court I helped establish became the Municipal Court of the Long Beach Judicial District and now includes Signal Hill and nearby unincorporated territory. I became clerk of court April 1, 1943.

We have a good and solid court system today. That is why I have fought so hard to keep our autonomy. The courts belong to the people and the people belong to the courts.

As Mr. and Mrs. E. Pagalidis set about theme-ing their home to their own tastes, a Greek heritage influenced the results. Above, a view of living room.

Old World Formality in a California Mood

By Stella George

PASSERSBY have, on more than one occasion, paused in front of the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. Pagalidis, 11231 Wemby Road, Los Alamitos, to admire the obviously custom-tailored exterior, the handsome white brick walls, the wide gate, and the simple, well-planned landscaping. There are subtle clues to the interior design of the house, two of which are a Greek key design which decorates the tops of high and low walls and an olive branch in a planter.

Befitting their Greek heritage, Mr. and Mrs. Pagalidis are fond of certain aspects of the more formal Old World way of living. They also like the Southern California way of life. The decorating of their home, carefully planned and executed, is an imaginative and delightful blend of both types of living.

Structural changes which were made in their tract house include a new front with double white doors that open into a wide entry and two additional bedrooms, for a total of five.

A large rectangular room at the left of the entry is divided into a formal dining area at one end, and a living area at the other. Carpeting is white as are the Austrian drapes and shutters. A large breakfast shows off gleaming polished silver pieces which see frequent use on the long walnut dining table.

Emerald green couches face each other across a coffee table with a gold base. A seven foot stereo is in front of the fireplace, the latter hidden from view since the owners felt it did not add to the decor of the room. Pearl high-back chairs in front of a side window form a cozy conversation corner. The entire area of the wall behind one couch holds a collection of Greek plates, artistically arranged to show each one to its individual advantage. In this room, as in the hall, heavy wall plaques in a Grecian theme dominate certain areas. A lamp base is a Greek urn.

IN THE MASTER bedroom the custom made bedspread is bordered in the gold Greek key design, as are valances along the windows. Details like these add to the overall perfection of the decor.

A new bedroom was added to one of the original bedrooms in such a way as to maintain privacy in the latter. A filigree screen acts as a partial divider, and the bed backs up to the screen.

The new bedroom serves as a bed-sitting room with formal furnishings tastefully arranged. A glass wall in the room faces the front garden.

A large pool in the rear garden is enhanced with simple landscaping done in a Greek motif. The entire "lawn" surrounding the home is of concrete. Since the home and walls are white, the total effect is elegant simplicity—modern, yet accented with European touches.

This is the type of home which invites cordial entertainment in the crystal and silver manner. Guests long remember many of the details: the silver punch bowl on the coffee table, the silver candlesticks on the tiny table between the two white chairs; the treasured collection of art and religious pieces adorning a portion of the wall in the living-dining area, some of which came from a little church thousands of miles away owned by Mr. and Mrs. Pagalidis.

Pagalidis home approach: Styling within and without the home has been along more formal Old World lines.

Outside House Painting Now Eliminated

Another boon of the space age has been accomplished for the homeowner . . . an exterior wall coating so tough and durable that it is guaranteed to totally eliminate exterior house painting for over 10 years. This remarkable textured coating is Fiberglas FLEXON.

BEST IN NATION

Homeowners are requested not to spend a single penny on painting their residence until they hear the FLEXON STORY. This remarkable material insulates, waterproofs and beautifies, and every Fiberglas FLEXON job is factory guaranteed for 10 full years against chipping, flaking, or peeling.

FLEXON the miracle exterior wall coating is so indestructible and durable that it is absolutely guaranteed to eliminate the necessity of painting the outside walls of your home, apartment building or commercial property for 10 full years. This outstanding product when applied is approximately 20 times the thickness of ordinary paint and makes a wall surface that resists all climatic extremes.

Fiberglas, a product of Owens-Corning, brings to FLEXON its great strength its wonderful insulating properties, its resistance to time, weather, and chemical attack.

PROVEN OVER MANY YEARS

FLEXON is one of the oldest, tried and true coatings now being marketed and has been applied on thousands of homes and commercial buildings. These buildings have remained in perfect condition after more than 10 years exposure in all types of weather.

The United States Government and many large corporations such as U.S. Steel Corporation, Aluminum Corporation of America, Pacific Telephone, and Shell Oil Company, are included on the honor roll of FLEXON users.

SHOT FROM A GUN

FLEXON is applied with special heavy duty spray equipment and is actually "shot from a gun" without muss, fuss or odor. FLEXON fuses itself to the wall surface and fills holes, cracks and covers building defects.

QUICK BREADS are a delight to make and fun to eat. You can spread a slice of quick bread with butter or jam for a delicious snack any time. Quick breads are also a lively touch for luncheons or dinners. And some are even good topped with ice cream or hard sauce for dessert.

Apricot Nut Bread is a new one that's especially delicious and one that features a chewy combination of rolled oats, dried apricots and nutmeats. The bread is typical of oatmeal quick breads—the rolled oats add unique nutlike flavor and textured chewiness. Bits of apricot and the nutmeats combine for further interest. All you do to make the bread is sift, combine and stir just to moisten dry ingredients. Then bake!

Quick breads are yummy when just cool enough to slice. Try spreading a fresh slice with smooth, softened cream cheese. The bread slices even more easily the next day, and it will continue to be a quick treat for several days. Bake it soon!

Apricot Nut Bread

- 1½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- ½ teaspoon soda
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ¼ cup sugar
- 1 cup rolled oats (quick or old fashioned, uncooked)
- 1 cup chopped dried apricots
- ½ cup chopped nutmeats
- 2 eggs, beaten
- ½ cup liquid shortening
- 1¼ cups milk

Heat oven to moderate (350 degrees F.). Sift together flour, baking powder, soda, salt and sugar into bowl. Stir in oats, apricots and nutmeats. Add eggs, shortening and milk; stir only until dry ingredients are moistened.

Pour batter into greased 8½x4½x2½-inch loaf pan. Bake in preheated oven. (350 degrees F.) 60 to 65 minutes. Cool several minutes; turn out of pan. (For ease in slicing, wrap and store bread one day.) Makes one loaf.

Recipe of the Week

FRESH PEACHES are basic in this week's prize recipe which wins $5 for Mrs. Bobby R. Wilkinson, 28 Claremont Ave., Long Beach 3. The recipe:

Peach Chiffon Pie

- 3 cups corn flakes
- ¼ cup butter or margarine
- 2 tblsp. sugar

Crush corn flakes into fine crumbs. Blend butter and sugar. Stir in corn flakes crumbs. Press evenly and firmly around sides and bottom of 9-inch pan and chill.

Peach Filling

- |                              |                      |
|------------------------------|----------------------|
| 1½ cups sliced fresh peaches | ½ cup boiling water  |
| ¾ cup sugar                  | 1 tblsp. lemon juice |
| 1 tblsp. unflavored gelatin  | ½ tsp. salt          |
| ¼ cup cold water             | ½ cup whipping cream |
|                              | 2 egg whites         |

Sprinkle peaches with sugar and allow to stand for 20 minutes. Soften gelatin in cold water; dissolve in boiling water; stir in lemon juice and salt. Combine with peaches. Chill until mixture begins to set. Whip cream until stiff. Beat egg white until stiff but not dry. Fold whipped cream and beaten egg whites into gelatin mixture. Spread in chilled corn flakes crumb crust. Let stand until firm. Garnish with additional sliced peaches.

Home Workshop

This splash pool is one of four safe toys that can be built for kids this summer. Sketch below shows 3 more.

By Bill Meyerriecks

SEEING that a toddler has a safe, wonderful time this summer right in his own back yard is stimulus enough for you to take a close look at this week's Sketchbook design idea. It consists of a four-set playground for youngsters, ages one to six. You can build one of them, like the splash pool, or two or all four to have a safe and sturdy play set.

Each of the four projects is designed to be cut from one sheet of exterior grade plywood. Dad can put one together in the time it would take him to go shoot a round of golf.

EACH PROJECT, too, is separate fun.

The 3x4-foot splash pool, for instance, will introduce a youngster to safe play habits in water. With parent close by, he or she won't learn to swim in the six or seven inches of water—but what a refreshing treat on a hot summer day!

The daring kindergartner will find the rocking boat the type his imagination can make into the Queen Mary, yet a child just learning to walk is entirely safe in it.

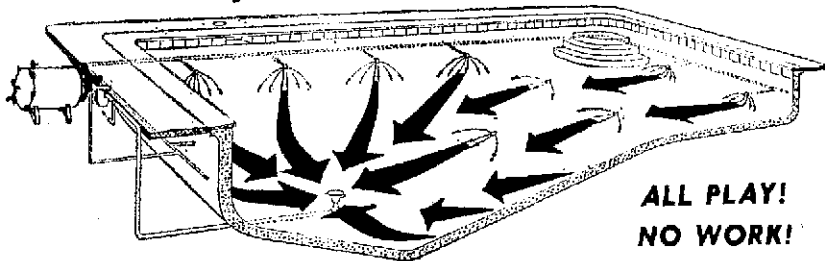

And what's a playground without a sandbox! The Sketchbook plan also shows how to make a canvas cover to fit this or the splash pool.

The teeter totter is a fine introduction to heavier ones found in most public playgrounds.

Hollywood

ous and ornate champagne oases, the Garden of Allah and Bublich, have long since disappeared, new runblings of new grandeur have begun.

Much of the "Boulevard" had become the haven of strip joints and beatnik houses, but this blight is slowly receding.

Several fine restaurants which held out through bad times are being joined by new apartments, restaurants and hotels. At least three new fancy hostleries are either going up or are planned, including two with a total of 800 rooms.

"We're going to bring some class to the Strip," says hotelman Marc Siegal who is building two Thunderbird Hotels on the Boulevard.

Movie row, along Hollywood Boulevard, also fell on lean times, but is coming out of the doldrums.

Last year 10 of the area's major theaters grossed nearly $250,000, or about one out of every four dollars spent in movies in the entire Southland.

ALTHOUGH Hollywood no longer has the corner on the celebrity market (the star system is passe and many of the leading lights of the industry live permanently elsewhere—including Lido Isle at Newport Beach, and Palm Springs) the town is working to build a permanent image as birthplace of the movies.

A Motion Picture Museum being built here to house the artifacts of the industry as well as provide a vehicle for demonstrating new developments in movie-making, and the reconstruction of Hollywood Boulevard as the "Walkway of Stars" are steps in that direction.

Descanso Lighted

Descanso Gardens Night Lighting Festival, presented by Descanso Gardens Guild, has created a night-time fairyland of twinkling lights, gushing waterfalls, sparkling fountains and rare statuary. The gardens, 1418 Descanso Dr., La Canada, will remain open each evening until 10 o'clock through July 28. The gardens are open to the public and ample, free off-street parking is available.

James MacArthur and 17-year-old newcomer to motion pictures, Mimsy Farmer, are cast as young lovers in Warner Bros.' film,

"Spencer's Mountain." They appear with Henry Fonda, Maureen O'Hara; and the beautiful Tetons formed the picture location.

Young Lovers

A NEW TEAM of young lovers will be coming to Southland motion picture theaters this week in "Spencer's Mountain," the Warner Bros. motion picture which Delmer Daves produced and directed in Technicolor and Panavision on location in beautiful Grand Tetons of Wyoming.

The young pair consists of James MacArthur, Helen Hayes' son who now has gained acting recognition on his own, and a 17-year-old blonde from Hollywood High School named Mimsy Farmer. MacArthur plays the eldest of nine children of Henry Fonda and Maureen O'Hara in the film. Mimsy, whose real name is Merle Farmer and whose "Alice in Wonderland" nickname has become her acting name, portrays a radiant young beauty whose freshness is apparent in many ways.

Jim and Mimsy find "first love" high in the Tetons, the mountain location frequently described as the most breathtaking in America. (Continued on Page 26)

Tiny 'National Park'

By Grover Brinkman

MAJESTY of the National Parks, from the Rockies westward, is unquestioned. Who has not thrilled to Zion's ruggedness; to Glacier's famous highway to the sun; to the heavenly music of Sequoia's unforgettable trees, or to the ruggedness that is Yellowstone?

Add to these the enthralling beauty of Yosemite, the awesome depth of the Grand Canyon, and dozens of other areas, all special in their own particular grandeur.

Most of us have seen at least some of these key beauty spots in America. We're all tourists, and each year, at vacation-time we explore a bit further.

But who of you have stood on a rugged bit of terrain that was once chronicled in the history books as "the smallest national park in America?"

TODAY it is called, simply, Tower Rock. It is an escarpment in the Mississippi River. Not even a road leads to it, so very few tourists find it.

But naming it the smallest U. S. national park has an intriguing story back of it.

During President Grant's administration, the Mississippi River near its confluence with the Ohio was dredged and cleared of rocks that were hazardous to navigation.

But Tower Rock was too big to be blasted, so the Army Engineers left the escarpment in the channel of the river. It was believed at the time that the little island might some day serve as the foundation for a proposed bridge at this point.

Another Clock

Belgium, a land of historic clock towers, is adding a brand new one, complete with 24-bell carillon, in the heart of Brussels, reports Pan American which serves the city by Jet Clipper. Like the medieval clock towers, the Brussels tower will feature 12 moving figures from Belgian folklore. The classic figure of an 18th Century burgher will stand atop the tower and strike the hour. This intricate structure will be the largest clock tower in Belgium.

BUT THE bridge has not been built, and today Tower Rock has been forgotten. The National Park Service does not recognize the island as a national park, because there is hardly any way to scale it, and approach to the rock itself is dangerous because of swift water.

Each year a few intrepid souls battle the swift river to attempt its scaling, more as a stunt than anything else. Rising about 60 feet above the river, the top of Tower Rock is about an acre in area.

Harness Plus Lap Belt Best

By Ben Zinser

Southeast Magazine Medical-Science Writer

A COMBINATION seat belt and shoulder harness affords three times as much protection against traffic injury as does a lap belt alone, according to Rocky Mountain Medical Journal.

Dr. H. E. Campbell, Denver, says it is no more difficult to fasten the combined harness and belt than it is to fasten the belt alone.

The harness, he says, keeps the driver's chest from striking the steering wheel and the passenger from striking the corner post or the dashboard. If the door pops open, the combination keeps the motorist from going partly out the door.

A 40-YEAR-OLD woman has safely undergone her first pregnancy while in the process of losing 240 pounds on a 900-calorie diet of tea, coffee and Metrecal, a diet food.

Dr. I. Frank Tullis of the University of Tennessee School of Medicine, Memphis, reports the woman gave birth to a normal and healthy girl. The baby weighed 7 pounds, 5 ounces and was still normal and healthy when a year old, Dr. Tullis says.

The mother weighed 461 pounds when admitted to his care. She lost 155 pounds during the 42 weeks prior to onset of pregnancy, and 83 pounds during pregnancy.

FIFTY-TWO of 61 patients suffering chronic pain of the tail bone have gained relief from combined use of a new drug, Valium, and physical therapy.

The finding is reported by Drs. John McGivney and Benny R. Cleveland of the University of Texas Medical Branch in Galveston.

The combined treatment, they say, "offers new hope for the patient who is unable to enjoy prolonged television viewing, travel by automobile or sitting for any length of time because of pain in the region of the tail bone."

A RARE disease called histidinemia has been seen in the past year in five persons—all children 8 years old.

The victim is unable to hear his own voice for more than a split second and cannot remember it long enough to put together an intelligible sentence.

Patients lack the enzyme histidase, and there is no way to correct the disease, says Dr. C. Donald Whedon, director of the National Institute of Arthritis and Metabolic Diseases.

DEATHS from pneumonia are on the increase again in the United States as well as in Canada, England and Wales, says Public Health Reports.

Mostly to blame is the bacterium Staphylococcus aureus, the report says.

The death rate now runs about 34 per 100,000 population. The all-time low was 23.8 per 100,000, in 1954, as a result of development of the sulfa drugs and the antibiotics. Then the death rate began to rise.

Back in 1936 the pneumonia death rate was 95 per 100,000 population.

CAPSULES: A drug called Torecan gave complete relief to 15 of 24 women suffering vomiting of pregnancy, says a report in New Zealand Medical Journal. . . . About one out of every five patients with peptic ulcer will suffer internal bleeding during his lifetime, says the medical newsletter Practice.

. . . Muscular coordination provides a good index to a child's IQ and academic achievement, Purdue University researchers report. . . . Another effective hiccup-reliever, this one reported in a German medical journal: an intravenous injection of the drugs lobeline and dipyrone. . . . Many executives strain their vocal cords by trying to speak in a deep voice, says Dr. Paul J. Moses, a San Francisco throat specialist; our culture, he explains, expects men in authority to have deep voices.

'KAMADO'

In any language it's the greatest. In Japanese, Kamado means an oven, cooker, smoker, or stove—even a fireplace. Although there is no comparable word in English, you will find that a Kamado can be all these things. In any language, it is the most versatile and effective means of baking, roasting, barbecuing, and smoking all kinds of foods. The unique and decorative Kamado is made by an ancient Japanese earthenware process and is designed to last indefinitely. It has no equal for SIMPLE, CLEAN, SAFE, more INEXPENSIVE and ENJOYABLE outdoor cooking.

Best of Class

Just what, precisely, does this mean?

In dogs the answer is quite obvious. In organs, something very different, to be sure. Hammond consistently breeds "best of class" instruments, from our $495. F-100 to our magnificent $3895. concert organ.

Take our Concert Organ, for instance. It is unparalleled, surely "best of class". You can pay more . . . but you will not find its equal in tremendous tonal resources, its simplified means for producing an unbelievable variety of sounds and tones. And all Hammond Organs are unique in their dependability: Hammonds can never get out of tune nor change pitch, never are affected by changes in temperature or humidity, almost never require service.

If you're organ-minded, be sure to see the Hammond Organ. And you can see all the Hammond Organs only at the Hammond Organ Studios of Long Beach.

The Young Lions and the Egyptian Hangman

By Vera Williams

Southland Magazine Book Editor

When author Gerold-Frank was a war correspondent, he reported the CAIRO trial in 1945 of two Jewish youths who had assassinated Lord Moyne, British minister of state in the Middle East.

Through years of observing and reporting other historic events—the Nuremberg and Eichmann trials, the United Nations, the rebirth of Israel—Frank was haunted by the memory of those two intellectuals—activists, who believed their act of violence would hurry the course of history and the freedom of their beloved Israel.

And so, two years ago, after completing of the biographies of Lillian Roth, Diana Barrymore, Shellah Graham and Zsa Zsa Gabor, Frank returned to research and retrace the motives and brief lives of Eliahu Bet Zouri, 22, and Eliahu Hakim, 17, who had never seen each other until they met in Cairo on assignment from the Stern group to carry out "THE DEED" (Simon and Schuster, $4.95).

After the boys were hanged, fearless, proud and dignified, as they had lived, the director general of Egypt's prisons declared: "Today I saw two young lions die. I have never seen anything like it before."

The Egyptian hangman, pale and shaken, told a Jewish doctor: "This is the first execution in 20 years in which I had the impression that I am a criminal for what I do. I was emotional for the first time." He threw his arms around the doctor and kissed him on either cheek. "I embrace you. This is a kiss for the two boys. For them."

Egypt's three greatest attorneys had pleaded for their lives, but the boys pleaded the cause of 30 centuries of persecution and massacre of world Jewry. "Not mercy, but justice!" Bet Zouri thundered to the court.

Frank does not condone, does not justify the murder. Rather, he examines sympathetically the anatomy of the crime, delving deep into the minds of all the actors. The result is a magnificent, breath-taking reportorial achievement.

THE HISTORY of America's toughest prison, the dreaded "Rock," is told by veteran San Francisco newspaper reporter J. Campbell Bruce in "ESCAPE FROM ALCATRAZ" (McGraw-Hill, $4-$5.50).

The volume is subtitled "A Farewell to the Rock," in recognition of the closing of the federal penitentiary in San Francisco Bay last year.

Based on the true story of Frank Lee Morris, whose escape from this "escape proof" bastille in 1962 made worldwide headlines, the book relates the fantastic and bizarre tales which have characterized Alcatraz in the public imagination since the day it became a prison.

Bruce tells how the prison was planned and built, of its famous inmates including the "Birdman" and Al Capone, and of its history of riots, madness, bloodshed and murder.

TWO HIGHLY different Englishmen, both named Shaw, captured the imagination of the world during the Twenties for directly opposite reasons.

One sought fame and acclaim with an evangelic zeal; the other obscurity and inner peace away from the glare of the limelight.

They were, of course, George Bernard Shaw, socialist, playwright and England's most formidable man-of-letters since Shakespeare, and T. E. Lawrence (Shaw), the celebrated "Lawrence of Arabia" who became Air Force Pvt. Shaw to escape fame.

Strangely enough these two, G.B.S., then 66, and the 34-year-old T. E. Shaw (Lawrence) became fast friends.

This incredible relationship is recounted with painstaking care in "PRIVATE SHAW & PUBLIC SHAW" by Professor Stanley Weintraub (Braziller, $5.)

Irish author O'Connor defines the essence of the short story and presents provocative studies of Chekhov, Maupassant, Mansfield, Lawrence, Hemingway, Joyce, Turgenev, Copland and others in "THE LONELY VOICE" (World, $4).

The "Molecular Sponge Bath"

by Albert E. Holand Jr.

If you weigh 150 pounds, about 25 pounds is skin—far and away the largest organ of the body. And what an important organ it is! It protects against infection, aids in temperature control, acts as a blood reservoir, eliminates wastes and, in addition, it is the primary organ of concern from a cosmetic viewpoint. The cells of the skin are among the most rapidly growing in the body. Their average life is five or six days. There is a constant shedding of worn-out cells for new ones so that the skin you are wearing today is not the same skin that you had last week.

Skin secrets

Cosmetologists know that if the skin is scraped—removing the lifeless outer cells—the live cells underneath are accelerated in their growth and produce four or five times the usual number of cells. The savage in the jungle performs this skin scraping as a natural result of his environment, sleeping on rough ground, pushing through underbrush and so forth with his naked body. Civilized man, on the other hand, protects his body with shoes and clothing, lives a sedentary life and avoids the contact of his skin with abrasive objects. This tends to diminish the growth of skin cells and may be one of the contributing factors for the general lowered vitality of the skin in civilized man as compared with less civilized peoples.

Primitive wisdom

Soap and, of course, detergents—are unknown to the primitive races of the world. Their cleanser is clay, which they use not only for cosmetic reasons, but also for medicinal purposes, for the healing of wounds, sores and festers. They place high values on rare earth deposits which they prize as remedies for many different ailments.

Is there any scientific evidence to show that the "witch doctor" gave good advice when he "prescribed" a mud bath for his patient? Let us look a bit closer at this clay and we will understand what a wondrous substance the Creator has given us.

It takes a bit of prodding of the imagination to realize that the plastic-like patty of clay you hold in your hand is not a lump of inert material. Actually it is a conglomeration of millions upon millions of separate and distinct microscopic "balls" which are called molecules. Each molecule has a surface which may be covered by any foreign material that it contacts when it is in solution. This molecular attraction causes the smallest particles to cling to its surface and thus acts like a "molecular sponge," purifying those things which it contacts. This is the same principle which purifies mountain spring water.

Scientists call this force of attraction "Adsorption." They employ it to remove materials from liquids which no ordinary filter can touch. To illustrate, try removing ink from water with a filter. Now mix clay into the same inky water and see what happens. The filter fails to remove the ink; the clay succeeds. It is the million of clay molecules with their "sponge" action that does the job.

The adsorption process was employed to "bleach" the white gasoline we used to buy; it is used by breweries to clarify beer; dry cleaners use it to remove dirt from cleaning fluids; organic chemists use it in medical laboratories for the removal of materials they wish to analyze. But, apparently only the "ignorant savage" has the native wisdom to apply this well-known scientific principle to the welfare of his own body. He has "discovered" that clay is the body and hair cleanser supreme. Cleansing with chemicals is civilized man's way; adsorption by molecular sponge action is nature's way. Take a tip from "nature's children" and bathe with clay as they do and you may well be on the path to that "Fountain of Youth" we are all so ardently seeking!

Cellular fall-out

It is an academic question as to how many cells might be found in a single strand of hair, how many cells in a square inch of skin surface. Rest assured that the count would be astronomical.

Hard water compounds, facial and body aches and powders, lacquer used in hair-setting, lipstick dyes, hair tints—and we could go on and on—all tend to accumulate in this "cellular forest," clog the pores and form an extraneous coating which interferes with normal cell respiration and inhibits proliferation. Detergents and harsh soaps may emulsify, dissolve and otherwise chemically loosen the debris so that it may be washed away. Chemically the skin is clean. But only a "molecular sponge bath" with rare earth clays can physically attract the microscopic "dust" away from these dense cell areas—a molecular cell cleanser made by nature to do the job!

Clay wonderland

In the main, clays used by primitives were of the bentonite variety. Brownish in color and cosmetically unattractive to use, these clays became fashionable a few years back as "clay pack facials" and, expensively packaged, they were sold as beauty treatments (we now know that they "only" cleansed the skin). However, these preparations were expensive and were messy to use. What was needed was an inexpensive white clay which could be used for cleansing the hair, face and entire body; one that would be compatible with modern hygienic standards, yet would possess the same "molecular sponge" action as clays used by the primitives.

Magnesium gel clay proved to be the answer. This amazing white clay absorbs 16 times its weight in water and forms a gel which is as attractive as cold cream. Prepared from the virgin product in your own home, its cost is nominal. One pound of the clay powder makes 16 pounds of the cleansing gel. Simply add one tablespoonful of magnesium gel clay to a cup of water and mix and in a few minutes your "molecular sponge bath" is ready. Apply to the hair first. Allow a few minutes until the "pulling" effect is felt, then rinse thoroughly with running water. No soap, no expensive rinses, no shampoos are necessary! Notice the body, the manageability of the hair that results (there has been no chemical softening of the hair fibers).

Cleanse the hands and skin as you would with ordinary soap and if you want a facial: put on a thin coating of the gel and let it dry. It is so easy and natural that you will wonder why someone didn't think of it before. And watch your friends' eyebrows rise when you tell them that the new look of your hair and skin is the result of taking a "clay bath and shampoo." Or, if you want to be a bit more subtle, call it your "molecular sponge bath."

Activated Magnesium Gel Clay is available under the trade-name "Klay-Kleen"—Price $3.00 pound. If not available from your health food store, order direct. Made only by Albert E. Holand Co., Dept. M.B., Box 2281, Gardena, Calif.

men steaming their devious way downstream from St. Louis. Sometimes today, when the river is very low, it is possible to wade out to the island from the Missouri shore; but at normal stage, the river's currents are swift and turbulent here and boaters with small craft must be cautious.

Except for a few trees and brush, the only living things atop Tower Rock are a few lizards. The area around it is desolate. On the Illinois side of the Mississippi is the historic river town of Grand Tower, named after the island.

THE ROCK was once called an Indian ceremonial site, and even today there is a rude cross chipped into its rock walls, evidently the work of some early missionary.

Old history books, delineating the drama of this region refer to Tower Rock as "our smallest national park," but today it is forgotten by everyone but barge pilots who curse it as a navigational hazard as they push their heavily-laden scows past the brooding escarpment dividing the current of the river.

'Health Spa'

A new concept of a swimming pool as a "health spa" is being realized by Sunset Pools, one of the nation's large pool builders.

The "Sunset Spa" as introduced in Long Beach last week, features the world-famed Jacuzzi Brothers air-injector water massage unit built into every Sunset pool, according to Graham Shepherd, manager of the display at 3624 Long Beach Blvd. The unit forms millions of tiny bubbles and water turbulence that is the heart of all water therapy, long used in noted European health resorts, Shepherd said.

This 19th Century telephone holds hidden treasure within.

By Phyllis Elleen Davis

NOBODY calls in or out on the 19th Century telephone that hangs on the wall of the 20th Century home at 6033 Faculty Ave., Lakewood, but the antiquated instrument still serves a practical purpose. It holds the family silverware.

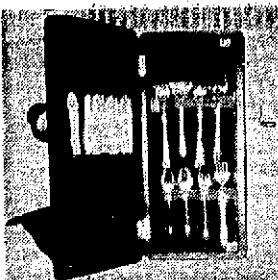

The first step in converting the phone was to salvage the larnish-resistant holder and velvet from the discarded silver chest. Cardboard was cut to fit the sides, top, bottom, back and inside the door of the telephone cabinet. Each piece was covered with velvet and glued into place, providing a suitable lining.

Next the wooden holders for the forks and spoons were measured and cut in two lengths. In order to prevent the silver from falling forward, the pieces were mounted with flathead screws at a slight angle.

The knife holder was cut two inches narrower than the telephone door, shaped into a semi-circle with eight slots to hold the knives. Velvet was also glued to the exterior of the knife holder. When this was dry, the holder was mounted to the door. The finishing touch was to install magnetic catches both at the top and the bottom of the door.

CONVERTING such a relic into a unique and useful wall decoration can be a satisfying accomplishment. The old phone was found through an advertisement in a Sunday paper at a cost of $10. Antique shops and second-hand stores are also a source.

When the curious visitor asks, "What do you have in that antique telephone?" the answer is a proud display of hidden treasure!

Although he portrays a naive teen-ager, Jim actually is 24, married and the father of a 2-year-old son.

"I think Del Daves gave me this part," says MacArthur, "for the reason that the boy has a peculiar maturity which they couldn't get by casting someone who was 17, the actual age in the story. But it's a complete departure for me. I've done nothing like this in any of my six previous films. I have to be the personification of an innocent adolescent but with other adult, serious thoughts going on inside."

Jim's talents, of course, are his own—but hasn't his distinguished mother been of some help?

Anyone who sees him make love to Mimsy Farmer in "Spencer's Mountain" will recognize that he is succeeding on his own.

Municipal Court Case

can era most of the cases were handled by an alcalde. Often the governor was the only Appellate Court in those times. When the Americans came, the alcalde system was supplemented by judges appointed by the military command. In some remote areas the law was administered by miners or ranchers, sometimes, possibly, by a band of vigilantes. The cases were handled speedily though not always mercifully or justly.

Today some cases seem prolonged. Sometimes the backlog seems great. Truth and justice will come foremost. The clerk's office works with you and the judges for you. You, the people, wrote the lines. We help you play them out.

So, Case No. 1 of the Long Beach Municipal Court has stretched into many thousands and has become a part of the lifeline of you, the people. Many persons and many machines now record your actions. The scrolls of my penmanship on that first case have aged 38 years. The scenes of the plays you write and act today are as up-to-date as "right now."

These case records, such as the dockets, the register of actions, the minute books and the indexes will be found today in the Municipal Court of the Long Beach Judicial District and may never be destroyed. The revenue disbursed each year exceeds the operational costs of the court, including the salaries paid to the judges and to the court personnel.

THE LAWS governing the disbursement of fees and fines are numerous and apply to special funds. Here I have a special word for traffic violators, the group which heads the list of cases in numbers.

When a person receives a traffic citation he erroneously and unfortunately assumes the arresting officer must "establish a quota." This is grossly erroneous thinking. This type of fine is paid to a Traffic Safety Fund and is used exclusively for official traffic control devices, the maintenance of equipment, supplies for traffic law enforcement, traffic accident prevention and for the improvement and construction of streets, bridges and culverts within the city.

Perhaps there has been a message in the Municipal Court story. Remember, it is your court in your Judicial District and all departments of the courts and all the people of the departments are here to help you.

You might also keep in mind the odds are greater than three to one that you will meet the witness chair. If you haven't been in court, the odds are, well—you will be."

Let's Stop Knocking Little League

of medical-tinged accusations against pre-teen baseball competition. Some have claimed it's a menace to the community, others that it's a hindrance to proper bone structure.

Such contentions are sheer poppycock, says the man who probably should be recognized as the country's foremost medical authority on the subject. He is Dr. Creighton Hale, M.D., a physiologist who is employed by Little League, Inc., to conduct year-around investigations into the game's effect on the several million youngsters who spend their summer evenings on the diamond.

AFTER LENGTHY research, Dr. Hale found that only one per cent of boys in a five-year study of nearly three-quarters of a million cases ever sustained fractures, sprains, concussions or dental injuries. Most of the injuries were simple "strawberries" caused by sliding into base—damage that is repaired with a little iodine.

To the charges that boys not only get hurt physically, but they become injured emotionally by the overstress on winning, there is some eye-opening evidence of refutation.

In one check, 1,000 doctors answered a questionnaire on the effects of Little League play on their own sons. Ninety-four per cent of the thousand medical men said they thought it was beneficial. Eighty-three per cent said they thought there were no abnormal psychological responses in their own sons and 11 per cent said "sometimes."

THERE WAS A 90 to 10 ratio of replies saying that "playing to win" did not produce undesirable responses.

Then, there is the charge that the boys are too young for such a tough game as baseball, that their bones are not sufficiently formed. The terms "Little League shoulders" and "Little League elbow" have sprung up.

"Such injuries are incredibly rare," says Dr. Hale. "More boys get them from throwing rocks at birds than from baseball. It makes as much sense to call them 'Little League elbow' as it does to use the name 'Boy Scout finger' for every knife cut suffered by a boy simply because some Boy Scouts cut their fingers.

"There is a great misunderstanding about the susceptibility of youngsters to injury," explains Dr. Hale. "The fact is, the bone is hardest to fracture the day you're born and gets easier to fracture every day thereafter.

IF BOYS' BASEBALL is not harmful, is it then, perhaps valuable?

"I'd say it's one of the most important things to happen to our society in the past decade," says Charlie Brown, a Long Beach youth worker of many years experience. Brown has been teaching boys to play baseball since the early 1930s.

Brown conducts city-sponsored baseball clinics in Long Beach as well as private baseball schools throughout the Southern California region. He's been tutoring boys in baseball since the depression when he organized possibly the first little league in Albuquerque.

Charlie convinced the city

Close play at home proves this Little Leaguer can slide in major style. Learning right way is aim of juniors.

council of Albuquerque to invest $100 in bats and balls as an antidote to the soaring juvenile delinquency problem. Within two weeks Albuquerque had 50 teams and virtually no delinquency.

"You'll never convince me it wasn't baseball," claims Charlie, "and you'll never convince me that baseball hasn't done a similar job down through the years. There's nothing better for a kid than belonging to a team and learning to pull his share of the load."

BUT NOT EVEN Charlie will claim that all junior baseball programs are perfect—or even good. "I've seen some bad ones, real bad. But the bad ones can be controlled by weeding out the bad coaches. A baseball program has got to have a purpose and the purpose can't be simply to win games."

Little League, the pioneer of wide-scale organized boys' baseball, is 25 years old and has nearly a million and a half youngsters playing in 24 countries. Though Little League, with headquarters at Williamsport, Pa., (boys 9 to 12) is only a small part of the overall junior baseball program, it's the one that takes the brunt of attacks. "It's like fighting a ghost," says Little League president Pete McGovern, a U. S. Rubber Co. executive. (Continued on Page 28)

tive who serves L. L. full time without pay.

McGOVERN believes he has all the answers to the criticisms—if only he could pinpoint their source.

His most often used answer at the moment is directed at all those who claim Little League is too dangerous for young boys. The injury insurance rate, he points out, is just $16.50 per year for an entire team.

So don't worry too much, Mom, if Sonny has a sore arm. He probably got it tossing rocks at robins. And don't worry about broken bones. A large-scale medical study shows that his chances of a serious injury are about one in a thousand.

ment the entire windows on both sides to make them firm and watertight.

The building architect is consulted as to how the windows are to fit into the structural motif. In order to plan control of light the stained glass men also must know exactly what the light intensity and atmospheric conditions will be in the area of the building where the windows are to be installed.

Study and research are required to understand and reflect in design and color the creeds of the many denominations. Liturgical art is exacting. Therefore, the window designer must refer often to the Bible, biographies of saints, and books on ecclesiastical heraldry and symbolism.

The Judson Studios, organized in 1897, moved into the present building when the University of Southern California School of Fine Arts and Architecture moved out of it. The Fine Arts School was founded by William Lees Judson, grandfather of Horace T. Judson. Three generations of the Judson family and scores of artists and craftsmen have been engaged 66 years in creating stained glass windows for churches throughout the United States, Hawaii, Japan and Korea.

Windows produced by the Judson Studios may be seen in 20 or more churches in the Long Beach-Orange County area. The Prayer and Meditation Room in Washington, which shows Gen. Washington kneeling in prayer, and the Protestant Level of the Air Force Chapel in Colorado Springs, Colo., are outstanding products of the studios.

Horace T. Judson (above) is owner of studios devoted to making stained glass windows.

Discover how this slim guide in new Kotams tampon can give more protection, more comfort

At last there's a tampon that's really protective! For new Kotams is designed with a slim guide that places the tampon exactly where needed to give you the most complete protection possible.

Old-style ways of inserting a tampon can be very haphazard with bulky applicators—or no inserter at all. No wonder protection is so often incomplete!

But with new Kotams it's virtually impossible to position this tampon incorrectly. For the Kotams guide stem has a tapered grip that makes you hold it just the right way for perfect placement. There's no guesswork at all. The tampon is angled correctly, directed smoothly to the most comfortable and protective position. Then the stem releases immediately.

Positioning is so easy, so gentle and sure. The Kotams tampon is a small size, compressed so that it can expand 4 times its size for greater absorbency.

Try this new-style tampon in Regular or Super absorbency. They're attractively wrapped, individually, to carry discreetly in your purse.

bus to my vacation destination?

This is a question asked many times by readers of this column.

There are several firms which rent cars. I went to a worldwide leader, Hertz Rent a Car, for the answers.

"It's simple," answered J. Howard Burns, a zone manager for the company. "You need to be over 21, have a valid driver's license, and proper identification."

Is it expensive to rent a car?

"Not at all," says Burns. "Rates depend on make and model of vehicle. For example, our rates for a Chevrolet standard size sedan are $10 a day and 10 cents a mile. Compact cars cost less and luxury models cost more."

Here's an idea: Families and groups who have time to drive a rental car to their vacation spot may find that the overall cost may offer considerable savings. As many as six persons may share the cost of renting a sedan, and up to nine may ride in a station wagon.

Hertz provides free delivery and pickup to home, office or hotel. You may also utilize the "rent it here, leave it there" service by renting a car in one city and drop it off anywhere else in the United States. At another Hertz station. This service, Burns points out, is free. Furthermore, under the firm's "3-R" plan, you can make reservations for your plane ticket, rental car and hotel/motel accommodations with a single phone call.

(Hertz' size becomes important at this point. The firm has a wide variety of makes, models and sizes of vehicles at each of its 1,500 locations in 950 American cities.)

DO YOU PAY cash or "charge it"?

Burns says this is up to the customer. Nearly a million motorists hold Hertz Automatic Charge Cards. In addition, there is a new revolving credit plan by which any motorist may "drive now and pay later." Under this plan, anyone who can qualify for a retail store revolving credit account can enjoy as much as $200 in open car-rental credit from Hertz, paying a monthly charge of $10 which includes a small carrying charge.

It might be well to know, too, that there are 42 Hertz locations in the Greater Los Angeles area, including two in Long Beach (downtown and at the airport) and nine in Orange County.

IF YOU PLAN to motor up the Redwood Highway (Hwy. 199)—one of northern California's most scenic routes—you'll be glad to know that driving time between Crescent City and Grants Pass, Ore., was reduced and made safer at the same time only yesterday with the dedication of the new $7½ million Randolph Collier Tunnel.

The 1,835-foot bore through Oregon Mountains in the Siskiyou Range eliminates 128 curves and hairpin switchbacks and a steep 950-foot grade. The tunnel is a key link in the new Winnemucca-to-the-Sea Highway, a 495-mile direct route from north-central Nevada to the Pacific.

It is interesting to note that this segment of the new highway and the tunnel re-

Shades of Cleopatra!

VIVIANNE FREIDH, Scandinavian Airlines System hostess, puts to effective use an offensive weapon used with marked success by Cleopatra to win the hearts of Caesar and Mark Antony. She lines her eyes with a brass applicator from a "Kohl Jar" which has been used by glamour girls of the Nile for 5,000 years. The cosmetic is made of finely powdered antimony in alluring shades of blue, or the smoke black of burnt almond shells for a seductive black effect.

Part of an exotic collection assembled from cities of the Middle East, the cosmetic aids, handicrafts, jewelry, silks and other products are available for showings at women's clubs meetings of 250 or more members. Clubs eligible for the program, "Middle East Arts & Crafts Kit," should write SAS, 8929 Wilshire Blvd., Beverly Hills.

places a winding two-lane road which, in turn, dates back to a redwood-plank pack trail over which supplies were toled to southern Oregon mines in the 1850s.

JET SERVICE has superseded piston flights on all Mexicana Airlines' hops between Los Angeles International Airport and Mexico City. In making the announcement, Juan Matute, the airline's regional sales manager in Los Angeles, said piston flights will continue to the Mexican capital from Mexicali, Baja California.

Two Mexicana flights leave daily for Mexico City from Los Angeles. One is nonstop (3 hours and 10 minutes), the other a new service via Mazatlan and Guadalajara (5 hours and 25 minutes).

DELAPLANE

"Do you advise locking suitcases in hotel rooms? And what do you do with money you don't want to carry but want kept safe?"

I DON'T lock suitcases in hotel rooms. I've never had anything taken but maybe I've been lucky. If I carried large amounts of cash, or had expensive jewelry, I'd put it in the hotel safe.

European hotels usually have a large chest to hang your clothes in. It has a key and a lock that any competent Boy Scout could open with a Scout knife. Irish hotels seldom bother to give you a room key. They don't lock doors.

Things you'd most likely lose would be what you leave in an unlocked car on the street. An inexpensive camera to you usually has a great deal more value in foreign currency and style of living. Don't make it tempting.

"We understand that it is wise to carry a letter of introduction from the Chief of Police in our town . . ."

NOT NEEDED except in some special countries that require it for visas. Nicaragua is one. Europeans are too sophisticated to be impressed. And in countries where people might be impressed, they usually can't read. Not English, anyway.

"We thought prices were terribly high in Paris . . ."

I DID TOO. This is one of the world's high-priced towns. France is a high-priced country, even for the French.

Austria, Portugal and Spain are the bargain countries. Cool, northern Spain right now is running me $18 a day for two people and a child—for everything but car rental. That's food, hotels, tips, drinks, cigarettes, barber, hairdressers, drugstores, magazines, books, baby-sitters. I mean living well. You could cut corners on this and drop it to $15, I'm sure.

Car rentals are the big cost. You can get a package deal—(Hertz in Madrid)—that gives you a month for $315 with 1,800 miles free. (Otherwise cost is $7.50 a day and about 9 cents a mile.)

"Where do you go for Mexican food in Mexico City please?"

HOSTERIA del Santo Domingo in the very oldest part of Mexico City, near the Church of Santo Domingo and the homes of the Captains who came with Cortez.

In the stylish part of town near the Hotel Presidente, the Fonda del Refugio has excellent food from all parts of Mexico. High prices for Mexico but low for your exchange.

For lunch, the terrace on the roof at the Hotel Majestic.

"We would like to go to a nice beach town in Mexico and possibly buy property."

ALL MY FRIENDS are high on Puerto Vallarta on the West Coast—reachable only by air from Guadalajara, Mazatlan and Los Angeles at present. I think Mazatlan a little further north is a nice beach town.

However, Mexican law is tough on foreigners owing property. If you buy within 15 miles of the sea coast, your property reverts to the State when you die. Any buying in Mexico should be checked with a Mexico City lawyer.

Azaleas: Landscape Beauties

Azaleas fill many needs in the landscape. Potted and the pots set in the ground they provide quick color.

GARDEN CHATS WITH GORDON LAWN FEEDING

GORDON says . . .

The pangs of hunger in lawns are shown by the color and texture of the foliage, which turns dull or pale green. Frequently proper care in feeding has not been continued through the winter and essential food elements have been locked from the soil. Alkali can also accumulate which locks up plant food.

Dichondra begins to bloom in March and April, producing matured seed in July. During this period the turf requires special attention and should be fed with Bandini Plush, beginning in January and continuing every three months through the year to maintain top condition. It is essential that a feeding be given at this time to give the lawn some extra vitality during the hot weather ahead.

Grass lawns should receive the same treatment. This program builds strong, thick turf and aids materially in the control of weeds.

We have experienced personnel to advise you on your lawn problems at the GARDEN SHOP NURSERY at 5431 E. Spring St. (at Bellflower Blvd.), Long Beach; phone HA 5-1362.

By Joe Littlefield

AZALEAS enhance any landscaping with their showy flowers. They may be used in several different ways.

Outdoor planters that are part of a wall and face north or east are good for growing azaleas.

Some azaleas tolerate sun or shade, or some of both. They must be in more shade than sun in hot, dry areas. Shade loving azaleas stand nearly a half day of sun or shade.

Used individually as potted plants, these shrubs add color to a patio, porch or lath house and may be grown in pots buried in the ground to provide needed temporary color.

ONE OF the past owners of a nationally known soap company had his gardener set potted blooming azaleas into the ground under an elm tree to create the most colorful area of his whole garden estate. If you have an elm tree, you'll understand why the pots were sunk into the ground. If you don't know, you'll soon learn when you notice your plants, any kind, planted under this type of tree, become smothered by the greedy, fast growing elm tree roots.

Proper watering is one of the least understood, but most successful garden tricks with potted azaleas. Fill the pot with water three or four times to complete a watering. This method of watering should be done from spring into fall season. Other potted or tubbed plants, too, should be watered same way.

The roots get a thorough soaking to their very tip ends. The planting medium gets a thorough rinsing. Every third or fourth time you water the pots that are not in the ground, slip hose watering and plunge the plant pot into a bucket or tub of water to several inches above the pot top. When bubbling of the water stops, the soil or peat has absorbed all the water it can hold. Take the pots out and excess water drains off.

NOW'S A GOOD time, if a plant needs it, to fertilize, then water well again. Azaleas and most other shade loving plants need acid type food.

Finish drastic pruning of azaleas, now. Cut wherever you think it helps to shape the bush. Don't worry about where to cut branches. New growth will pop out just below where you prune.

Absentee's Plant Aid

MANY HOMEMAKERS who in the past have relied on a neighbor to care for their house plants during vacation trips are now solving this problem the modern way—with Saran Wrap. Just water the plant thoroughly, then overwrap pot in a large sheet of saran, smoothing it to the sides and cinching excess wrap loosely around the base of the plant. Do not close off the soil surface completely since plant roots need some air. Place the wrapped pot in a semi-shaded and cool spot; soil moisture will remain at an optimum level for several weeks.

Similarly, if you have several small plants and do not wish to wrap them individually, they may be placed after watering in a cardboard box without lid and a sheet of saran simply stretched across the open top to simulate a "greenhouse." Choose a box deep enough that wrap will not touch the foliage, and place in a well lighted but not sunny area.

Dog Shows Hold Stage

By Eleanor Avery Price

SOUTH BAY Kennel Club has a match today at 224th Street and Normandy Avenue, Torrance. A match is a proving ground for young dogs. Next Saturday, Ventura Dog Fanciers show and trial will be held at Houser Field, Oxnard, and Santa Barbara Kennel Club will stage its classic July 28 at Santa Barbara polo grounds.

At the Santa Barbara event these clubs hold specialties: German Shorthaired Pointer Club of Southern California, California English Setter Club, Afghan Hound Club of California, Southern California Beagle Club, American Whippet Club, Standard Schnauzer Club of America, Pembroke Welsh Corgi Club of America, West Highland White Terrier Club of California, and United States Kerry Blue Terrier Club. Beatrice Godsoi of Dixon will judge best in show.

West Highland White Terriers descended from old-type Cairns and were perpetuated by a few families, notably the Malcolm family of Poltalloch, Scotland. Earlier practice was to destroy the white puppies of the Cairns and save the blacks, which became the Scottish Terrier breed.

SUMMER is outdoor time for all, including most pets. Keep animals away from areas that are sprayed or dusted with chemicals. Also keep them off fertilized areas. It is believed that many dogs get fertilizer on their feet, scratch, and start a form of skin ailment that does not respond to any treatment until they are removed to another area.

Even though you use no insecticides and fertilizer, your dog can get into a heap of trouble just by chewing up your plants and outdoor furniture. There are commercial dog repellents that make the dog sneeze so he'll usually avoid anything so sprayed. Or you can dilute nicotine sulphate one teaspoonful to a quart of water and spray about the plants. Trouble is, some of these "treatments" will also keep you out of your own garden. You might try buttering objects with musterole or a thin solution of alum and water. Musterole may stain, but you won't need much! Be sure the dog has plenty of drinking water, for these "cures" will make him thirsty.

Obedience training is the best solution. And giving the dog more attention so he won't be bored and lonely will help.

Caricature by Bob April

BILL WELCH

A Great Combination

THEY go together like Lunt and Fontanne, Drysdale and Koufax, Gilbert and Sullivan.

Steak and lobster. A perfect combination of flavors.

And the place to enjoy that combination in quiet, elegant splendor is the Tenderloin restaurant, 4363 Atlantic Ave. Modern in design, with a decor of beautiful whites, golds and black, the Tenderloin is one of Long Beach's superior dining establishments, a gathering place for socialites, top business executives, political figures and sports names.

The Tenderloin's steak and lobster combination is arranged as beautifully on the plate as a work of art by Malisse or Rembrandt. The steak is a top sirloin, tender, juicy and charcoal-broiled to give it rich character. The lobster is from Australia—sweet, tender and accompanied by drawn butter for dipping. The combination ($4.50) includes a magnificent, huge salad mixed by a skilled waiter at the table; baked potato stuffed spectacularly with chopped bacon and melted butter; vegetable du jour, assorted sourdough and dark breads and coffee.

Equally delightful are the extravagant cuts of prime rib au jus, a wide variety of steaks (New Yorks, sirloins and ultra-tender tenderloins) Utah mountain trout, beef Stroganoff and chicken curry, priced from $3.50.

Astute manager Bill Welch notes that many important business deals are completed over the Tenderloin's white linen tablecloths during the popular luncheons, served Tuesday through Friday starting at 11:30 a.m.

Want the facts? Want to spike rumors? Want to learn the truth about prominent personalities? Write Walter Scott, PARADE, 733 Third Ave., New York 17, N.Y. Your full name will be used unless otherwise requested. Sorry, the volume of mail received makes personal replies impossible.

Q. Arthur Miller, the playwright who was once married to Marilyn Monroe—is it true that he has renounced play-writing?—Jean Marshall, Wallingford, Conn.

A. No, he has finished a play, After the Fall, which Elia Kazan will direct.

Q. Who said: "The Anglo-Saxon conscience does not prevent the Anglo-Saxon from sinning; it merely prevents him from enjoying his sin?"—Harold Winniker, Milwaukee, Wis.

A. Salvador de Madariaga, Spanish diplomat and writer.

Q. Can you tell me if actress Dorothy Malone ever put her husband Jacques Bergerac on a weekly allowance so that he was discouraged from finding work?—Paul Rondo, Redlands, Calif.

A. Apparently there was no discouragement of working, whatever the financial arrangement may have been. "I begged him," Miss Malone testified at her recent divorce hearing, "to look for other than executive-type positions." Whereupon he was said to have raged, seized his wife by the throat, later "ended up twisting my ears."

Q. How old is Henry R. Luce, founder of Time and Life magazines?—J. Scott, Rye, N. Y.

A. Luce is 65.

A. Only some of the industrial exhibits.

Q. Did the late Pope's doctors ever tell him he was suffering from cancer?—Janet Elkins, St. Paul, Minn.

A. No. "We tried piously to deceive him," says Prof. Antonio Gasbarrini.

Q. Who was the Duchess of Argyll's father?—L. Swanson, Sioux City, Iowa.

A. George Hay Whigham, before his death at 82 in 1961 president of British Celanese.

Q. Can you tell me how much Audrey Hepburn and Rex Harrison are receiving for their work in the film version of My Fair Lady?—Ann Pollock, Newark, N. J.

A. Miss Hepburn is receiving $1,000,000, Harrison $250,000.

Q. Do the seven original astronauts have personal life insurance over and above their GI insurance?—T. R., Houston, Texas.

A. Yes, each in the amount of $100,000.

Q. There is a strong rumor that President Kennedy recently appointed as chairman of the Foreign Intelligence Advisory Board, to replace Dr. James R. Killian, an attorney named Clark Clifford only because Clifford helped Kennedy in writing his book, Profiles in Courage. Is this true?—H. P. O., Washington, D. C.

A. Clifford helped in the preparation of Profiles in Courage, which was written by Kennedy and is soon to be telecast, but the Intelligence appointment, frowned upon in many quarters, was no payoff. Obviously, the President feels Clifford is qualified for the position, an opinion which several other knowledgeable men do not share.

Q. Bob Six, president of Continental Airlines—was he ever president of Chas. Pfizer & Co., the pharmaceutical house?—J. Hansen, New York, N. Y.

A. No, he was once married to a divorcee, Mrs. Henrietta Erhart Ruggles, daughter of the late William H. Erhart, once chairman of Chas. Pfizer & Co. They were divorced in 1952. Mr. Six subsequently married Ethel Merman, but is now married to actress Audrey Meadows.

Q. Doris Day recently finished a movie with James Garner called Move Over, Darling. Isn't this a remake?—Anna Morrison, Springfield, Ohio.

A. More than 20 years ago it was made with Cary Grant and Irene Dunne and entitled My Favorite Wife. It's the story of a man who, thinking his wife dead, remarries, only to have his first wife turn up on his second honeymoon.

Q. Would you please identify The Wolfenden Report.—C. L. Prentiss, Princeton, N. J.

A. It is the official report of the Committee on Homosexual Offenses and Prostitution presented several years ago to the British Parliament. It was prepared by a committee, headed by Sir John Wolfenden, of outstanding Englishmen drawn from the ranks of British lawyers, doctors, clergymen and sociologists. The report was recently published in this country.

Q. Can you tell what Judy Garland's husband, Sid Luft, does for a living?—Gordon Howard, Las Vegas, Nev.

A. Luft recently declared at a support hearing brought by his former wife, Llyn Bari, that he was without a job. He told the California Superior Court Commission that he had not bought a new suit in three years and that he obtains no money from Miss Garland other than their rent of $500 a month.

don't be a do-it-yourself doctor

by HERBERT L. HERSCHENSOHN, M.D.

The recklessness with which many persons take potent drugs not prescribed for them is difficult to understand. Is it possible that they neither know nor care that drugs can be dangerous if not taken with the proper precautions? The sulfa drugs, when first introduced, required enormous amounts of water to prevent complications. Ann, a secretary, didn't know this, but she was aware of a painfully infected hangnail. A clerk in her office had had an infected finger for which her doctor prescribed sulfa drugs, and gave Ann the leftover tablets.

A few days later the infection around the fingernail subsided. Then suddenly, Ann felt a stabbing pain in her back. Within seconds she was writhing on the floor crying for relief.

At the hospital, it was discovered that sulfa crystals had formed in her kidneys, because she had taken the tablets without either copious amounts of water or baking soda, another precaution. As the crystals tried to pass through the delicate tissues they cut like tiny splinters of glass.

Another danger of self-administration occurs when taking drugs which are harmless for a while but to which the body eventually becomes sensitized. Penicillin is an outstanding example.

A society matron flew into a rage when her doctor refused to give her a shot of penicillin for a head cold. He explained that the injections were useless and, more important, might cause her to become so sensitive to this antibiotic that it could cause her harm if administered at a later time, when she really needed it.

A year later the doctor was called to her home and found her seriously ill with a lung infection. This time he needed no urging to use penicillin. Within half an hour after the injection, the woman felt as if thousands of pins were pricking her skin. She clutched her throat, gasped for breath and blacked out.

It took 10 days of hospital treatment to remedy the effects of the shot. She later admitted to the doctor that when he had refused to give her the shots for her head cold she found a nurse who had accumulated a supply of partially used vials of the antibiotic from various cases she had attended. This nurse was more than willing to give the wealthy matron all the shots she wanted.

Today, penicillin is available as tablets. This makes it even more likely to be used indiscriminately. These tablets must not be taken unless a doctor believes they are indicated and prescribes the dose required.

Antibiotics can have many strange effects if not taken properly. In a West Coast industrial plant a mysterious epidemic of itching appeared. At first it was thought to be caused by some substance being handled by the workers. But the cause was an assembly-line worker named Joe. Joe had a part-time job as a stockroom boy in a drugstore. He had access to many drugs, among them an antibiotic, aureomycin.

When any of his co-workers complained of anything, a cold, a wheeze, a pain in the back, Joe was ready with his bottle of capsules. He not only distributed them freely but recommended three times the dose prescribed by physicians for seriously ill patients. The intense, intractable itching followed.

Sometimes a drug will relieve a symptom for a while, but its continued use can cause the identical symptom. Unless this is known, a pernicious cycle occurs in which a person takes more of the drug, hoping for relief, at the same time aggravating the symptom he is trying to get rid of.

Alcohol can transform commonly used medicines into potions of crime and death. A Hollywood brawl occurred because a producer did not know about this and decided to doctor one of his party guests, a young actor who had an attack of chest pain. The producer, who had coronary heart disease for which he had been taking nitroglycerin tablets, gave one to his guest.

Earlier that evening the actor had imbibed quite freely. He was known for his mild nature and, although he drank considerably, the more he drank the gentler he usually became. However, after he had taken the nitroglycerin tablet, he suddenly attacked the producer, pinned him to the floor and tried to knock his teeth out.

The actor was one of those persons in whom nitroglycerin and alcohol do not mix, but cause one of the most violent forms of intoxication known. It can result in temporary insanity and crimes of a most brutal type.

dangerous combination

Alcohol and phenobarbital are another dangerous combination which is a frequent cause of death during sleep. If an autopsy is not performed police records may attribute the death either to possible suicide or heart attack.

A top executive of a large corporation and his wife had been to a party where they had a number of cocktails. When they got home the husband was so elated he felt he needed something to help him fall asleep. He resorted to a supply of phenobarbital tablets which he had often taken for insomnia. During the night he died.

No doctor would have permitted him to take the sedative after drinking. Liquor itself is a sedative, even though it excites at first. Its sedative action may be so delayed, however, that it happens to coincide with the sedating action of the phenobarbital. The total sedation may be deep enough to cause paralysis of the respiratory center in the brain and cause death.

Furthermore, a person who is under the influence of alcohol may not realize how much medicine he is taking and could easily take an excessive dose, or repeated doses, which can be fatal.

Drug addiction can often be traced to a "do-it-yourself doctor." The present furor in California about a widely used narcotic, Percodan, is based on the fact that this drug has been so easily obtainable and used without medical supervision.

Open your medicine cabinet and look at the collection of drugs staring back at you. What do you really know about the remedies you have collected?

Doctors of medicine devote their lives and countless hours studying the effects of drugs. They know the dangers as well as the virtues of the ingredients in the prescriptions they write and know what precautions to take.

In addition to the warnings issued by the manufacturers of the drugs and articles in medical journals, the Food and Drug Administration notifies each doctor by mail of special drug warnings of which the general public could not possibly be aware. A recent example of such a warning concerns the use of eye ointments containing cortisone-type ingredients.

If a person has eye trouble and decides to use such an ointment without consulting his doctor, it is possible for the cornea, if it is a thin one, to perforate or for the pressure within the eyeball to become dangerously high. In either case, blindness may result.

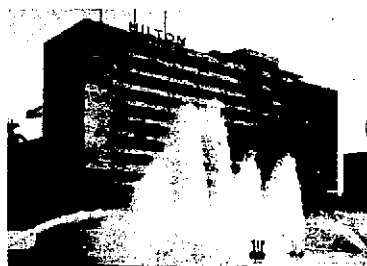

If you are healthy, you do not need medicine. If you are not healthy and are taking unprescribed medicines day after day, then you need a diagnosis. And for a diagnosis, consult a bona fide physician. ■

HE'S AMERICANIZING THE WORLD

by LLOYD SHEARER

ROTTERDAM HILTON

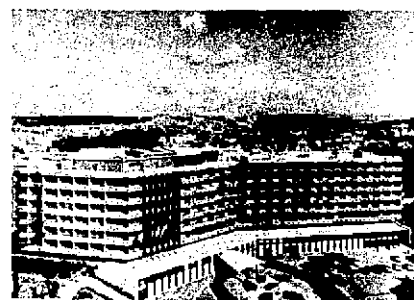

ATHENS HILTON

ROYAL TEHRAN HILTON

LONDON HILTON

CAVALIERI HILTON (ROME)

HONG KONG HILTON

Last month when Conrad Hilton opened three more of his hotels—in Tokyo, Hong Kong and New York—as part of the greatest spree of hotel-launching the world has ever known, I was working in London. One night I dined with an official from the American Embassy, and the conversation veered to the subject of the American image in Europe. At the time, Connie Hilton had recently opened his 30-story hotel in London amid much criticism—the hotel overlooks Buckingham Palace, to the annoyance of some Englishmen who consider it an intrusion on the royal family's privacy.

"Do you know," the man from the State Department asked, "who would have made the perfect American representative abroad?"

I shook my head.

"Gary Cooper," he declared. "There was the American—shy, sincere, unsophisticated, a man of action, a man of the frontier, an American diamond in the rough."

None of this happened to be true of Gary Cooper. Sophisticated and debonair, educated in England, a painter by predilection and an actor by accident, Coop cultivated fast cars, impressionist paintings, modern architecture, the society of the yachting, international crowd, the acquisition of money and all the creature comforts it could buy. He was American, but just about as typical as Hollywood.

I told none of this, however, to the man from our State Department.

THE AMERICAN IMAGE

Instead, I volunteered the opinion that a more typical American now traveling the world, projecting a more realistic image of this nation, was the innkeeper, Conrad Nicholson Hilton.

At 75, Connie Hilton is probably the last of his kind.

Here is a man born in San Antonio, N. M., in 1887, when New Mexico was a territory, not a state; a product of the raw frontier whose formal education was haphazard and catch as catch can; a man of mixed stock, whose father was Norwegian Protestant and whose mother was German Catholic; a man who started his amazing rise with little more than guts, enterprise and an endless dream; a man whose career makes Horatio Alger look like a bum; a man who helped his family run a boarding house; a man who today runs a fabulous world-wide empire of some 60-odd hotels; a devout man of practiced faith and daily prayer; a tycoon whose handshake alone will confirm a multimillion dollar deal; a tall, simple, warm, smiling, friendly, uncultured, dynamic, highly charged American, his energy overflowing; a transplanted son of the hot desert endowed with all the virtues and faults, the strengths and weaknesses, of a man raised on the now-dead frontier of the West; a man as typically American as New Mexico, Texas, California, Chicago and New York; a man half-drowned in financial deals of enormous complexity and yet somehow still anointed with the chrism of innocence, wonder and the enjoyment of life.

After I finished describing Hilton, the officer from our London embassy grinned cynically. "This guy," he said flatly, "was once married to Zsa Zsa Gabor. Who could be married to Zsa Zsa Gabor and still remain innocent and typically American?"

I agreed that was a good question. "But surely," I countered, "you'll concede that any man who marries an actress is either neurotic or naïve. Conrad Hilton is not neurotic. But when it comes to women, he's incredibly naïve, which I submit is typical of Americans—especially businessmen.

"So far this year," I continued, "Hilton has opened up hotels in Teheran, London, Athens, Rotterdam, Rome, Montreal, Portland, Tokyo, Hong Kong and New York. I've been with him on several of these junkets, and some of the girls he's invited to go along for scenic purposes—well, you wouldn't believe it.

"On one recent flight he had a Hollywood actress who's long been recognized as a male collector. On another there was a society columnist with an I.Q. of 12. On a third we had a lady of the press who gushes like a severed artery and is referred to by her colleagues as 'the drone.'

HOTELS, NOT WOMEN

"To all of them," I explained, "Hilton was courteous, gallant and respectful. He simply has no talent for judging women. The great love of his life is work. It broke up his first marriage, and it ruined his second, partially because he could not teach Zsa Zsa, the Hungarian charmer, any of the basic principles of bookkeeping or budget balancing. Hilton's greatest pleasure is drawn not from women, but from hotels. These constitute the passion of his life."

There are Hilton Hotels today in the U.S., Canada, Europe, Mexico, Asia, Australia and the West Indies. Next year and in 1965 others will sprout in Addis Ababa, Dublin, Manila, Caracas, Washington, D.C., Paris, Nicosia and St. Paul.

Conrad Hilton poses with second wife Zsa Zsa Gabor at the time of her night-club appearance in Las Vegas.

"Before I die," Hilton says, "I'd like to see at least one of our hotels in every leading city of the world."

When you ask him why, when you point out, as the London Observer recently did, that perhaps "Hilton Hotels are intended primarily to serve as air-conditioned havens for rich Americans alarmed by the hazards of foreign travel," when you accuse him of trying to Americanize the world, Hilton replies good-naturedly with: "What's wrong with that? What's wrong with bringing air conditioning to London and ice water to Athens and television to Hong Kong?"

"What's wrong with introducing American hotel know-how throughout the world? We don't build hotels overseas. We get local men to put them up according to our plans. They use native labor, native architects, native motifs, native materials. They maintain the character of their own country. All we do is lease the hotels and run them. We take one-third of the profits, the owners two-thirds.

"Whenever a Hilton Hotel has opened overseas, it has been followed by an increase in trade and tourism.

"I don't want to sound like a missionary," Hilton protests, "but what's wrong with showing the world the fruits of American freedom? I honestly believe, I really do, that Hilton International is contributing something to the cause of world peace. We're making jobs for people, we're promoting travel, local construction, a better understanding among people.

"You say the whole world is beginning to look alike, that there's not too much difference between the London Hilton and the Beverly Hilton. I ask you—what's the difference between a bowling alley in Los Angeles and a bowling alley in Paris? The world is shrinking and communications are expanding. That brings all of us closer together. The standard of living is beginning to level out. The closer people are, the more they begin to act and think alike. If they begin to act and think a little like Americans, what's wrong with that? I say, 'That's great.'"

HE LIVES BIG

A church-going Catholic, Conrad Hilton at 75 permits neither his work nor religion to cramp his joie de vivre. No egghead, a member of the American Legion, a one-time wearer of Stetson hats and high-heeled boots, a man seemingly obsessed by bigness, perhaps as a compensatory mechanism for his small-town background, a man whose modus vivendi is constructed on a trinity of work, prayer and the big dream, he lives the nonintellectual, soul-satisfying big deal life in a 60-room mansion, Casa Encantada, located on a Bel-Air hilltop in Los Angeles. He employs 15 domestics to care for the 9-acre estate, which boasts a swimming pool, a private elevator, 5 kitchens, laundry facilities for 25 families, service quarters for 12, with individual marbled baths.

Originally built at a cost of $2,500,000 for Mrs. Hilda Boldt Weber, widow of millionaire George Boldt of the Owens-Illinois Glass Co., the estate, completely furnished, was bought by Hilton in 1950 for $250,000. It is the type of tremendous, sprawling home which cries out for recognition and immediate owner identification, the kind of home Freud could write a tract and O'Hara a novel on, the type of home equated with the mentality of an Andrew Carnegie, a J. P. Morgan, a John D. Rockefeller and the other fin de siècle millionaires.

Here in his fabulous Casa Encantada, Spanish-speaking Conrad Hilton entertains on a goodly scale for his friends, his children, his grandchildren, liking best to rumba and waltz into the early hours of the morning with young, bright, attractive women.

He has three sons by his first marriage (1925-1934), which ended in divorce. Nicky, his oldest, 37, and now the father of 2 boys, was the first husband of Elizabeth Taylor and is currently in charge of 8 Hilton airport motels. Hilton's second son, Barron, 36, is the father of 8 offspring and is a vice-president of Hilton Hotels. The third Hilton son, Eric, is father of three and the resident manager of the Shamrock Hilton in Houston.

With 13 grandchildren to his credit and more to come, with 33 domestic hotels, 18 foreign ones, another 13 under construction and 8 under contract, Conrad Hilton is now convinced that come what may, his name will endure.

In fact, he is quick to admit that for a small-town boy from Socorro County, New Mexico, he hasn't done badly. If anyone is to Americanize the world, Conrad Hilton is the man—and he's glad of it. ■

Sloppy teenagers

Is their untidiness a passing phase or a serious character defect?
Here's what experts — and youngsters — say

by ROSALIND MASSOW

Now a model of neatness, America's Junior Miss for 1963, Diane Sawyer, 17, admits she, too, was sloppy at 14.

■ "Nag, nag, nag—that's all my mother ever does," complains a girl of 15. "Pick up this, hang up that. What difference does it make to her if my room is a mess? I know where everything is!"

Ask an average American mother about her teenage daughter and she'll almost surely complain that her daughter is the sloppiest on earth.

A Wisconsin mother said she couldn't understand why her daughter was always running out of stockings until one day she discovered 16 pairs of dirty hose thrown in the back of a closet.

Parents complain that nothing seems to have value for adolescents. Expensive bicycles are left in the street, library books are buried under the bed, phonograph records are scattered everywhere, brand new dresses are heaped on chairs or even left on the floor.

As you read this, bitter battles are raging in millions of homes throughout the U. S., between parents and their untidy youngsters.

In or out of the home youngsters are consistent in their slovenly ways. School officials, recognizing the carelessness of the age, set up rigid standards of dress, banning dungarees and dirty sneakers.

Aggravation and frustration is the general tone of parent-child relationships. One mother is so fed up with her daughter's disregard of order that she does not bother cleaning up her room anymore.

Does her daughter care about it? Not a bit.

"I don't have time to put my clothes away," she said, "and anyway, nobody but me goes poking around my closet and bureau drawers, so who cares?"

NEED TO BE TAUGHT

It's mother who cares. Apart from damage to her self-esteem as a good housewife, she's afraid she's not teaching her children to be orderly, neat and responsible. And on the practical side, it's she who gets stuck with picking up what's strewn around.

No amount of yelling, nagging or even punishment seems to cure the teenage sloppy syndrome. But experts see nothing to get excited about. It's part of growing up, they say.

This 16-year-old rummaging through her drawer is perfectly at home in her cluttered room. Her idea of paradise is leaving clothes where they fall.

"Negative attitudes towards order are really an assertion of the child's independence," Dr. Schildkront points out. "It's natural, normal and even necessary, to a moderate degree, for early adolescents to be messy, and parents should expect this behavior. The phase is temporary and should pass, providing parents have laid a healthy groundwork."

Although sloppiness is viewed as subconscious hostility towards parents, it also reflects the informality of our times. College boys today have made a practice of wearing shirts that aren't ironed and pants that aren't pressed. They prefer these garments just as they come out of the washing machine.

Girls, by exaggerating the new comfortable styles now in fashion, are fiercely asserting their individuality. The current view is that it's chic not to be chic.

Mrs. Helen Southard, consulting psychologist for the National YWCA, says that today's teenagers have a culture of their own, which adults should respect.

"One generation has no right to impose needless strictures on another generation. If teens want to wear dirty sneakers and dungarees, let them, as long as they are not acting against the rights of others."

"Parents should not nag youngsters about messy rooms, but should set certain limits on the clutter. If mother can't abide old apple cores or cookies crumbled on her youngster's desk, she should concentrate on that particular problem," says Mrs. Southard.

STRATEGY FOR MOM

"Decide what's important to you and how much you're going to fight," she concludes. "If you argue about clothes on chairs, dirty socks in drawers and all other sloppy habits, you'll be fighting constantly."

Scattered interests is also named as a major reason for teenage untidiness. Grace Hechinger, co-author of the new book, Teen-Age Tyranny, says varied activities are "natural and desirable. Teens do homework, watch TV and eat a sandwich at the same time. Adults should not be grim in disciplining them, but should help them concentrate on one thing at a time."

What does the adolescent girl herself feel?

"Much ado about nothing," says Diane Sawyer, 17, winner of the 1963 title of America's Junior Miss. An "A" student, just graduated from a Louisville, Ky., high school, third in her class, Diane says: "Every generation has its planned untidiness. Hair has to fall over your eyes in a certain way; your shirt has to be worn out of your skirt. It's all contrived carelessness, and not serious. Kids should be taught, however, to respect their own and other people's property."

All the experts agree that while parents should grin and bear it, they should also keep up the pressure, be patient and hope for the best. ■

FAST TRIM. French barbers, who

now refuse to cut hair without also giving shampoos, are threatening the "6-4-2" treatment for their male customers. The "6-4-2" consists of 6 runs with the clippers, 4 snips with the scissors, 2 strokes with the comb. The barbers claim that's all they're willing to do for 70 cents. They're demanding an increase in prices, or else the "6-4-2."

FACT OF LIFE. One out of every 20 U.S. babies is now born out of wedlock.

PAIN WORRY. The best way to visit the dentist is "to accent the positive, eliminate the negative." At a recent meeting of the Southern California Dental Association, Dr. Leonard Monheim, professor of anesthesiology at the University of Pittsburgh, pointed out: "More people stay away from the dentist's office because of the fear of pain than for pain itself. A lot of people start getting hurt before they even walk into the waiting room. But the truth is that patients can be very comfortable in the dentist's chair if they can overcome their preconceived fear and just latch on to the affirmative and convince themselves that the dentist will help not hurt them."

Britain's Prince Charles (r.) strolls with schoolmate.

TEN YEARS OF ELIZABETH. In the 10 years she's been Queen of Great Britain, Elizabeth II has broken with tradition, has tried to get closer to her people. She's abolished the court presentation of debutantes. She's introduced informal palace lunches. She's built an art gallery at Buckingham Palace so the public may see the great royal art collection. And most important of all, she's sent her son, Prince Charles, 14, to school instead of having him tutored at home like all previous royal heirs.

INGRID BERGMAN. Two years ago Ingrid Bergman taped in London a televersion of Henrik Ibsen's play, Hedda Gabler. It's a tragedy of a ruthless, selfish woman who ends up a suicide. The play was scheduled for simultaneous telecast in England and the U.S. BBC presented the play in England last Christmas, but CBS-TV has been unable to find any sponsor in this country for the $300,000 production. If the network doesn't broadcast it by the end of this year, it forfeits its option rights.

JAPANESE SUPERMARKETS. Supermarkets have invaded Japan's retail business, revolutionizing the traditional Nipponese shopping pattern. Housewives who used to shop in half a dozen neighborhood stores now visit one self-service market. In the past few years 3,000 supermarkets have been built in Japan.

RACE WAR. Russia wishes the U.S. would quickly settle its racial integration problem. Reason: Asia and Africa tend to see the basic world struggle in terms of whites vs. nonwhites. Since the Chinese Reds are nonwhites, there is a tendency for Asians and Africans to side with them. Russians believe that the race struggle works against them, since as members of the white race, they're in the minority.

SUMMER SCHOOLS. Approximately 4,000,000 American youngsters, 1 out of every 12 grade and secondary school students, are currently attending summer classes. At least half are enrolled in various enrichment or advanced-study programs. Many educators are in favor of abandoning long summer vacations, pointing out that the system of 90-day school vacations originated years ago when children were required to work on farms and didn't need as much education as they do today.

WHY MARRIED WOMEN WORK. The two major reasons why 42% of all wives with children between the ages of 16 and 18 are working or seeking jobs are these: (1) The high cost of raising children, which makes at least two paychecks in one family a necessity; (2) boredom with housework.

RUSSIA VS. U.S. Soviet Russia's over-all economic standard of living is just about what ours was in 1920. The one disturbing comparison, however, is the alarming difference between the Soviet education of scientists and ours. The Russians are turning out twice as many engineers and scientists as we are. They hand-pick their most brilliant students, see to it that they get a complete education. Since a nation's economy in this day and age is primarily dependent upon its technological excellence, the nation with the best scientists and engineers will come up with the most productive economy.

CAMPAIGN CONTRIBUTIONS. Presidential campaigns cost a fortune. To the relatively few big contributors, promises are frequently made and obligations kept. To prevent this, both the Republican and Democratic parties are trying to woo the small subscriber. Two years ago the Republican National Committee began selling "sustaining memberships" for $10 each, came up with about 70,000 members good for $700,000. The Democrats have had a similar project in effect since 1957, but with a

The "arrest": Trooper Leon Clinton (r.) holds Wings' car, invites family to visit town for 24 hours, all expenses paid.

Kiwans Club throws banquet for Wings; present are Mayor Puckett, Trooper Clinton (standing, 3d and 4th from left).

A GOOD PLACE TO GET arrested

If a cop stops you in Rogers, Ark., don't panic—you're about to have the time of your life.

ROGERS, ARK.

One morning a few weeks ago, Master Sgt. Ted Wing and his family fell into one of the most unusual tourist traps in the nation.

The Wings were on an automobile trip which took them through this pleasant small town (population 7,600) in the northwest corner of Arkansas. As Ted, his wife, Betty, and their two children were driving along, a police car suddenly wheeled onto the highway, roared in pursuit of the Wings and waved them to the side of the road.

Wing obediently stopped his car, and as he waited nervously for the trooper and his companion to approach, he wondered what was up. As far as he knew, he hadn't broken any laws.

His bewilderment grew when the trooper grinned, held out his hand and said: "Howdy, folks! I'm Leon Clinton and this is Mayor Puckett. We'd like you to be our guests today here in Rogers."

This strange "arrest" was the start of a 24-hour holiday on the town for the entire Wing family. By the time they departed Rogers next morning, they had received the red-carpet treatment in full.

They were royally wined, dined and shown the sights of the town by the mayor himself. They were interviewed on the local radio station and made honorary citizens of Rogers. To the delight of the children, they were given a ride on a fire truck and a complete tour of the Daisy Mfg. Co., makers of air rifles.

Finally, they spent the night in the town's best hotel and drove off in the morning with their car freshly washed and serviced. And it was all free.

Operation Tourist Trap is part of a unique piece of tourist propaganda dreamed up three years ago by state trooper Leon Clinton and seconded by Mayor Seward Puckett.

A car with kids

Clinton explains: "Once a week during the summer we stop an out-of-state car with kids in it and invite the family to visit our town, all expenses paid. It's our way of showing folks that Rogers is a friendly place." He added that not every family he "arrests" is willing to go along with the idea, but that most of them are intrigued and give it a try.

Operation Tourist Trap has been so successful that other towns are thinking of imitating it. As for Clinton, the man who thought it up in the first place, he has this to say: "It's a lot more fun than handing out tickets."

Were you born LUCKY?

ROCHESTER, N.Y.

■ Are you lucky or unlucky? Do you feel your life would change if you threw away that rabbit's foot or walked under a ladder? What is luck anyway?

For years a psychiatrist here at the University of Rochester School of Medicine has sought the answers to these and many other questions about your luck—or the lack of it.

He is Dr. Sandor S. Feldman, and the results of his search are revealed in the following quiz. Check the answers you believe to be correct, then compare with Dr. Feldman's findings. (Warning to the superstitious: there are 13 questions. If you get 10 or more right, consider yourself... lucky.)

QUESTIONS

1. Some people are sure that luck is capable of securing a good job, a nice home and family.
2. Many actually believe in the existence of lucky streaks.
3. Belief in lucky and unlucky days causes people to alter their behavior.
4. If you really wait for a "lucky break," your chances of success are decreased.
5. If you complain of bad luck you are haunted by worse misfortunes than those who don't.
6. If you feel you're unlucky, you're not likely to want to talk about it.
7. If you feel you're lucky, you're likely not to talk about it for fear of spoiling it.
8. You can't "create" your own bad luck.
9. A chronic complainer about bad luck, you're also sensitive to the bad luck of others.
10. If you've been complaining of bad luck but have a stroke of good luck, you are able to admit you're not a "hard luck person" after all.
11. If you believe in good luck, you're more realistic than those who believe in bad luck.
12. If you talk freely about your luck, you may not really be superstitious.
13. If you worry about your luck, you may have serious inner conflicts.

ANSWERS

1. TRUE. Even in this scientific age, some people feel that everything in their lives is caused by luck.
2. TRUE. But if they claim they can "prove it," they're likely to mention as proof only those situations that support their theory—ignoring those that do not.
3. TRUE. But there is no scientific basis to the widespread notion that good and bad luck days exist.
4. TRUE. The individual who depends on luck for success, rather than his own effort, generally fails.
5. FALSE. The complainer doesn't suffer greater misfortunes than anyone else. He just refuses to face the fact that life is not a bowl of cherries, that everyone meets frustration occasionally.
6. FALSE. "Unlucky" people talk a lot about their misfortunes. Some even boast about their bad luck.
7. TRUE. Some people fear that talking about their good luck arouses envy and hostile thoughts that actually bring bad luck. Believing that others enjoy hearing about bad luck, people are likely to discuss their troubles, not their triumphs.
8. FALSE. Some people expect life to go well without lifting a finger. They fail to take ordinary precautions against accident or failure, thus frequently "create" their own bad luck.
9. FALSE. You are probably too absorbed in yourself to care about other people's troubles.
10. FALSE. Instead of rejoicing, you feel that your sudden good fortune is merely a trick.
11. FALSE. Both types are equally unrealistic.
12. TRUE. People who are not superstitious often use luck as an excuse for success or failure.
13. TRUE. If you are preoccupied with your luck, you are likely to be unable to cope with life as it is.

What is luck? "A person's own appraisal of reality," according to Dr. Feldman. His research has revealed the following:

Most people say they are not superstitious, but many believe that "bad luck" dogs their steps. Typical is the "everything-happens-to-me" fellow. Whenever he wears a new suit, he spills something on it; whenever he drives a new car, he scrapes a fender.

The truth is that the mishaps he gripes about do happen to him—but happen infrequently. And he ignores the fact that they also happen to others.

Most of us take mishaps in stride, but Mr. Unlucky sees sinister forces at work when he breaks a shoelace, stubs a toe, misses a train. What's wrong with him? Basically he's a Peter Pan who won't grow up. He wants everything to come easily.

His opposite, Mr. Lucky, is equally immature. He, too, attributes his fate to Lady Luck rather than to his own actions and efforts. Because he is sold on luck, he may never know the real value of his abilities.

Most of us, of course, don't take luck too seriously. We may knock on wood now and then, but we don't hesitate to make major decisions on Friday the 13th. Most of us are much too sensible to believe deeply in luck.

Or are we?

What Are the 5 Requirements of an Ideal Laxative for People 45 and Older?

A frequent complaint of people in their middle years is constipation. The cause is commonly insufficient bulk in the diet and a general slowing of bodily functions. Based on these facts, a medical study concludes that an ideal laxative for people 45 and older must meet five essential requirements: 1. Sufficient Bulk—2. Soft, Moist Bulk—3. Gentle Action—4. No Harsh Ingredients—5. No Digestive Interference. Doctor-recommended Saraka Granules effectively meet all of these requirements. Saraka's natural, all-vegetable ingredients supply the soft, bland bulk and mild stimulating action to promote normal elimination. And without irritation, griping, or interference with other bodily functions. For a generous trial supply, send 10¢ to Saraka, Dept. P-2, Kenilworth, New Jersey.

Bringing Up Baby®
Hints Collected by
Mrs. Dan Gerber,
Mother of 5

wanderlust, anyone?

Of course! Babies, like everyone else, want to see the world. What better reason for trying to creep? And those first attempts at creeping are adorably awkward, wonderful to behold. Some try it forward, others backward. Still others fancy crabwise creeping. No matter what style your baby selects, the important thing is that he's learning the 3 big C's: Confidence, Co-ordination, Control. Happy new horizons!

Girl or boy creepers, sit-abouts or gadabouts, every darling one of them needs protein . . . to help develop strong muscles. Tasty way to give baby extra protein: Gerber High Meat Dinners. These baby-style "casseroles" have 3 times as much meat (and therefore much more protein) as regular combination baby dinners. And all this savory meat is subtly blended with garden-good vegetables for bright flavor . . . hearty nourishment. 5 varieties, strained or junior.

Roaming routine. When baby becomes a "four-walker" you'll really have to keep an eye on your traveler. Good idea to schedule his roaming times when you have some watching time. Say, when you're taking a "breather" or doing some sit-down chores. When you return baby to his play pen, a favorite toy, a snack of Gerber Fruit Juice or a Teething Biscuit will help overcome possible resentment at the confinement.

Lip-smacking sipping with nutritional leanings. Gerber Strained Fruit Juices leave nothing to be desired in the way of flavor delight . . . and they're high in vitamin C. Has baby tried the new Orange-Apricot or Apple-Cherry Juices yet?

Reminder division. Rooms where baby has crawl privileges should be checked constantly for safety. Household hazards which may not occur to you: floor-drooping plants, dangling appliance cords, rocking chairs, dropped pins or buttons.

A word from Dan Gerber. "Our agricultural experts work on a year-in, year-out basis to improve the quality of your baby's food. Take Gerber Green Beans, for example. Over a period of years, our Agricultural Research Department experimented with several green bean varieties to develop a superior strain. As a result of these efforts, the beans we use are tender, succulent and extra-flavorful . . . have less fiber, more flesh . . . and most important, they have a deeper color which indicates a higher nutritive value."

Important: Gerber prepares over 100 baby foods — cereals, strained and junior — to meet your baby's nutritional needs. We're proud to say: "Babies are our business . . . our only business!"

Happy ideas for babyhood

SUGGESTIONS FROM
MRS. DAN GEMBER

Something special for your pride 'n' joy—protection personified in the shape of Gerber Snap-On Cover-All Bibs. Generously cut, they cover baby from shoulder to lap... give waterproof protection from spills and splashes. Deep, dribble-catching pocket across bottom of bibs is another clothes-saving feature. Adjustable neck openings and under-arm snaps for easy on-and-offing.

Gerber Cover-All Bibs are made of soft, white polyvinyl film that's easily wipeable and machine-washable. Decorated with a frisky kitten and bright-eyed bunnies, printed with pink, blue or yellow non-toxic ink. Available at your favorite food store or supermarket.

Happy hints to help perfect hand-to-mouth co-ordination: Gerber Cookies for toddlers and Gerber Teething Biscuits. The Cookies have an old-fashioned flavor that's cinnamon-y good right down to the last crunchy munch. Nutritious, too! They have twice as much protein as most other cookies, plus important B-vitamins in the icing. Gerber Teething Biscuits are extra-hard and waffle-surfaced to provide the biting satisfaction baby wants and needs. Scalloped edges make them easy for little hands to hold.

Cereal magic with a fruitful viewpoint: Gerber Strained Oatmeal or Mixed Cereal with Applesauce and Bananas. Each cereal is cooked with fruit and ready to serve. The flavors are delightfully subtle... the texture marvelously moist and smooth. In the nutrition department, both are enriched with iron and important B-vitamins. Why not try a jar soon and watch your baby's appetite rise to the occasion?

I looked and looked for a long time before I found the girl I thought was right for me. So I took her home to meet my mother and said: "Mom, this girl is great. She loves to cook, she loves to sew, she takes care of the house, she does everything."

"Wonderful," said my mother enthusiastically. "I'll use her on Tuesdays and Thursdays."

A new bourbon-flavored tooth paste was invented, and a group of people have been testing it for the past six months. And do you know what the findings were? After six months of using the bourbon-flavored tooth paste, they reported that they had 40% more cavities and couldn't care less!

A fellow walked into a psychiatrist's office, took out a cigarette, tore off the paper and began pushing the tobacco up his nose. The doctor took one look at the man and said, with concern: "Oh, I see you need my help."

"Yeah," replied his patient. "You got a match?"

The scientists say that we are living in a wonderful world. They say that today with atomic energy you can take one lump of coal and heat up a whole building for an entire year. Well, this is nothing new! I had a landlord in Brooklyn who did just exactly that for 15 years.

MY FAVORITE JOKES

by GENE BRENNER

Editor's Note: Gene Brenner, Brooklyn born and bred, is a young artist turned comedian. Like many artists, Gene could never make a living from his paintings, so he took odd jobs around the country. One of these was as social director at a Catskill Mountain resort. Another was as a comic in a burlesque house. Gene then graduated to the night club circuit, appeared at the Playboy in Chicago, the Town Casino in Buffalo, the Ball-Hai in Dallas and many others. A bachelor, Brenner lives in New York City, where he still spends his spare time painting.

The Internal Revenue Bureau has a system for getting my money which is called "Estimated Income for Next Year." And they expect me, in a business which fluctuates as much as mine does, to estimate what I'll make next year! Well, I filled it out for them. I wrote down $15,000. But I didn't sign it. I figure if I have to guess what I'm going to make, let them guess who sent it in!

I don't know why I have to have such bad luck. In my business, I'm supposed to be well dressed. But because my wife is such a nut, I have to travel around the country with just one suit! She had been bugging me for two years to take her on a boat trip, so we finally went on a cruise. And you know the two portholes in the stateroom? She thought they were the washer and drier!

And speaking of my luck, I once had a strange dream in which I kept seeing the number five. I got up and looked at my watch—it was five o'clock. I ran downstairs and a bus was coming—number five bus. I got on the bus—on it were five people. The bus was going to the race track so I went along and sat through four races. On the fifth one, I made my move. I went up to window number five and put $500 on number five. He came in fifth!

ANECDOTE OF THE WEEK

Peter O'Toole, who stars in Lawrence of Arabia, was in Hollywood recently to promote his picture. Invited to a producer's home for dinner, he was asked by the hostess which part of the turkey he preferred.

"If it's okay with you," he said, "I'm partial to the breast."

The hostess smiled diplomatically. "I don't know how they describe that part of the turkey in Yorkshire," she said, "where I understand you come from, Mr. O'Toole. But here in America we call it 'white meat.'"

The following day O'Toole stopped at a florist shop in Beverly Hills, bought an expensive corsage for the producer's wife, enclosed a card which said, "Thank you so much for last night. Please do me a favor and pin the enclosed on your white meat." ■

Independent Press-Telegram

It costs a whale of a lot to be laid up by an accident—any kind of accident. When the family bread-winner is hurt and can't work, his income is usually reduced or stopped entirely. Result? The family savings are drained so much that it may take years to recover from the high accident costs.

Bills for medical treatments, X-rays, hospital rooms, wheel chairs and a dozen other unexpected expenses, take a big chunk out of anyone's hard-earned savings.

This insurance is designed to help you solve the Accident Expense Problem. You may find it hard to believe, BUT this policy—at a cost of little more than a penny a day does pay the benefits shown below, for accidents at work, at home, in your automobile, on the street, and even at play.

Hundreds of claims are paid every week to men and women, like yourself, who never expected to be hurt. But they realized that, since one American in every 12 gets hurt each year, they just couldn't afford to be without this low-cost protection.

Animals Howl Under Eclipse

By The Associated Press
The day turned into eerie twilight, then black night and back to day again. On the moon-darkened coast of Alaska, fishermen heard a pack of animals, possibly wolves, howl in the woods, and stars twinkled north of Anchorage at 9:40 a.m.

In Japan, a pink dawn turned to a sudden black sunrise, and the day started 29 seconds late.
The spooky spectacle of a total eclipse of the sun—blotted out in some areas

by clouds—moved in an arc 10,000 miles long and 60 miles wide from northern Hokkaido, Japan, across Alaska and the top of Canada to Maine in two and three-quarters hours.
It was Sunday in Japan

and Saturday in North America.
In the band of totality the eclipse showed a black moon inside a pearly ring. To the south the partial eclipse hung like a nibbled cookie over Los Angeles and a clipped toenail over New York.

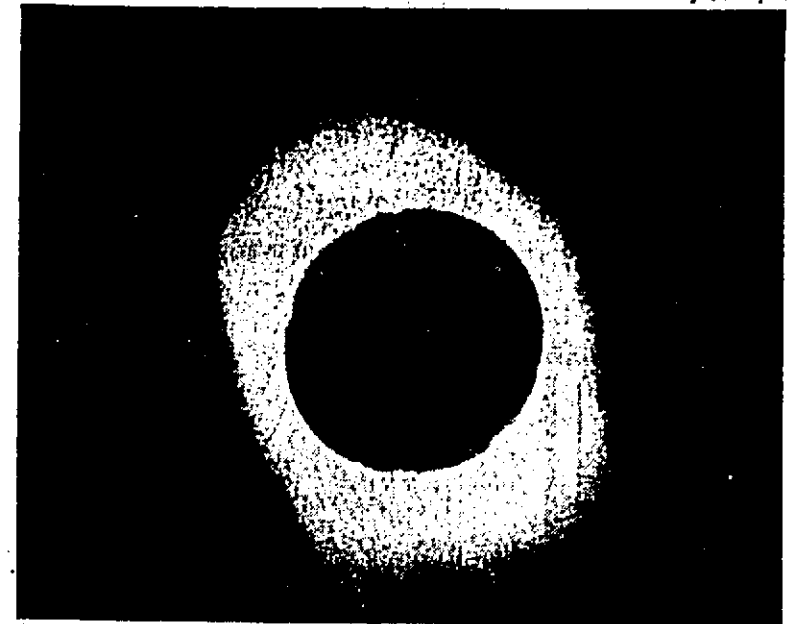

To the south, Americans and Canadians saw it to lesser degrees.
The last total eclipse for Americans in the northeast was on April 28, 1930. The next one for Americans will be on March 7, 1970, moving in totality across Florida, Georgia and the coastal areas of the Carolinas.

just plain curious laymen watched the eclipse from land, sea and air.
U.S. Astronaut M. Scott Carpenter and a group of scientists whisked along the path of the eclipse in a jetliner to attain data on the freaky light emanating from behind a black blob of a moon. They hoped to find clues for man's future ventures into space.
For science, this was perhaps the most elaborately covered eclipse in history. With equipment of the modern age, scientists photographed it, timed it, measured it and simply looked at the beauty of it. Their results won't be known for weeks, perhaps months.

In Anchorage, the morning sun turned to a bright moonlight that cast eerie shadows as the eclipse first moved across the North American continent. Streetlights were turned on.
Most people in Anchorage heeded the warning that the rays of the eclipsed sun could damage their eyes. They peered at the eclipse with a device of pinholed cardboard.

TOTAL ECLIPSE is shown in aerial photo made from plane at 35,000 feet over Bar Harbor, Me. Maine and Alaska were the only states to see the full eclipse Saturday.

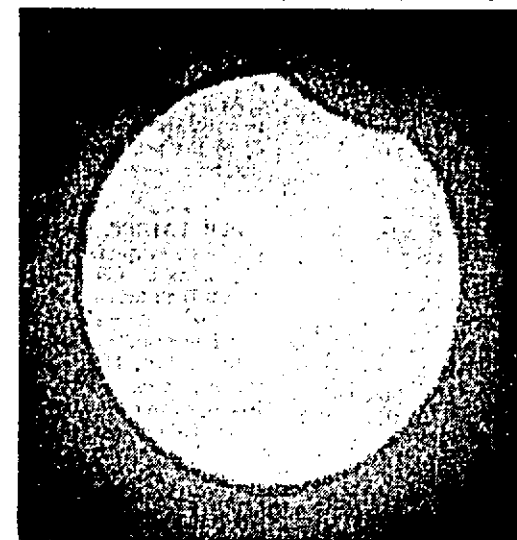

SCIENTISTS by the hundreds saw it from the air and ground and said they may have learned something new from an event as old as the universe.

At Fort Churchill, Man., U.S. Air Force men working for science on the rim of the Arctic Circle fired a barrage of rockets at the eclipse in the first space-age study of the spectacle.

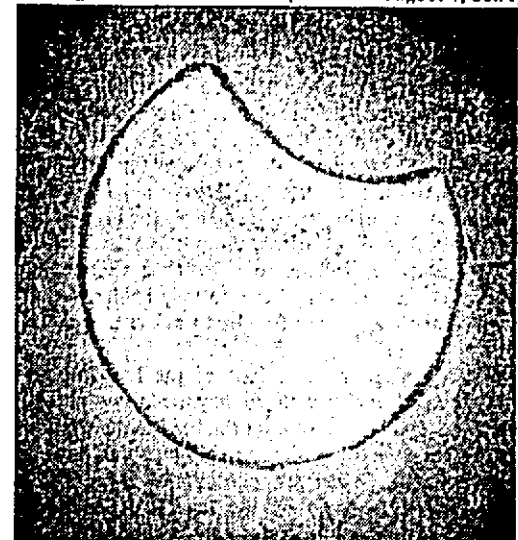

The rockets carried instruments to measure changes in the ionosphere, the electrified layer high in the earth's atmosphere, and for special observations of the sun's spectrum.

A single fact-finding rocket was fired from Wallops Island, Va.

Americans experienced the eclipse in totality in Alaska and Maine. Canadians saw it as it cut down from Snag in the Yukon to the northwestern Maine border.

Nuclear-Ban Pact Near Initialing

WASHINGTON (AP)—Administration sources said Saturday U.S. negotiator W. Averell Harriman may initial a nuclear test-ban agreement in Moscow early this week.

This indicated that the East-West negotiators have essentially agreed in principle on a ban against atomic testing in the atmosphere, in space and under water, and that no obstacles expected to block such an agreement have been encountered in the first week of thrashing out details.

In Moscow, Premier Khrushchev said Saturday night a nuclear test-ban agreement is in sight if Big Three negotiations continue their present course.

"The talks have been going on well. There have been no obstacles. If they go on as they have, an agreement is in sight," the premier told diplomats at a Kremlin reception. With a wave of a hand, he summoned Harriman to hear the comment.

CONCLUSION of such an agreement by Harriman at Moscow is expected to present the Kennedy administration with a need for followup action at home and abroad.

Domestically, President Kennedy has promised that in accord with the Senate's constitutional right to pass on treaties any test-ban agreement will be presented to that body for its advice and consent.

On the foreign front, he has promised to consult the Western Allies on any matters affecting them which have arisen at the Moscow talks and has said wider discussions among other nations should follow a test-ban accord. The Soviets have raised a number of proposals for European security and relaxing cold-war tensions which U.S. diplomats want to talk over with the Allies before deciding how to respond.

When Khrushchev opened the talks last Monday he apparently outlined things he wanted to come from the conference. His proposals

SLANG EDITOR DEFENDS LEXICON

(Editor's Note: A controversy over the American Dictionary of Slang has raged in California for two months. Some communities and schools have banned it. To find out how the dictionary was compiled and why it includes blunt terms, this newspaper contacted its final editor. This article gives his answers.)

By STERLING BENNIS
(Copyright 1963 The Independent Press-Telegram)

As the final editor of the Dictionary of American Slang, Stuart Flexner thinks he is "truly more conservative than the so-called 'conservative groups' said to be attacking the book."

Offered by this newspaper a chance to answer his California critics, Flexner continues the comparison:

"I seem to believe more faithfully in conserving our Constitution and its free speech amendment, I seem to want to conserve our individual and social sanity because I know that we cannot change reality by censoring it.

"I believe that educators should educate rather than shirk responsibility through censorship. I believe that such things as defecation, reproduction, thinking and speaking are very old, and should continue.

"I do not believe there is anything obscene about our dictionary, or reference books, or free speech, or thinking, or learning."

Many who have assailed the book as obscene have done so on the basis of 250 definitions of blunt slang terms in five pages of excerpts circulated by foes of the dictionary.

Circulation of the excerpts has been attacked by Dr. Max Rafferty, state superintendent of public instruction, who was among the first to brand the volume unfit for young minds. Dr. Rafferty now takes the stand that the dictionary should be available as a reference work for serious scholars at the college level.

The book contains an estimated 20,000 definitions of all types. It was compiled and edited by Flexner, who holds a master of arts degree, from a mass of more than 100,000 quotations and citations. They were assembled over a decade by Harold Wentworth, Ph. D.

Flexner first became interested in the sweep and range of the American language as a 17-year-old college junior. He devoted six years of library research to the project.

"The final six years and the final book was my responsibility," Flexner writes in a report prepared for The Independent Press-Telegram, "and I saw fit to include taboo and derogatory words. The publisher (Thomas Y. Crowell, established 1834) and I were in complete agreement.

TOP AIDES' PAY RAISED

$33,308,027 City Budget Gets OK From Councilmen

By GEORGE WEEKS

After granting salary increases to three top officials, Long Beach City Council Saturday approved the city's annual budget allotting $33,308,027 to tax-supported activities.

The final budget figure was $713,712 above the preliminary total recommended by City Manager John R. Mansell on June 11. But $332,253 of the increase was a special transportation levy which the manager indicated at the time would probably be necessary.

EXCEPT for the 5-cent special rate for the voter-approved transit fund, the new tax rate will be within three-tenths of one cent of last year's $1.373 per $100 assessed valuation, Mansell estimated.

The precise rate will be set next month after final valuation figures are fixed, including the State Board of Equalization's assessment of public utilities.

Councilmen unanimously increased the city manager's salary from $26,000 to $27,500 annually, the city attorney's from $23,400 to $24,600 and the city auditor's from $15,600 to $17,600.

City Auditor Murray T. Courson got the largest raise to bring his salary into traditional parity with the city prosecutor's, boosted at an earlier session.

IN ONE last pay action, the council also raised the scale for messengers and elevator operators from $397 to $408 monthly to bring them into parity with custodians.

Earlier votes had granted salary boosts approximating $1 million annually to virtually all the 4,000 city employees. They will become effective Sept. 1. The average increase was 3.3 per cent. In most respects the council accepted Mansell's pay recommendations.

Not included in the $33,308,027 budget figure is an item of $385,000 listed as a special reserve fund. This is revenue the city would get if possessory interest taxes on oil deposits were assessed against production contractors on the basis of 100 percent of the value of the oil in place.

ALTHOUGH the county assessor's office has adopted a valuation policy to that effect, the Legislature has passed a bill outlawing it. City officials don't expect to get the added money.

Copter Crash Victims Named

TOKYO (AP)—U.S. Navy authorities Saturday identified three men killed in the crash of a helicopter Thursday night near the U.S. Naval Air Station at Atsugi.

The Navy said they were: 1st Lt. Charles F. Munson, of Canandaigua, N.Y.; S. Sgt. John R. Scoblic, of Alton, Iowa; and Sgt. Robert J. Bartrow, Alhambra, Calif.

Woman Shoots Husband

A mother of four who shot her husband seven times after what police said may have been a 24-hour running argument, was booked for attempted murder Saturday night.

Mrs. Marlene Cowan, 30, of 2207 Lime Ave., began firing at Sharron Cowan, 35, as he walked out the back door of the house, according to Detective Charles H. Parks.

The man was taken to Memorial Hospital in critical condition with wounds to hip, thigh, hand and arm, but doctors expected him to live.

Twelve-year-old Bobby Creeden, the woman's son, was playing at the front of the house and saw the last of the fusillade as his stepfather staggered to the front yard and collapsed.

Neighbors reported that the couple apparently had been arguing almost steadily ever since Friday night, said Det. Sgt. R. A. Tally.

3RD IN TORRANCE

Ex-Officer Sought in Theft Gives Up

Ralph E. Walker, former Torrance police sergeant, wanted in connection with a Torrance burglary, surrendered to Torrance police Saturday.

His arrest was ordered Friday, but police were unable to find him.

He told them Saturday that he had spent the night in Crestline and was returning home when he read of the order for his arrest in a newspaper. He went straight home, called his attorney and surrendered.

HE WAS RELEASED on $1,050 bail. His arraignment is set for next Friday.

His arrest arose out of the burglary Wednesday at a medical building at 22509 Kent Ave. Two officers opened fire on a man who fled from the building. Shortly thereafter, they were joined by Walker, who said he had heard the shots and would help them.

Questioning and investigation led police to believe that Walker was the man who fled.

WALKER WAS SUSPENDED, and later resigned. He was a veteran of 12 years on the force, with an excellent record.

His arrest was the second blow to the Torrance department in two weeks. On July 6 two young officers were arrested by Los Angeles police and charged with taking a moneybag from two women.

Brazilian Coed Is New Miss Universe

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (UPI)—Ieda Maria Vargas, a dark-haired, 18-year-old beauty from Brazil with a cheering section all her own, as named Miss Universe of 1963 Saturday night.

The brown-eyed college coed from Porto Alegre was the first winner from her country and one of three Latin American beauties among the 15 semifinalists in the week-long pageant to pick "the prettiest girl in the world."

"It is such an emotion I couldn't think of anything at all," Ieda Maria said through an interpreter. She speaks only Portuguese.

She was crowned by outgoing Queen Norma Nolan of Argentina before about 5,000 cheering onlookers in the Miami Beach convention hall.

Clash Halted by Gas

CAMBRIDGE, Md. (UPI)—The National Guard had to resort to tear gas Saturday night to break up an imminent clash with a group of Negroes who had begun shoving the troops assigned to block a threatened demonstration.

When order was restored, Negro leaders announced that they were calling off a demonstration planned for Saturday night. However, they said that they would stage another demonstration this afternoon.

Later, a small group of whites tried to force their way through a National Guard barricade before the Negro section, but they were turned back. No arrests were made.

ONLY ONE tear-gas shell was thrown and there were no injuries. But the episode marked the first time in this eastern shore fishing town that the guard had to use anything but persuasion to deal with the Negro population.

Gen. George C. Gelston, commander of the guardsmen, said the Negroes involved in the incident were "just a couple of drunks."

But Mrs. Gloria Richardson, an integration leader, accused Gelston of causing the plot by reading off tonight's demonstration.

She was one of seven Negro leaders who were meeting with Gelston in a shoe-shine shop a few yards away, when the flareup occurred.

L.A.C. Says: Power Forced Upon Them

In the book, "Dear and Glorious Physician," Tibertous Caesar is quoted as saying to Luke: "Power mad Caesars never seize power—it is forced upon them by a decadent evil and greedy people. Where are the liberties of the people then? They deserve the kind of lawmakers they have."

He was referring to the period almost 2000 years ago when Romans were ruled by ruthless dictators who provided spectacles in the arenas and a minimum incentive for people to work. Like many other periods in our history, it was the people's demands for free entertainment and their loss of morality that ended in destruction of a civilization.

In today's world we do not have the decadent orgies to entertain the people. But we are following a trend that is forcing ever-greater power in government. Our people are demanding more and more benefits—and are willing to turn over to popular leaders the freedoms they have so long enjoyed—and for which their ancestors fought to achieve.

When we realize that half of the Los Angeles County budget is for welfare payments, we should understand that we are well on the road to the welfare state that must end in a dictatorship by an all powerful government. When we continually spend more money than is taken in by the federal government, we should realize only disaster can be the result.

And yet, we find all levels of government granting more and more benefits to the people—most of which the people had always provided for themselves. We find large segments of our population willing to sacrifice freedom of enterprise in exchange for government handouts. This applies to people who want handouts for so-called urban renewal—farm subsidies and general relief.

We find the people enjoying immoral books, motion pictures and accepting the antics of actors and actresses which would have been banned by the producers 50 years ago. We permit our children to attend shows where such stories and characters are tremendous box office attractions. There is a moral let down—not greatly different than that which preceded the downfall of past civilizations.

Large organizations advocate the abolition of the loyalty oath. The restriction—or banning—of such filth as the "Dictionary of American Slang" is opposed by many of our college professors. We pay out vast sums of money for care of illegitimate children and increase the payments for each additional illegitimate child—and say it is better for a child to be brought up in such a home than for the children to be placed in a decent foster home.

In each of these activities the people are forcing greater power by government. Many of the government leaders gladly accept the power because the people vote for them if they promise more and more benefits. As the power grows, the people's liberties are given away to the edicts of the all powerful government. When a leader like Hitler or Mussolini appears on the scene, all power is given them. But, in every case in history, this has ended in disaster. Hitler and Mussolini lasted a relatively short time. But they gained power only because the people had failed to protect the freedoms they thought they wanted. It is a trend that should disturb us in this country because we are steadily giving up the liberties we have long cherished.—LAC

"We decided such words had to be included for completeness and to give a true picture of slang. We tried to note such entries by the comment 'taboo' or 'derog.' Thus in innocent reader meeting such words for the first time is fully warned that they are not generally accepted in polite society.

"To have left out these words would have been a disservice to scholars and students of the language—and an insult to the credulity of any intelligent, serious users of the book. To leave out such words, among the most frequently used, would have been a mockery of scholarship."

The editor sees no reason why the dictionary as a reference book should be restricted to the college level.

"TO BAN a reference book," he writes, "is to ingrain upon the student a disregard for objective scholarship, for education, and certainly for constitutional democracy and free speech.

"If a few children get a 'thrill' from seeing a taboo word, I feel sorry for those children, their parents and their teachers. But I certainly would not deny reference books to healthy children so that sick children will not see them."

Fleener doubts that youthful minds are corrupted by books.

"Words are not deeds," he says. "Deeds may be obscene, immoral, illegal, but individual words could be. If individual words could be immoral or illegal, then 'murder,' 'robbery,' 'rape,' and many others would not be in our books and newspapers.

"IT IS said that primitive groups confuse the word and the deed: to say 'die' to a primitive person is to put a hex on him and that he may lie down and die. I do not believe there are any primitive tribes in California. (Any child who is old enough to read is not a primitive.)"

A child who writes a "dirty word" on a wall does not do so while copying it out of a book, the language authority contends.

"Such a youth has a problem beyond merely seeing a word in a book. To ban the book, the word, the wall, or the chalk, to cut off the child's hand or his mind—none of these will solve the problem the child has.

"ANY EDUCATOR who uses censorship rather than education to 'improve' a child's mind or morals is evading his duty.

"A healthy mind, no matter how young, does not abandon virtue for a word. A sick mind, no matter how mature, will never be cured by censorship."

The editor indicates amazement over the recent outcry, since in three years after its publication hundreds of magazines and newspapers reviewed the dictionary without calling it obscene.

THE LIST includes Time Magazine, the New York Times and the Christian Science Monitor. The dictionary was reviewed at length on Voice of America.

Fleener sums up: "Anyone has a right to refrain from buying the book or from looking at a copy. Any parent has a right to tell his OWN children not to read certain books.

"However, I don't think anyone has the right to tell ALL children that, to try to be a father to everyone."

tion hall, and a nationwide television audience.

THE RUNNERSUP were, in order, Miss Denmark, blonde Alno Korwa of Copenhagen; Miss Ireland, Marlene McKeown of Belfast; Miss Philippines, Laine Bennett of Quezon City, and Miss Korea, Kim Myung Ja of Seoul.

Ieda Maria's choice nearly brought down one side of the auditorium, where 50 young Brazilian exchange students at the University of Miami had been cheering and stomping their feet each time she appeared before the five judges.

As she paraded down the runway, her parents crowded to the police lines and she bent over and kissed them.

HER FATHER, 38-year-old Jose, a professor of economics at Rio Grande do Sul High School, said it was an "incredibly emotional moment."

Her mother, Alda, also a teacher, screamed "Ieda, Ieda—you've done it!" Her father said "We always thought she was the greatest." Ieda Maria, the eldest of a family of six children, has three brothers and two sisters.

Asked if she had a boyfriend, Ieda Maria shook her head vigorously in the negative.

"I SEND a big embrace to all the Brazilian people," she said. She said she would like to go home as soon as possible.

Ieda Maria, who is attending a teachers' college in Brazil, won, besides her glittering crown, $7,500 in cash plus a $10,000 personal appearance contract.

IEDA VARGAS... Cheered

She will also take home thousands of dollars worth of other prizes.

THE GIRLS went on with the finals after a sit-down strike during afternoon rehearsals touched off when officials said the girls would not be named when presented during the 90-minute telecast, except for the 15 semifinalists. But the girls won their point and each of the 92 entries was named.

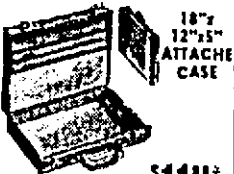

The girls paraded in glittering and flowing evening gowns, in colorful native costumes and then in skintight bathing suits.

A special "Miss Amity" which the girls voted on themselves went to Miss Scotland, Grace Taylor.

Susan Pratt, the Miss England who fractured her leg in an automobile mishap just after arriving here last week, was brought onto the stage in wheelchair.

Haiti Rebels, Troops Battle

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (UP)—Travelers arriving from Haiti Saturday night reported heavy fighting between insurgent and government troops in the foothills around the Haitian capital, Port au Prince.

There were indications casualties were heavy in the fighting, stepped up since government troops killed antigovernment leader Clement Barget and his brother Harry July 14. Most fighting was said to have occurred at night.

A Haitian woman said a rebel band attacked the military academy Thursday and killed two soldiers.

MOVIE BEAUTY QUEEN

Looks Like a Contestant, but This Doll's IBC Judge

By BOB SANDERS

When the International Beauty Congress opens its 1963 spectacular pageant next month all the beauty won't, by any means, be on the stage.

A good hundred and eighteen pounds of it will be in the judges' box watching the girls.

This will be in the form of Arlene Dahl, who is topping a stellar career as an actress and Hollywood glamour queen, with new career as a beauty expert and beauty book author.

The lovely redhead, by popular acclaim one of the most beautiful women in the world, is the latest of seven judges to be signed by Executive Producer Wayne Dailard to judge the contest.

THE BOSONY beauty, with a head for revealing figures and a figure for revolving heads, has written a newspaper column on beauty entitled, "Let's Be Beautiful" and a book called, appropriately, "Always Ask a Man," due to be published this fall.

A native of Minneapolis, she began her acting career at the age of eight, got a minor part in a Broadway musical and springboarded in the usual fashion to fame in Hollywood with her first movie, "The Bride Goes Wild" with Van Johnson.

She was married to the movie Tarzan, Lex Barker and the Argentina lover, Fernando Lamas, before marrying the Texas oil millionaire, Chris Holmes, in October, 1961.

SHE LIVES in Pacific Palisades with Holmes and her two children, Lorenzo Lamas, 5, and Carol Christine Holmes, 2.

Her addition to the judges' panel, along with Mrs. Aiko Yamakano, Japan's leading beauty shop

ARLENE DAHL
Actress Turned Author

operator, adds the femininetouch and evaluation to the judging.

"Women tend to be more critical when they look at other women," the shapely Miss Dahl says. "While the men will undoubtedly examine closely the technical aspects of the girls' beauty, I will be looking for the subtle nuances.

THE MOST important thing is, of course, femininity. A girl may be extremely beautiful of face and figure but if she doesn't have the feminine grace and the inner beauty of the true woman, she cannot be judged a world beauty."

Although she has acted as a beauty judge several times in the past, once in Long Beach and several times on the East Coast, she says she is eagerly looking forward to her job here next month.

"Although it may sound strange I have never been in a beauty contest," she says. "I find I really admire the guts of these girls who walk out on the stage with their hopes pinned to their heart strings and compete. We should all be very proud of them."

IBC NAMES PANEL OF 7 JUDGES

The executive producer of the International Beauty pageant announced this week the names of the seven judges who will choose the 1963 International Beauty next month.

They are: Vincent Trotta, former Academy Award-winning movie art director and dean of the IBC judges, who has served on the panel for 12 years.

Alberto Vargas, internationally known artist and creator of the Vargas girl in addition to the IBC girl.

Mrs. Aiko Yamano, Japan's leading beauty authority who owns and operates a chain of beauty shops over the world.

Gordon Rau, make-up director for Warner Brothers studios and president of the Society of Make-Up Artists.

Irvin P. Mazzei, one of the founders of the American Guild of Variety Artists who is now western regional director of the guild.

Charles De Maire, internationally known creator of high fashion clothing and former director of wardrobe and executive designer for 20th Century Fox.

Arlene Dahl, movie actress, beauty columnist, author and Hollywood glamour queen.

Attacker Seizes Family

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A gunman held a father and his two daughters captive in their home overnight, raped the girls, then fatally shot himself Saturday as police closed in.

They identified the gunman as Howard D. Ayrest, 22, a plumber, of Santa Susanna. He died at Northridge Receiving Hospital.

DETECTIVE Sgt. C. E. Anderson gave this account:

About 3:30 p.m. Friday Ayrest knocked at the door of Ralph Kesler's secluded home in an orange grove in the Granada Hills section of the San Fernando Valley.

He asked to use the telephone, was admitted, then drew a 22-caliber automatic pistol.

With rope he tied up Kesler, 53, and his daughters Kathryn, 22, and Sheryl, 18. Kesler's wife is visiting relatives in Texas.

DURING the night, the invader released the two girls and raped them. Their father remained tied in another room.

Early Saturday Kathryn told the man she was a diabetic and had to keep a life-or-death appointment with a doctor in Reseda. Ayrest warned that if she didn't return he would harm her father and sister.

The girl went to the doctor's office and called West Valley police but told them she was returning to the house.

OFFICERS waited until she was inside. Then 30 to 40 policemen with rifles, shotguns, bulletproof vests and walkie-talkies surrounded the home.

Shortly before noon, Sgt. Anderson telephoned from a neighbor's house. Kesler answered. Anderson said the place was surrounded.

Ayrest went into the bathroom and shot himself. Police moved inside and found him on the floor.

CATALINA TO REPEL INVADERS

By EDWARD F. O'CONNOR JR.
United Press International

Demands by ultra-nationalists in Mexico that America return Catalina and other offshore islands drew a mixed reaction Saturday from residents and officials.

Some took the demands as a big joke, others discoursed freely and fluently on the alleged legal impossibility of such an action, despite this week's session of the Chamizal — a multimillion-dollar strip of land in El Paso, Tex. — to Mexico.

THERE'S supposed to be a big rhubarb on this," said Mrs. Isabel Buell, wife of the island's resident Los Angeles County Sheriff's Deputy. "I think we'd probably fight for Catalina. I don't think Mexico could get her."

Jim Townsend, assistant to the president of Santa Catalina Island Co. which owns the island, said the possibility of its return to Mexico:

"That's ridiculous. I think it's something President Kennedy could answer."

Townsend, however, said "it isn't totally funny at all even though in a way it is. After all, it is a problem for our government isn't it?"

TOWNSEND last night telephoned Philip K. Wrigley, the company's president and principal stockholder, in the east.

Wilmington Firemen Save Plant

A fire of major proportions in the Texaco refinery was averted Saturday afternoon by the quick action of the Wilmington Fire Department.

The fire broke out in a 10-story cracking plant just south of Pacific Coast Highway, Battalion Chief Jack Douglas said. Three engine companies, a truck company, a squad company and a boat tender were rushed to the scene. (A boat tender is equipment that generally works with fireboats.)

The blaze was quickly extinguished. Firemen stayed at the scene several hours because of smoldering insulation.

Wrigley's other interests include the Chicago Cubs baseball team; Wrigley Field in Chicago, where the team plays, and Wrigley Chewing Gum.

"Our viewpoint is this," Townsend said after the call. "Regardless of the validity of Mexico's claim, it doesn't change the ownership of Santa Catalina Island. All it would do (if the island were returned to Mexico) would be to change the jurisdiction it comes under."

"We naturally would prefer it to remain under the American flag, otherwise if you went to Catalina you'd have to get a passport and go through customs."

HE SAID Wrigley did not plan to contact Washington about the matter.

Wrigley's father purchased the island from a wealthy pioneer California family—the Bannings—about 1919 and is an infrequent visitor. The island has about 1,500 permanent residents, but the number swells to several thousand during the summer months.

Regardless of who's right or wrong, the attitude of many islanders and vacationers probably is summed up by an island official, Avalon's city manager, Felix Karpian: "We stand ready to repel any invasion that might be forthcoming and will fight to the last man."

Bay City 'Bombing' Quiz Set

An inquiry has been ordered into the accidental bombing run on Market Street in San Francisco by a U.S. Navy jet fighter, the commanding officer of the naval air station at Los Alamitos reported Saturday.

Capt. William P. Tanner Jr., said the chief of Naval Air Reserve training, Glenview, Ill., "has convened a formal board of investigation which will commence an immediate inquiry into causes for the incident."

THE TWO-FOOT-LONG practice bomb, which contained a small charge designed to give off a cloud of smoke on impact, landed in the middle of the street at high noon Friday.

Nobody was injured, but the bomb gouged a hole in the asphalt a foot wide and four inches deep before ricocheting in a 300-foot arc over several buildings and fell on a truck and baffled three men eating their lunches in the vehicle.

The bomb did not explode despite the bounce.

Several hours after the bomb fell, red-faced military officials identified the pilot of the A4A Skyhawk as Lt. R. A. Kiner, 32, 1026 Acacia St., Anaheim.

KINER, unaware that he had lost one of his six practice bombs, returned to Crow's Landing in Central California from what he thought was a routine practice mission. The loss was discovered later, after he had left the field.

Kiner, when reached at Los Alamitos naval air station late Saturday, said he "first heard about the bomb over a radio newscast," and "thanked God it didn't hit anybody."

He said he was completely dumfounded when told that his jet plane was missing one of its practice bombs.

WORLD NEWS BRIEFS

Ships Collide in Fog, 18 Die

QUEBEC (AP)—A big British ore carrier, making its way through heavy fog, collided with a freighter half its size and sank in the St. Lawrence River Saturday. Late Saturday night Quebec police counted at least 18 dead, 16 missing and 17 survivors in the river tragedy.

Maritime officials said the carrier went down so swiftly there was no time for an SOS. A marine radio estimate earlier had put the toll at 22 dead based on a report from the tug Foundation Valiant, which was directing the search for survivors. Authorities said a final tally was still to come.

Woman Admits 'Kidnap' Was Hoax

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Police said Saturday that an attractive 28-year-old mother's kidnap story was a hoax concocted to avoid scandal.

Mrs. Sylvia May Wilson and Daniel Myrick, 27, were booked on suspicion of conspiracy to make a false police report.

"I don't know how I got into this," Mrs. Wilson said. "I sat talking to Danny at the West Winds bar Monday night and it kept getting later and later, and then I was too frightened to go home."

"It wasn't a planned thing — premeditated — we just went off together," she explained. "I'm not unhappy with my husband — nobody could be unhappy with him — he's a wonderful person and his folks have been wonderful to me."

Mrs. Wilson was found on U.S. 101 by Ventura police Friday, with her hands taped behind her and her clothing torn. Police said she told of being tied nude to an old iron bed in a mountain cabin after being slugged and kidnaped from a shopping center Monday afternoon.

Rail Talks Continue Through Weekend

WASHINGTON (AP)—New and intensive efforts aimed at breaking the railway labor deadlock were pushed by government mediators Saturday night as President Kennedy made ready his recommendations to Congress for legislation to avert the threatened nationwide strike.

A government team headed by Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz met in a Saturday night session with representatives of the carriers and scheduled new meetings with officials of the five operating unions for Sunday.

Kennedy Golfs in (Partial) Darkness

HYANNIS, Mass. (UPI)—President Kennedy golfed through the eclipse Saturday.

The chief executive, after nearly three hours of cruising aboard the White House yacht Honey Fitz, went to the Hyannis-Port Club in the late afternoon to play golf with his sister, Mrs. Pat Lawford, and James Reed, assistant secretary of treasury.

Nearly Nude Escapee Recaptured

LEWISTON, Idaho (AP)—A six-foot Texan, who wiggled out of jail here Friday clad in nothing but pink panties, was back in the same jail Saturday along with her fugitive boyfriend.

Mrs. Millie Jones, 36, returned wearing grimy jeans, a blouse and boots . . . but wanting to comb-out her matted blonde hair.

She had sapped a jailer, then released boyfriend William Splawn, 40. Outside, they stole a car from a shocked clerk but wrecked it 15 miles south of Lewiston.

A ground and air posse Friday couldn't find the two—charged with unlawful flight in connection with armed robbery in Eastland, Tex. But Saturday, the glint of a shotgun barrel in some thornbushes gave away the pair's hiding place, and they were captured.

Mistaken U.S. Soldiers Fight Battle

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—Apparently mistaking each other for communist guerrillas, U.S. soldiers fought a battle against each other at an airstrip 65 miles south of here Thursday night. One was killed and another was wounded.

U.S. military authorities, disclosing the gun battle today, classified the incident as accidental. The army in Washington identified the dead soldier as Spec. 5 Carl Ballard of Madill, Okla., and the wounded man as Spec. 4 Donald L. Whitehouse, Route 1, Crofton, Ky.

Heavy Rains in Midwest

Thunderstorms which dumped up to 5½ inches of rain on the midwest, leaving death and destruction, Saturday pushed from Oklahoma to the Appalachians, bringing severe weather warnings to parts of nine states.

Indianapolis, Ind., got 2.34 inches of rain Saturday and Lexington, Ky., more than 2 inches. The storms broke a week-long heat wave in the midwest. In Indiana three persons were killed by lightning.

WHILE K TALKS PEACE

Military Chiefs Say Russia Still No. 1 Menace to U.S.

By ELTON C. FAY
 AP Military Affairs Reporter

WASHINGTON—U.S. strategic planners began weighing the possibility of a world power realignment long before the current angry Soviet-Chinese dispute and Premier Khrushchev's talk about a non-aggression agreement with the West.

But the fact that this possibility has been considered for more than a decade and almost certainly is being looked at today has not changed the professional military man's belief that the major armed menace to this country continues to be the Soviet Union.

The potentials of the discussions in Moscow still are too nebulous to warrant any recasting now of American military strategy.

ON THE OTHER hand, the Joint Chiefs of Staff maintain a folio, constantly revised, of contingency war plans. It is patterned to estimates of what changes might, or conceivably could, occur in international situations, with accompanying combinations of powers.

Russia and her relationship with present or erstwhile allies as well as the free world is a prime factor in the JCS "program for planning" folio.

The program is divided into three strategic plans — long-range, medium-range and short-range. Each is reviewed and changed annually.

The plans, of course, also are patterned to national military objectives as established by the President and the National Security Council. The military planning is coordinated with political, psychological and economic factors. The Joint Chiefs therefore keep close liaison with the State Department and other agencies in an effort to make the military plans as realistic as possible.

THE FIRST of the three plans—the "Joint Long-range Strategic Estimate"—covers a four-year period, beginning eight years after a revision of the previous plan. This means that the estimate is projected 12 years into the future.

The mid-range strategic area is covered in the "Joint Strategic Objectives Plan" (which the Pentagon calls "JASOP.") The JCS dictionary says this plan "translates U.S. national objectives and policies for the time-frame five to eight years in the future into terms of military objectives and strategic concepts and defines basic undertakings for cold, limited and general war which may be accomplished with the objective force levels." (This means the size and weapon equipment of the Army, Navy, Marines and Air Force.)

The JCS short-range plan embraces a period of one year and therefore is a "fighting plan" to be used in event of a war tomorrow morning.

KHRUSHCHEV, in a speech in Moscow Friday, put forth his idea about non-aggression. He said Russia believes that "the form of a non-aggression pact can be solved without any great difficulties to the mutual satisfaction of both sides."

A non-aggression pact is not an alliance of military strength. It is intended as a guarantee that one country won't attack another. Russia had such a pact with Germany in 1940—which was scrapped shortly in the flame of World War II.

Although a non-aggression agreement is not a document for mutual military support it can provide indirect benefits for a participant.

A non-aggression pact with the West could leave Russia with more confidence in preparing for any future clash of arms with Red China. Or it could be used by Khrushchev to reduce some of the burden on the Russian economy imposed by maintenance of the present huge Soviet military establishment.

Mr. O's Music Camp

By GEORGE ERES

OHLENDORF HILL, Arrowbear Music Camp, San Bernardino—Quite a thrill being here. It's music, music, music—all day long and into the night. And not a mother around to scream, "You get right in here and practice!" These kids like to practice!

Ohlendorf Hill is named after Fred Ohlendorf, who during the school year, runs the music program in the Long Beach Unified School District. Every summer, he drives truck-loads of kids up to his camp for some intensive music in the mountains. There are camp periods for elementary school, junior high school and senior school groups. Many of the youngsters keep coming back each summer for more.

Like the mythical Prof. Arlo Barf lyricizes in the music camp's anthem:

"Arrowbear's the place to be,

Full of fun and harmony,

Even when we have KP it's music, music, music."

THE UNIQUE thing about this place is that while at home, the kids won't listen to anything but maybe Hayley Mills or rock and roll, up here more than 100 youngsters will dig a Mozart quartet or a Hindemith trumpet solo and say it swings.

It's not that they're just a bunch of long hairs. Off in a corner during the recreation period, you'll find a little combo that's running through some pop tunes.

And if Susie suddenly discovers "there's nothing to do during the recreation period," she thinks nothing of picking up her music and going off to one of the camp's practice rooms.

While there's a heavy regimen of music practice, rehearsal and theory, there's also time for dances, swimming and other kinds of recreation.

THE KIDS themselves named it Ohlendorf Hill. And Fred Ohlendorf who somehow only has to open his mouth to make the youngster giggle has managed to attain a rapport with the teen agers that make it possible for him to order KP and never get a nasty look.

"Mr. O," as he is called by campers, dons a gaily colored shirt, old pants and comfortable shoes for his days at camp. The shirt hangs outside his trousers. He puts his stomach.

FRED OHLENDORF
He's a Long Hair

"Some of my campers tell me I'm getting a little stout."

They creep up behind him and put their hands over his eyes and say, "Guess, who. I play clarinet."

THERE IS an easy informality about the camp and between campers and staff.

But for Ohlendorf it's more than a summer recreation camp; it's a summer camp with a purpose.

And when he or his other staff members step up on the podium at camp concerts or rehearsals and the time comes for music, there's fun in that too. The youngsters don't become different; just that part of them that feels akin to the music takes over. The teasing and the horsing around stops. They like music—and everybody around them likes music.

Mr. O danced a little jig on the podium. He'd promised he would if the orchestra played the way it should.

"Sometimes I think of the possible things that can be done about enlarging the camp—a about changing its appearance," he said while munching a hot dog at a cook-out. "Then I decide I don't want to spoil the natural setting of the camp by too many changes. I guess, I could handle about twice as many campers with more housing. As it is I have to turn down some applications."

The applications have to be made well ahead of time—for the senior high school camp, as far as a summer ahead.

THE youngsters form lasting friendships at the camp. They return year after year and during the off-camping season have reunion dances. In some cases, these friendships become quite serious.

For instance, there was this junior high school boy and girl walking arm in arm through the camp.

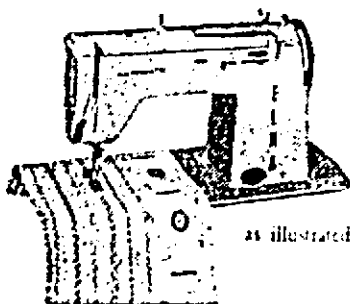

When they passed by, she was saying to him:

"I had some trouble with Telemann's 'Air and Courante' but I got it after practicing a while."

He nodded understandingly.

Test-Ban Talks, Peking Put Russia in Spotlight

By HARRY SHARPE
United Press International

President Kennedy held out hope last week for a partial nuclear test-ban pact with Russia. But he cautioned against over-optimism in view of past Soviet performances.

He told a nationally televised press conference that U.S.-British-Russian negotiations in Moscow were going on "in a business-like way." He also said that if they succeeded there could be "wider discussions" on other cold war problems. But he pledged there would be no action on matters affecting European Allies without full consultation with them.

MOSCOW ALSO exuded confidence, going to the unusual extreme of reporting "progress" in a communique to the Russian people. Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev himself got the talks off to an enthusiastic start by presiding at the first session. This was seen as a sign that a breakthrough was possible after years of dismal failure.

The United States was represented by Undersecretary of State W. Averell Harriman. With his British counterpart, Harriman was prepared to accept a pact banning all except underground tests.

The President has insisted on inspection for such tests—a condition Khrushchev rejects. The partial pact could leave this open to future negotiation.

KHRUSHCHEV also received a plan the Russians proposed in 1958 which would permit international control teams to set up troop inspection stations on both sides of the Iron Curtain to guard against surprise attack. In the past the United States has found the plan too loaded with unacceptable conditions.

As to prospects of a summit conference, Kennedy said there was no evidence such a meeting was needed.

Russia and Red China are deeply split by an ideological dispute over which should lead world communism and particularly over Khrushchev's peaceful co-existence approach to the West. The breach widened.

FOREIGN VIEW

See JFK or KKK as Choice

By United Press International

European newspapers last week commented on aspects of America's racial problem ranging from the Ku Klux Klan to President Kennedy's civil rights program.

In Brussels, the newspaper Metropole said "The American nation has to choose between the just, loyal and honorable policy proposed by President Kennedy and the shameful and degrading policy advocated by Ku Klux Klan madmen."

In Stockholm, the Stockholm-Tidningen said that "as usual, the Negroes are hardest hit" by unemployment in the United States.

BUT MILAN'S Corriere Della Sera said in a report from New Orleans that Negroes in the United States enjoy a higher standard of living than many European and Latin American workers.

"The Negroes of the United States find themselves on the threshold of a world of equality and well-being," the report went on to say.

"The Little Rocks are not lacking, but every day they become rarer," Corriere Della Sera said.

Around the world in Asia, the English language Indonesian Herald applauded President Kennedy's stand on the civil rights issue.

"The Kennedy administration, we believe, has come to grips with this American dilemma since its very first days in office. We know it is not an easy struggle. Ignorance and prejudice die hard.

"But he is still fighting, and his strong will and determination to win become clearer every day."

perhaps irreparably, last week when so-called peace talks in Moscow brought only mutual recriminations.

The Peiping regime believes harmony could be restored if Khrushchev were displaced, but Khrushchev warned that such attempts would be "futile." He also declared that despite what "faithless" Red Chinese "cowards" think, communism will conquer capitalism without war. It was perhaps his sharpest rebuff of his one time staunch ally.

ON THE political front, the President said he thought he had made good on his campaign promise to "get America moving again" and intends to say so in his second-term campaign though the Republicans will claim the opposite.

He described "significant progress" on the economic front but warned that jobs must be found for 22 million more Americans in the next decade. He also reported the federal deficit in the fiscal year just ended was $2.6 billion less than expected, due to better business and higher than anticipated tax collections.

Federal reserve banks increased short-term re-discount rates to make them more competitive with those of foreign banks. The President denied this would hurt American businessmen or set off a recession, as charged by AFL-CIO President George Meany.

KENNEDY ALSO asked Congress to enact a temporary tax on American purchases of foreign stocks and bonds to help stem the dollar flow. The proposal took Congress and the stock market by complete surprise and set off a wave of market selling. At the end of March the U.S. balance of payments deficit totaled $3.3 billion—a serious drain on gold stocks—and was still climbing.

The Republican camp continued to be rocked by New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's drive to stop Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, leading conservative contender for the 1964 GOP presidential nomination.

The governor warned his party that if nominated, Goldwater would become a "captive" of "the radical right John Birch lunatic branch" trying to gain control of the GOP and would sink Republican congressional candidates next year.

POLITICAL observers speculated that Rockefeller felt he was losing ground in the presidential race and was seeking to regain leadership by his attack on the groups supporting Goldwater and also was aiming for a stop-Goldwater coalition at the GOP national convention next year.

The governor was praised by such party stalwarts as Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, N.Y., and Senate GOP Whip Thomas H. Kuchel of California, for "performing a splendid service for his country and his party."

However, Senate GOP leader Everett M. Dirksen, Ill., took no public position. Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon who is touring Europe, said he did not think the "nuts and kooks" of the extreme right could gain control of the party.

GOLDWATER had no comment.

Racial strife was still the dominant issue in many areas. The President endorsed plans by Negro leaders for a massive integration demonstration in Washington, D.C., next month as being in "the great tradition" of American liberty. But he cautioned against protest efforts that might provoke violence. The best way to deal with the overall racial problem, he said, was for the cities, states and Congress to redress the Negroes' grievances promptly.

Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama told Congress that Kennedy's racial rights bills were totally unacceptable to the South and that the President "was abetting violence" and "should be retired from public life," along with his brother, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy. He also charged that Communists inspired the anti-segregation demonstrations, but conceded he had no firm evidence to prove it. Several senators needed Wallace about Negro voting rights in Alabama. Wallace averred that he would not enforce equal accommodations laws in his state even if Congress passed them.

SENATOR DIRKSEN
No Public Position

ON OTHER news fronts, the President said the U.S. will push ahead with its program to put a man on the moon by 1970. He and space officials doubted a British scientist's report that the Russians may quit the race to the moon.

He said a moon voyage would mean space dominance and would be essential to maintaining world leadership. Most important of all, he said, is the military advantage. He couldn't see Russia abandoning that.

Kennedy said no progress can be made toward "getting along" with Cuban Premier Fidel Castro because the U.S. cannot accept the existence of, or co-exist with, a Communist satellite in the Caribbean. Soviet troops are still in Cuba, he added, and Cuba is following a Soviet satellite role.

DEFENSE Secretary Robert McNamara told a press conference that none of the current international spy cases had involved loss of U.S. military secrets. He also said he plans to visit West Germany July 30-Aug. 4 to discuss joint armaments research and development projects. He will be accompanied by Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

At Edwards AFB, Calif., veteran civilian pilot Joe Walker, 41, flew the X15 rocket ship to a new altitude record of 67 miles at a speed of 3,866 miles an hour. The old mark was 59.6 miles. Walker already holds the X15 speed record of 4,104 miles an hour.

A special Securities & Exchange Commission (SEC) report recommended revising the trading privileges and responsibilities of stock exchange members to correct "serious inadequacies in investor protection."

WHILE pointing to "faults and defects" in the securities market, it said there was no call for public alarm over the "basic integrity" of the markets. The report was the second installment of a 17-month study.

Dispatches from Saigon said three U.S. soldiers, two of them officers, were killed in a Communist guerrilla ambush. This raised to at least 100 the number of U.S. military advisory personnel killed in South Vietnam.

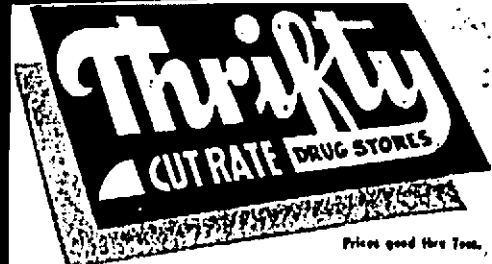

The President's fact-finding panel in the railroad dispute reported to him that the carriers and unions are still far apart on the work rules issue. Kennedy plans to ask Congress Monday for legislation to halt a nationwide strike, scheduled for July 29.

Solar Study Helps Cyclist Win Case

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI)—In the evening twilight of July 9, a policeman motioned a motorcyclist to the curb and charged him with operating his vehicle without his lights on.

Thursday, the cyclist, Joseph F. Cunningham, 33, of Buffalo, appeared in city court, having done some homework in the law and solar statistics.

The charge was dismissed when Cunningham showed he received the ticket at 9:20 p.m., 24 minutes after the sun set, according to an almanac. The law requires that lights be turned on 30 minutes after sunset.

Animals Howl Under Eclipse, Scientists Seek Space Clues

Millions of Americans saw the eclipse on television. In New York, where the eclipse was 88 per cent total, the sun showed up on TV screens like a clipped toenail hanging in the sky.

At Fort Simpson, in the Canadian North West Territory, the total eclipse lasted the longest—100 seconds.

At Grand'mere, Que., a thick cloud cover hanging over the area all day broke up just six minutes before the show began overhead, and hundreds of scientists from Italy, The Netherlands, France and Switzerland quickly scribbled notes and clicked their cameras.

THE HIGHWAY into Grand'mere were clogged with cars with sightseers.

Japanese scientists who watched the black sunrise in northeastern Hokkaido reported successful sightings. A study team of the astronomical observatory in Tokyo took four pictures of the corona—the sun's outer rim of incandescent gas—from a plane at 13,120 feet.

The sun was totally eclipsed there at 4:14 a.m. Sunday (2:14 p.m., EST Saturday). Actually, the Hokkaido sunrise was delayed only 29 seconds.

CLOUDS BLOTTED out the eclipse in parts of Canada.

While it was visible in New York City, it wasn't in nearly New Jersey.

The shadow of the eclipse raced across the continent at a speed of 1,500 miles an hour.

Above Boston, it was 94 per cent total, at El Paso, Tex., 31 per cent.

At Orono, Maine, a gathering of scientists with cameras at the ready were drenched in rain as the eclipse darkened the day. The rainclouds blanked their attempts to photograph the event.

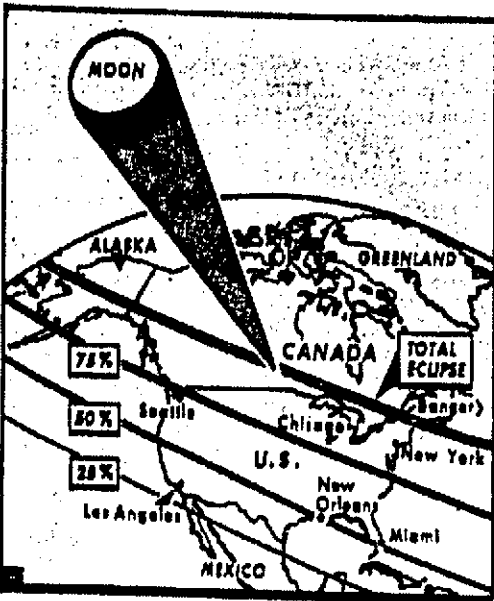

BUT NEAR the northwest Maine town of Caratunk, a cloud cover opened just after the eclipse began and closed again a few seconds after it ended. In that clearing, scientists of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) said they were able to take more than 40 photographs during 62 seconds. They hoped the pictures would help determine the quantity of comets that streak around the sun. Comets could be a hazard in space travel.

In a jet airliner seven miles above Maine, 85 scientists, newsmen and photographers saw the full eclipse in all its glory.

But many missed the phenomenon of "Baily's beads," the jewels of light lasting a second or two, as the final rays of the sun streamed down through the valleys of the moon.

THE ECLIPSE was seen in all parts of the United States, but it was total only in Maine and Alaska. Map shows how much of sun was eclipsed in other areas.

PANIC CALLS

Eclipse Warning Peril Jams I, P-T Board

The nation was warned that it was dangerous to look directly at the eclipse even through smoked glass.

Some people got only part of the message, the word "dangerous." The Independent, Press-Telegram received a number of calls like these during the Saturday afternoon eclipse:

"Is it safe to let my children play outdoors?"

"How soon will the eclipse be over? I want to take a sunbath as soon as it's safe."

There were other misunderstandings:

"Will the eclipse take place or has it been called off?"

"Any news of the eclipse? Is it still scheduled?"

"If this is an eclipse, why doesn't it get dark?"

(The eclipse was only about 26 percent here.)

Shadow Races Past Jet

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer

ABOARD A JET ECLIPSE FLIGHT OVER MAINE

Like a hint of doomsday, the ominous black shadow engulfed the sky and clouds.

Venus and Mercury and two winter stars gleamed brilliantly, and suddenly the sun was blotted out save for a bright pearly and yellow halo.

This was the minute of the magnificent total eclipse of the sun for 85 scientists, newsmen and photographers soaring seven miles above the earth.

PERHAPS the most stunning aspect, from this height and angle aboard an American Air Lines eclipse flight, was the onyx cloud sweeping out of the northwest, racing at 2,800 miles an hour, as the Moon covering the sun cast its narrow dark shadow down upon the earth. The shadow swept 10,000 miles from Japan to the Atlantic in 2 1/4 hours.

On the thick, snowy white clouds below, first came a darkening cast, like a clothes wash to make a housewife ashamed, 10 minutes before full eclipse. Then, almost like a menacing knife edge, came the deep shadow itself, born of a brief death of sunlight, the clouds below changing to dark blue and black.

AT THE instant it engulfed us, the last direct rays from a tiny red crescent of the sun were snuffed out. Many of us missed the sight of Baily's Beads, the jewels of light lasting a second or two, as the final rays of the sun streamed down through valleys and gorges on the rim of the moon.

But the "Diamond Ring" shone bright, sparkling a gem of light in the circle of the moon and sun, the last point of the disc of the sun being covered.

Nuclear Ban Pact Initialing Due Soon

complicated the negotiations, but clearly opened the way to later talks which apparently are headed for a summit meeting, perhaps in the fall.

THERE IS no agreement on a summit meeting. But President Kennedy has indicated he is ready for such talks any time, provided there is something to be accomplished, and both Khrushchev and Prime Minister Macmillan of Britain ordinarily like face-to-face meetings at high level.

Administration sources stressed Saturday that Harriman's initialing of an agreement at Moscow will not in itself be a binding commitment. They said Harriman has authority only to signify his agreement as a U.S. negotiator.

Then the document is to be referred to Washington for governmental review.

D-Mo., said Saturday any nuclear test-ban agreement must make "it possible to detect any cheating" before he can support it.

Meanwhile, it was announced in Moscow that Khrushchev has summoned the leaders of his East European satellites to Moscow for a summit conference Wednesday.

Western experts said Khrushchev may well take advantage of the meeting to discuss the Sino-Soviet talks which ended here Saturday as well as the apparent peace offensive he has launched toward the West.

MOSCOW (AP) — Communist China's mission to Moscow suddenly broke up camp Saturday night and flew home to Peking, apparently failing to patch up the ideological feud which has split the Communist world.

Premier Khrushchev gave the mission a farewell dinner at the last minute but he showed no sign of giving in to Peking's demand that he drop his policy of peaceful coexistence with the West and follow a line of militant Communist revolutions.

Two weeks of secret talks ended presumably without solution and possibly even widening the breach between the world's two Communist giants.

Long Beach Fighter Pilot Hits Target as Author

By VERA WILLIAMS

Richard Bach, who started his writing career by selling a story to the Southland Magazine in the early 1950s when he was in Wilson High School, is going great guns.

His first book, "Stranger to the Ground," first person narrative of a fighter pilot, will be published in August by Harper's.

Portions of it appear in the July issue of Harper's magazine.

Reader's Digest has bought the condensed version.

20th Century-Fox is looking at the galley proofs.

And Bach has been named West Coast editor of Flying magazine.

He has just flown his family out here in his Fairchild-24, and they are getting settled in their new home on Palos Verdes Peninsula.

BACH, son of Roland Bach, manager of Long Beach Chapter, American National Red Cross, and the late Ruth Bach, Long Beach's first and only city councilwoman, was reared in what then was "Lake-wood Village." He was graduated from Wilson High School in 1954, and attended State College one year.

Formal education and the adventurous lad did not mix, so he became an aviation cadet in the Air Force, training in Texas and Florida. He was a peace time jet pilot from 1956 to 1959, flying F-86s, F-100s and T-33s. Then he came back to Long Beach and flew C-119s out of Long Beach Municipal Airport for a year as a member of the Air Force Reserve.

In June 1961 he went to New York as associate editor of Flying. Four months later he and his squadron, the 141st Tactical Fighting Squadron of the New Jersey Air National Guard were ordered abroad because of the Berlin crisis. They were in Paris, Berlin and Chaumont, France, for eight months.

"IN WILSON I was a student of John Gartner, creative writing teacher. I wrote an article about the Excelsior Telescope Club, which I sold to Southland. It ran under the title 'They Look for the Man in the Moon.' When I was in the Air Force, I sold Southland an article on tikis, called 'The Gods in Midway City.'

"Suddenly, abroad, I wanted to put across what it is like to fly a fighter plane. I had been a great admirer of the writer, Antoine de Saint-Exupery, killed in 1944. There were good war-time writers, but most of them had been shot down.

"Since then there had been writers, mostly outside, looking in, who wrote about the glamour of flying. I wanted to write about flying with a calm, factual approach, and present it the way it really is.

"I buckled down to write my book. My roommate got pretty sick of hearing the typewriter click from 8 p.m. until 2 or 3 in the morning. And I took considerable kidding because the fellows knew I was writing a book about the squadron.

"FIVE PUBLISHERS, including Harper's, rejected the manuscript. Then I got an agent, Ken Littauer. He submitted it to Harper's—and Harper's took it. Nothing like knocking on the door at the right time. And before, I had knocked as a free lance writer. Now it was an agent knocking."

The publisher praises his book as "deserving comparison with the best of Saint-Exupery."

As West Coast editor of Flying, Bach has headquarters in Beverly Hills.

His wife is the former Bette Franks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Franks, 935 Molino Ave. They have a daughter, Kristel, 4, and son, Robert, 1½. And they consider the Fairchild-24 a member of the family.

L.B. Opera Membership

TEACHER SPENDS $1,000 ON MUSIC GIFT FOR BOY

A Long Beach woman who teaches school in Los Angeles has purchased a $1,000 life membership in the Long Beach Civic Light Opera Association for a 10-year-old Negro boy.

Mrs. Roy S. Huddleston, 245 Nevada St., purchased the membership for James B. Hicks Jr., Los Angeles, because she believes it will be a continuing source of cultural enrichment to him and will aid in the realization of his goals.

The boy is a piano student at the Institute of Musical Arts in Los Angeles and maintains a B average in his school work. He is interested principally in science, wants to become a scientist, and was his fifth-grade class representative at the California Museum of Science and Industry's Science Workshop in Los Angeles.

Mrs. Huddleston, became interested in the boy through his mother, Mrs. Evelyn Hicks, who was employed as a secretary at the school where she teaches.

A teacher for many years, Mrs. Huddleston, through her school work and her annual travels a Korean girl and a South

Rocky Claims He'd Rather Be Right Than President

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — "Asked if it was an attempt to grab the initiative," he said Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York came to the annual Governors' Conference Saturday vowing he would "rather be right" on the civil rights issue than be president.

The statement by the 1964 GOP presidential contender was promptly followed by the conference chairman's announcement that he will recommend placing civil rights on the agenda for debate—and that it be given continuing study by the executive committee.

Gov. Albert D. Rosellini of Washington, the conference chairman, told a news conference that his proposal "somewhat parallels" Rockefeller's own civil rights resolution, but said he still wants the conference to return to its old rule that unanimity is necessary for approval of resolutions—a change Rockefeller opposes.

ROSELLINI'S announcement represented a limited victory for Rockefeller's campaign to give civil rights priority at the conference. It is not now on the conference agenda.

The chairman's proposal would not necessarily require a conference vote of approval. Rosellini said he had not consulted the Kennedy administration on his new proposal. "It's strange that they proach to the civil rights do not want the support of effort to appease Rockefeller. He said he assumes the

KIDNAPED BUT UNCONCERNED

Car thieves made off with an auto belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Bertram in Boston and touched off a hectic search for the couple's 3-month-old son, Eric Eugene. The boy was in a car-bed in the back seat. The auto, with Eric unconcerned about it all, was found abandoned 30 minutes after the search began.

Democrats did not want to show their governors split on the issue as he said their party is.

Rockefeller flew into the 1964 conference with his new bride, "Happy," and ran into hostility of some fellow governors opposed to his civil rights stand. But he came up with his own sharp declaration.

DEMOCRATIC Gov. Otto Kerner of Illinois set the stage for Rockefeller's arrival by accusing him of trying to use the 53th Governors' Conference as a "political platform."

Rockefeller told newsmen the two principal issues at the governors' meeting are "gag rule"—revising conference rules to require unanimity on adoption of resolutions—and civil rights.

The New Yorker wants to stick to the present two-thirds voting rule. But many governors feel staging a civil rights battle under the umbrella of the existing rule which permits controversy on the floor might destroy their organization.

Kerner favors returning to the rule of unanimity.

CITING THE failure of Congress under the Democrats to deal with the civil rights issue, Rockefeller said, "It's strange that they proach to the civil rights do not want the support of effort to appease Rockefeller. He said he assumes the

The capital, Damascus, was reported calm but uneasy following some shooting in the morning.

Authorities lifted the 24-hour curfew briefly Saturday morning but had to reimpose it within an hour because "subversives mingled with people leading to some shooting and some injured," according to Radio Damascus.

Martial law continued for the third consecutive day.

TWENTY persons, military and civilians, including a signal corps colonel, died before firing squads Friday after brief courts martial.

The government dominated by the Baathist Party, said it is in complete control of the nation, including the north, following the uprising which apparently was more an internal struggle for power than the usual conflict between pro- and anti-Nasser factions.

Syria's borders remained closed to all but food carriers. Some telephone calls were getting through after long delays. Damascus Airport was closed to passenger traffic.

The security court, which passed the 20 death sentences Friday, was still sitting in Al Mazzah Prison, Radio Damascus said.

Major Viet Offensive Hits Reds

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — Striking from air and ground, South Vietnamese troops launched a big offensive against Communist Viet Cong guerrillas Saturday, scoring a major victory, the government announced.

Vietnam's air force said 500 guerrillas were killed, but ground forces said they could account for only 300 dead. U.S. military authorities in Saigon said they could confirm 200 dead.

EVEN the lowest figure is extraordinary in the war against the Red guerrillas.

The government said 18 South Vietnamese troops were killed and 50 wounded in the battle 25 miles northwest of My Tho in the nation's southern delta area.

Details of the operation were slim.

"All we know is there has been a hell of a big battle," a military spokesman said.

FOUR battalions of government infantry were involved in the operation when it opened Saturday morning. The operation was originally planned to take three days.

The government forces took into battle several companies of armor, air force support and helicopter-borne troops. Viet Cong strength was not known.

Hungary Chief, K's Paths May Cross

BELGRADE (UPI)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev and Hungarian Premier Janos Kadar will visit Yugoslavia separately next month but their paths may cross, informed sources here said.

The sources said Khrushchev is expected to begin a two-week visit Aug. 20. Kadar is expected to arrive in Belgrade earlier.

There has been no official confirmation of either visit.

Grabs Shark's Tail, Captures Him

STRATMERE, N. J. (UPI) — Electric company lineman John May saw a shark swim past a dock near his home so he reached in, grabbed its tail and, with the help of five neighbors, hauled it ashore. The shark was a 15-footer weighing 500 pounds.

Brown Signs Laws

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Brown has signed into law a number of bills approved by the general session of the Legislature, including:

SB1180 Teale: Appropriates $78,000 for a feasibility study of the proposed Agua Fria Dam on Mariposa Creek in Mariposa County. The dam would be built with Davis-Grunsky funds if deemed feasible by the State Department of Water Resources.

AB257-1911 Lunardi: Transfers revenue from licensing and registration of small boats from the state general fund to the State Division of Small Craft Harbors and specifies it is to be spent for small craft harbors programs.

AB932 Williamson: Makes it a misdemeanor to possess alcoholic beverages in or on any public schoolhouse or grounds, as well as to consume, sell, give or deliver them, except when used in connection with a course of instruction given at the school.

AB1437 Casey: Requires that names for grand jury list be selected from the several wards of judicial districts in the county in proportion to population.

AB1492 Burton: Increases from $10 to $25 the minimum unemployment compensation weekly benefit amount.

AB1718 Davis: Requires any person under the age of 18, instead of 16, to present a certificate of competency in safe handling of firearms when applying for first hunting license.

AB1767 Kennick et al: Requires that all signal controlled intersections, instead of only those within incorporated cities, have street name signs clearly visible to all approaching traffic, rather than only to the principal flow of traffic.

AB2160 Knox: Provides that for physically handicapped minors 16 years of age or over, two clock hours of attendance in a special day school or class in combination with two clock hours of attendance in an approved occupational training program shall constitute one day of attendance.

AB2306 Quimby: Establishes a procedure to commit mentally ill county or city jail prisoners to state hospitals, with time spent in the institutions counted against the jail sentence.

AB2405 Porter: Prohibits a person from stating in an advertisement of his goods that he is a producer, manufacturer, processor, wholesaler or importer, or that he owns or controls a factory or other source of supply of goods, when such is not the fact; prohibits a person from misrepresenting in any other manner the character, extent, volume or type of his business.

AB2411 Foran: Provides that women employed as executives, administrators or professionals must be paid $400, instead of $350, per month in order to be exempt from maximum hour provisions.

AB2449 Carrell: Authorizes a maximum speed of 70 miles per hour on certain freeways to be determined by the California Highway Patrol and State Department of Public Works; requires signs to be placed on such freeways directing slow-moving traffic to use the right-hand lane.

AB2956 Knox: Requires the State Department of Public Health to monitor radioactive materials in the environment in such media as air, milk, food and water, in such locations and frequency as the department deems necessary to determine radiation exposure to the people; requires department to make public to news media the results of its monitoring at least once a month.

AB3006 Veysey: Prohibits the taking of pheasant within 300 yards of any vehicle from which pheasants are being released.

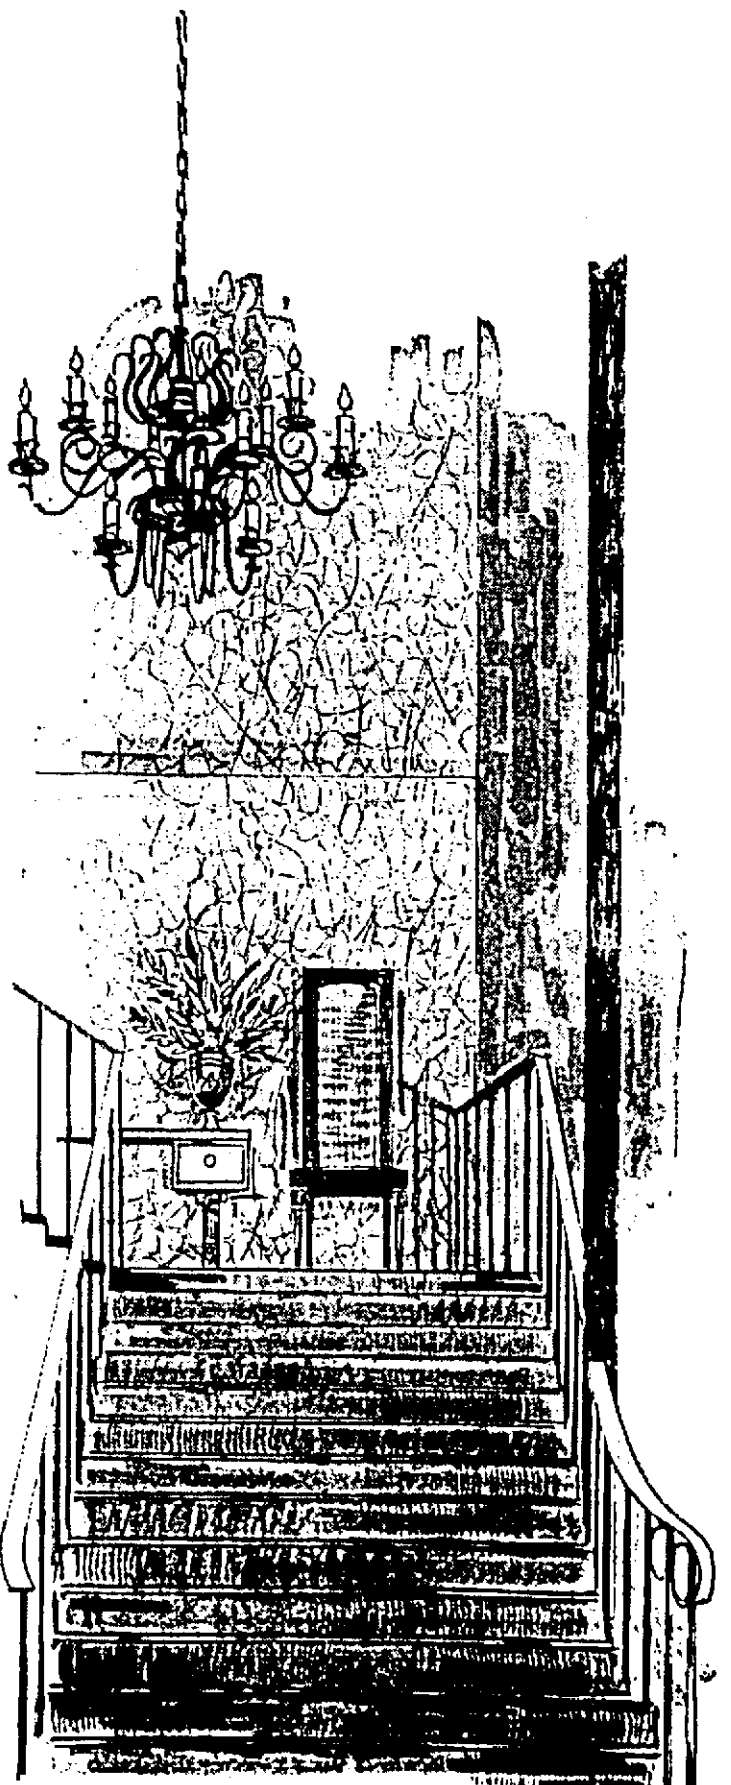

AB69 Dannemeyer et al: Increases number of judges in Anaheim-Fullerton Municipal Court from four to six; provides that if a municipal court is established in the Laguna Beach-San Clemente Judicial District there shall be one judge and that officers and attaches of the superseded justice court shall succeed to the positions of the municipal court.

Plan Caribbean Isle Paradise

By FRED TAYLOR KRAFT
Independent Press-Telegram Travel Editor

COZUMEL, Mexico — An army of Mexicans, armed with machetes and axes, has started hewing into the dense, largely unexplored jungle of this lovely but relatively unknown Caribbean island to transform it into one of the great tropical vacation playgrounds of the world.

Crop Plane Kills Man Guiding It

MERCED (UPI) — A 30-year-old flagman was killed Saturday when a crop-dusting plane he was directing crashed into him and overturned in a rice field. The pilot walked away from the wreckage uninjured.

It was the second crash of a crop-dusting plane in the Merced area in less than a week.

The dead man was identified by Asst. County Coroner Joseph Sabo as John Trujillo, Merced. Sabo identified the pilot as Dale Landly of Turlock.

SABO SAID Trujillo was standing on a ditch bank guiding the plane when it slammed into him and threw him 75 feet. The plane bounced across the road and over an irrigation ditch before overturning in the rice field.

Lindly lowered himself from the plane and went for help, Sabo said.

On Tuesday, Robin DeWing, 30, a pilot for the Merced Mosquito Abatement District, was critically injured when a wing of his low-flying plane hit the ground and caused the craft to crash. DeWing is recovering from his injuries at Mercy Hospital in Merced.

If you decide to go before Balsa opens his El Presidente, you may take the short drive from the excellent landing field and airport to one of the half-dozen existing hotels in Cozumel or at Blue Beach, a short distance from town. Accommodations are surprisingly comfortable and the food is invariably excellent.

Once you get located, you're in for the time of your life. Since the average annual temperature is 75 degrees (high summer temperatures reach 86 degrees, winter evening, 65 degrees) you're at home in any type of informal sports attire you may select. Most visitors practically live in bathing suits or shorts.

And you're in luck if you skindive. The coral sands extend far out to sea, making these pellucid depths one of the outstanding skindiving areas in the western world. Spear fishing (every size and color of fish imaginable are found here) and great reef exploring are unsurpassed — often through one of the uncounted galleon carcasses that strew the bottom of the channel through which pirates, adventurers once passed.

FISHING in these waters becomes a great adventure. Sailfish, tarpon, jewfish, bonita, kingfish, snapper and Spanish mackerel are everywhere. A friend, Leslie Muse of Columbus, Ohio, decked a six-foot sailfish during his first 15 minutes aboard a fishing boat. The world's best bonefish flats are found at Boca Palla, an overnight boat trip to the mainland. Since rental equipment is limited, I'd advise fishermen to bring their own equipment. But you can rent a fishing boat, with out outriggers, for about $24 a day (American).

No one thinks of coming to Cozumel without taking a boat trip. On these rustic but delightful adventures, the destination generally is a remote, unspoiled beach for a picnic lunch of freshly caught lobster (lobstering is the island's chief industry), swimming, or snorkeling. Such a jaunt costs about $8 a day per person, and the favored stop is San Francisco Beach — about eight miles from San Miguel — where the visitor swims while his lobster catch is broiled by an expert native cook over a fire of palm blocks.

A highlight of these trips is the occasional capture of a giant turtle which swimmers ride to the strand. And there are always the coral forests, the fish in myriad colors, the crystal lagoons where rare species of the Caribbean may be viewed from secure limestone shelves.

BUT THE blue, blue waters are only one attraction at Cozumel. You may take shrewd Cesar Balsa is gamely horseback trips into the jungle to ancient ruins from whose vantage points Maya dis-

Indians watched Cortez pass to invade the mainland of Mexico.

Or you may hunt to your heart's desire. Although there are few wild animals on the island — and no poisonous snakes — the nearby mainland of Quintana Roo Province is well inhabited with jaguar, puma, ocelot, wild boar, deer, wild turkey and pheasant. (The problem of bringing firearms into the country should be taken up with your Mexican consul.)

There are several nightclubs and restaurants which offer music and dancing.

And before you leave, don't forget that this is a duty-free port where handicraft from all over Mexico may be selected at prices far below you'd expect to pay.

Add to all this the island's genuine hospitality and you begin to understand why Cozumel. You may take shrewd Cesar Balsa is gamely horseback trips into the jungle to ancient ruins from whose vantage points Maya dis-

TERRORIZES FAMILY

Youth Gang Wrecks Home, Stones Police

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A gang of youths went on a rampage here Friday night, smashed up an apartment, terrorized the occupants, then hurled bricks and stones at police.

When it was all over: —Mrs. Florie Hursey's apartment was a wreck of glass, brick and splintered wood.

—One police wagon was dented and its emergency light smashed.

—The street was littered with debris thrown by the youths.

—Eight persons were arrested.

Saturday, police were still scratching their heads and wondering "why?" They made several more arrests.

The trouble apparently started when the youths, estimated at a dozen, set out to avenge a friend whose leg had been slashed in a street fight.

Instead of "Joe," they spotted Mrs. Hursey, 23, Joe's 19-year-old brother, Percy, and Mrs. Hursey's sister, all waiting for a bus.

SOMEONE yelled, "There's Joe's sister," and a chase began.

During the 2½ block scramble to Mrs. Hursey's apartment, the youths threw bricks and stones. One pick-wielding teenager threatened to split Mrs. Hursey's head open.

"We ran like hell," Mrs. Hursey told a reporter. "We didn't know why they were mad at us, but we ran anyway."

When they reached their apartment, they locked themselves inside. This brought a salvo of bricks from the gang outside.

The family ran upstairs and had just finished calling police when the youths broke down front and rear doors and burst inside.

AS SOME began smashing everything in sight, others headed up the stairway. But Percy repelled the attackers by throwing empty soda bottles at them. He got a kick in the groin in return.

Downstairs the youths worked themselves into a frenzy, smashing windows and frames, overturning the refrigerator, hurling all the dishes and glassware to the

Move Day for Negro Not Set Yet

The Negro attorney whose deposit on a home brought an end to racial demonstrations in a swank Torrance residential district said Saturday that he didn't know when he would move in.

"I haven't made any plans," said Odie B. Jackson Jr., of Los Angeles, "I don't know when it will be."

Builder Don Wilson's Southwood Riviera subdivision was picketed on weekends by the Congress of Racial Equality for about a year. The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and other groups joined CORE from time to time.

The demonstrations ended when Wilson accepted Jackson's deposit, agreed to sell to Negroes and to employ Negro salesmen.

Youth, 18, Has Hearing Set in Murder Case

Preliminary hearing for Laurence Roberts, 18, 2234 Wayside St., Compton charged with murdering a service station attendant here June 12, was set for 9 a.m., July 31 in Compton Municipal Court, following arraignment Friday.

The suspect, according to Det. J. L. Pratin, has admitted being the triggerman in the killing of Harley M. Odneal, 43, of Downey, in an attempted robbery of Odneal at his uncle's service station.

Roberts was arrested last Tuesday along with three juveniles believed to have participated in the attempted robbery and killing. The three younger members of the foursome have been turned over to juvenile authorities.

Two Buy Old Fire Station

Los Angeles Bureau

The Board of Supervisors has approved the sale of an old fire station in Downey to two Pico Rivera men, who bid $27,010 on the 15,680-square foot site.

Buyers were William Leveloff and William G. Abernathy of 9001 Telegraph Road.

The fire station, abandoned by the county when the area in which it is located was annexed to the city of Downey, is at 8822 Lindell Avenue.

The property still has a 160x90 ft. fire house on it, but Leveloff, a restaurateur, said he hasn't quite decided what he and his partner will do with the station. "We'll hold it a while and see," he said, "or maybe we'll sell it."

Ocean Floor Yields First Ore Deposits

By JOSEPH L. MYLER
WASHINGTON (UPI)—The ocean floors are beginning to give up some of their vast store of mineral treasure. The first ton of ore ever "mined" from the deep sea bottom is now being analyzed.

Meanwhile, the shallower coastal seas in many parts of the world are being prospected or exploited — for diamonds, gold, silver, platinum, iron, tin, phosphorite.

Eventually, according to John Crawford of the Bureau of Mines, the sea is bound to yield a rich harvest of minerals which are becoming yearly more scarce on the continents.

Scientists know the ocean floors are strewn with wealth waiting only to be picked up. It is up to the mining engineers to locate it precisely, determine where the richest deposits are, and invent the machinery for bringing it economically to the surface.

TO MINE the deep sea will require development of a new technology. In some respects it will be almost as difficult, though hopefully not as costly, as flying to the moon. And it will be more immediately rewarding in terms of products useful to mankind.

The first ton of ore ever dredged up from the deep sea consisted of potato-sized nodules rich in manganese and containing varying amounts of iron, nickel, cobalt and copper.

It was recovered from a depth of 12,000 feet about 200 miles west-southwest of the tip of Mexico's Baja California last January by the Spencer F. Baird, a research vessel of the Scripps Institution of Oceanography.

The 2,000-pound "sample," which took about five days to dredge up, was obtained for the Bureau of Mines, which is now studying it at the U.S. Metallurgy Center in Reno, Nev.

Manganese nodules, a product of mysterious sea-water chemistry, grow on the bottom of all of the world's oceans. The richest deposits so far found are in the Pacific. Some have been estimated in value at $500,000 per square mile.

BUT BEFORE mining interests can be expected to invest millions of dollars in novel equipment to reap this wealth, they must have detailed information as to location, concentration and content.

The Bureau of Mines wants to go after this information. Mining in shallow waters near the continents can be done by more or less conventional means. Japan is digging iron ore at depths of about 200 feet.

Tin is being recovered from shallow waters in Indonesia. Gold, silver and platinum have been found in "interesting amounts" off the coast of Alaska where considerable exploration is now going on. Diamonds are being sucked from the sea floor of southwest Africa.

On the continental shelf off California are such deposits of phosphorite at depths of 600 to 1,000 feet. Phosphorite is a source of fertilizer.

The United States is largely dependent upon Africa for manganese, which is used in batteries, steel and other alloys, and reactive chemicals.

ACCORDING TO Dr. John L. Mero of the University of California at Berkeley there is enough manganese, copper, cobalt and nickel in the ocean depths to meet man's needs for a million years at present consumption rates.

The Bureau of Mines this year asked $1.8 million for a study of deep sea mining prospects. The Budget Bureau trimmed the request to $412,000, which the House threw out. The Senate restored $228,000.

This, if it survives the legislative process, will be enough to start the survey. The bureau would use a ship lent by the Maritime Commission from its reserve fleet and would base the operation in government-owned surplus facilities in the San Francisco bay area.

If the first research work produced good results the project, Congress willing, would be expanded into the Atlantic.

Travel via Postcard

LONDON (UPI)—The magazine Time and Tide carried an advertisement offering postcards from abroad for persons who decide to vacation at home this year.

SOMETHING NEW, MORE OLD

Roundup Time Like Old Days

COUNCIL HILL, Okla. (UPI)—A working cowboy arriving from the wild and woolly west of a century ago would find things just about the same at a modern-day cattle roundup.

There would be a few changes, of course. Today's cowboys have been known to travel in jeeps—and some even check fences with those funny-looking things called helicopters.

The cattle are different. They're fat and not as tough as the longhorns of days gone by.

But when it comes to working them at roundup time, it's just like the Old West.

Dick Shannon, tall ramrod of the Slash S Ranch in eastern Oklahoma, says there's a good reason.

"We do it like they did it in the old days because there's just no better way to handle cattle," he says.

FOR THE SLASH S cowpuncher, roundup means the day begins before dawn and ends after the sun goes down. The pay is $90 a month, bunk and beans.

Cattle are handled with the same equipment and techniques developed centuries ago by Spanish drovers and adopted in the United States.

The branding iron is still the best way to mark cattle. And a horse is the only way to move and herd them.

COWBOYS DON'T CARRY six-shooters strapped on their hips nowadays. But a rifle or pistol won't be too far away in case of coyotes or rattlers. The rest of their garb is right out of the pages of Zane Grey.

They wear wide-brimmed hats, chaps, boots and spurs and they eat out of a chuck wagon. The rope isn't used as much as it was in the old days due to construction of holding and branding chutes.

Letter From the Past

CHELTHENHAM, England (UPI)—Mrs. Agatha Thompson, 65, admits she is a little old for the love letter which arrived at her home last week.

But she wasn't too old when a former boy friend mailed the letter 42 years ago in Banbury, less than 100 miles away.

"It must have slipped down somewhere," a baffled spokesman for the post office explained.

Some of the seeds will touch the soil. The tar paper provides an elementary sort of hot house as well as protection from wildlife.

One of the possibilities now being discussed is for "seeding" of areas with these "saucers" from helicopters.

The display is part of a series planned for the Boys' and Girls' Science Club which meets at 3 p.m. each Saturday at the Main Library.

Pope Considers Pay Increases

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The Vatican city-state's 1,000 lay employees received an extra month's pay this month as a bonus from Pope Paul VI.

Vatican sources said Pope Paul also was reported considering a general wage increase to Vatican employees to cover rising costs of living.

The "saucers" are constructed of two thicknesses of plywood cut in six inch squares, each piece containing a V-shaped slashes forced out into opposite directions. Seeds are attached to the tips with a water soluble glue. Which ever way the saucer lands, meet rising costs of living.

Would-Be Chauffeur Starts Accident Chain

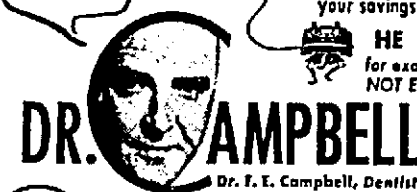

BURLINGTON, Iowa (UPI)—Lester C. Hartman, 51, must have been nervous when he took his test for a chauffeur's license. He did not get the license.

With license examiner Tom Falls sitting beside him, Hartman started the semi-trailer truck and promptly crashed into a parked car, which in turn flattened a parking meter and plowed into another car, which was shoved into a third car.

The summer heat is driving everyone to distraction . . . but it's reminding prudent shoppers of Carl's Mid-Summer Sale

Far-sighted folks who use carpet and furniture have been waiting for about twelve months for Carl's to spring another mid-summer event. Last year's sale was just about the hottest thing ever to hit Southern California . . . but wait till you see how prices have melted this year! YOU know how somebody can ask you a name you know well — but somehow the question itself establishes a mental block and danged if you can think of it.

This situation created a ludicrous incident at a cocktail party here the other eve. A couple of fellows were talking about newspaper writers and they struggled in futility to think of the name of a certain metropolitan columnist.

Finally they gave up, agreeing that the columnist must have an unusual name or they would have it by that time. Probably some name they don't hear very often.

Later they looked it up. The name: Kennedy. Bill Kennedy.

TO GET some material for publicity releases, the drama dept. at Long Beach State College asks all actors in a coming production to fill out forms listing other shows done, hobbies, favorite sports, pet peeves, etc.

This was done in connection with the upcoming show, "Pursuit of Happiness" (July 25-27 and August 1-3).

The results show most of these dramatic artists think alike. A majority of them gave as their pet peeve: "Filling out forms like this," and "answering stupid questions."

ITEM here the other day mentioned the tv commercial as a hazard to people trying to take off poundage, and this brought an interesting note from Peggy Thompson, a Long Beach member of TOPS — the anti-overweight society.

Peggy said TOPS members are well aware of the tv commercial time threat and added that some of the substitutions for eating during these interludes are pretty hilarious.

She, for instance, immediately leaps to her feet and spends all the commercial time executing the twist.

At the outset, her husband thought she was nuts. But when he saw the results, he gave the strange living room gymnastics his hearty o.k.

AND now for a little Sunday mental exercise.

City Councilman Bill Graham has turned up some questions from an examination in history given to Long Beach high school students back in 1899.

How about making a try at these 12 questions (the 1899 students were given a choice of 10 out of 12)?

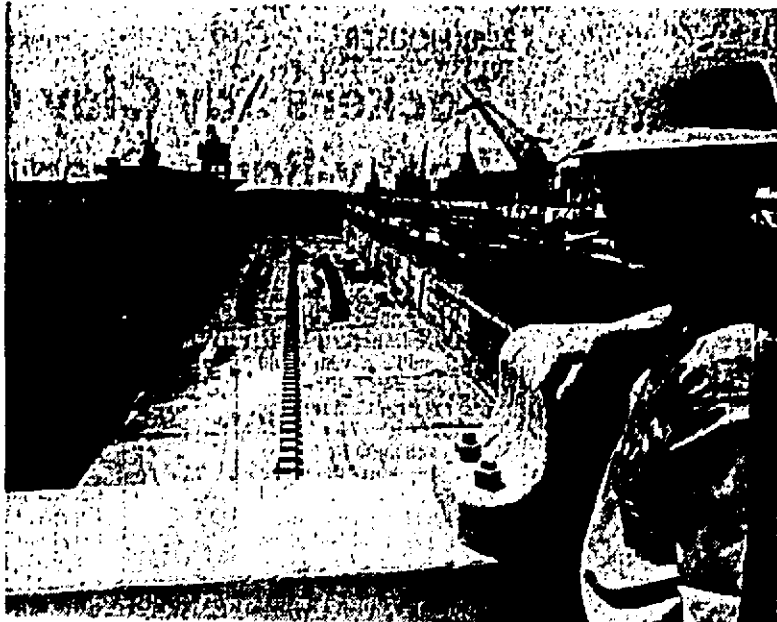

1. Give an account of the First and Second United States Banks.
2. Give an account of the great inventions made during the administrations of Washington and Jefferson.
3. What were the causes of the War of 1812?
4. What were the political parties, and which were successful in the contests between 1817 and 1820?
5. Give an account of (a) the Erie Canal, and (b) the first railroad.
6. (a) What were the three great contests of Jackson's administration? (b) Describe the trouble between South Carolina and the Federal Government.
7. Describe the Oregon-British land compromise of 1820.
8. What was the Dred Scott Case?
9. Describe and give the importance of the battle between the Merrimack and Monitor.
10. How, when, and by what method has territory been added to the United States?
11. Describe the election of Hayes in 1877.
12. Give an outline of our late war with Spain.

How was your score?

STARLIGHT SERENADE

Area Artists in Pops Spot

The second in the series of free Starlight Serenade Summer Pop Concerts at 8 p.m. July 30 in Bixby Park will pay a musical tribute to Long Beach Diamond Jubilee.

"The Salute to the Diamond Jubilee," program will feature the Long Beach Symphony Orchestra, conducted by Lauris Jones; accordion virtuoso LaVoy Halle; Clayton Ivey, who has sung with the Roger Wagner Choral, Hollywood Bowl, Los Angeles Philharmonic and San Francisco Opera Company, and the Camerata del Musica (camaraderie of musicians), under the direction of Frank Ahlrod.

MRS. HERMAN H. Ridder, chairman of the Summer Concerts program of the Long Beach Symphony Association, said the concert is aimed at highlighting the artistry of Long Beach musicians as a tribute to the celebration of the city's 75th Anniversary celebration.

"As in the past concerts, which have drawn thousands of listeners to the park," she said, "listeners are invited to make a family outing of the occasion—bring picnic dinners and enjoy a summer evening in the park while listening to the music."

SOUND, which proved a bugaboo at the last concert, is being tackled anew. Jones, who will act as master of ceremonies for the program, said city of Long Beach sound engineers who have taken on this problem know their business. "Pre-concert tests will be made this time to make sure there will be no slip-up."

The Long Beach Motor Bus Co., again will step up its schedule of bus runs from 20 to 10 minutes on the Broadway run for those who wish to take buses to the park and will watch the traffic to add any additional service required.

Halle, who has established a firm reputation for his artistry on the accordion and as composer and teacher will be featured with the orchestra in a movement from a concerto by Galliani.

Weighty Problem for Drydocking Crew

By BOB SANDERS
"It's kind of like trying to seat a dead elephant on a milk stool in a murky bathtub."

This is the way Lt. Cmdr. George W. Shaffer, 16372 Rhone Lane, Huntington Beach, describes his job as docking officer at the Long Beach Naval shipyard.

Last week he had his 36th chance of the year to practice his delicately massive art when he put the 33,000-ton amphibious assault carrier USS Valley Forge in the blocks of Drydock No. 1.

Without a hitch the big elephant settled on the milk stool as 600 million gallons of murky water was pumped out of the big bathtub.

Responsibility hangs heavily over all of the 50 men involved in the drydocking operations, but for Cmdr. Shaffer it becomes almost unbearable just before the big ship sets down on the keel blocks.

The "Happy Valley," as she is known to her crew, was put into the drydock for a three-and-half-month FRAM (Fleet Rehabilitation and Modernization) overhaul in the shipyard.

In preparation for the big ship's arrival 60 million gallons of water were pumped out of the gigantic 100-by-60-foot, 40-foot-deep drydock. This "de-watering" took 52 deep-well pumps four hours and left the cavernous dock bare to the bottom.

Nearly a hundred wooden keel blocks were meticulously placed to catch the great keel and the water pumped back in. When the dock was 40 feet full the Happy Valley started its entrance.

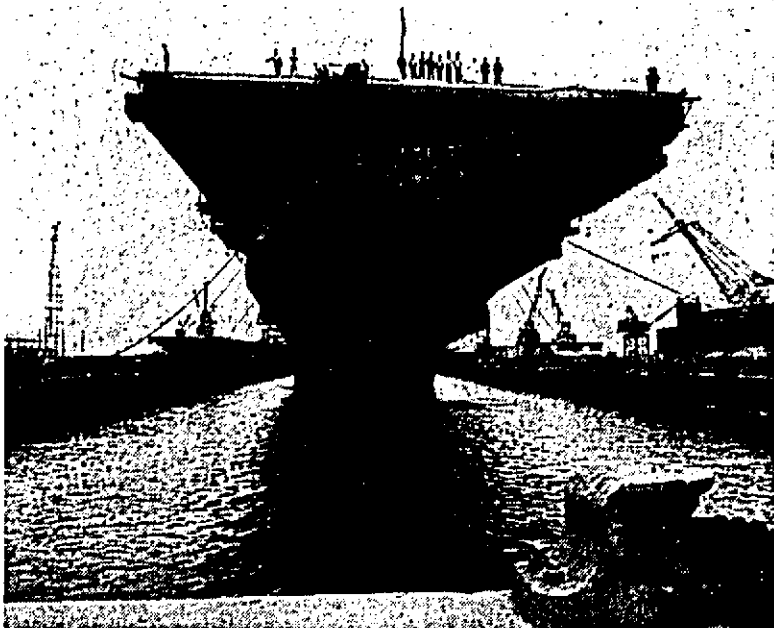

"Everywhere" is Shaffer's description of his station during a docking.

Shortly after 8 a.m. the Happy Valley crossed the dock's sill and hovered over the keel blocks. As great pumps slowly eased the water from the dock the ship groaned comfortably onto the blocks.

Cmdr. Shaffer heaved a great sigh of relief and put his pipe back in his mouth. Now all he has to worry about is getting her off in October.

Do ships ever keel over on the blocks? Cmdr. Shaffer winced: "It has happened, but never here."

Then he crossed his fingers.

USS VALLEY FORGE, 33,000-ton amphibious assault carrier, floats gracefully into drydock. Keel blocks on bottom are in position.

THEY TOUR MEXICO

Honeymoon Trip on Motor Scooter

Bounding over the Mexican terrain, newlyweds Dave and Carleta Taylor are making a wide-open honeymoon tour—on a motor scooter.

Taylor, member of the Independent, Press-Telegram editorial staff, and his wife left Long Beach June 29 and have covered about 1,200 miles—according to the motor scooter speedometer.

"Not counting a new tire I had to buy in Los Mochis to replace a blowout in the desert, while vultures stood around kibitzing the operation, the tab for the operation of the scooter thus far, including gas, oil and a new spark plug, has come to about $7.85," writes Taylor.

The figure on the speedometer doesn't tell the whole mileage story, though.

"CHUGGING OUT of Guaymas for Ciudad Obregon," Taylor notes, "we ran headlong into a storm complete with thunderbolt topping. We unpacked the scooter and were rummaging around in the bottom of the duffle bags for our ponchos when three fellows pulled up in a diesel freight cab and trailer. They spoke no English and our Spanish would paralyze a jumping bean."

Sign language attempts at communication got the Taylors nowhere. The three men took turns lifting the motor scooter's rear end, and Taylor figured it was time to say "gracias" and "vamos," when the three men "hoisted the whole machine, bag and baggage, into the trailer of their truck. The two of us were ushered into the cab of the truck with the driver and we were off on a 65-mile highball run through the storm to Obregon."

VISITING the newspaper office in Obregon, the Taylors reported that "newspapering here is somewhat different than at home. One of the printers had a guitar, another a pair of maracas, two more good strong voices, and the four of them were standing on the sidewalk in front of the office at 11 p.m. wailing Mexican music. . . . I don't know whether that newspaper ever got put to bed, but I can tell you we made a night of it."

At last report, the vagabonds on the motor scooter honeymoon had entered Mazatlan and were "greeted in full-dimensional stereo—two brass bands stationed at opposite ends of a wild outdoor beach-side cantina playing for all they're worth to the customers in between."

"HAPPY VALLEY" sits high and dry—after nearly 60 million gallons of water have been pumped out by 52 deep well pumps working four hours.

Residence Streets to Get White Lines in Center

By GEORGE WEEKS
Long Beach residential streets will be painted with a four-inch white center line to guide motorists in foggy weather, even though the city's traffic specialists recommended against the innovation.

The center-line project is one of numerous additions ordered by the City Council in the new budget adopted Saturday after preliminary approval earlier in the week.

Councilmen added $40,000 to the 1963-64 budget for the materials and labor, plus an estimated $14,500 in capital outlay. Some 575 miles of residential streets will be painted.

Councilman Robert F. Crow won the support of his colleagues in contending that the center line will promote safety despite a Police Department prediction that the effect will be to encourage speeding.

However, two other street-painting proposals suggested in the council have been rejected as impractical by City Manager John R. Mansell, sent.

Wild Car Kills Motorcyclist

An out-of-control car driven by a sailor from San Diego Saturday struck and killed a motorcyclist in unincorporated Hacienda Heights east of Whittier.

Stanley Stolluss, 31, of Hacienda Heights, was dead on arrival at St. Jude's Hospital, Fullerton.

The sailor, Clyde Perkins, 22, from the USS Henry Wilson, was booked on suspicion of manslaughter at the Norwalk sheriff's station.

Garage Looted

Two surfboards, a sleeping bag, fishing gear and a rug worth a total of $185 were taken by burglars from his garage, Chester D. Collins, of 358 E. Arbor St., told police Saturday.

ONE PAINT JOB would have created red zones to ban curb parking within 30 feet of all street corners.

It would have eliminated nearly 27,000 parking spaces, including 870 in the downtown district, Mansell estimated.

Maintenance of such red zones would cost $70,000 annually, plus the yearly loss of $18,700 from 176 metered parking spaces, according to the city manager.

The second proposal would have reinstated the old practice of painting street names on the curbs at intersections.

Most major intersections are now posted with two or more street-name signs, Mansell reported, although the city is continuing installations in residential districts.

The stenciling would have cost $40,000 a year.

'No New Taxes' Pledge Furnishes Lesson, Irony

GOV. PAT BROWN, who last year chided New York's Gov. Rockefeller for retreating from a campaign pledge of no new taxes, was in a position this week to understand how such a promise, made in complete good faith, might come to be broken.

Like Mr. Rockefeller, Mr. Brown campaigned last year on a pledge to hold the tax line, but this week he put his signature on a bill hiking the state gasoline tax and truck weight fees and authorizing an increase in vehicle license fees.

Gov. Brown, commendably, refuses to accept the rationalizations which others have been offering for this action.

When the inevitability of new taxes became quite clear, apologists declared that the special session was a new page, that the no-new-taxes pledge had applied only to the regular session.

After Gov. Brown signed the tax increase, they argued that the governor had merely promised not to ask for new taxes; he had not said he would refuse to approve them if somebody else asked for them.

These quibblings did not square entirely with remarks made by the governor over a period of many months.

AS RECENTLY AS MAY 7, he had rejected the contention that a gasoline tax hike would not really represent a new state tax. The levy would be "new taxes," he said, and a "violation of my pledge." It would be "that much more money out of the pockets of the taxpayers."

Upon signing the tax hike this week, Gov. Brown acknowledged his pledge once more and said, honestly and simply: "I made a commitment and I wanted to keep it." However, he had decided he could not withhold approval of a measure having overwhelming support from many sources, including the legislators. Hence, new taxes.

A lesson and an irony emerge from the episode. In this era of spiraling spending the promise of "no new taxes" is one which, however sincerely made, can be made only at a hazard. It is a worthy ideal, a goal the executive officer should work toward and urge other officials to accept—but it is not a thing which can be delivered like lunch on a tray. While the executive branch can express an opinion and propose a course of action, it cannot commit the legislature. Promises, then, always should be made with this explicit qualification.

AS FOR THE IRONY, it is this: Gov. Brown, striving to keep a promise made to the public, was pushed against the wall by a public request which, if answered, meant violation of the promise. The gas tax bill, providing additional funds for city and county streets, had the support of 57 of the state's 58 counties and of all the cities.

In view of that pressure, it is hard to assert that the governor broke faith with the people or acted contrary to their desire. They seem to have had less interest than he in holding the tax line.

CAPITAL CAPERS

TFX Row May End In Obsolete Plane

ACCORDING TO SOME who claim they know, the long-dragged-out fight over the TFX, which is still holding up changes in the Pentagon high command will probably end in the following fashion: Both Boeing and General Dynamics will receive contracts to build prototypes of the TFX plane. By the time the prototypes have been built, the whole plane will probably be declared obsolete.

WYOMING DEMOCRATS may have a battle of academicians in the 1964 senatorial race. Present holder of the Senate seat is Gale McGhee who used to be a professor at the University of Wyoming. Rumors are that he may become involved in a primary contest and his likely opponent will be his former boss, President Duke of the University of Wyoming.

AN AIR OF DISCOURAGEMENT is enveloping the national legislators. Almost to a man they are describing this session of Congress as "the worst ever." Said one congressman bitterly the other day: "Oh, we had a very busy week this week. We passed an automobile seat belt law."

The inactivity of Congress is so great that most members believe that it will be Christmas before this session finally staggers to a close.

Just what the trouble is no one seems to know. The answer probably lies in the leadership, but both Senate Leader Mike Mansfield and House Speaker John McCormack are personally popular with their colleagues who are therefore very loathe to place the blame upon them publicly.

A FRIEND OF OURS who infrequently visits Washington was in town recently. At a dinner party, he made some rather sweeping statement and was immediately challenged about it. A vigorous argument ensued in which our friend did not have the better of the debate. He finally heaved a sigh and remarked: "The trouble with Washington is that it shakes my faith in my most firmly held banalities."

Future College Grads May Be Billed for Their Training

1. P-T Sacramento Bureau

SACRAMENTO — A tax on brains is likely to face serious consideration before future California legislators.

Object would be to tap future college graduates after graduation for some of the cost of public-financed instruction at California colleges and universities.

The bumper crop of war babies from the World War II era is reaching college age. Their numbers will jam present college campuses and put increasing financial pressure on the public treasury.

A sign of things to come was a 1963 bill by Assemblyman John Collier, R-South Pasadena. The Collier bill would have obligated college students to sign a note for instruction costs—to be paid back after graduation when a graduate's income tops $6,000 a year.

FOES OF THE Collier bill promptly branded it a major policy break from the traditional California concept of free education through college.

This is an unfair tax on brains," says James Corley, vice president of the University of California.

Vice Chancellor Don M. Muchmore of the state college also noted that actual teaching costs are not known yet. Much more revealed, however, that studies are under way to determine the exact costs of California college instruction per student.

IN VIEW OF this still opposition to any 1963 plan for deferred-tuition fees, the Collier bill was sidetracked into interim study. But the Collier concept is far from dead and buried. Muchmore, a Long Beach resident, indicated the state colleges favor a study on future college financing.

And Corley of the University of California also favored a two-year study on the Collier proposal. The deferred-tuition plan is certain to have strong financial appeal in an era of state budget pinches.

Collier estimated that if college graduates for recent years had been signing notes for tuition-costs, an additional $130 million would have flowed into the budget.

If the legislature had okayed the Collier plan for the upcoming school year, the Assemblyman estimated it would have netted the state $500,000 in its initial year. Collier argues that the income of college graduates tops other persons. He says therefore that they should pay part of the bill personally.

The Collier plan also protects the college graduate failure. If his income doesn't reach at least $6,000 a year after graduation, his tuition note would not fall due. The Collier plan could be revamped considerably when it comes out of interim committee. Another possibility: straight tuition without the due-later notes.

AS ORIGINALLY proposed, the plan would call for "teaching costs" to be figured on the same basis as tuition for nonresident students. Nonresident fees at state colleges now is $500 a year. At the university, it is $600.

But university officials apparently feel this is a tax on brains. And though the tax collector has zeroed in on everything else, some campus defenders hope to keep brains off the tax ledgers.

DREW PEARSON

JFK Awards Maritime Post in Deal with Sen. Eastland

WASHINGTON —Toughest grilling given a Kennedy administration Democrat by fellow Democrats this year was that administered to maritime commissioner Ashton C. Barrett by the two Alaskan senators, Ernest Gruening and Bob Bartlett. Unlike many PEARSON senators from the same states who pull part, the two Alaskan senators operate as a team.

When Commissioner Barrett, who comes from Mississippi, appeared before the Senate Commerce Committee for reconfirmation for a second term, Gruening, the senior Alaskan senator, was waiting for him with the cordiality of a Kodiak bear surprised in an Aleutian berry patch.

"I am opposed to this appointment," he said, and read a 12-page statement explaining why.

Sen. Gruening is not a member of the Senate Commerce Committee so could not cross-examine the object of his scorn. But after he had given the commissioner a series of Kodiak bear hugs, the other Alaskan senator, Bob Bartlett, who is a member of the committee, took over as follows:

BARTLETT: Mr. Barrett, did you have any connection in any way with the maritime industry before becoming a member of the commission?

BARRETT: No, sir.

BARTLETT: What had been your business?

BARRETT: My what?

BARTLETT: Your business?

BARRETT: Well—in the clothing business, laundry business, and also real estate. I own property, commercial property, in Biloxi, Gulfport, Birmingham. . . I developed a subdivision, made some money off that, and am now developing some property in Birmingham, Alabama.

BARTLETT: Now, you say?

BARRETT: Yes, sir, my son-in-law is representing me. He is also one of the major stockholders.

BARTLETT: But you were actually in business at the time of your appointment?

BARRETT: Yes, sir.

BARTLETT: And you had no association previously with the maritime business?

BARRETT: Not directly.

Backers Say Clay Can Fill Rocky-Barry Breach to Win

MEDAL OF HONOR winner Robert W. O'Neill of Bronxville, N. Y., urges Republican leaders to draft Gen. Lucius D. Clay as "a middle-of-the-road Republican who could unite all factions and elements of the Republican party and is probably the only Republican who could be elected president."

Former Congressman Hamilton Fish, 74 of New York, is on the O'Neill committee to draft Clay and said Friday that although Clay would not be a candidate, the General had given assurance that he would accept a draft.

So new a prospect that he has not yet been buried under a label, Clay indeed deserves a line on his qualifications as the breach-filler the GOP needs.

That need was stated in emphatic terms this week by columnist William S. White, who said many GOP professionals thought Gov. Rockefeller's July 14 blast against his party's right wing may have destroyed his own presidential chances as well as those of Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona.

Those names also occurred to one Dwight D. Eisenhower, who is reputed to have added a fourth among his favorites, Lucius D. Clay. Herein, of course, lies the nucleus of a label-making venture to tab Clay an Eisenhower Republican.

Clay, a 66-year-old Wall Street investment banker who can do one-handed push-ups, is probably best known to the public as the man who called the Soviet bluff in the Berlin blockade of 1948 when he was military governor for the U. S. zone of Germany and commander-in-chief of U. S. forces in Europe. He became chief executive of Continental Can Co. in 1950, a year after leaving the Army, and pumped the firm's annual sales volume from $100 million to $1.1 billion. He left the company last year at age 65 and started his investment banking career as a senior partner in Lehman Brothers.

GENERAL CLAY is also a director of General Motors, Allied Chemical, American Express, United States Lines and Chase International Investment Corp.

Spearheader O'Neill promotes Clay because "I am deeply interested in the defense of the United States and of the free nations against the aggression of world Communism."

O'Neill describes Clay as—next to General MacArthur—one of the greatest administrators in the history of our country, and "only recently he raised a million dollars for release of the Cuban prisoners captured at the Bay of Pigs."

O'Neill also attaches, by inference, the "can't win" stigma to Rockefeller, Goldwater, Scranton and Romney: "This letter urges the nomination of a Republican candidate for President who can win. The only thing that counts in politics is success in battle."

Columnist White would seem to agree in characterizing Rocky as one who would rather scuttle his own and his party's chances next year than reduce his civil rights demands to the degree entertained by Goldwater.

★ ★ ★
GOLDWATER BACKERS, most recently and vehemently the national Young Republican convention in San Francisco, have vocalized a separate but equal death wish—in some observers' view—in demanding what they deem to be the long overdue presidential test of pure conservatism versus liberalism.

Rail Fact-Finders Are Not Needed

EDITOR:

We read in the paper July 11 "Panel seeks solution to rail crisis." This panel, appointed by President Kennedy, will report its fact findings on July 22, and he will submit it and legislative requests to Congress.

The fact is, another fact-finding board appointed by the President last May gave him all the facts needed regarding this promised rail strike. In order to keep the railroads in business it was found necessary to eliminate unnecessary jobs, but if they did, the unions would tie up the nation with a strike. It was also decided that the railroads would be within their rights.

We don't need panels to decide how to run railroads. Our problem is union leaders who don't know yet what makes the wheels go around. What makes jobs is business that can make a profit. If the Reds get over here, there will be no more $4 per hour jobs and just to make sure there are no strikes they shoot a few union leaders every morning before breakfast.

Oilman Responds to Pearson Piece

EDITOR:

In reference to a June 30 Drew Pearson column written by his associate, Jack Anderson, on H. L. Hunt:

Hunt is no more eccentric than the average person. He is for depletion allowance on all depletable natural resources but does not mix this with his campaign for Americanism. Hunt is opposed to Communism, Socialists and all attempts to compromise between Freedom and slavery. He has been an unskilled laborer, farmer and businessman since the age of 13.

It is well known that the wild story is untrue that "Hunt got into the oil business on a roll of the dice." Hunt does not carry or "flash $1,000 bills," and it is widely known that he and his household live frugally and drive small and middle-sized American cars.

Hunt never once "plugged the oil depletion allowance along with his concept of Americanism." The Hunt Petroleum Co. did not supply LIFE LINE's radio and TV minister with a script. The "accompanying private letter" from Mr. Quinn was not "private" as it was a transmittal letter similar to those sent to the Vice-President of the U.S., hundreds of Members of Congress, commentators and publications. Hunt has not seen the letter from Wayne Poucher to a fellow churchman concerning Poucher's ministerial relationship with Hunt which so delighted the columnist.

The columnist concerns himself with the "grizzled old billionaire" making his peace with his Maker. He could have easily learned that Hunt belonged to the Methodist Church and moved his membership to the Baptist Church in 1960.

Hunt did not apply for LIFE LINE's second class mailing permit. In politics, Hunt is a registered Democrat although he votes for the candidates he considers the best, whatever their political party may be. Hunt does encourage good people to run for office and has granted leaves of absence to employees to enable them to serve in public office.

Shelter Appeal Gets Results

EDITOR:

The sensitive and informative coverage given in the need for shelter homes which appeared in your paper on July 14, is receiving excellent response. The Child Welfare Division in your area received 150 inquiries in the first two days after the appearance of Mr. Brackenbury's story. Many, I am certain, were from people that should develop into good foster parents.

On behalf of the three Los Angeles County child placing agencies and the children that need care, thank you for your fine help.

Languages in the News

By Charles F. Kelly and Robert Thompson-Davis

Southeast Asian countries have been favoring measures restricting Chinese land-holding in their areas, as their Chinese populations have become too numerous and strong for comfort.

There are millions of overseas Chinese throughout the world, most of whom retain a deep affinity for their homeland. Chinese in America usually come from Canton province and speak Cantonese (a different language from the northern, official, Chinese, called Mandarin, or Kwo-yu), while the Chinese colonies in Asia are likely to come from Fukien province and speak still another dialect. The Chinese writing system, however, is the same for all.

Overseas Chinese call themselves Hwa-chao, meaning "flowery leaves" indicating they are leaves of the Flowery Kingdom, as China is classically known. What we call Chinatown, the Chinese call Tang ren kal chieh—literally, "The Section of the Tong People," referring to one of the great Chinese dynasties, during which China attained her widest influence in Asia. Chinatown is also sometimes called Hwa-pu, "The Flowery Place."

Weekend Jail Sentence Didn't Work, So Man Sent to Prison

Colin Bruce Hill, convicted last month of manslaughter, but given a chance to stay free and be a good citizen, was sent to state prison Friday after he threw that chance away.

Hill, a 34-year-old transplanted Australian, was convicted June 12 of causing an automobile collision Feb. 29 which took the life of Mrs. Tillie Yetz, 50.

Superior Court Judge Maurice C. Sparling, who had found Hill guilty of manslaughter, then placed him on "vacation" and sentenced him to serve weekends in jail for three months so that he could continue to support his wife and their two children.

ON JULY 1, the Monday after Hill completed his third weekend in jail, he got drunk, attacked his wife, Joy, and a one-to-five-year term,

Union Pays $25,000 Yearly to Politicians

VANCOUVER, B. C. (AP)—A New York union official says his union spends $25,000 a year to keep on the right side of politicians and put out $10,000 for tickets to President Kennedy's birthday dinner.

Tom Shortman, 63, president of the New York City Local of the Building Service Employees International Union said his union supports both political parties equally.

Shortman was quoted in a Vancouver Sun interview. He is here for the union's western conference convention.

Army Drops Mess Tray, Gets 'Homes'

FORT DIN, N. J. (UPI)—The food still may not be just like mother makes, but the U. S. Army is experimenting with making the serving of it more homelike.

At reserve training mess halls here last week soldiers gave up the traditional trays with individual compartments. Instead, they were offered an extra large tray and individual glasses, cups, bread and butter plates, dinner dishes, dessert dishes and cereal bowls.

The china is white decorated with two light blue rings. It's also unbreakable.

Sgt. I.C. John E. Janega, the mess steward, said acceptance of the new china by enlisted men has been enthusiastic.

Potters' Union Chooses L.B.

Delegates of the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters meeting in Las Vegas for their 1963 convention announced Saturday they have chosen Long Beach as the site for their 1964 convention.

E. L. Wheatley, the union's president, said the 220 delegates represent 112 locals with 20,000 members.

In other action the convention voted to promote equality of opportunity on a local level and to provide scholarships for immediate families of union members. Other topics discussed were automation and imports.

Hunt Plane Reported in Crash

FARMVILLE, Va. (AP)—Police officers and rescue squadmen searched along the Appomattox River in Cumberland County Saturday night for a military air transport plane reported to have crashed.

State police said officers could not locate the site of the unconfirmed plane crash. Federal Aviation Agency officials in Washington said there was no military plane reported overdue in this area. Farmville police said the crash was reported to them by a man who identified himself as George Yeatts of Cumberland County.

They said Yeatts told them he had received a telephone call from "a Gen. Johnston" who said he was aboard the plane when it crashed and that 20 had been injured and needed medical attention. Yeatts quoted the "Gen. Johnston" as saying the military plane was enroute from Maine to Florida.

'MONSTER' DREDGE...Chews Up Harbor Floor

EARTHY PROBLEM

Powerful New 'Teeth' Put on World Fair Pier J Job

By BUCK LANIER

Don Graham has an earthy problem: He needs 33 million cubic yards of soil.

That's what he is endeavoring to get as project manager for Construction Aggregates of Chicago. It involves making "something out of nothing."

The "nothing" is Long Beach Harbor silt and "something" will be 310 acres of 1967 World's Fair land that just was not there.

Graham, a veteran of dredging work all over the U.S. and Canada, claims "this is one of my toughest assignments."

AFTER STARTING he saw he would be a long way from bringing up the 33 million yards to sandwich into a huge pyramid based on millions of tons of rock.

It will be Pier J, the Fair power chewing away on the site.

DON GRAHAM
Earth Mover

His dredge, with a monster-like 27-ton cutter on the ladder, had a mere 1,000 horse-

"I needed more horses running around in that cutter-head and I need them in a hurry," the Canadian-born engineer said.

"I called Western Gear Corp. in Everett, Wash., and told them the problem. Officials were amazed, but came through in record time. Then I was able to see my goal of 1 1/2 million cubic yards a month in sight," he said.

THE NEW drive has 5,250 horsepower and it is operating around the clock seven days a week.

"You can tell the difference on the dredge, too, because the vibrations are noticeable and visible. The torque is terrific," he said.

"Going into this harbor bottom is like sticking an ice pick into brick," Graham declared.

"In about a month, maybe 25 days, land will begin peeping out, nearly two miles from us. Actually we will just be getting started, but that land will look good."

GRAHAM SAID the cutter's shaft is 53 feet deep and after breaking up the compacted sand, a 14,000 horsepower suction pump brings up the bottom and pumps it 9,200 feet to Pier J. It is operations chief as well as project manager for the Sensibar Brothers, CA's owners.

Reuben Bryant, 2285 Chestnut Ave., is project engineer, responsible for the big cutter, getting a steady diet of harbor bottom.

More Deep Sea Pressure Tests on Men to Start

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON (AP)—The second phase of a U. S. Navy program to test how men can live under the high pressure beneath the sea is scheduled to get under way Aug. 15.

The Navy said that four candidates for this phase of project "Genesis I" have volunteered to spend two weeks in a tank at New London, Conn., under conditions equivalent to that of 200 feet beneath the sea.

Later, at a date still undecided, the final phase will be undertaken. In that test, the experiment will be full-scale, with men living in a chamber sunk into 200 feet of water in the open sea.

IT IS NOW routine for men to live for protracted periods at depths of several hundred feet—in submarines. However, the atmosphere in a submarine is kept the same as that on the surface, a pressure of about 14.7 pounds per square inch. Polaris missile subs can remain submerged for up to 60 days.

But the Genesis research program is directed at determining man's capability to live for weeks or longer under conditions like that in which divers operate. A diver's body adjusts to the surrounding pressure as he descends. But he must be decompressed slowly as he surfaces, or kept in a decompression tank until his body readjusts to surface pressure.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., cited in the Senate what he called examples of the "imaginings" of the men on President Kennedy's New Frontier.

Williams said the Department of Health, Education and Welfare has approved research grants providing:

- $16,731 for a study of the "regulation of development of the mouse egg."
- $9,740 for a study of the "physiological adaptation of the Mexican free-tailed bat."
- $4,120 to promote a study of the "effects of frustration on a reflex response."

THE BUSINESS WEEK

Order Strong Medicine to Hold Dollar Standing

By DARDEN CHAMBLISS

NEW YORK (AP)—The Administration has prescribed strong medicine for the nation's balance of payments illness that has recently taken a turn for the worse.

These efforts to preserve the dollar's good credit rating in international commerce took the spotlight in the week's economic events.

The Federal Reserve Board boosted the interest rate it charges commercial banks, thereby seeking to make investments here attractive enough to keep more money at home.

President Kennedy called for a tax on purchase of foreign stocks on U.S. exchanges to discourage investment money from leaving via that route.

And Kennedy announced that the country has, for the first time, arranged to tap the International Monetary Fund for 500 million, if needed, to counter any speculative raids on the dollar.

The moves represent further efforts to treat the international payments problem selectively, with least possible side effects on the domestic economy.

THAT DOMESTIC economy, meanwhile, continued to perk along heartily. While the threat of a rail strike still hangs darkly overhead, there have been a succession of cheering business developments.

The Labor Department reported the average earnings of factory workers hit an all-time high of $100.61 a week in June, a month in which overall employment topped 70 million for the first time.

Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz, called the figures "impressive," said they reflected a continued strengthening of the economy.

Steel production turned upward, suggesting the slump following a new labor contract may not last as long as expected. The Federal Reserve Board production index hit 125.1 per cent for the fifth consecutive monthly record.

President Kennedy reported that higher-than-expected tax revenues and lower-than-expected spending reduced the budget deficit for the year ended June 30 to $6.2 billion, a welcome change from the $8.8 billion that had been forecast.

ANOTHER highlight of the week's news was still being evaluated for plus or minus values. That was a critical report by the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) on stock trading practices.

THE balance of payments problem had raised new concern because it has faltered this year on what had seemed to be a path in the right direction.

The current problem is generally dated to 1958, when the deficit jumped suddenly to $3.4 billion. That means that America paid out that much more—for purchases, investments, military and economic aid and the like—than it got back from foreign countries. In 1959, the deficit grew to $3.8 billion, and in 1960 it was $3.9 billion. Then it was trimmed to $2.5 billion in 1961 and last year it was down to $2.2 billion.

This year, however, import—with a new wave of domestic prosperity and more money to spend on such things—rose faster than exports. And investments abroad, where the industrial growth rate is higher than in the United States, rose faster than foreign investments here.

Largely because of these two trend changes, the deficit began to grow, indicating an annual rate of about $3 billion.

It was against this background that the government acted.

Nurse Ruled Responsible in Hit-Run Death

GARDEN GROVE — A coroner's jury ruled Friday that Mrs. Aphrodite Chilimpis of Costa Mesa was "criminally responsible" for the traffic death of Jack D. Lawton, 28, of Santa Ana, and today she faces possible prosecution. Deputy District Attorney Cecil Hicks said that his office is studying the transcript of the testimony before the coroner's jury and will meet with Garden Grove police before deciding on a complaint. Lawton was hit July 5 while crossing Garden Grove Boulevard east of Harbor Boulevard. Mrs. Chilimpis, 37, a registered nurse employed at the county's Juvenile Hall, told police that she had hit "something" but insisted she did not know it was a person. She later called officers and said it must have been "a pedestrian" after fellow workers saw extensive damage to her car. He died July 8.

A young Santa Ana woman, 15, all formerly of 1410 Highland St.

The death of the Scheuer baby occurred at the time of the death of Potts' baby by his wife, Rose. Both babies, about three months old, died under mysterious circumstances and were buried in shallow graves in a remote area near Russellville, Ark., police said.

Three other persons have been arrested on the same charge, police said. They are John T. Potts, 27, the baby's father; his father, Rhodes, 64; and John's brother, William, 15, all formerly of 1410 Highland St.

A few weeks after they reached Albuquerque, N.M., early this year, Leonard Scheuer was arrested on grand theft charges and jailed. The rest of the group continued on to Tennessee. Mrs. Scheuer told authorities there was an argument near Russellville. She left briefly, and found the babies dead when she returned. She said John Potts told her the babies suffocated in their sleep. They were buried a short time later, she added. The group then returned to Albuquerque, where Mrs. Scheuer called her mother in Santa Ana requesting money for bus fare back to California, and she returned to Santa Ana in June. The Potts remained in New Mexico.

Bill to Make Kite Flying in Capital Legal

WASHINGTON — A New Jersey congressman plans to introduce a bill to make kite flying legal in Washington.

"The President, poor fellow, has to go all the way up to Hyannis port to teach his children how to fly one," said Rep. Frank Thompson Jr.

The New Jersey Democrat, who likes to fly kites himself, recently discovered that flying kites and hot air balloons is punishable here by a $10 fine.

British Service Unity Dooms Storied Admiralty

By TOM OCHILTREE

LONDON (AP) — The admirals around the table scribble on pads placed before them and speak in hushed tones of nuclear submarines and Polaris missiles.

Somehow they seem more like monks than warriors as they analyze the West's deterrent and second strike capability and compare it with the nuclear punch of the other side. Their conversation is as grimly topical as the fears of tomorrow. But the setting is odd. This is the oak paneled board room of the admiralty, where the Admiralty, William Marsden, works on papers by candlelight. As far as the morning and the secretary of the Admiralty, William Marsden, works on papers by candlelight. As far as the morning and the secret to the autumn of 1805, the poleon is still unchecked—his room is the same. The identical tall clock ticks in the corner. Above the fireplace door by the clock stumbles a tired, mud stained lieutenant from the sloop Pickle.

Suddenly in through the door by the clock stumbles a tired, mud stained lieutenant from the sloop Pickle.

The lieutenant, his voice heavy with emotion and fatigued, tells Marsden: "Sir, we have won a great victory but we have lost Lord Nelson."

That is how the news of Trafalgar broke.

No wonder the room is re-garded by Sir Winston Churchill and many others as an inner sanctum of British history.

Yet its status seems destined to change soon. It may become a museum instead of continue as the nerve center for the direction of the British navy.

employees at the Admiralty view with sadness the prospect that bus loads of tourists some time may walk through this room where Anson, Howe, Keppel, Jellicoe and Churchill experienced triumphs and disappointments in two world wars.

Yet change seems inevitable now that Prime Minister Macmillan's cabinet is moving to integrate the navy, army and air force in a strengthened defense ministry. After integration, Britain's Board of Admiralty, War Council and Air Council pre-

Willie Brown To Take Bride

Pearls from the Sunday pulpit:

USC's All-America halfback prospect, Willie Brown, plans to join the ranks of married collegiate gridders Aug. 2 when he ties the knot with Carole Johnson of Compton in ceremonies at the Elks Lodge here. Best man will be another athlete of whom you may have heard, Dee Andrews. At the moment, Willie is considering seriously some fat baseball bonus offers. But this corner hopes the young man holds off at least until after the forthcoming college season. Baseball can wait. That All-America tag he should receive this football season will be worth a lot to him in the years to come.

The Lakers' plans to stage "a number of games" in Long Beach Arena this winter fell through with a loud thud. The only "attraction" here will be on March 11 when the Lakers meet the new Baltimore club. That's as tasty a dish as the Yanks playing the Senators.

Cliff Livingston, the newest Ram, was paid a hefty compliment the other day by his boss and ex-Giant teammate, Harland Svare. "In 1961," said Svare, "I considered Cliff the top outside linebacker in the whole league." If Cliff is back to that '61 form, the Rams might have a linebacking corps equal to the best in either NFL division.

I see where the Angel writers now are quoting a restaurant owner on the attitude and condition of their prize pet, Bush Belinsky. The hash house proprietor claimed Bush was mentally ready to pitch again, so the Angels patted his head and returned their stray sheep to the fold. Isn't that sweet?

The Angels made another wrong move (as far as this department is concerned) if the report is true that they wiped out a $2,000 debt owed them by Bush. No wonder Haney and Rigney are concerned about their club's attitude this season. I'm sure the move was completely unappreciated as far as the other Seraph players were concerned. (And what a fine example for Little Leaguers!)

On the subject of Little League, President Frank Mott of the East L.B. circuit has an answer to raving parents in the stands. "If anyone in the stands during our games picks on an umpire or a kid in the field, that person either leaves or we call the game," says Mott. The system has worked very well... only one expulsion has been recorded in two years and everybody's happier.

HATS OFF to Payton Jordan, senior coach of the U.S. track team, for standing up to those other U.S. cinder officials who want separate scoring tactics for the Russia-U.S. meet. As you know, unofficial Olympic Games team scoring has been on a combined men's-women's basis. Since we always get clobbered in the women's division, AAU and other officials want to keep that scoring separate from men's activities, in which we usually emerge slightly ahead. If we can't score more points than the Russians on a COMBINED basis, then we don't deserve to be called winners. (And we should either juice-up our women's contingent or junk their competition entirely.)

That poor radio fellow who picked the Reds to bag the National League pennant is in a stew this week over the Dodgers' present commanding bulge. "I think the Dodgers will still blow the pennant again," he snorted one evening. "How are they any better off than last year when they blew it? Their only difference is having Bob Miller instead of Stan Williams... and Miller is no Williams." (Well, I never realized Stan commanded that much respect, but I will tell the fellow how the Dodgers are better off than last year: They have Sandy Koufax HEALTHY for the last half of the campaign... and, therefore, should breeze like Cadiz in a morning workout.)

FIRST RETURNS in our private poll to determine if fans appreciate the shorter baseball games this season are interesting, if not conclusive yet. Three of the first four persons to check in want LONGER games. Here's a sampling:

J. K. Lopez hates to drive all the way to Dodger Stadium to see Sandy Koufax go through nine innings in 90 minutes. I barely get my car parked before I have to take it home again.

"I go to see runs, lots of them," wrote Albert Kajajian. "I go once a week and like the three-hour games. They're more fun."

Bernard Weinberg says "just because sportswriters are bored with long games is no sign the fan is, too. The wild games are the ones the paying customer likes."

On the other hand, Fred Wallen supports the short game stand because "snappy, crisp games mean better baseball and that's what I go to see. Those drawn-out three-hour Rigney-Dark things are for the birds and amateurs." (Nice to have you aboard, Fred.)

Oh, yes, this corner's prediction on the Liston-Patterson thing in Vegas: Liston, in any round he desires (or when he can catch Floyd). Anything else should be investigated by a Senate committee.

Cooper Enters Baseball Camp L.A. Swim Meet

Pan American champion Newport Beach, grandson of U.S. Women's national Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Simmons, platform champion Linda Long Beach, spent three weeks Cooper of Long Beach State at Wally Moon's Baseball is the latest entry for the Camp in Covina and grabbed fifth Los Angeles Invitational most of the awards tendered swimming and diving meet by the Dodger outfielder. ## REDS IN 4TH PLACE

Nuxhall Baffles Slumping Giants

CINCINNATI (UPI)—Joe Nuxhall tossed a seven-hit ball and Gene Freeze batted home all three Cincinnati runs with a homer and a two-run single as the Reds defeated the San Francisco Giants, 3-2, Saturday night and took over fourth place in the National League.

With the Reds trailing, 2-1 in the seventh inning, Freeze hit a two-out single through the middle, driving home Vada Pinson and Frank Robinson with the tying and winning tallies. Freeze had homered in the fifth for the first Cincinnati run.

The Giants had one more

Simmons, Cards Top Colts, 8-1

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Backed by a 17-hit barrage, including seven doubles, St. Louis left-hander Curt Simmons pitched an eight-hit, 8-1 victory over the Houston Colts Saturday night, finally winning his eighth game after three straight losses.

Simmons had a five-hit shutout going into the ninth, but the Colts broke the string of zeroes on consecutive singles by Jimmy Wynn, Bob Aspromonte and Howie Goss.

Curt Flood and Tim McCarver each hammered two doubles as the veteran southpaw Simmons struck out five and walked only one. Simmons had difficulty getting his eighth win, this start being his sixth attempt for the elusive victory.

Once Over Lightly

Sonny's 'Look of Meanness' Effective

LAS VEGAS — Boxing men here for Monday night's heavyweight title go can't recall any fighter who has had a "meaner look" than Sonny Liston. And it is emphasized all the more by his growing reputation of being the surliest champion of all-time.

Liston is well aware of his "mean look" and frankly admits he uses it as a weapon against opponents . . . usually at the weighing-in ceremonies.

"I'm always hearing people say, 'he sure has a look of meanness,'" Sonny reveals. "I suppose that's because I keep a serious look when I'm in public and laugh only when I'm with people I know."

"One writer called me mean, ornery, cruel and inhuman, but I'm not really a mean man unless somebody gives me trouble. I've changed a lot since becoming champion . . . for the better."

However, those who have observed him in recent weeks report he's changed all right. "He's even worse now," one writer says.

IF IT WASN'T FOR A PRESS AGENT attached to his camp, his "public relations" would be in even more of a shambles than it is now.

Anyway, Liston, who has learned to handle a press conference exceptionally well for an uneducated man, says he deliberately tries to look mean. He scowls a lot and glares at anyone who comes close.

"That's the way I want it—at least for now," he says. "It's a look that makes folks hesitate to take advantage of me."

"I'm asked a lot of questions. Some makes sense, some don't. Then there are some people who pop one at me that's kinda personal which makes me mad. That's why I keep a mean look . . . so nobody will take liberties with me."

SONNY ALWAYS CARRIES HIS "LOOK" with him when he faces his opponent.

And just a sight of the "big bear," as Cassius Clay calls him, is enough to strike terror in the hearts of some potential opponents.

At a weigh-in, his "look" is one of pure hate and hostility . . . and he beams it on his rival. In some cases, it seems to have cast a sort of hypnotic spell over opponents.

Eddie Machen endured the "stare" for about three minutes while weighing-in for their fight a year and a half ago before finally blurring out . . . "You ain't scaring nobody, Sonny."

But that night, Machen "ran" for the whole 12 rounds.

LISTON'S LAST OPPONENT BEFORE winning the title from Patterson last September in Chicago was Albert Westphal of Germany.

Sonny gave him one of his special "stares" during the weigh-in. Westphal is a very friendly fellow and Liston's attitude upset him. "Why do you look so angry," he asked. "You can talk to me, I'm your friend."

That night, Liston knocked him out in 1:56 of the first round with the first punch he threw—a right which Sonny says is the hardest punch he's ever thrown.

He gave Patterson the "stare" when they signed for their first bout; did it again during the weigh-in, and no doubt will be at his "scowling" best on Monday's weigh-in.

Floyd refused to look Liston in the eye during the weigh-in for the Chicago bout . . . but it was obvious that he could "feel" Sonny's scorching gaze and knew he was trying to intimidate him.

LISTON IS A MAN OF WILD contrasts. His moods deteriorate from friendliness to black anger quickly.

Sonny is very ill at ease with strangers. Talks very little . . . and hates interviews by newspapermen. One veteran scribe said after one especially nasty session with Liston . . . "I'd almost rather fight him than go through that again."

Yet, he is quite a practical joker among his small circle of friends and associates . . . and quite witty, too. He was asked how he thought Patterson felt when he hit him in their first fight. After thinking for a minute, he answered the question by saying . . . "Well, I'd say it was like you were walking down the street and looking back and you ran right into a post—and the post don't give."

AND IN ANSWERING A QUESTION as to how long he expected the fight to last, he said "It won't go 15 rounds even if I broke both my hands. Patterson and me are like husband and wife. The first fight married us. Now I'm getting a divorce."

Sonny's gone through the hot-foot and "buzzer handshake" phase, but he picks up some new tricks ever so often.

One of his classic stunts occurred when he was in preliminary training in the Catskills for his first bout with Patterson, a national magazine sent a writer to interview him.

The writer didn't recognize Liston . . . and ended up interviewing Willie Reddish, his trainer, whom Sonny himself introduced as "Sonny Liston."

LISTON'S "LOOK OF MEANNESS" is more than skin deep. He is mean despite the fact they keep trying to cover it up.

Because of his "look," his past record and the fact he respects no one, he'll never be a popular champion. The sentiment here is all for Patterson.

But Sonny doesn't care. "I feel people are beginning to accept me for what I am—a fighter. They are now treating me as I wished they would have done years ago. "It's a great feeling to hear folks say 'there's Sonny Liston, the world heavyweight champion.' It beats hearing them say Liston is a thug. Being the champ has brought a new life to me," he says.

But the "mean look" stays on. It's part of his makeup. And to an opponent, it can be almost as effective as his left hand!

Claim Title Fight 'Strictly on Level'

One break for Patterson is that the mandatory 8-ounce will be in effect. And they'll wear eight-ounce gloves.

The Nevada State Athletic Commission has paved the way for a referee to be imported most likely from Los Angeles. The judges will be local men.

Both fighters are in excellent condition . . . Patterson a shade "finer" than Liston. But disregard reports that Sonny isn't in good shape. He was down to 216 Thursday and looks trim.

Patterson hopes to weigh-in Monday morning at around 195—heaviest he has ever been. But he has had trouble holding his weight up over 190 pounds.

Incidentally, Floyd sparred a total of 97 rounds and Liston 73 for the bout.

Patterson, of course, figures his speed, movement and bobbing and weaving will carry the fight into the late rounds in the hope that Liston will tire and thus enable him to go on the attack.

The fellows who have run have been the most difficult opponents for Liston—Eddie Machen and Bert Whitehurst to name a couple who went the distance with him. The speed boys annoy him.

Thus, if Patterson uses his speed with continuous wise caution in the large 22-foot ring, he has a longshot chance.

But Floyd has always been guilty of making mistakes that would embarrass an amateur and some believe that he will disregard counsel and try to prove his courage—which was questioned after the first fight—by challenging Liston . . . an opponent who shouldn't be challenged chest-to-chest.

As ex-champion Joe Louis was saying . . . "He do that and he's got to be taken out fast. He got to box the man low because Liston got so much muscle he got trouble punching down. Floyd's got to move the man side-to-side. He can't stand there and punch with him. Sonny's too strong." Other ex-champions in all divisions here for the fight say the same thing.

Patterson has definite physical problems to contend with. As one trainer says "He just doesn't have a long enough reach to fight Liston. He has the speed and could run, but his reach still isn't long enough to keep Sonny away. And he tried to get in close in the first fight and he found out like all the others that no man has yet been able to come to Liston."

Floyd insists that "I didn't get a chance to show what I could do the first time. I know what he can do, but he doesn't know what I can do."

Liston's answer to that should best be left unsaid. Liston frankly says he'll crowd Patterson and just overpower him. He believes that the first fairly good punch he lands will end it.

Sonny was asked how he would fight "if he had to fight himself?"

"I wouldn't fight him," he answered.

But suppose you did?

"Then I'd go out and buy me a disguise so I could leave right for home as soon as they picked me up off the floor," Sonny quipped.

And that about sums up the feelings of most of the writers here to cover the fight.

Liston appears to have too much, strength, punching power and reach for Floyd.

It all shapes up to another quick ending . . . probably within three rounds.

THAT 'LOOK OF MEANNESS'

Sonny Liston has that 'Look of Meanness' as he wallows punching bag during workout in Las Vegas Saturday.

BUSINESS BOOMING FOR FLOYD

LAS VEGAS—Floyd Patterson will join two of baseball's all-time greats, Jackie Robinson and Willie Mays, in a new financial venture—a 201-room hotel and gambling casino on Grand Bahamas Island 50 miles off Palm Beach, Florida.

This was announced Saturday by Patterson's attorney, Julius November, at Floyd's final press conference before Monday's fight with Sonny Liston.

November also revealed that a Patterson-Robinson integrated housing development in New York is turning out highly successful and that the two will realize a profit of around $250,000.

The housing project consists of 1,000 homes selling for $8,000 with a down payment of only $500.

He also revealed that Floyd has invested heavily in stocks, and is currently purchasing a large apartment building in New York.

THE PACIFIC QUEEN

PACIFIC SPORTFISHING INC.

PROUDLY PRESENTS...

Deluxe Addition to the Port of Long Beach Sportfishing Fleet

Newest Luxury Craft Now on Albacore Runs

Newest addition to the fine fleet of sportfishing boats operating from the Port of Long Beach, the deluxe 85-foot Pacific Queen is now on a daily albacore run, Pacific Sportfishing Inc., announced.

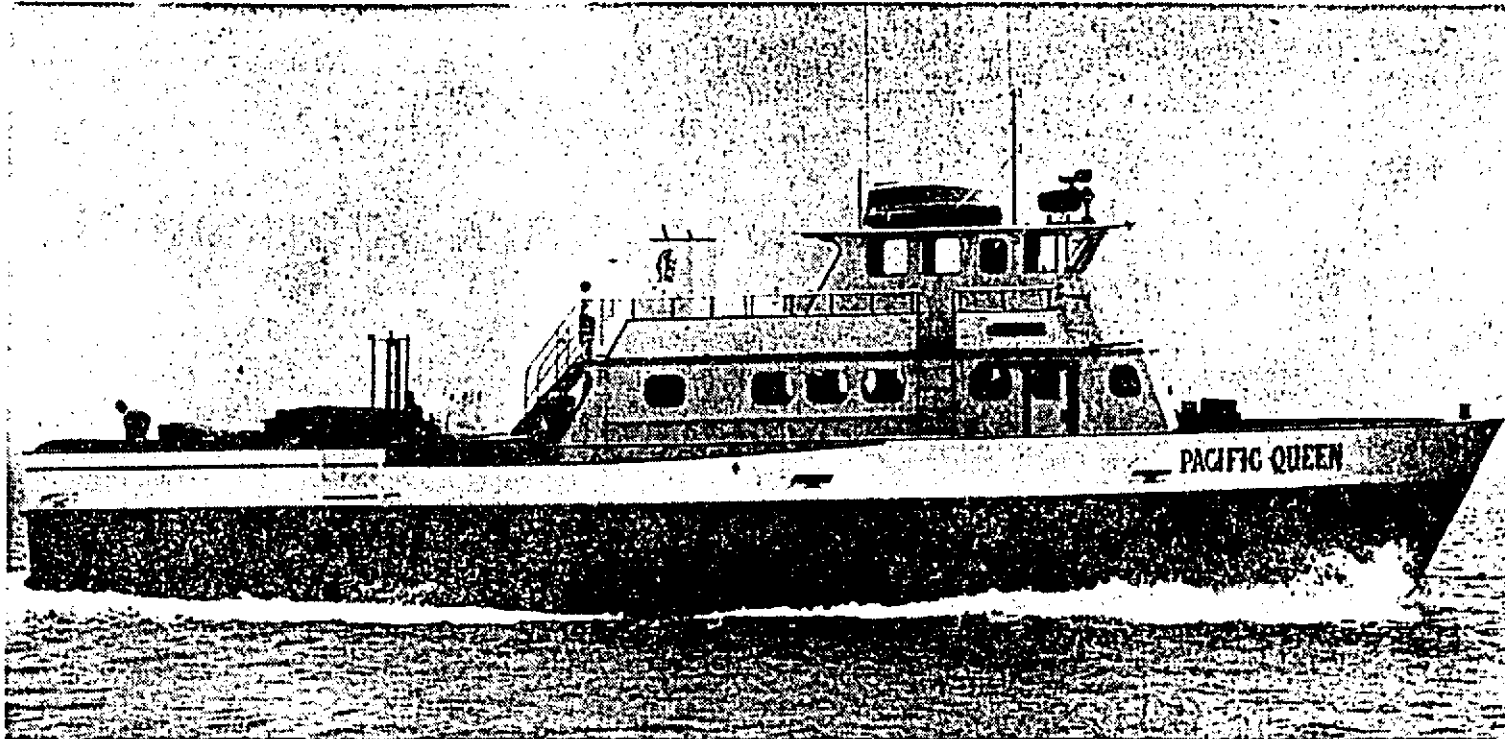

Designed for speed, luxury and comfort and equipped with the best of electronic gear, this Queen of Pacific's sportfishing fleet is the culmination of years of planning by A. O. "Pop" Leavitt and F. E. "Eddie" McEwen, owners of Pacific, the Southland's oldest sportfishing firm. Capt. McEwen will be at the helm of the Queen.

Spacious deck, large all-electric galley and sleeping berths for everyone aboard are but some of the many features on the new boat. Foam rubber mattresses 5 inches thick, covered in Naugahyde, are found in each berth. Among incidentals which add to passenger comfort are individual lighting, electric plug-ins at each berth for electric blankets or shaving.

Powered by Cummins VT-12 diesel engines with 1200 horsepower, the Queen also has twin auxiliary diesels to provide 110-volt AC power for the electronic gear and lighting.

Raytheon radar, automatic direction finder and depth recorder are all of the newest models. The Queen also has automatic pilot, 150-watt radiotelephone and Citizens Band radio among other electronic equipment.

The heavy planked hull of the craft is designed to plane on the water and Capt. McEwen said tests run proved: "She really is a Pacific Queen in her own right."

PACIFIC QUEEN—BUILT FOR SPEED AND COMFORT

Newcomers to the Southland or tourists are just as welcome aboard a sportfishing boat at Pacific as the veteran fisherman. Crewmen will help the newcomer in learning the fundamentals of deep sea fishing. Hot food galleys are in operation on every trip.

The finest tackle is available at all times at the Pacific Tackle Store, either for purchase or may be rented. The Galley, long a favorite eating place for throngs, operates cafeteria style at the landing in daylight hours while Greg's Coffee Shop is open day and night.

For the small boater the Pacific Hoist is in operation daily using two sling hoists to speed launching.

Queen Joins Outstanding Fishing Fleet

"Fish With Fisherman" has long been the motto of Pacific Sportfishing Inc., which has been operating in the Port of Long Beach more than 35 years.

Fine boats and the best of skippers have been the policy of Pacific's successful operation throughout the years. And now the Pacific Queen joins the fleet of well known and outstanding sportfishing boats operated by the landing.

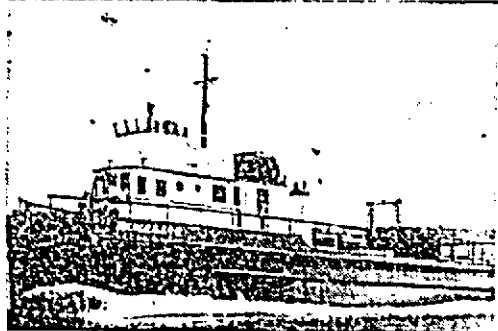

Recognizing that sportfishing is largely recreation for the patrons when they spend a day at sea, Pacific's owners offer clean, well-built, comfortable boats and friendly and helpful crews. They have provided much pleasure and relaxation for thousands of Southland residents. And, they have continually provided the best of fishing for those patrons.

Other Pacific Sportfishing boats operating on daily or half-day trips are:

THE FISHERMAN, skippered by Pat Jackson.
THE FISHERMAN II, skippered by "Whitey" Ashley.
THE SEA SPORT, skippered by Jack Montgomery.
THE ESTRELLA, half-day trips, skippered by Jimmy Goldworthy.

DIRECTORS MEET IN CITY FOR FIRST TIME

Douglas Executives Feted in Long Beach

By VERN ANTHONY
Southland Progress Editor

Douglas Aircraft Company's board of directors met at its Aircraft Division facility in Long Beach for the first time the past week, inspecting the mockup of the DC-9 twin jet passenger transport at first hand and receiving a financial report of improved profit figures over both the preceding quarter and the comparable period of 1962.

The board was hosted by Long Beach civic groups Wednesday evening with a tour of the harbor and a dinner at the Captain's Inn at the Marina.

The cruise was aboard the large yacht Malibu operated by Les and Howard Thueli out of Avalon.

SPONSORS of the event were the Chamber of Commerce, Southern California Edison Co., General Telephone Co. and the Independent, Press-Telegram.

Meeting of the directors in Long Beach for the first time was partially the result of an invitation the Chamber issued after the Douglas announcement of its plans to develop and build the short-range DC-9 jet planes. Copies of a resolution commending the program and an invitation to meet in Long Beach were mailed to each director last April by the Chamber.

Directors also wanted to view the new nine-story administration building at the Douglas plant here and to inspect the DC-9 mockup, it was explained.

Although at the board meeting, Donald Douglas, chairman, was unable to go on the cruise or attend the dinner.

SPEAKING at the dinner, Dr. Orville W. Cole, Chamber president, made introductions and welcomed the guests.

He cited "common interests" of the city and of the Douglas company; predicted an expanding growth of high-rise building in Long Beach, now that the subsidence problem has been solved; and pledged the Chamber's full cooperation with Douglas.

"We mean to stay here . . . and to bring a lot of business," Donald Douglas Jr., company president, told the group in his response. He lauded the city's cooperation with the firm; thanked the sponsors of the cruise and dinner.

OTHER DOUGLAS people at the board meeting included:

Jackson R. McGowan, vice president and general manager of the Long Beach Aircraft Division; Charles Able, vice president and general manager of Missile & Space Systems Division; Milo Bekins, chairman, Bekins Van & Storage Co.; Dr. W. J. Libby of UCLA, former Nobel Prize winner in chemistry; Neil Petree, board vice chairman of Barker Bros.; George Getty II, president of Tidewater Oil Co.; Charles Lick, retired; Theodore Johnson, senior vice president of Security First National Bank;

F. W. Conant, retired; L. E. Tollefson, board secretary; K. G. Farrar, vice president, manufacturing; A. V. Leslie, vice president, finance; Charles Jones, board chairman of Richfield Oil Corp.; H. W. Strangman; Richard L. Jones Jr., president, Newspaper Printing Corp., Tulsa, Okla.; and Dwight Whiting, vice president, Alexander & Alexander and partner, El Toro Co., Los Angeles.

ALL BUT A FEW attended the Captain's Inn dinner. Also present from Douglas were:

J. C. Brizendine, assistant general manager of the DC-9 program; L. J. Devlin, director of engineering and production development; J. J. Dysant, assistant general manager, programs; C. F. Glasgow, chief engineer; Don Hunter, public relations; W. S. Maschal, director of management systems; J. L. Murray, vice president, marketing development; and W. L. Whittier, vice president and department general manager.

OTHERS on the cruise and at the dinner included A. L. Code, district manager, Southern California Edison Co.; H. W. Frahm, area general manager, General Telephone Co.; Daniel H. Ridder, co-publisher, Independent, Press-Telegram; Nelson McCook, assistant vice president, First National City Bank and World's Fair executive; Robert Irvin, public relations counselor; Glenn Irvin and Ernest LaBelle of the Chamber of Commerce; L. V. Cassaday of the Planning Commission; Harry Fulton of the city manager's office; Clifford Hayes of the city attorney's office; Charles Vickers, port manager; Bud Ridings, president, Harbor Commission; and Don O'H and Vern Anthony of the Independent, Press-Telegram.

THE QUARTERLY Douglas fiscal report showed a net profit of $3,444,850, or 83 cents per share for the second quarter of the 1963 fiscal year, which ended May 31. Profit for the second quarter of 1962 was $2,515,901, or 61 cents per share.

Total net profit for the first six months was $6,790,953, or $1.64 per share. This compares with a profit of $4,334,855, or $1.05 per share for the first six months of fiscal 1962. (All per-share figures are after adjustment for the 5 percent stock dividend paid in April of this year.)

SALES for the second quarter of this year were $175,913,680 as against $194,992,029 a year ago. For the first six months of this year, sales totaled $374,338,734, compared to $359,071,928 for the comparable period in 1962.

Backlog as of May 31 was $781,211,000; and on the same date in 1962, $874,561,000. Of the former figure, $190,072,000 was commercial and $591,139,000 governmental.

Of the May 31, 1962 figure, $126,704,000 was commercial and $747,857,000 was governmental.

LONG BEACH BANK BUILDING SOLD

Janss Corp. Plunges Back Into Big Deals

Purchase of seven large office buildings from the Security First National Bank last week—including the 12 story, 146,000 sq. ft. bank building at 102 Pine Ave., Long Beach—marks reentry of the Janss Corporation into the Southland real estate investment field.

The Long Beach structure was built in 1925 on the site of the first house ever built in the city.

Other buildings purchased are: Hollywood Security Building, 6777 Hollywood Blvd., 12 stories, 54,802 sq. ft.; Hollywood First National Building, 6385 Hollywood Blvd., 7 stories, 67,874 sq. ft.; Pasadena Security Building, 234 E. Colorado Blvd., Pasadena, 8 stories, 132,719 sq. ft.; Glendale Security Building, 102 N. ### NLB Club to Hear Fair Finance Chief

Plans for the California World's Fair to be held in Long Beach will be described to the North Long Beach Realty Club at its Thursday breakfast meeting.

Speaker will be Halcyon Hall, director of finance for the 1967-68 exposition.

The club meets at 8 a.m. at the Midnight Sun restaurant, 5925 Cherry Ave.

ANNIVERSARY

Lakewood Center to Celebrate

Lakewood Center merchants will observe the 11th anniversary of the huge shopping area with a Birthday Celebration Sale Thursday through Saturday.

The three-day promotional event will emphasize bargain prices in a wide variety of merchandise lines at the stores and specialty shops of the 105-unit center, said Fred Sanchez, president of the sponsoring Lakewood Center Businessmen's Association.

In conjunction with the sale, a roundtrip flight for two to Las Vegas will be awarded as a prize.

The trip will include a two-day stay at the Starlight Hotel and $111 in cash. Tickets for the prize drawing will appear in the Press-Telegram on Wednesday and in the Independent on Thursday.

Penney Co. Shows Gain

A 3.3 per cent increase in June sales has been reported by J. C. Penney Company, nationwide department store chain.

Volume for the month rose to $135,687,820 against $131,420,766 last year, an increase of $4,267,054, according to the firm's New York office.

Board to Honor Affiliate Group

BUENA PARK—Twenty-five affiliates of the Buena Park-Cypress-Dairyland Board of Realtors will be special guests of the board at its breakfast meeting Thursday, according to Mrs. Hazel Dascenzi, board president.

Meeting place will be O'Garra's restaurant, 3030 W. Lincoln Ave., Anaheim, at 8 a.m.

Trophies will be presented to the affiliates to show the board's appreciation of their cooperation.

WELCOME ABOARD

Major William Lyon welcomes one of guests boarding bus for March Air Force Field and flight with his squadron.

YE OLDE DAYS IN ORANGE COUNTY

This map bears little resemblance to a modern map of Orange County; but most of the names are familiar, with a truly historic ring . . . Santa Ana, Los Alamitos, Santiago, Bolsa Chica, etc. Map reverts back to county's pastoral past when large Spanish and Mexican ranchos partitioned the area. Rancho ownership began breaking up in the late 1860s after drought years impaired cattle grazing activities. Cities, subdivisions and freeways have snuffed out the old trails of the rancheros; but memories linger on, and ranch-style homes still are popular.

DONS MAJOR'S UNIFORM TWICE A MONTH

Builder Lyon Still Finds Time to Command Air Force Unit

By DAVID MURRAY

Six days a week—sometimes seven days—William (Bill) Lyon, president of Luxury Homes, Inc., of Fullerton, is busy planning Dutch Haven Homes, Newport West Homes in Huntington Beach, Sunny Hills Homes in Fullerton and a new 2,000-home development in Sacramento.

Twice each month, he becomes Maj. William Lyon, along as guests from March

United States Air Force Reserve. As group commander of the 943rd Troop Carrier Group of the 729th Troop Carrier Squadron, he devotes Friday evening until Sunday afternoon leading a six-plane squadron of C-119's. The mission can be anything that headquarters assigns.

This proved to be the hardest day's work some of the guests could remember, because an Air Force regulation required that everyone wear a standard parachute at all times while airborne.

At 10 a.m., this piece of equipment, weighed only 40 pounds.

By 6 p.m., it weighed 140, and all the landlubbers were getting more stoop-shouldered by the minute.

PILOTS included a Los Angeles police motorcycle officer, a school teacher, an accountant and an attorney.

Occupations of the paratroopers were as varied. But they had one idea in common: Jump from the plane, get it over with and get home.

Equipped with nerves of steel, the paratroopers joked on the long, hot flight. Until the alert signal was given. Then they were on their feet.

At the "Go" signal—six went out the plane door in five seconds. This fast de-barkation may have been speeded by one of the jumpers. Married only two weeks, he had to get home to paint the kitchen.

NEVER AGAIN as I harlequin in my back yard on a Sunday afternoon, and watch the planes fly overhead shall

Los Altos Hospital Due to Open in Fall

Construction is nearing completion on the new Los Altos Hospital at 3340 Los Coyotes Diagonal, Long Beach.

The hospital will open with 99 beds, complete surgeries, delivery rooms and all necessary facilities for a general hospital.

The hospital was designed by Kite and Overbeck Associates, AIA, and constructed under the direction of the William Simpson Construction Co. It is centrally located, with easy access from two of the main traffic arteries in North East Long Beach.

One of the features of the hospital is the intensive care unit, designed to give the patient the latest advantage of modern equipment with all of the necessities for the care of the acutely ill patient in one central unit.

Less seriously ill patients will be placed in the medical

A 24-HOUR emergency service will be maintained, with physicians in the area on call should they be needed.

Opening date for the project is expected to be in the middle of October.

The hospital is only one of the contemplated units on the master plan of the medical center, which includes a medical office building and a convalescent hospital.

Organization of the hospital's auxiliary is under way and plans are being made for an open house to introduce the facility to the community.

HB Permit Total Sags

Do-It-Yourself addicts and small contractors were about the only ones who took out building permits for new construction in Huntington Beach during the week of July 9-15.

The figure, in terms of construction valuation, was $42,822 — and after doing better than $3.5 million the week before, too.

Nearly one-third of the valuation total was for concrete and wood fencing.

Largest single permit, for $12,950, was issued to Rancho Tinoco for construction of a family home and garage at 7521 Warner Ave.

OTHERS INCLUDED:

Audino Johnson, 8011 Marmalade Circle, patio cover, $50; Manolis Music, 1834 Main St., sign, $500; Arthur L. Kogut, 5625 Middlebrook Drive, patio roof, $200; J. M. Hydock, 1209 Pine St., garage, $1,716; Lee A. Carahan, 5727 Marshall Drive, new garage and convert existing garage to bedroom and playroom.

Kenneth Baldwin, 7423 Taylor Ave., pool, $2,000; James R. Sullivan, 422 Alexandria Drive, pool, $2,400; Edward J. Martin, 18131 Vales Circle, addition and remodel, $1,100; Robert Montgomery, 202 Springfield St., patio roof and fireplace, $300; Charles R. Kroger, 16391 Ross Lane, patio roof, $200; R. W. Poole, 2041 Somerville Lane, pool, $1,000; Richard L. and James F. Sessions, 1714 Beach Blvd., three commercial stores and two garages, $4,400; Vic Terry, 117 Main St., add stone veneer to side of store, $435.

Donald W. Buell, 5072 Bluejay Circle, patio, no value given; Wesley J. Waru, 10181 Kukul Drive, playhouse, $90; Larry Homes, directional signs at Bolita Chico Road and Edinger Ave., $1,200; Lee H. Githelman, 16422 Louis Circle, pool, $2,875; Bruce L. Nordlund, 16473 Beach Blvd., commercial building, $1,500; Robert E. Borne, 1115 Pine St., bathroom addition, $1,000.

Forty-five fence permits totaling $15,711 were issued during the period.

Builder Also in Air Force

I refer to the pilots as the "Flying Country Club."

We should take a closer look and appreciate the dedication of these men from all walks of life. They help keep this country safe from any eventuality.

When we check their records, we find each pilot logs more than 180 hours a year, flying time.

That doesn't leave many weekends for lounging, golfing—or barbecuing.

NEW FACILITY OPENS MONDAY

Another first for this area is the opening Monday of Pacific Plan, a California loan brokerage firm, at 5028 Faculty Avenue, adjacent to the Lakewood Shopping Center. With 19 of its branches in Northern California, the company opens its 20th — and first in Southern California — branch in Lakewood-Long Beach, according to Russell Collier, general manager.

Pacific Plan Has Office In Lakewood

Pacific Plan, a California loan brokerage firm that was first to bring the homeowner's loan to Northern California, has announced its 20th California office will be opened Monday in Lakewood at 5028 Faculty Ave., adjacent to the Lakewood Shopping Center.

According to Russell Collier, general manager, each year thousands of Californians use their improved homeowner status to meet their pressing obligations.

"The California Homeowners' Loan allows a longer pay-back period and results in a monthly loan payment that is up to 40 per cent less than conventional loan payment figures," Collier said.

Last year, homeowners borrowed about $6 million through Pacific Plan, with loans averaging slightly over $2,000 each, Collier stated.

In addition to its loan offices, Pacific Plan as a brokerage firm, places such investment with private investors at interest rates controlled by the state.

Fountain Valley Tiara Estate Premium Room Is Big Feature

What is a play or hobby bonus room, said Murray, is a room; luxurious private bedroom suite; or two extra guest rooms? Room is built above the garage. It is one of 10 elevations available at the newer 68-unit Fountain Valley community, which was begun 45 days ahead of schedule due to its popularity.

"The Premium Room In one model combined with other features and the other residences and their features add value to the homes at move-in and are some of the reasons for unprecedented demand by buyers," the sales director added.

Extra features which add lasting value at move in, according to Murray, are car-pets, drapes, fenced rear yards and front lawns.

ANOTHER FACTOR which has contributed to the development's popularity is the wide variety of floor plans and elevations, Murray said.

Priced from $17,990 to $21,300, the homes may be purchased by veterans for no down. Also available are FHA terms and conventional financing.

Model homes are open daily on the southeast corner of Bushard and Heil. To visit the project drive the Santa Ana Freeway to Brookhurst, drive south on Brookhurst to Edinger, then east to Bushard.

Lakewood East Sunshine Home Designed for Larger Families

Lakewood East Sunshine Homes, a new residential development by S. V. Hunsaker & Sons, builders and developers, present a widely diverse selection of architectural elevations with all models offering floor plans designed to provide maximum living for larger families, stated S. V. Hunsaker, Jr., vice-president of the firm.

Offering the home buyer up to 1,646 square feet of living area, these one and two-story homes have three and four bedrooms, two full baths, and oversize two car garage and immediate occupancy is available. Priced from $21,000 to $23,900, Lakewood East Sunshine Homes may be purchased from $295 down.

PARTICULARLY attractive is the two-story home which has recessed entry with wide double doors flanked by natural stone facing. Tropical planter under stairway gives pleasant entry vista. Feature for more convenient living is dressing room with built-in vanity in master bedroom suite. Also popular with the homemaker are linen shelves in both upstairs and downstairs halls. Specifications include wall-to-wall carpet, breakfast bar, and many built-ins.

The ultra-modern kitchens have Vernois built-in range and oven with hood and exhaust fan, Insinkerator disposer, and natural finish cabinets.

Designed for the active family, Lakewood East Sunshine Homes are centrally located and are minutes from Long Beach's many employment centers. Furnished model homes are open daily for inspection and may be seen between Del Amo Boulevard and Centralia Road one block west of Roseton in the vicinity of Lakewood.

TWO-STORY HOME

Fat in Fire Is Fact This Time

SALINA, Kan., (AP)—The fat was in the fire—literally at a packing company in Salina.

The blaze began in a smoke room where hams and hams were being cured when fat from the meat apparently dripped into the fire, flared up and started the blaze. About 2,200 pounds of meat was in the smoke rooms.

Los Alamitos to Have New Business Building

Construction has been started on a 7,200 square foot building to house the American Building Center in Los Alamitos.

This is the first of a series of building centers to be located in Southern California to supply the needs of local home owners with paint, hardware and lumber supplies in small quantities for their own use.

"The emphasis at the American Building Center in Los Alamitos will be aimed at the growing consumer market in Los Alamitos, East Long Beach and West Orange County," Bob Marks, vice president and general manager of the company, said.

The building is being constructed of prefabricated, pre-finished steel on a one and one-half acre site at 3622 Cerritos Avenue just east of Los Alamitos Boulevard. The site was selected by Marks as the center of a rapidly developing area.

Negotiations for the lease were handled by Gene Ashwill of Bill Brooks Co., Realtors, for the owner Robert Lintz, president of Diversified Roof Co. The building is being constructed by Pascoe Steel Co.

PLANS CHECKED 'ON LOCATION'

PHONE CO. EXEC

Appointment of Howard F. Moran of Pacific Palisades as assistant vice president-commercial for General Telephone Company has been announced by R. Parker Sullivan, president. Moran formerly served as general commercial manager for General Telephone Company of Illinois before his transfer to the California utility this month.

New Driving School to Open on Willow St.

Opening Monday of the licensed AAA Driving School at 431 W. Willow St. has been announced by Ken McConnell of Long Beach.

McConnell, a veteran driving instructor, has taught in high schools and formerly operated the American Bellwood Driving School at Bellflower.

He will offer group or private lessons; aid in getting a learner's permit; give special attention to senior citizens; and accompany students to the nearby new Department of Motor Vehicles office for driving tests. He is using dual control cars.

Boys under 25 years old will be given certificates on completion of their course to aid them in getting cheaper insurance rates, McConnell said.

Canadian Campsites

SASKATOON, Sash. (AP)—The Saskatchewan Travel Bureau has published a booklet giving locations of campsites in the province and listing facilities such as kitchens, fireplaces, water and playground equipment available at each site.

Fluorocarbon Acquires Texas Plastics Facility

ANAHEIM—Acquisition of the Halocarbon Division of Tube Turns Plastics, Dallas, Tex., by The Fluorocarbon Company, Anaheim, has been announced jointly by Peter Churm, president of Fluorocarbon, and Carl McLaughlin, Tube Turns president.

Churm stated that the facility in Dallas will be used for the processing and fabricating of Teflon, Kel-F, Hylon and Kynar fluorocarbon plastics, and will serve as The Fluorocarbon Company's headquarters for production and sales for Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama.

THE NEW acquisition is the second major purchase by Fluorocarbon. Eight months ago, the company acquired Timely Technical Products, Pine Brook, N. J.

The Tube Turns purchase was made for cash. According to Churm, the move will also provide an existing organization for marketing The Fluorocarbon Company's product line in the Southwest, and is another step in the

San Clemente Inn Sold; Price Not Disclosed

SAN CLEMENTE—Sale of the San Clemente Inn for an undisclosed price was announced last week immediately after the new owners took possession.

The new general manager and president, Paul Presley, long time hotel manager in San Diego and Enid, Oklahoma, said that all of the hotel stock has been purchased by Joe N. Champlin and Associates of Enid, Okla.

Champlin is former owner of Champlin Oil and Refinery and owns several business firms in Enid, as well as continuing to be active in the oil industry and other businesses.

Former owners of the one and a half million dollar motel, which was built in December, 1961, were James Noble and Donald Peacher.

Hotel Sets Retirement Living Plan

H. A. Stevens, manager of the Buffum Hotel, Third Street and Locust Avenue in downtown Long Beach, announced that starting Monday the hotel will inaugurate a new policy of "Retirement Living" with the comforts and conveniences of hotel living.

This new plan will be available for only $150 per month and includes meals that will be prepared by an expert chef. The prices include room, with extra large closet areas, private bath, maid service, fully carpeted, electric air conditioning, recreation and TV room.

The Buffum Hotel is close to all types of transportation and diversified shopping.

"Now," said Stevens, "people can start living and really enjoy it."

Huntington Village Prestige Homes Are Attracting Throng

Enjoying instant success with the homebuying public since the first unit was opened two weeks ago, Huntington Village Prestige Homes offer one and two-story homes with three, four, and five bedrooms, and are priced from $21,200. The homes in Huntington Beach feature innovations such as the indoor barbecue shown above.

Over 1,000 people have seen Huntington Beach's newest and finest homes during the past two weeks: the Huntington Village one and two-story Prestige Homes.

The first unit of Prestige Homes, built by Doyle and Shields Development Co., Inc., in just two short weeks is almost 25 per cent sold, with the two-story homes proving especially popular with the home buying public.

Six furnished models are open daily, displaying the many new "plus" features that have made Huntington Village Prestige Homes one of the fastest selling homes developments in the beach city. Each model is representative of the three, four and five bedroom, one and two-story homes available.

EXTRA LARGE master bedrooms, wardrobes that are truly wardrobe-style closets, veranda-balcony on one of the two-story homes; a "boat" door from the garage to the patio area on one of the one-story homes; an indoor barbecue facility in still another, with log lighters, a pantry in other models are more different features.

THE PRESTIGE HOMES also claim the best location in the Southland; within a mile of the $78 million Douglas Space Services facility; a three minute drive to the finest beaches and small boat harbors along the Orange County coastline; short driving distances to many shopping centers; churches of all denominations, a new high school and many grade schools are very convenient to the new homes and the San Diego Freeway, now under construction, is a mile north.

FHA, Conventional and Cal-Vet financing are available on the homes, priced from $21,200. There are no due dates or balloon payments and buyers receive a grant deed to their homes and lot.

The model homes are open from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. every day. From the Long Beach area: take Seventh Street east door from the garage to the patio area on one of the one-story homes, an indoor barbecue facility in still another, with log lighters, a

Glen Mar Attracts Buyers to New Unit

Numerous "first visit purchases" have been noted at the new Unit 4 Glen Mar homes in Huntington Beach, relates Ron Walker, sales manager of this residential community located one and one-half miles from the Pacific Ocean.

"Generally," Walker noted, "families shopping for a new home come back several times before making the final decision, which often represents the major investment of their lifetime. Our sales force, however, reports that many take just one look at the scenic, smog-free locale of Glen Mar and decide then and there that this is it. Since our opening of unit 4 we have sold 10 new homes per week."

GLEN MAR's three and four-bedroom homes are priced from $17,950 with 30-year terms to veterans and non-veterans and low down payments of $395 with monthly payments of $117. Immediate occupancy is available. Two-story, five-bedroom homes are priced at $23,950.

Another factor contributing to the frequent first time decision at Glen Mar, the sales manager added, is the solid reputation of Macco Realty Co., which continues to re-

Custom Features in Old Farm Home

A selection by buyers of a wide range of custom features to suit their needs, plus a choice near-the-sea location is making the new Old Farm community in Fountain Valley a hit as the city's first luxury home development, the builders, George M. Holstein and Sons reported.

Located on the site of one of Fountain Valley's first farms, the "Old Farm" homes are situated on 7200 square foot lots and are the largest "owned" lots in the beach area, the builders stressed.

THREE NEW MODELS are on display. Rich entries, front patios, built in kitchens, paneling, decorator fireplaces, and other details are custom like in design and materials.

AT THE OLD FARM the buyer may select from a wide range of plans and designs and actually custom create a home to suit family and future. The two-story homes are

Walker-Lee Post for Bill Mitchell

Walker and Lee, Inc. are increasing their services to home builders with the appointment of Bill Mitchell to the position of marketing services director, according to Frank R. Hart, executive vice president of the real estate sales firm.

Under the direction of Bill Cheney, vice president, new house sales department, Mitchell will work closely with home builders in increasing the sales of their developments. Walker and Lee, Inc. represent approximately 30 different new home developments in Southern California.

De Witt R. Lee and Hart head up the 22-year-old firm that recently sold its 50,000th home.

Mitchell was formerly assistant secretary and public relations officer of Orange County Title where he worked closely with home builders in the Southland. He attended

Loan Expert Will Address Realtors

Members of the Garden Grove Board of Realtors will hear Jack Evans of Anaheim talk on FHA and GI Loans Tuesday at their regular meeting at the Cape Cod House on Harbor Boulevard, at 7:30 a.m.

In discussing the program, vice President William Stewart stated that he was pleased to bring such an informative type program to the board. Evans has been in the escrow business since 1946, and now has three locations: the main office in Compton, a branch office in Santa Fe Springs, and recently another branch office in Anaheim. A representative of the Colwell Company, Evans has had wide experience in handling FHA and GI loans particularly.

L.B. Man Gets Regional Office

Loren H. Evans of 2224 Ocana Ave., Long Beach, was elected a regional vice president of the California Association of Life Underwriters at the annual meeting held recently at the Hotel Del Coronado in Coronado. He will represent the Southern California-Los Angeles area. Evans is associated with the Thomas R. Macaulay Los Angeles agency of the State Mutual Life Assurance Company of America. He is a former president of the Long Beach Association of Life Underwriters and of the Long Beach Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Thataway

MIAMI BEACH (AP)—Police came upon Albert Ballentine as they chased a burglar. Ballentine told the officers, "He went that way." The police weren't convinced. They arrested Ballentine, 41, on a charge of larceny and breaking and entering.

He has served as chairman of the California Association of Life Underwriters and bylaws committee, and was legislative chairman in 1962.

BIG PLAY ROOM

Dramatic floor to ceiling glass, ideal play area or rumpus room is part of the glamour and utility at new Old Farm homes in Orange County's Fountain Valley. The walled community has just opened with the big 2300 square foot homes being offered from $24,900 to $31,000. Site is off Warner Ave. just east of Hwy. 39.

Leisure World Sales Now Over $70 Million

AMPHITHEATER IN USE

Shown is a portion of the crowd in the new amphitheater at Leisure World gathered last week to hear Ivan Nestingen, Undersecretary of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, speak on President Kennedy's Medicare program.

Sales at Leisure World, reportedly the nation's largest senior citizens' project, have totaled $70 million because of the combining of carefree living, luxurious garden-type apartments with outstanding recreational, social facilities and the inclusion of free transportation within the community and the availability of medical services, all included in monthly payments, according to William G. Brangham, general sales manager.

"Residents have found Leisure World the ideal answer to retirement living yet enjoy the wide assortment of social activities offered in three of the giant project's lavish clubhouses," Brangham reports.

New Personnel Officer Named

Thomas A. Alexander has been named personnel director of the Colwell Company, statewide mortgage banking firm, it has been announced by Bundy Colwell, president.

Alexander, who has been active in the industrial relations field for more than 15 years, will coordinate all phases of Colwell's employee relations program.

He formerly was associated with Star Kist Foods, Inc., as director of industrial relations; Ducommun Metals & Supply Co., as training director and employment manager; and Pacific Airmotive Corp., as personnel manager.

The Colwell home office is in Los Angeles, with divisional offices including one in Anaheim.

Another popular feature includes among the medical facilities available in-home nurse calls, calls to the doctor's office, all drugs, medicines, diagnostic tests and physical therapy treatments. Nine fulltime plus two part-time doctors and 17 nurses are on duty at the community's contemporary $500,000 medical center.

Other attractions include a newly opened 2,500 seat amphitheater modeled after the famed Hollywood Bowl, where a number of productions in dramatics, musicals and special pageants have

A GARDEN PARK ESTATE

Handsome one and two-story residences at Garden Park Estates, Knott Ave. and Garden Grove Freeway, are a blend of luxurious modern conveniences and quality components that assure the buyer of lasting value, officials state.

Many 'Hidden Values' Offered to Garden Park Estates Buyer

Luxurious modern conveniences that make light of work and upkeep in Garden Park Estates' one and two-story homes are beautifully blended with sound, quality construction and the quality components that spell enduring value to the buyers in the walled community at Knott Avenue and Garden Grove Freeway, officials state.

There is emphasis on "hidden values" as well as the big ones that can be seen such as genuine fire-resistant lath and plaster walls and ceilings and roofs of cedar shingle or crushed rock. There is rock-wool insulation for comfort control, and all-year comfort is assured by thermostatically controlled forced air heating.

Plans with two bedrooms and a convertible den, and three and four bedrooms with family rooms and dining rooms.

Expressly created for the larger family, the stunning two-story homes are designed with five big bedrooms and these plans feature two hand-some fireplaces: the second in the upstairs master bedroom and the first in the living room.

There is a selection of financing plans as well. These include VA terms of nothing down except impounds and changes his title by JFK meeting. "Mr. Patriotic" has changed. It was that Kennedy presidential handshake that did it.

"Mr. Patriotic" is a 9-year-old Nashville lad named Danny White. He has red hair. And in typical boy fashion, he gets a lot of bruises. So folks in his neighborhood began putting name and coloring together and said they had a boy who was red, white and blue—thus "Mr. Patriotic."

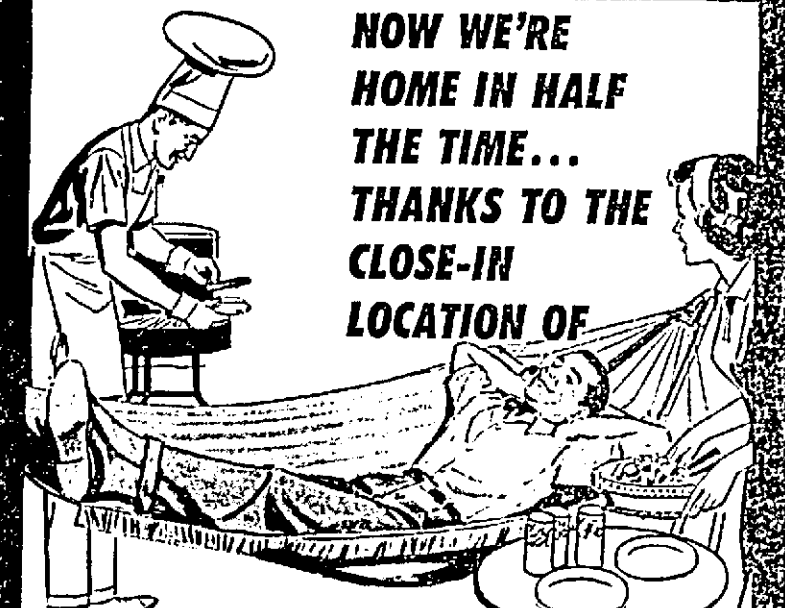

Then President Kennedy came to town and shook his hand. Right off the lad disowned his title. "Don't call me patriotic," he said, "I'm a Democrat."

Buyers Guide to Medallion Homes

The only electrically modern homes... in every price range

The Medallion Home Award is a cornerstone for modern living—a solid basis for a home's lasting value, today and in the future. Compare the detailed electrical construction requirements for the Medallion Home Award with those for any other type of new home symbol.

You'll discover the Medallion Home Award is one award that requires a new home to conform to specific and rigid standards that mean important values for the buyer. Here are just some of the qualifications:

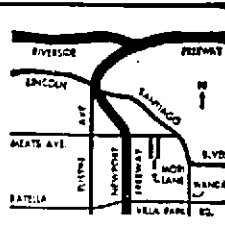

1. A flameless electric kitchen equipped with major appliances, including range and oven.
2. Full "Housepower" Wiring provides capacity for at least twenty circuits, considered a minimum for modern living; large enough wires; 240-volt service for the electrical capacity every home needs.
3. Abundant lighting planned for comfort, convenience and beauty. A total-electric Gold Medallion Home gives you all these benefits plus:
4. Flameless electric home and water heating.

Are Your Christmas Cards Ready?

...Those for Clinic Are—
Local Artists Saw to That!

ARTISTIC MRS. Don Gill works on sketch for Christmas card. Job of designing cards for Long Beach Children's Auxiliary sale was natural for her. She has always made greeting cards for her family. A long-time watercolorist, she has just begun to paint in oils.

Staff Photos By
JOE RISINGER

"Well, the worst of the Christmas rush is over—thank heavens for that!" says Mrs. Don Gill, artist mother of three little girls.

"I printed 'rejoice and be merry' on cards till one in the morning—but they're done now."

Christmas cards complete in July?

Is Mrs. Gill pushing for an early yule; a second celebration in August?

"Oh no," she hurriedly replies. "I'm all for the old-fashioned December date. It comes too quickly as it is."

Then?

"The cards are for Auxiliary to Long Beach Children's Clinic. I'm among five non-members who volunteered to submit designs. Money from auxiliary sale of the cards will benefit local children."

Other busy women who contributed card art work: Mmes. Eugene Kirkpatrick and John Campbell, Long Beach; Helen DeTar, Newport; and Allen Beck, Balboa.

THOUGH THE idea of locally designed Christmas cards is not unique as a means of fund raising, this is the first time it has been tried in Long Beach, to their knowledge.

And, from the looks of the now completed eight cards (quite professional, but different), sales should make a merry jingle in the clinic's till.

It's a good cause, too. Founded in 1939, the clinic (staffed by 33 pediatricians) provides care for area children under 15 whose families are unable to meet large medical bills.

THE CARDS (tax deductible) will range in price from 10 to 14 cents (less for larger orders), according to Mrs. Reed Williams, head of the ways and means committee in charge of the project. Orders of 300 or more will be addressed and mailed free of charge.

They may be purchased through Mrs. Williams, 259 Granada Ave., or Mrs. Earle Prater, 1431 Josie Ave.

Professionally printed in stunning color combination, they range in subject matter from traditional religious motifs to whimsical children and angels.

CHILDREN'S PORTRAIT painter Mrs. Eugene Kirkpatrick, 1491 Bryant Dr., Park Estates, never lacks for models. Here, she sketches daughter, Sharon, 8, as sons, left, Gary, 10 and John, 5, look on. A former advertising artist, she submitted two designs for Auxiliary to Long Beach Children's Clinic Christmas cards. Both reflected her interest in children.

How to Make a False Impression

...glue on lashes, comb in some hair

By Mary Ellis
Carlton

I-PT
Fashion
Editor

Most women who have an eye for beauty but no fringe benefits have, at one time or another, tried false eyelashes.

But the complaints fly thick and fast: "I can't put them on" . . . "they don't look natural" . . . "I'm afraid they'll come unglued."

So, to get some pointers from the experts on how to whip on an eyelash in a flash, I, P-T editor Mary Ellis Carlton visited Elizabeth Arden's swank Fifth Avenue salon while in New York recently.

For this and some other hints on how to make beguiling false impression (like with the comb-in hair-piece above), read on.

Now . . . Just comb in your wig

New York model demonstrates glue-on glamour

If your eyelash batting average, like mine, is zero—then false eyelashes will help you score in the beauty department.

But if you, like me, have tried and eyed the results with alarm, then wore them anyway, only to have one fall in your bowl of soup, you'll want to follow these how-to-do hints from Elizabeth Arden's showroom model, Christine Lee.

She wears her fringe benefits with security, from morning till night.

Her comment: "Without them I feel undressed." This echoes the beauty philosophy of mannequins from New York to New Anywhere . . . also of fashion-conscious femmes on Mainstreet, U.S.A., who have mastered the art of instant eye appeal.

Using me as a subject who could be greatly improved, Christine trimmed, fringed, glued and renewed my faith in false eyelashes. The results are shown above.

HERE'S A play-by-play of how to improve your eyelash batting average:

1. When selecting your eyelashes (real hair or mink, please), buy brown ones if you are blond; black if you're brunette or redhead. Tools you'll need: the eyelashes, of course . . . also glue (comes with lashes), tweezers, a single-edged razor blade (or manicure scissors) and a flat surface for feathering.

2. First and most important, holding the false lashes with a tweezer, determine their width in relation to your own. ("Most would-be eyelash wearers give up here because the fake variety, if not trimmed to size, will not stay securely anchored.") Snip off the false eyelashes so their width measures one-quarter of an inch from the corner of the eye to the end of your own lashes.

3. Then comes the shaping and feathering—most important for a natural, they're-really-mine look. The lashes should be shorter at the corner, longer in the curve, then graduated down somewhat at the outer edges. Christine accomplished this by holding each eyelash securely with her forefinger on a flat surface (she used the back of a glass ashtray), then scraped hairs with the blade of a pair of manicure scissors until proper lengths and shaping were achieved.

Warning: "Except for snipping off a section of the false eyelashes to make them the right width, all shaping should be done gradually by scraping the surface of the hairs. To cut them gives a too-blunt appearance. Also," says Christine, "you may get over enthusiastic and cut them too short."

Christine furs and feathers her own lashes with a razor blade, but for the beginner, she believes the blade of a manicure scissors is safer.

Another warning: hold the lashes securely with the

People Who Like People Are Having Fun

By Iola Masterson
I, P-T Women's Editor

'TIS THE season to be jolly, tra la and all those other la la las. Pepper and Wally Simmons have warned their neighbors not to think they've slipped their leashes when they see them put up Christmas decorations this week. They're having a Christmas in July mid-year tinsel shindig at their home next Saturday.

Pictured below, Wally and Pepper start hauling out the paraphernalia of Noel. Funniest thing that's happened, thinks the hostess, is that the Turkey Advisory Board has sent them "greetings," with the fond hope that this sort of thing catches on.

A Christmas in July season to be jolly!

Yep, they'll serve traditional turkey and all the trimmings, just like at the holidays. A real tree, too, even a visit from Santa Claus and there will be gifts "to suit their personalities" for everyone. They're been gathering this odd assortment of presents, howling all the while, for months.

A few of the Santa's helpers bidden to come and share the festive champagne, midnight supper and gifts are "Corney" and John Booth, Kathy and Bill Eppson, Juanita and LeRoy Carlisle (Juanita is president of Symphony Jrs. in which Pepper is very active), Liz and Russell Peterson, Vera and Charles Goodrich, Rene and Harry Simon, Elsie and Bill Slapne and minny more.

REASON to celebrate—so why not? So they did. Juanita and Harry Frishman entertained at a "be-happy-over" party last Sunday in honor of Harry's promotion from commander to captain in the U.S. Naval Reserve, one of darn few such promotions to high rank since the end of the war. As we say in the hill country, "Hit jest don't happen much no more."

Scattered among the happy guests spotted were such military as Capt. Bill and Anita Marie Tanner (CO, Navy Air Station, USN), Air Force Colonel Jim and Lucille Norton, Capt. George and Irene Reinhalter, USNR, and Comdr. Ed and Lillian Hyka (USNR).

Among civilians wondering where they could go to register amidst all the brass were Ruth and Dr. George Scouten, Edna and George Wagner, Dale and Fred Kraft, Donna and Dr. Pat Rocchio and Pat and Bob Wilcox and Harry's mother, Marybelle Frishman, 83, up from Oceanside for the happy day.

HOSTS of friends have been crying in their beer (or coffee) over the loss of long time popular residents, Sylvia and Rod Sherwood. They're being transferred to Minneapolis, Minn., where Rod has been appointed head of production for the big Ford plant there. He has made the move—Sylvia leaves around the first of August. They've already bought a home in Edina, beautiful suburb of Minneapolis.

Farewell parties have been in vogue with latest to take place next Friday. Hostessing the goodbye luncheon for Sylvia will be Dorothy Wise, Virginia Muchmore, Nadine Vander Lans and Carol Hoagland. It's to be at the Wise's.

IMPRESSIVE, that's what. When Dr. James Ragland and his bride, the former Ruth Vaughan, leave on their honeymoon trip Aug. 3 (they'll return about Sept. 10), Jim will go armed with letters of entree to embassies in London, The Hague and Paris to do research on diplomacy of the 1930s.

Jim has a contract with W. W. Norton for a book he's doing on Franco's rise to power in Spain. When Senator J. W. Fulbright heard about his proposed trip and book he personally wrote letters to the American embassies and answers poured back with open arms welcome to Jim and Ruth.

"ALWAYS A perfectly swell night." That's the way one appreciative guest of other years (and this one, too) described Neil and Louie Gunn's annual ice cream fiesta, set to fill the night with sweetness Monday at their home, 5311 Vermont Ave. It's a homemade ice cream, cake and authentic, live Mexican entertainment evening. No wonder—"swell."

BACK TO cool ocean breezes from home in Bloomfield, Ill., are Shirley and Chuck Planting, staying with her mother, Clara Hancock, as they do on their almost annual summer trips here.

Marie and Bill Todd entertained for them at dinner round-up of old friends, mutual types, last Wednesday; a buffet for 30 or 40, give or take 10. Chuck is just here for a week but Shirley, with children, Scott and Susie, will remain for a happy month.

ANYONE planning a trip to Indonesia soon? Would this traveler like to perform a Good Samaritan deed at some time? Here's the scoop. It seems that Pauline and Jim Sutherland, 143 Morningside St., have been sending educational material to a young man in Djakarta, a fellow who is desperately trying to get some education in American ways.

His latest request is for books in accounting which were recommended by his teacher. The four books are expensive and Pauline and Jim have purchased the first one. Now they come to second hurdle. It costs over $20 to send it air mail. When sent normal shipping it takes up to six months to reach the boy! So maybe someone could tote this one; mail when they get to Indonesia. The Sutherlands wonder, too, if perhaps some service club couldn't help them provide their student, or others like him, with educational materials. If so, they can certainly provide you with info. Or call me and I'll put you in touch.

SEE THOSE happy smiles below? You would

Headed for Europe? You'd wear smiles, too!

wear those happy smiles also and as well if you were Madeline and Bill Boyer (he is veep of Westates Petroleum Co. here). They are pictured before polar jet fly off to Europe. Their itinerary? Oh, happy days, well you can imagine.

JUST A bunch of peddlers—that's what you can call the Naples Bicycling Club. Better health through better exercise is old hat (and continuing fun) for them. They meet every Sunday morning at 7:30 a.m. (good heavens, on SUNDAY?) for a ten mile spin.

First they meet at a home for coffee to get their bones warmed up for the athletic event; then they peddle. Witness their after coffee beginning from Betty Jo and Jim Cost's home last Sunday below as, from left, Betty Jo and Jim, Dick and Margaret Russell (on tandem), son Rick Russell and Dorothy Ellery strike out. Others in the 19 regulars on the ride were Bill Ellery, Jim Abbott, Don Gilroy and Wynne and Jim Galloway.

They peddle every which way from their Naples homes — have fun, exercise in the sun.

A BRING-your-own steak bake and no host cocktail whing and games soiree will fill the air with sounds of pleasure tonight at Joanne and Jim Gray's College Park Estates home as they open their digs for Alpha Phi alums and husbands. Assisting mein hosts will be Nellie (she's alum prez) and Dick Krahenbuhl and Keith and Barbara Lopp. Affair is from 3 p.m. and on and on and on.

PINK AND blue news makes headlines for Peg and Leroy Leatart. Daughter and son-in-law, Gayle and Lt. John Sterling received their adopted baby daughter on Gayle's birthday, which makes Peg and Lee grandparents for the first time.

The Sterlings live in Annapolis where John is an instructor at the Navy Academy. The baby, six months old, has been tentatively named Sara Jane. The Leatarts, who had hoped all this joy would occur while they visited back there in June, will return late summer and again at Christmas to take full advantage of Sara Jane's winsome ways.

HEAD unbowed and paint unsplattered, Dorris Martinson is coming through like a pro on her one woman project as volunteer inside-of-house painter. Dorris, single handedly, has painted every room except for one bedroom taking time out as she wishes that brush, rolls that roller, for her regular volunteer duties in the emergency room as a member of the Auxiliary to Community Hospital.

LIFE in pine-scented high, dry mountain air ends this weekend for Marge Quinn who has spent the week at Big Bear with daughters, Colleen and Karen, and their guests, Debbie Welh, daughter of Betty and John, and "Lolly" Lawson, daughter of Dick and Elva.

Lakewood Grads Wed

Lakewood Community Methodist Church was chosen for the wedding of Barbara Lee Molter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert H. Molter, and Howard Phillip Kirschner, son of Mrs. Sadie Kirschner of Inglewood and Martin Kirschner of Canoga Park.

Mrs. H. Phillip Kirschner

The bride wore a bell skirted gown of embroidered silk organza over taffeta with a chapel train. Janet Hassell attended the bride as maid of honor. Jerald Dick served the bridegroom as best man.

OTHER members of the wedding party included Mrs. A. James Hughes, Jacque Bachar, Judy Kirschner, Diana Miller, Tom Redwine, Terry Hall, Jeff Kirschner and Mike Brief.

The couple graduated from Lakewood High School and now attend Long Beach State College. The new Mrs. Kirschner also attended the University of California at Berkeley. Her husband is a Long Beach City College graduate.

On their return from a wedding trip to Northern California, the couple will reside in Bellflower.

Cake Decorating Expert to Give Demonstration

Mrs. Marie Dobbins of Manhattan Beach, a teacher in a school of cake decorating and a television personality, will demonstrate the art of cake decorating at a luncheon meeting of the Christian Women's Club Wednesday at 12:15 p.m. at Lakewood Country Club, 3101 E. Carson St.

Guest speaker will be Mrs. Millie Dienert, area club representative from the East, who will discuss her work. Music for the program will be given by Kathy Williams, accordionist.

Six Young Women Will Be Brides

Eckman-Hainey

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hainey are this week announcing the engagement of their daughter, Anne Marie, to Keith Arnold Eckman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Eckman, all of Long Beach. The couple plans a wedding in June of next year.

Miss Hainey was graduated from St. Anthony's High School. Her fiancé, who is now attending Long Beach City College, was graduated from Jordan High School.

Walton-McArthur

Next February Georgia McArthur will say wedding vows to become the bride of Terry Walton. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George R. McArthur, Long Beach, and he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Walton of Compton.

Brunch on Ebell Slate

Summer brunches continue to attract large crowds to the Ebell clubhouse, and the next such event is Wednesday with Group E members serving as hostesses.

Mrs. Robert C. Swanson, group chairman, will be assisted by Meses Dan F. Gridley, Linda F. Hoover, H. F. Byers, John E. Searles and E. Ellsworth Callen.

Reservations for either the 11 a.m. or 11:30 a.m. servings may be made with Mrs. Guy Hodson or Mrs. Swanson.

Bridge, canasta and the awarding of door prizes will follow the brunch.

The bride-elect was graduated from Jordan High School where she was president of Delta social club and a flag girl. She is now a student at Long Beach City College.

Her fiancé was also graduated from Jordan where he was president of Kappa Sigma Chi. He is attending LBCC.

Stewart-Rutschman

Among girls announcing their engagements this summer is Judith Ann Rutschman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Zacour of Lakewood. She will become the bride of Monty Gene Stewart, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Stewart, also of Lakewood. No date has been set as yet for the ceremony.

Both were graduated from Lakewood High School, where Miss Rutschman was a member of Socii. She plans to attend Long Beach City College in the fall.

Owens-Choura

On Valentine's Day of next year, Miss Susan

Choura will become the bride of Terry W. Owens.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Choura of Long Beach, the bride-elect was graduated from Lakewood High School and attended Long Beach City College where she affiliated with Entre Nous.

The prospective bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Owens, Long Beach, was also graduated from Lakewood High School and attended LBCC. He plans to continue his education at Long Beach State College upon release from the 101st Airborne Division of the Army where he is a paratrooper.

Diffine-Hillman

A wedding in August of 1964 will unite Miss Dion Hillman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Hillman of Kailua, Hawaii, and Don Paul Diffine, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Diffine of Long Beach.

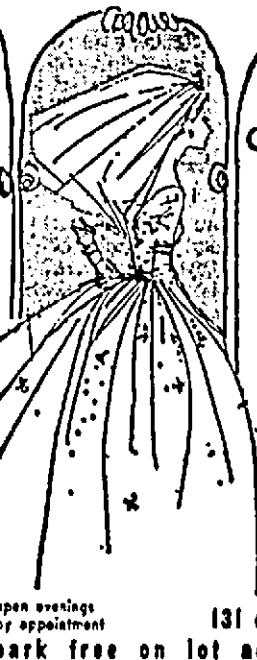

Miss Hillman attended the University of Hawaii for two years and is now a senior at Abilene Christian College, Abilene, Texas.

Her fiancé was graduated from Poly High School and Long Beach City College, and is attending Long Beach State College.

Stearns-Axline

Engaged to Pvt. David R. Stearns, son of Mrs. Dorothy Stearns of Long Beach, is Peggy Axline, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Axline of La Mirada. Granddaughter of Mrs. Catherine Gallenkamp of North Hollywood and the late Oscar Gallenkamp of Pasadena, Miss Axline was graduated from Excelsior Union High School, Norwalk, where she headed the drill team in her senior year. She attended Cerritos College where she was a member of Theta Phi.

The bridegroom-to-be attended school in Ohio. He is serving with the Army in Virginia. No wedding date has been set as yet.

To Fete Pair in Montana

It might almost be said that Mr. and Mrs. William T. Shockley are going out of their way to observe their 60th wedding anniversary. On Tuesday night the couple departed by train for Bozeman, Mont., where they will spend almost a month with their daughter, Mrs. Oscar G. Keyes Jr., and her family.

Joining them in Montana for a visit will be another daughter, Mrs. Donald A. McGeachy and her family of Fair Oaks, Calif.

A gay family reunion and party was planned for Saturday, and today the couple will be greeted during an open house, by friends and relatives, many of whom live in various parts of the United States.

The Shockleys were married July 22, 1903, in Bellefourche, S. Dak., and have lived in Long Beach for 35 years. Their home is at 3225 Ransom St.

Members of United Emanuel Presbyterian Church, Mr. Shockley sang in the choir and was assistant treasurer for almost 10 years, while his wife was active in church circles. The couple has five grandchildren and four great grandchildren.

YC's Slip Into Dancing Shoes

Although they will not venture into the briny, Young Californians will at least be at the water's edge when they and their guests assemble Saturday at the Edgewater Inn for their dance with the theme "Midsummer Night Cruise."

Roger Bacon's orchestra will play from 9:30 p.m. to 1:30 a.m. for the 400 guests anticipated.

Mrs. Ray Crutchfield is dance chairman, and Mrs. Jean Yaden has charge of decorations. Impressive door prizes will be awarded during the festivities.

As is traditional, proceeds from the annual dance will be given to Exceptional Children's Foundation.

Cocktail parties are planned in various members' homes prior to the midsummer night's frolic. Among the hosts are Messrs. and Mmes. John Crutchfield, 6431 Marita Ave.; Robert Ray, 5742 Monlaco Rd.; Stan Carrol, 6580 E. 10th St., and Mrs. George Hanania, 3619 Lomina Ave.

Mrs. Dale Dalton and Mrs. Harold Herst will co-host a pre-dance party in the Dalton home, 1531 Ramillo Ave., and Mmes. John Buckley, Norm Hastings and Robert Benson will combine their party in the Benson home, 3139 Heather Rd.

BPW's Plan 'Their' Week

Trust a business woman to get things done early. It will not be until autumn that the man in the White House proclaims Oct. 6-12 as National Business and Professional Women's week, but cogs are already turning for local observance.

A banquet in the Petroleum Club on Oct. 7 will find the four Long Beach business and professional clubs—Manuela Nieto, Belmont Shore, Long Beach National and Margaret Ives—gathering for dinner and a program.

This year BPW clubs have deleted the word "contest" from their program and will honor all career women in the Long Beach area.

A letter of invitation is being mailed to all business, professional firms and service clubs to join BPW in paying tribute to the outstanding career women of their organization and hosting her as an honored guest that night.

GENERAL chairman of the Long Beach participation is Kathryn (Mrs. Sam C.) Campbell, who points out that the year's theme is "Responsibility of Full Partnership."

At the turn of the century there were almost no jobs open to women outside their own homes, she said. In the 60 years since 1900 the trend has nearly reversed. Today, almost no field of work outside the home is closed to competent women who must or wish to work. Expectations are high that full partnership in all areas is within reach now for all ready to assume full responsibility.

Accepting responsibility outside the home came to Kathryn Campbell when she was in her forties. Arriving in California from Ohio, the Campbells had seven children to support; it was the tail-end of the depression and jobs were hard to find. Her first was as a telephone solicitor with the magnificent salary of $12 a week.

A BUSINESS course at Poly High's night school and at another business school gave Kathryn experience enough to be appointed to set up and organize the War Finance Bond Office here. She received a citation from the U.S. Treasury Department for her service during the eight successful campaigns here.

Next came real estate school for the busy Mrs. Campbell, and 13 years ago

Friends to Honor Joneses

Mr. and Mrs. Jack P. Jones, 3610 E. 14th St., will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary at the Hotel Tropicana, Las Vegas, as guests of a friend.

The Joneses were married in England July 21, 1913. They came to America shortly afterwards, settling in Wilkes-Barre, Pa., where they were in business for 10 years.

In 1923, they moved to Long Beach where Mr. Jones and his brother have operated a business for 40 years.

DURING THEIR first years here, they were members of St. Luke's Choir and in 1926 formed the First Community Players group, the "Parish Players" at the church.

Mrs. Jones was a Red Cross aide during the war. She has been active in the Daughters of the British Empire and also was a member of Louis Dean Players, Mission Theater, for three years. Mr. Jones is a member of Loyal Order of the Moose, Long Beach Lodge 600.

League Debutantes Will Don Medallions

IN A PREVIEW of happy things to come, Mrs. Richard D. Browning and Mrs. Marvin P. Clark, standing left, display dainty gold medallions to mothers of three future Assistance League debutantes, Mrs. Vernon A. Williams, standing right, and Mmes. E. Tenyson Moore and Charles E. Skedmore, seated. Gifts will be presented the 1963 debutantes at a tea Wednesday in Assistance League clubhouse.

A medallion tea, one of the most significant parties preceding the presentation of the Assistance League debutantes on 1963, will take place Wednesday afternoon in the Assistance League clubhouse.

In the throng honoring mothers and their debutante daughters at the traditional event will be members of the Assistance League, Rick Racker junior auxiliary and Las Hermanas auxiliary.

In a brief but impressive ceremony each mother will present her daughter with a gold medallion, hung from a slender gold chain, engraved with the year, Assistance League and the debutante's name. Each presentee will express her appreciation to the League which is providing the gifts. Mrs. Fred E. Tucker, chairman of the mother-deb committee, will introduce the mothers and daughters.

TEA WILL BE served from an antique teakwood table centered with an arrangement of ancient gold fans nestled in pink, white and gold flowers. Dainty refreshments will adhere to the pink, white and gold theme.

Greeting the guests at the door that day will be Mmes. Mark J. Kuffel, president of Assistance League; Robert H. Lintz, chairman of Rick Racker; Wolf R. deLyle, chairman of Las Hermanas, and Kenneth S. Wing, general chairman of the 1963 debutante ball.

Assistant hostesses will be the provisionals of 1962 who are providing the tea from proceeds of their special project, the Silver Ball of 1962.

Guests will be welcomed by Mrs. Wing prior to the medallion ceremony.

Mrs. Richard D. Browning and Mrs. Marvin P. Clark are co-chairmen of the tea.

WSCS Meeting Thursday to Feature Young People

Women's Society of Christian Service, North Long Beach Methodist Church, will meet Thursday in the church, 5600 Linden Ave., with meditation at 10:30 a.m., business meeting at 11 to be followed by noon luncheon.

Sandra L. Pinney will show colored slides during the 1 p.m. program and tell of a mission church tour she attended with 31 other students and five counselors. The tour included stops at foreign churches in Mexico as well as in Arizona, New Mexico and California, sponsored by the Southern California-Arizona Conference.

Music will be by Mrs. Millicent Luth, soloist, accompanied by Mrs. E. P. Sturges and, on violin, by David Luth.

Harvey Kemp, who received his B.A. from Long Beach State and who will enter School of Theology, Claremont, this fall, will lead the afternoon devotions. The public is welcome to attend.

Couple on Honeymoon

Shatto Chapel, First Congregational Church, Los Angeles, was setting for the marriage of Janet Key Harrison, daughter of Velma Harrison and Clifford Harrison, both of Compton, to Clifford Eugene Andre, son of Marcella Andre, Culver City.

Matron of honor was the bride's sister, Pattie Tiernan. Her other bridal attendant was Bardelle Sprinkle, sister of the bridegroom.

For the ceremony the bride chose a gown of Chantilly lace detailed with pearls and sequins. A small tiara held her shoulder length veil and she carried a bouquet of white rosebuds with an orchid.

Best man was Lynn Bramwell and seating the 150 guests were Keith Sprinkle, Nigel Jackson and John Sutton.

The new Mrs. Andre is a graduate of Dominguez High School and attended Lawton Medical assistants School. The bridegroom attended San Bernardino College and is a member of the Hollywood and Far West Ski Club.

Following a honeymoon to Carmel and Sequoia, the newlyweds will make their home in Culver City.

Set Card Party

Court Marian, 1669, Catholic Daughters of America, will sponsor a card party Wednesday at Woodmen of the World Hall, 11 W. Plymouth St. The public is invited to enjoy bridge, pinocle, five hundred or canasta. Games will begin at 8 p.m. Refreshments will be served, according to Helen Hildebrand, chairman.

Senior Citizens

A dessert luncheon is planned for Monday noon at Machinist's Hall by the National League of Senior Citizens Club of Long Beach. The public is invited.

COUNTER ACTION

For Beauty's Sake!

Cosmetics are a million dollar business—with a million new items and innovations a year. Keeping track can keep the would-be-beauty slim from sheer exhaustion—dashing downtown every day or so for the latest, the newest, the best in products guaranteed to create or maintain that prized illusion of youth. Here are some of the newest.

Under $1

For the girl who can't wait for her nails to dry, there's a guaranteed dryer in a spray can. Paint the nails pretty, then spray and you're on your way. No more hand-waving waiting or smeared polish.

Under $1.50

New spray-on-for-tanning, also keeps bugs away. No worry about burning or picking up sand flees with this handy addition to a beauty's beach bag. Another wonder in an aerosol can — what next?

A fast seller already, lash building kit is totally new concept in eye appeal. One application not only darkens lashes—it thickens and adds length. It's odorless, won't flake or run with water.

Putting on make-up is a process that calls for some ingenuity. First, you get it on just right, then you hope it stays put. Well, liquid that keeps lipstick from coming off has been a favorite for some time. But, what about those penciled brows? No gal likes to discover she's been raising only half a brow half-way through the evening. There's a solution. It's a new liquid that keeps brows permanent permanently. Just dab on and arch brows without a care.

And, to be sure you're quite secure — fragrantly lovely at all times, carry new deodorant compact. It comes in dry powder form with puff to put on. Fits in purse easily; handy at all times.

Meet Tuesday

Rev. Richard Gaul, S.J., will speak to members of the Carmelite Nuns' Auxiliary Tuesday at 1:30 p.m. in St. Anthony High School's cafeteria, Sixth Street and Alamitos Avenue. Rev. Gaul has just returned from El Paso, Texas, where he has been working with youth in that area.

One's never too young to begin grooming for good looks. Even baby hasn't been forgotten. His or her wisps of unbecoming straight hair — can become a cap of curls. The baby hair treatment that purports to do same, also is said to keep scalp clean and healthy.

Under $4
For big people with big problems (dull, straight hair) new permanent wave is advertised to color and curl at same time. The color-conditioner home permanent also blends grey tones into natural shades.

L.B. Artists Win Awards

By ELISE EMERY
Arts Page Editor

Two members of Long Beach State College art department won $50 cash awards in the Los Angeles All-City Outdoor Art Festival which opened July 13 and closes today.

James J. Van Elmeren won with his oil painting, "Lunar II." Vic Smith's winning oil was "August." Today, from noon to 6 p.m., Bob Click, also of LBSC art faculty, will demonstrate serigraphy at the festival.

Nine purchase awards and nine cash prizes totaling more than $5,000 were selected in the competition. Top purchase awards of $1,200 each went to William Brown of Santa Monica, Richard Haines, also of Santa Monica, and Robert Frame of Pasadena. All submitted oils.

The festival is open to the public today without charge from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. with such special attractions as arts and crafts demonstrations, a children's corner, hand and jazz concerts and folk singing.

Richard Merle White, Chouinard Art Institute and Pomona College student, is exhibiting at Dana Branch Library, 3680 Atlantic Ave., through July. One of his paintings won second place for oils in the 1963 Long Beach Art Association Invitational Show.

Says Mrs. Constance Janssen, branch librarian, "That art plays a leading role in the lives of many Long Beach residents is dramatically illustrated by the fact that the Dana Library auditorium is booked with one-man art shows for every month through January 1965.

"Art books, from how-to-sketch-and-draw to books of fine reproductions, have the second highest circulation for non-fiction at Dana branch library. (Travel and history of foreign countries is first.)

"Almost one-tenth of the branch's total book budget is used to purchase art books such as these currently enjoying brisk circulation:

"The Larousse Encyclopedia of Prehistoric and Ancient Art," "Early American Decorative Patterns and How to Paint Them" by Ellen S. Sabine; Ferdinand Berckelaers' "Abstract Painting" and Sketching and Painting Out-of-Doors" by Adrian Hill."

A CONSTANTLY increasing number of works in a variety of media are available for rent at Long Beach

Museum of Art's Rental Gallery. The minimal fees range from $3 to $12 for a three-month period, depending on the sale price of the art. Gallery hours are noon to 3 p.m. on Fridays, 1 to 3 p.m. Saturdays, and 2 to 4 p.m. on Sundays when receptions are held.

Among Southern California artists represented in the rental collection (all works may be purchased, also) are Orval Dillingham, Milton Gershgoren, Frederick Hammerley, Gerd Koch, Roger Kuntz, Ernest Leach, Marilyn Prior, Alex Vilumsons and Emerson Woolf.

THE 43rd ANNUAL National Exhibition of the California Water Color Society will open at Oils Art Institute Nov. 7 and continue through Dec. 27.

Applicants for exhibition entry blanks may write to the recording secretary, Irma Attridge, 9450 Cherokee Land, Beverly Hills. Any artist may submit works and if they are selected for the show the artist becomes a member of the society.

Deadline for the entries will be Sept. 21. Jurors of selection and awards are Richard Haines, chairman, and Phil Dike, Emil Kosa Jr., Ed Reep and Douglass Parshall. Alternates are John Leeper and Delmer Yoakum.

LONG BEACH ART Association will offer a "Christmas in August" sale next month in its gallery, 800 E. Ocean Blvd., when buyers may get an early start on holiday gifts shopping. Members may bring in their paintings July 29 from 1 to 7 p.m. None of the art offered for sale will be priced at more than $50.

TWO EXHIBITIONS spotlighting pop art will go on view at Los Angeles County Museum Wednesday.

"Six Painters and the Object," was selected by Lawrence Alloway, curator of the Guggenheim Museum, New York, and includes work by Jim Dine, Jasper Johns, Roy Lichtenstein, James Rosenquist and Andy Warhol.

"Six More," also chosen by Alloway, features work by Billy Al Bengston, Joe Goode, Phillip Hefferton and Edward Rucha, all from Los Angeles, and Melvin Ramos and Wayne Thiebaud from Sacramento.

Announce Programs for Bowl

Three of the four Hollywood Bowl concerts next week will be conducted by Andre Kostelanetz — a Tchaikovsky program Tuesday night, music of Maurice Ravel Thursday night, and a Gershwin concert Saturday night, all at 8:30.

"Dixie at the Bowl" will fill the huge outdoor amphitheatre with jazz Friday night at 8:30. The Pete Fountain Quintet, Jack Teagarden and his All-Stars, and Muggsy Spanier and his Dixieland Group will be on hand.

Assisting Kostelanetz Tuesday will be Christian Feras, violinist in the Tchaikovsky "D Major Concerto." On the Ravel program will be Lorin Hollander, playing the "G Major Piano Concerto"; Blanche Thebom, contralto in a performance of "Scheherazade," three poems for vocalist and orchestra; and Diana Steiner violinist, will perform the "Tzigane."

THE ANNUAL Gershwin concert — 20th Hollywood Bowl presentation of music by the famous American composer, will have Earl Wild as piano soloist in the "Concerto in F," and "Rhapsody in Blue." Played for the first time in the Bowl will be "Catfish Row," a suite from "Porgy and Bess," orchestrated by the composer. Also new to the Bowl will be a performance of Gershwin's "Promenade."

'Pursuit' at LBSC Thursday

"The Pursuit of Happiness," a comedy about bundling and other quaint New England customs at the time of the American Revolution, will open in Long Beach State College's summer theater tent this Thursday.

The plot concerns a young Hessian mercenary soldier who deserts the British side for the cause of liberty and the pursuit of happiness. The latter, for him, becomes interwoven with the pursuit of Prudence, a comely Connecticut maid.

Their courtship, involving bundling, rouses the objections of a Puritan clergyman.

JESS MAY plays Max the Hessian. Becky Jackson is Prudence and Herb LaBin plays the clergyman. Others in the cast are Carmen Viegas, Kathryn Offile, Charles Peters, Verne Thomas, Harold Cook and Wayne Beauvais.

"The Pursuit of Happiness" will play Thursday through Saturday this weekend and next. Tickets are available at the boxoffice prior to the performance.

PURSUING PRUDENCE

Jess May plays Max, the Hessian soldier who meets the Puritan maid, Prudence, played by Becky Jackson, and learns both about bundling and the ideals of the American Revolution. Play is "The Pursuit of Happiness," Long Beach State College summer stock presentation in the tent theater Thursday through Saturday and Aug. 1 through 3.

IN SHAKESPEARE FESTIVAL

Shylock (Nathan Adler of Long Beach) demands his pound of flesh in scene from "The Merchant of Venice" which opens Chapman College's Shakespeare Festival Wednesday at 8:30 p.m. Pleading with him are Lorenzo (Peter Bergel) and Salerio (Thomas Mielson). The college also will produce "The Tempest" Thursday night. The two plays will be presented on alternate nights through Aug. 4.

Magnolia to Open New Paintings by Kay 'Peter Pan' Friday on View at Veltman's

By VIRGINIA LADDEY

Jack Kay has a one-man show of his recent paintings at the Veltman Gallery, 5604 E. Second St., running through Aug. 7. It is an interesting show from many aspects. Kay not only has tremendous facility in paint, but real knowledge of form, space, light and color.

The works break down into three categories: a series of portraits, landscapes and "industry-scapes", and abstractions. It would be easy for Kay to go on with what he is doing but he shows every indication of continuing to investigate new possibilities.

AMONG THE portraits, there is a trend toward gaining depth and volume by looking through a room to a light beyond. The subject is in front of the light which plays, flickeringly.

Kay's use of color is most stunning in the 'scapes. He gets amazing vitality from a closely-controlled, well-nigh monochromatic palette.

AMONG HIS more abstract works, "Aerial Sea" is lovely. The view is looking down on smooth-washed rocks and pebbles all in blues and browns. Gem-like sparkle is in "Chandelier Study." The latter is placed side-by-side with a more specific painting of a highly elaborate wrought-iron chandelier.

Eva Raber

Darling and Kerry Johnson, John Darling. The parts of Nana, the dog, and Crocodile are taken by Judith McCall, Judy Lundquist is Liza and Tiger Lily.

OTHERS IN the cast are Joe Gallagher, John Shaw, John Galan, Jimmy Frazier, Drew Eshelman and Bennie Stevenson. Pat Brown and Jean Hess direct.

Explore Island of Hawaii

By RACHEL MORTON
L.P.T. Music Critic

The Island of Hawaii, the largest of the chain of islands that make up the unbelievably beautiful land of Hawaii, (now the 50th state of the United States), is one hour's flight from Honolulu, which is on the Island of Oahu.

We boarded the fine two-engine plane of the Hawaiian Airlines and all too soon, were set down in Hilo, the principal city of the Island of Hawaii. A limousine awaited us and then began the spectacular drive of eight-and-a-half hours along the east coast to the west coast of Kona. Our friendly driver, a handsome Hawaiian informed us graphically of things of interest along the way.

THE FIRST STOP was a visit to the Orchids of Hawaii Nurseries, where millions of orchids are shipped to the Mainland every day. All kinds of exotic orchids were shown us as we walked through the many gardens and greenhouses. We passed mile after mile of fields of coffee bushes, their bright red berries mingling with the unripe green berries. Kona coffee is famous and comes from these very fields. It is also very expensive, even in Hawaii.

ALL OF THE Hawaiian Islands are volcanic in origin, but the Island of Hawaii is still smoldering far below the surface, and in many places we saw steam arising hissing from the earth. There have been volcanic eruptions as recently as 1961 and in 1952, a crack opened which poured 4 million cubic yards of lava in one half hour. Within 24 hours a lava lake was formed 50 feet deep. This eruption lasted 136 days and spilled enough lava to pave a four-lane highway from Hawaii to Boston!

THESE LAVA flows, as we saw them, mile after mile of black misshapen masses of ugly rock on which nothing will grow, were most depressing and we were glad to alight at the attractive Volcano House where we were served lunch. True, the hotel is built on the rim of the dormant Kilauea volcano and the windows look out over a vast crater which bubbles forth steam in many places.

In midafternoon we walked over the incredible black sands of the beach in Puna. The ocean has pounded the black lava flow into pulverized grains of black sand and, although we walked through it, our shoes were not soiled at all and people picnicked blithely all along the dusky shore.

IT WAS GOOD to arrive at the attractive and picturesque Kona Inn! Our room, with its little balcony, looked through graceful coconut palm trees to the beautiful Pacific, just then blazing in a red-gold sunset. The dining room, open on all sides, was most inviting, as was the food. I noticed that there were no doors or glassed-in windows in the lobby or in the large adjoining area, where, after dinner, a program with Hawaiian dancers and musicians is given nightly.

And so, with the soft sea air blowing lazily and the waves lapping gently on the shore, we went drowsily and blissfully to bed, after a thrilling day in Hawaii. Next week I will take you to the Island of Kauai.

Enduring Comedies on Film Series

"Harold Lloyd's World of Comedy," the happy return of the madcap comedy of the '20s, will be shown in the Long Beach State College Little Theater Saturday at 7 p.m. and again at 9 p.m.

The film, which Variety called "A return to the golden age of laughter," features the best sequences from eight of Harold Lloyd's great comedies produced in Hollywood between 1923 and 1938.

Lloyd, always characterized by a straw hat and horn-rim spectacles, somehow manages to escape from one suspense-filled, hilarious fix after another.

Featured are sequences from "Safety Last" (1923), "The Freshman" (1925) "Hot Water" (1924), "Why Worry" (1926), "Girl Shy" (1924), "Professor Beware" (1938), "Movie Crazy" (1932) and "Feet First" (1930). A short feature, "Bowl of Cherries," will be shown at both presentations.

AFTER A FASHION

Here's What's 'In' in Italy

By MARY ELLIS CARLTON
L. P. T. Fashion Editor

Couturiers in Europe's boot-shaped country completed showings of their fall-winter collections this week end, right on the heels of press week showings by New York designers.

Coming next: the Paris collection, slated to begin Monday.

Although it's too early to predict Paris, the New York and Italian showings had many things in common, among them: fake and fancy furs, long slinky dresses for evening, a slim and relaxed silhouette for daytime, also fancy trappings for at-home wear.

THE WATCHWORD for Italian collections, according to AP wire service, was "think mink." The forecast was that next winter will be both cold and expensive for buyers of midday's things. The creations were anything but penny-pinching.

Hemlines and the basic silhouette, for the most part, went unchanged. The accent was on femininity and precious furs.

Included in the Italian fashion menagerie were "amusing" little furs like pony and tiger, along with blue-chip stocks like mink and chinchilla.

Velvets as deep-piled as luxurious rugs, rich brocades and elaborate embroidery blended into the mink-framed fashion picture.

THE SHAPE was gently fitted, with the sheath a hands-down winner as the basic dress.

Collars, capes and shorter coats emerged as an important fashion trend.

PET ITEM by Laura Aonote of Rome, a three-piece knit mountain outfit. White fluffy sweater with black yarn motif is worn with black, full-length trousers. Long reversible jacket in black and white, cossack hat complete outfit.

DOING DOUBLE DUTY, this soft cowhide blouse ties together suit of black astrakhan wool weave. Jacket has simple line in front, longer and wider treatment in back. By Rome's famous Fantana Sisters.

Wives, Too, Must Earn Their Keep

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

I feel like telling my wife to pack. I know I love her and our two children but my bachelor quarters were not like this.

She never was much of a housekeeper, but I thought when we bought a home of our own she'd take a certain pride in it. If there is a spark of pride it's in the fact she can lie around and watch TV day after day and let the clutter lie.

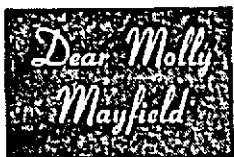

I come home night after night tired as a flat tire to an almost warm TV dinner. If I can wade through the litter that covers every available path, that is.

I have told her and re-told her that she has it clean tonight—or else. And she goes right on watching Casey at surgery or Andy solo. Now I like a good boxing match once in a while from that old fluke box but I don't like sparring with my wife night after night because the clutter thickens on the same old plot.—LET HER PACK.

DEAR LET HER:

Women who think they are their own bosses often go berserk. They forget that they, too, must earn their keep, if not by the sweat of the brow, at least by its fairness.

The woman who lies around while litter rises is sick. Perhaps psychiatrists know how to straighten her up. She certainly isn't fair to let her end of the load down on Daddy's tired head. And worse, she brands her little family as trash with the trash piling up around them.—M.M.

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

I suppose, in fact, I'm sure, all you grownups consider us teen-agers absolute idiots. But may I tell you that at least half the adults I know act more idiotically than we do, and that includes my parents.

My mom and pop were arguing the other night about which one looks younger. Mom said pop did, and he said she did. Of all the nonsense! They're both 42 and they both look it.

And yet they dare tell me I'm dumb! — SWEET SIXTEEN.

DEAR SIXTEEN:

Sixteen, mind you, but not so SWEET! And not so smart, either. Smartly, yes, but not SMART. You little fool! Can't you see your mom and pop were being absolutely, uniquely charming! They'll never lose each other, that's for sure, not with that kind of tact and understanding between them.

Oh, what a lot you have to learn! (Go ahead and hate me.)—M.M.

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

My son promises to come see me but I usually have to trump up something to get him here. I'm sure his wife runs over him and won't let him out of her sight. And I'm sure I've lost my happiness with my son because of her.

I don't see how he can forget or be content after all we've meant to each other. I wanted to live apart from all my children, but this boy is one who needs me and I need him. He is my baby.

His wife says they intend to include me in this and that, but haven't found the time.—NOT WITH IT.

DEAR NOT:

Your baby has bounced. And it takes forever for a mother to realize this—with the last one. The sooner the better, dear mother. Find your happiness elsewhere or you may not find it at all.—M.M.

Ramayana Reunion

A Long Beach City College Ramayana Sorority reunion is slated for next Sunday for all sorority alumnae of the years 1953 through 1957.

The affair will take place at the home of Mrs. Richard (Pat Powelson) Hugen, 2601 Fanwood Ave.

Alums who have not received direct mail invitations are urged to contact Mrs. Edward L. (Alice McIlree) Shaw, 7031 Harvey Way, Lakewood, for information. The informal affair is scheduled to begin at 2 p.m.

felt that the cross ruff could almost certainly succeed if he handled it properly.

His first play was to ruff a diamond. He wanted to make all his three small trumps. Then he cashed the king of clubs and led a club to dummy's ace. In order for a cross ruff to succeed it is essential to cash all your side tricks before the opponents get a chance to discard.

THEN SOUTH ruffed another diamond with the four of trumps and a heart with dummy's eight. This gave him six tricks in and all he had to do was to make four more trump tricks.

He led a third diamond from dummy. East ruffed with the jack, but South overruffed with the queen. Then he ruffed another heart with dummy's ace of trumps.

Now he played another diamond and it did not matter what East did. South could make his last two trumps and his contract.

Lashes in a Flash

forefinger, otherwise in shaping you may pull out too many hairs.

4. After the eyelashes are prepared, paint a liner on your eyelid with liquid eyeliner (brown for blonds, black for brunettes and redheads). Christine recommends liquid because it smooths on more easily, also can be wiped off if you goof. (Pencil has to be removed with grease.) The liner is a must, says Christine, to hide the eyelash strip (although it is near-to invisible on Arden lashes).

Then lightly mascara your own lashes, upper and lower.

5. This done, hold the lashes dead center with tweezers and place mid-eye. With back of tweezers, work ends into place. For the new round-eye look, they can be placed slightly above your own lashes. Fill in any white spaces with liquid liner.

Arden lashes are pre-glued, says Christine, which makes it easier for the beginner. The pre-glue lasts about 10 wearings, after that a thin line of glue must be applied.

6. Care of the lashes is all-important, says Christine (hers last six months). She soaks them in soap and water about three times a week, pats on a towel, wraps them on a pencil, covers with paper and anchors with a rubber band. Next morning, they're dry and ready to flutter luxuriously all day.

Christine recommends two pair of lashes—a longer pair for evening, shorter for daytime.

When removing them (and they should always be removed before retiring), pull off from the outer corner.

And always—but always—put them away in their box. Many an eyelash, mistaken for a centipede, has been ground into the floor by a male foot.

EYELASHES HAVE BEEN battling around for a long time, but something new has been added this year in New York's glamor world.

You might say, beauty experts have flipped their wig. After many complaints from the grassroots about wigs that have to be done at the beauty parlor, they've come up with a simple innovation that takes to your own hair with the whisk of a comb (see sketch, page W-1).

At Elizabeth Arden (most New York salons have one variety or another), the new hair piece is called "Capri-com." It is based on a tortoise shell comb curved to fit securely around the head. Each is custom made to exactly match a woman's own hair color.

Once the comb is placed on the head, the number of style variations possible becomes a matter of higher mathematics. It can be combined with a woman's own hair in innumerable ways.

Its primary benefit: bolstering at the crown of the head, adding volume to limp locks. It can conceal wind-tossed or salt-filled hair in seconds.

Best news of all: any woman can handle the hairpiece herself. Its beach and pool life this summer should be virtually nonstop.

Unlike a wig, it requires no special case for travel, can be rolled and placed in suitcase, beachbag or handbag.

Perhaps the simplest coiff to be achieved with "Capri-com" falls into place as it is put on. It is combed forward at the sides, flipped upward or under at the ends. A sufficient amount remains at the back to give a lift to the crown, conceal a woman's own hair to nape of the neck.

It's also great for an upsweep in the evening, arranged, perhaps, with a cluster of curls at the back of the head.

Most beauty salons in New York say they will be available in California shortly.

AND HERE'S ANOTHER feminine weapon available this fall at cosmetic-counter arsenals: false eyelashes.

They're made of human hair embedded in a colorless net that is easy to glue to the browline.

Say the producers, Tourneur Custom Make-up Salons in New York: "They're designed to give definitely expressive eyebrows to women whose natural eye foliage has been plucked to a skinny line."

Vaudeville Back at St. Luke's Social

Long Beach 12, CALIF., Sunday, July 21, 1963

INDEPENDENT PRESS-TELEGRAM—W.7

Don't you believe that vaudeville is dead! It will be presented loud, clear and lively at an old fashioned ice cream social July 28 at the Parish Hall at St. Luke's Episcopal Church from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m.

The hall will be decorated in a Gay 90's theme at the benefit for youth work that includes summer camp and the Youth Building Fund. Ice cream and homemade cake will be served by the junior group of the Episcopal Young Churchmen. The senior group will take K. P.

Featured in the vaudeville show will be members of Sparetimers, a group of mothers who have been "bitten by the show biz bug," according to one of the group. The women have given 64 performances since their original appearance at Lafayette Elementary School two years ago.

An old touring car, a row boat, a bicycle built for two and a trolley are among the props designed and built by originator-director Mrs. William Pearson for the act. The members of the group have made and assembled a colorful wardrobe with a variety of accessories.

THE SPARETIMERS have 27 children and 7 grandchildren. Every member is active on a P.T. A. executive board as well as other school, church and civic organizations.

Members include Mmes. Pearson, Harold Atkinson, Halg Elmasian, William Galloway, Homer Blake, Chalmers Donovan, Clint Merithew, Stephen Lucas and Lester Hanson.

M. C. for the show will be Pat Tomper, who will enter his third year at the Episcopalian Seminary in the fall. William Maxwell, USN, will entertain at the piano and there will be community singing.

Can can girls, Pat Taylor and Linda Wickstrom, will act as hostesses. Atmosphere will be provided by Gary Walker as a Keystone Kop and David Frinell will handle the audio.

Brothers Steve and Mike Pell are presidents of the senior and junior groups, respectively, of Episcopal Young Churchmen of St. Luke's.

THEY'LL BE ON THE DOT

Headliners at the old fashioned ice cream social in the Parish Hall at St. Luke's Episcopal Church July 28 will be members of the Sparetimers, a group who sing popular old songs. ## Alamitos Garden Club to Hear Theater Cast

Cast members of Virginia Country Theater will entertain at Thursday's meeting of Alamitos Bay Garden Club.

The meeting, the first of the new club year, will take place at 11:30 a.m. in Jean Norris's home, 5519 E. Ocean Blvd.

Greg Killingsworth will direct theater members in numbers from "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying." Mrs. Samuel C. Cameron, vice president of the club, arranged for the program.

VIRGINIA Country Theater which was organized

this year, includes 200 teenage members, all of whom have interest in the theater. Next year's production will be "Ballad of the Bottle-neck," a revision of "Destry Rides Again."

Singers taking part in Thursday's program will be Peggy Boucher, Kathy McFadden, Steve Warner, Cindy Parsons, Gary Lamprich, Pam Porterfield, John Stamper, Pam Nistrath, Paul Nistrath, Marian Crane, Margaret Daugherty, Nan Daugherty, Gary Ellison, Sue Lennert, John Krause, Peggy Handley, Gayle Chips, Joy Dunleavy and Dave Shadle.

Alumnae to Meet for Luncheon

Long Beach Chi Omega Alumnae will meet Thursday noon for salad luncheon followed by bridge play and swimming.

The party will take place in the home of Mrs. F. Dudley Moss, 5530 Anaheim Rd. Mrs. Robert Galloway, 158 Rivo Alto Canal, and Mrs. Lee Warner, 3621 Rose Ave., are in charge of reservations.

St. Luke's Is Scene of Double Vows

Mrs. Frederick D. Hill

Mrs. Gary A. Boro

Three hundred guests witnessed the double wedding ceremony uniting Sandra Ellen Boro to Frederick D. Hill and Garna Jean Garren to Gary A. Boro at St. Luke's Episcopal Church.

Parents of the couples are Messrs. and Mmes. Albert F. Boro of Long Beach; Frederick W. Hill, Poulso, Wash.; and William F. Garren, Golden, Colo.

The new Mrs. Hill chose a formal gown of peau de sole with tulip skirt and chapel train for her wedding. Her matron of honor was Mrs. David Wulfsberg. Roger Nilson served Hill as best man.

THEIR OTHER attendants included Mrs. Raymond Hill, Suzanne Hill, Stacy Swain, Mark Finn, David Wulfsberg and Raymond Hill.

The newlyweds are graduates of the University of Washington, where the bride affiliated with Alpha Delta Pi and the bridegroom with Zeta Psi.

Following a tour of California and Oregon, the couple will make their home in Poulso.

THE FORMER Miss Garren wore a full length peau de sole gown with a full skirt and brush train. She chose Debbie Hamilton for her maid of honor. Edward Gadden Jr. attended Boro as best man.

Other members of the bridal party included Stacy Swain, Mark Finn, Mary Garren, Mary K. Mansir, Thomas Heinsohn and David Rowlands.

The new Mrs. Boro attended Long Beach City College. Her husband is a graduate of Polytechnic High School, LBCC and the University of Southern California.

On their return from a wedding trip to Mexico City, the couple will reside in Philadelphia, where the bridegroom will attend the University of Pennsylvania Dental School.

Littigs to Live in Oakland

First Christian Church of Oakland was chosen for the afternoon wedding of Judy Ann Myers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Myers of Long Beach, to John Stevenson Littig, son of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas R. Fisher of Westwood.

The bride chose a white silk organza gown for her marriage. Janet Johnson attended her as maid of honor. Tom Goetzl served the bridegroom as best man.

THE NEW Mrs. Littig is a graduate of Lakewood High School and a senior at the University of California at Berkeley. Her husband is a graduate of UC, where he received his masters degree.

On their return from a honeymoon trip to Carmel and Monterey, the couple will make their home in Oakland.

Kennyettes Plan Clinic Benefit

Kennyettes noon luncheon and card social Tuesday at Veterans Park Clubhouse, 28th Street and Pine Avenue, will benefit Long Beach Children's Psychiatric Clinic.

Committee members include Mmes. William Buchanan, Lester Cooper, Edna Hess, Frank Newcomb and Lella Prine. Reservations may be made with Mrs. Sue Wood, 444 W. Ninth St.

Aug. 6 has been chosen for the date of the group's annual picnic at 11 a.m. in Bixby Park.

CHEF OF THE WEEK

Once 'Golden Saint'

By MILDRED K. FLANARY
L.P.T. Food Editor

Shure 'n Old Ireland would be proud of the likes of him and his... Michael Kevin, 5½, Cathi Colleen, 4, Tammi Dean, 2, and Daniel Sean, 1.

Today's Chef of the Week William Dean O'Hare, is a member of Eastman Dillon Union Securities & Co. Marlene, Mrs. O'Hare, was "Miss Welcome to Long Beach" in 1954.

O'Hare was born in San Pedro, but being the son of a naval officer, he didn't remain there long. When he was a little over a year old, the family transferred to Houston, Tex., then to Hawaii. He returned in time, however, to enroll in first grade at St. Anthony's, where he remained through high school.

He then entered UC, Berkeley, on a Gene Witter Memorial football scholarship. In fact, he and John Olszewski, John Peterson and Bill Mais went there en masse. They were a backfield unit on St. Anthony's CIF championship team in 1948. At "Cal" they were dubbed the "Golden Saints."

O'HARE MAJORED in speech, history and psychology. He was a member of the Big-C, the Skull and Key, the Triune Society and pledged Sigma Nu fraternity.

His labors, while in college, were many. They included various jobs at the race track at Golden Gate Field, the stadium and serving in several restaurants.

Having joined the ROTC in college, he went into the Air Force after graduation and from '54 to '58 flew jets out of Barksdale Air Force Base at Shreveport, La.

William Dean O'Hare

Now inactive, he is a captain in the Air Force Reserves.

With his service hitch completed, he joined the Dean Witter Co., where he remained from 1958 to 1961. It was then that he and three other Witter men opened the Long Beach office of Eastman Dillon Union Securities & Investments.

IMMEDIATE past president of the Long Beach Century Club, O'Hare is still a director. He's an honorary member of the Long Beach Motor Patrol Association, a director of the Long Beach

Yacht Club and a member of the Pacific Coast Club. He chaired a membership drive for the Long Beach Safety Committee.

When he works out, he goes in for a game of squash. But mainly, as an avocation, he sings. He made his debut as soloist with the St. Luke's Boys Choir during the time it served as background for several Hollywood movies. In fact, a certain aptitude test placed O'Hare in the field of entertainment. He played the lead in the opera "Tom Sawyer" opposite Erine O'Brien.

OUR "CHEF'S" culinary propensities showed up early in life. He never played with toys as a child—it was always pots and pans in the kitchen.

His recipe for Beef Macaroni is of Yugoslavian origin. It's one of his mother's favorites. She served it to the mayors of both Shanghai and Tientsin, China and to many Navy personnel while his Dad was serving in foreign ports.

BEUF MACARONI

- 3 lbs. lean stewing beef, cut in large pieces
- 1 lb. ground round
- 2 onions
- 2 cloves garlic
- 2 tbsps. olive oil
- 2 cans tomato sauce
- 1 can tomato paste
- ½ tsp. cinnamon
- ½ tsp. nutmeg
- Salt and pepper to taste

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

A Sermon to Remember

DEAR ABBY: My husband has been a minister for many years, and we have faced this problem over and over. It's the misconstrued picture of the pastor's work. Time and again I've heard children go uncorrected when they say, in the presence of their parents, "The preacher doesn't have to work." Adults make remarks about how hard it must be to have my husband underfoot all day. Or how nice it is that he has to work only on Sundays. Or he can sleep as late as he wants to in the mornings. Abby, my husband gets up at 6:30 a.m. and retires between 11 o'clock and midnight every night.

His days (and many evenings) are filled with meetings, conferences, church administration business, fund raising, counseling parents of children in trouble, mediating in family and marital quarrels, preparing sermons and speeches for community and civic affairs. He puts in hours and does work that would kill a younger man. Some people think that unless a man works behind a desk eight hours a day, or goes to a factory and punches a clock, he isn't really "working." I love our people, Abby, and don't want to hurt them, but I do wish they had a better understanding of the minister's work. Can you help me?—PASTOR'S WIFE.

DEAR WIFE: I hope I have.

DEAR ABBY: I found a hairpin in my husband's shirt pocket and I don't own a hairpin. I asked him how it got there and he swore up and down he didn't know. Now I know my husband and I can tell if he's lying by looking at his mouth. Well, his mouth betrayed him and I am sure he was lying to me about that hairpin. I can't prove anything. What would you do if you were me? I am 62 and he is 69.—NOT STUPID.

DEAR NOT—If I were you I'd throw the hairpin away and forget it.

DEAR ABBY: Tell "His Mother," whose son had to repeat the fifth grade, that I know how she feels because it happened to my boy years ago. And it was the best thing that ever happened to him, as he received a good grounding in fundamentals that has held him in good stead ever since. As his teacher told us, "If he is not able to keep up with the class and do the work, think how much harder it will be later on." He quickly adjusted to being left behind by his contemporaries, and it was never harmful to him psychologically or otherwise. It was a blow to his parents' pride. Don't blame the teacher. She's doing what is best for him. Someday you will be thankful.—MRS. S.

CONFIDENTIAL TO G. G.: For some valuable insight into a young adult's character, take notice of how he (or she) treats his parents. And for some additional valuable insight, notice how he (or she) treats the grandparents.

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Claretian Guild

Claretian Guild will sponsor a dessert luncheon at noon Wednesday at 728 Elm Ave. Canasta, pinochle, bridge and 500 will be played. Mrs. Elizabeth McAllister and her committee will be in charge.

1 lb. elbow macaroni
Grated Parmesan cheese

Heat oil in 4-quart sauce pan. Brown pieces of beef in oil. Add ground beef and brown. Add onion and garlic and saute until onion is limp. Add tomato sauce, tomato paste and seasonings. Stir for a few minutes.

Add water to cover, bring to boil and simmer for 1½-2 hours, or until beef is tender. Stir occasionally.

If sauce gets too thick add a little water during cooking.

Cook macaroni according to directions on package. Drain macaroni. Remove pieces of beef to a platter. Mix sauce with macaroni, place on separate platter and sprinkle generously with Parmesan cheese.

Serve with: Green salad, French bread and dry red wine. Serves 6.

TELEVISION LOG OF THE SUNDAY NEWS AND THE INDEPENDENT-PRESS-TELEGRAM

By BERT RESNIK
TV and Radio Editor

BARRY SHEAR, 40, television producer-director, is a one-man revolution.

By nature, he is as spirited as his production, "The Lively Ones," a half-hour musical program which is as classical in its individuality as the first jet.

What the jet did for air transportation, "The Lively Ones" did for staid musical variety shows.

It transported the musical variety from the dodoism of deceased vaudeville to the heights of the space age.

And "The Lively Ones" did it during the summer when no one was supposed to be watching.

It performed its musical mission so magnificently last year that it earned an Emmy nomination for Shear and was snapped up for another eight-weeks' summer engagement starting 9:30 p.m. this Thursday, channel 4, in COLOR.

ONE-MAN revolutionist Shear, in his criticism of musical variety shows and television in general, is subtle.

"It's about time that television got out of the idiot class," he said.

"I would rather fall flat on my—fall flat—than take the easy money and do an Ed Sullivan."

"It's about time the television industry stepped out creatively like the movies did."

"If nobody attempts to step forward, the television viewers will go back to the 30-cent movies."

★ ★ ★

UNAFFECTED WITH false modesty, Shear claims this summer season's "The Lively Ones" will be "three times the show" it was last year.

The "three times the show" includes two sequences shot in Long Beach.

The Long Beach Naval Shipyard and the Reef Restaurant were used for the locations.

At the shipyard, show host Vic Damone and guest Allan Sherman dance and sing aboard the minesweeper USS Conflict. The featured song is "Consider Yourself One of the Family."

But the family got bigger than Shear expected for the closing shot.

"About 3,000 sailors walked past," the producer-director said.

★ ★ ★

THERE WAS ONE OTHER technical problem at the shipyard.

"We scouted the location for two days beforehand," said Shear. "Then when we got down there to do the shooting, someone had put up an oil well."

At the Reef, a cliff was used for a watermelon-brigade beach-party scene. And a decayed rowboat surrounded by tropical vegetation and beautiful girls is the setting for shipwrecked Damone to sing "At Long Last, Love."

Both the Reef scenes include Quinn O'Hara

and Gloria Neil, Damone's new "Lively Girls" for the summer series.

★ ★ ★

SHEAR PROMISES that his series will feature "stars, not freaks."

He said he could have had Vince "Ben Casey" Edwards, Dick "Dr. Kildare" Chamberlain, Paul Anka and other entertainers of that caliber.

But he didn't want them.

"I'd rather have a real star like Mel Tormé—even though he's been a loser for years."

"I don't believe the Paul Ankas represent music," he said.

SHEAR

In representing what Shear considers music and in presenting entertainers who he believes are stars, the producer-director has one major objective.

"I want to get the feeling across," he said.

"When you have a performer who delivers, you have an obligation to present him the best way to get over what he's trying to say at the moment."

★ ★ ★

ATTEMPTING TO illustrate the "best way," Shear told of an upcoming sequence in which "O Sole Mio" is Damone's featured song.

"That's a number that's been kicked around a million times," said Shear.

For the millionth-and-first-time, Shear went back to memories of his childhood.

He recalled that Mulberry St. in New York was closed three times a year for an Italian festival in honor of St. Gennaro.

"Everybody had a ball," he said.

The television show's settling for "O Sole Mio" recreates the Mulberry St. ball and Damone sings the song in Italian.

"What we're trying to do is take our cameras and use them for what they're intended—not vaudeville."

TYPICAL of what cameras are "intended" for follows:

1. The cartoon character Bullwinkle Moose doing a Bossa Nova with Damone (a TV first according to Shear).

2. The Benny Goodman Sextet playing

Pan and Fan Mail

Despite the fact the "Tom Duggan Show" was scheduled at 11 p.m. on July 3, another show again took his place.

Tom does have many fans and personally I feel his commentaries are among the very, very few honest ones still on the air.

We feel it an evening lost without turning him on for awhile at least.

Rachel Gose, Buena Park Channel 11 claims they are tired of "lost evenings."

When Tom didn't show for his show July 3, they told him to get lost. He's been fired.

During the 1939 World's Fair held on Treasure Island, San Francisco, a pageant called Pageant Under the Stars was held portraying 1,500 characters of the history of California.

Surely pictures must have been made of it and why hasn't it ever been shown on TV?

There surely is a record of it somewhere as it was very wonderful.

Try and locate it and show it as a special sometime.

Ruth Dennis, Lomita Based on some of the other shows they call "specials," your suggestion sounds like a good one.

THE DOCTORS—With Jack Gaynor and Margaret Musser of the original cast both departed, the Hope Hospital staff is augmented by James Pritchett as new chief of staff and Ann Williams (Erica Brandt of the defunct "Young Dr. Malone" series) as an outpatient assistant. In another format change, the 12:30 p.m. ch. 4 series, shifts from daily dramas to week-long 5-parters, opener dealing with a dying woman who refuses treatment until after the wedding of her daughter.

VACATION PLAYHOUSE—Ten first-run comedy pilots that didn't land a sponsor take over at 8:30 p.m., ch. 2, for the vacationing Lucy show. Opener stars Ginger Rogers in the dual role of twin sisters, both successful career women, who get entangled romantically with a fickle playboy. Cesare Danova and Charlie Ruggles co-star, with Gardner McKay making a brief appearance as himself.

DR. FRED SCHWARZ—The president of the Christian Anti-Communist Crusade is heard at 9 p.m., ch. 11, in a special address titled "Is the Split Between Russia and China Real or Phoney?"

Backus join regular Jayne Meadows in stunts involving chimpanzee and horoscopes.

MISS WORLD Beauty Pageant — Miss California is chosen in second of two live telecasts from the Moulin Rouge, 9 p.m., ch. 13. Winner will compete in the London finals next fall.

THE LIVELY ONES—Most refreshing breath of an unimaginative summer of repeats is the Barry Shear-produced color musical series, designed as off-beat show-casing for more than 50 guest headliners, and replacing for 8 weeks the vacationing "Hazel," at 9:30 p.m., ch. 4. Vic Damone returns as star for the new edition, with Quinn O'Hara (Smitty) and Gloria Neil (Melvin) as his lovely "dates." Opener features Benny Goodman and his sextet, Joanie Sommers, Red Nichols and His 5 Pennies, Bullwinkle J. Moose, folk singers Steve Addiss and Bill Crofut and Count Basie and his orchestra, with settings ranging from the Long Beach Naval Base and POP to New Orleans' French Quarter.

WORLD OF SOPHIA LOREN—Alexander Scourby narrates a repeat portrait of the actress who rose from beging as a waif in the slums of Naples to a best-actress Oscar, at 10 p.m., ch. 4. Tony Perkins, Vittorio de Sica and Anatole Litvak are among those appearing in Paris, Rome, Naples and New York filmings.

'Naked City' Star Describes Feeling About Losing Series

By DICK KLEINER
Newspaper Enterprise Assoc.

How does it feel to lose a series? According to Paul Burke, who has lost his, it's a somewhat mixed feeling. In some ways, he's happy to see the demise of Naked City in other ways, he's sad.

"I liked the show," Paul says. "And I liked the part I played. What I liked best about it, I think, is that there was more improvisation in this show than any other television series. Why, we often were told by the police that we had to leave the location where we were shooting in 15 minutes. So we'd have to do the scene right then—without rehearsal."

"THAT'S GOOD for actors. It's good—if the actors know their business, and ours did."

So Paul will regret losing a good part in a good show. But there's another side to the question.

"I'm relieved that the show is going off," he says. "It's very hard work. Last year, the doctors thought I had Addison's disease. And I said to myself, 'Well, I'm not going to live to be an old man, that's for sure.'"

"THEY LATER found out it was adrenal cortex shortage, caused by prolonged fatigue. The doctors ordered me to move into New York City—I had been commuting from Scarsdale—and insisted I have a 30-day vacation last summer. Bert Leonard, the producer, had planned to shoot straight through the summer."

"This year, since I lived in the city it was easier. They had a car pick me up and take me home every day. But I'm still exhausted."

With the show finished, the Burke family left to spend the summer in the California desert (they all love extremely hot weather), and he will learn to play tennis and teach his 13-year-old son to hunt rabbits and "just play." Then he hopes to do a year of making feature films, after which he'd like to get another series.

He's a glutton for punishment—and, on the other hand, a lover of television series.

BACK-ACHE?

IF YOU SUFFER PAINS OF AN ACHING BACK DUE TO OVER-EXERCISE OR NERVOUS TENSION, BEGIN AT ONCE TO ENJOY THE BENEFITS OF DEEP PENETRATING HEAT AND GENTLE MASSAGE IN YOUR OWN BATHTUB WITH A

Many common aching backs are the result of too much physical activity or unusual exercise . . . or the everyday tension that tightens back and neck muscles. Muscle spasm causes pain until nature slowly repairs the damage and relaxes the sore, tight muscle.

Tension headaches and aching backs often respond quickly to hydromassage. The forceful, moving water filled with bursting air bubbles is the kind of massage that relaxes muscle spasm and stimulates local blood circulation where applied. The Jacuzzi Whirlpool Bath provides the warm water massage doctors and therapists recommend to speed up the relaxation process and help nature do her job.

If you suffer pains of an aching back, muscular soreness, headaches—you should try a Jacuzzi Whirlpool Bath in your own home bathtub. This pleasure can be yours immediately—perhaps tonight.

SPECIAL

LUCY-DESI—Milton Berle, who on Aug. 12 will head the first of three NBC specials in 5 days for one sponsor (others are Bing Crosby Aug. 14 and the International Beauty Spectacular Aug. 16), today plays the target of Lucy Ricardo's efforts to land a celebrity to head her P-T-A benefit show during the 7:30 p.m. repeat hour, ch. 2.

SAM BENEDICT—Edmond O'Brien plays a dual role in the 7:30 p.m. repeat, ch. 4, both as Sam Benedict and as the defendant, a wandering former teacher charged with larceny because his compassion for children has prompted him illegally to "adopt" 17 orphans.

FIRST BIG-MONEY QUIZ SINCE SCANDALS

ABC-TV Readies '100 Grand' for September Airing

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—If it's true that "you can't change human nature," then network television's first big-money quiz show since the scandals of recent years, "100 Grand," is a pretty fair bet to be a big hit when it premieres in September. The past success of such programs is a proven factor.

On the other hand, if that maxim about human nature holds true in many areas, then it is an equally fair bet that there are sweaty palms and nervous reservations aplenty in the network set over the possibility—however remote—of another scandal, especially if "100 Grand" should cause a revival of other big-money quizzes.

For the past temptation to dishonesty on such programs also is proven.

★ ★ ★
DESPITE THE SCANDALS, there still are plenty of quiz shows on the networks, but the prizes involved are not much in comparison with what they used to be, so the temptations have been lowered. But even so, human error in one form or another is always in the shadows. For instance, in April NBC-TV had to replace three broadcasts of its daily "Say When" quiz upon learning of the "inadvertent" appearance of a female contestant related to an executive of the Radio Corp. of America, which owns NBC.

The network issued a statement saying the lady apparently didn't know the two organizations were affiliated. And her prizes, estimated at about $5,000 in value by NBC, were to be divided between two losers.

ABC-TV, WHICH came out clean in the scandals, is the network bringing back the big-money question-and-answer format that once held the nation spellbound. Its top prize is $100,000.

Naturally ABC says the show will be foolproof against temptation. What's more, "public service"—that useful pair of words that has been employed to butter up many a project—is even involved. At last report, the idea of the show was to have an amateur oppose an expert selected by a city on a specific subject. If the amateur wins, he keeps the loot. If the expert wins, his earnings go for his city's benefit.

THE QUESTION is whether "100 Grand" is worth the risk it entails. Since the scandals, the networks have striven hard to establish themselves as providers of much "public service." In addition, only recently, there have been investigations of the ratings system, demands for softer and fewer commercials, and losses by the networks over control of the best hours of their affiliates for programming.

Government and public pressures for responsibility are stronger than ever. Another mess could be a tremendous blow to network television in general and to ABC specifically.

JULY • WILLBANKS SELLS QUALITY CARPET FOR LESS

CLEARANCE

WILLBANKS HUGE WAREHOUSE STORE. Truckloads of carpeting arrive daily, bringing you this area's largest selection of fine carpet. Large quantity purchasing enables you to get the best carpeting at realistic prices.

The Willbanks Story:

The Willbanks Carpet Co. is a departure from the usual carpet specialty shop. It was founded on the premise that quality carpet, backed by expert installation, could be sold at a minimum mark-up in sufficient volume to be profitable. The extension of this premise was to operate without frills and costly fixtures from a low rent and thus low overhead location in a factory warehouse on a side street in Signal Hill. By eliminating high rent and other cost-raising features, the company decided it could afford to pass on to its customers the substantial savings by giving more carpet at less cost.

"CHAPEL LANE" ALL-WOOL PILE by Gullistan

All-wool face with a textured four-dimensional pattern. This interesting effect is formed by a combination of design on design—the basic design being surrounded by a second one. Chapel Lane has a double pile back adding strength and unsurpassed fullness. 15 colors to choose from.

WILLBANKS SPECIAL PRICE
$9.95 per sq. yd.

100% HERCULON PILE

It's Here! The First New Carpet of Herculon — Polypropylene

Continuous Filament fiber made by Hercules Powder Co.—one of the strongest man-made fibers known today—fashioned into beautiful broadloom that is amazingly soil resistant and easy to clean... absorbs less moisture than any other fiber... lovely colors are locked in. Will never fade, never change. Rugged, durable and strong... takes years of hardest wear.

THE WILLBANKS PRICE FOR THIS TERRIFIC CARPET

$6.95 PER SQ. YD.

100% CONTINUOUS FILAMENT DU PONT "501" NYLON PILE

OUR COVER

Beneath the surface of the waters of the world lies a mysterious, weightless kingdom that once was denied to all but the most daring of men with primitive equipment. Today, a quarter of a million persons in Southern California alone go underwater on summer weekends and vacation periods to enjoy Nature's wet wonderland by virtue of one of America's fastest growing sports—skin diving. Many, like the serious fisherman on today's cover, turn their hobby to profit by providing fish for their family's dinner table. Whether it's just for fun and sightseeing or whether there's a purpose to their visit, or both, men and women, even whole families are taking up the fun of skin diving. For more about this fascinating pastime, see Page 9.

THIS WEEK

Thirty years ago a small contingent of Army Air Corps men ventured into the Mojave Desert to establish a bombing range. From that beginning grew the sprawling Edwards Air Force Base, recognized today as the Free World's most vital flight test center. Next week, Southland takes you to Edwards AFB in story and pictures to show you why it has gained world-wide prominence.

LA REINA RULE

WHAT YOUR NAME MEANS

Send your name to La Reina Rule in care of Southland Magazine, 604 Pine Ave., Long Beach 12, Calif., for origin, meaning and brief genealogy, for reply only in this column.

colored black where it lies on the silver background, red over the gold background.

DEAR MISS RULE: Please explain WENGER. — H. W., Long Beach.

H. W.: WENGER is a variation of the German surname Wanger. This property terminology, "Wang-er," meant "man owning a home on a grass covered hillside." The Wenger shield, granted in Bavaria in 1788, is a shield divided into four sections. The upper left and lower right sections have a rampant unicorn on a background colored silver on its upper half, black on the lower half. Where the unicorn lies over the black background it is silver; over the silver background it is black. The remaining two sections of the shield have a blue fleur-de-lis on silver.

DEAR MISS RULE: Have you the background on GRASSO. — E. G., Garden Grove.

E. G.: GRASSO is traditionally Italian, and was a physical descriptive term for the family ancestor. This name meant "stout one." Grassos became barons in Sicily many centuries ago. Their coat-of-arms has a warlike black eagle centered on a red shield.

DEAR MISS RULE: Please give the history on BURDICK. — Mrs. M.V., Long Beach

M.V.: BURDICK was taken a millennium ago by ancestors who lived in Leicestershire, England, at "Burbecka," a locality name meaning "castle at the brook." Family records list Adam Byrbeck of Oxfordshire in 1507. In the late 1500s this name evolved into the spellings Birbeck and Burdick. The family shield is black, decorated with a gold chevron between three silver bear heads.

DEAR MISS RULE: Would you give genealogy on CAMPBELL.—S. C., Norwalk

S. C.: CAMPBELL, a great Highland Scotch clan name, was first recorded in the 1200s. In old Gaelic Scotch, Campbell meant "crooked mouth," recording the first clan-chief's facial characteristic. The Campbells of Argyll were the main division of this clan, and claimed descent from a chieftain who was created Lord of Lochow in 1280. Campbell chiefs held the office of great master of the king's household for centuries. The Campbell shield is covered with eight alternating black and gold triangles, their points meeting in the center. The clan motto "Audaciter et aperte" means "Boldly and openly."

DEAR MISS RULE: Kindly give data on DAILEY.—R. D., Huntington Beach.

R. D.: DAILEY is from the Gaelic Irish "Dalac," with the unusual interpretation, "frequenter of assemblies," indicating an intelligent progenitor who attended religious, political or philosophical discussions. Dalac's sons assumed the clan name O'Dalac, later converted to Dailey and Daly. Dalac was a descendant of Maine, son of Niall of the Nine Hostages, great 10th century Irish king. The O'Dalacs or O'Daileys were natives of Westmeath in the center of Erin. Their coat-of-arms has a rampant lion in the center of a shield colored silver on the upper half, gold on the lower half. In each upper corner of the shield is a small red hand. The lion is

'The Bible of the Poor'

By Harold A. Park

GLASS and paint, lead and solder, acid and resin and heat and light are prime ingredients in the stained glass window industry. Artists and craftsmen who weld these drab and colorful opposites into figures, scenes and symbols of beauty, grace and dignity put vitality into these ingredients.

Five thousands years ago Arabs set translucent glass in plaster to create designs and to give effect, against light, of sparkling jewels. The real predecessors of the modern stained glass craftsmen, however, labored in the 11th Century in producing windows for cathedrals of England and the Continent. Their windows were referred to as Biblia Pauperum or The Bible of the Poor.

THE AURA of mystery and romance inherent in stained glass can be sensed in a visit to The Judson Studios of California, 200 S. Ave. 66, Los Angeles. Artists and craftsmen—all dedicated churchmen of many denominations—create permanent art there. Horace T. Judson, owner of the studios, captured the significance of the completely installed product in these words: "Stained glass windows have been called 'Catacombs of color between cliffs of masonry.'"

It is interesting to follow the step-by-step production of stained glass windows. First, the theme of the proposed message in glass is decided upon by church and studio representative. Arthur Y. Park, born in Honolulu of Korean parents, then makes the first drawing for the window, usually sketched one inch to a lineal foot.

OTHER ARTISTS work it up into a full-sized drawing or "cartoon" from which pattern drawings are made. These are cut into pieces and stuck on heavy plate glass. Colored glass is then cut to the pattern and stuck to the easel holding the pattern. Those pieces requiring paint for design or shading are painted, then fired in a kiln. Glaziers group the related pieces of glass into correct leaded positions in the windows and ce-

RAGS TO RICHES TO RAGS . . .

Hollywood Once More on Its Way Up

Hollywood Boulevard is still the West's "great white way," but its appearance is now less flamboyant. A premiere crowd is seen in foreground above.

By Lou Jobst

HOLLYWOOD, a drowsy little hamlet that rose to flamboyant fame and riches as movie capital of the world and then began a downhill slide, is on its way up again.

The new Hollywood is urbane, mature and discreetly affluent.

Gone are the images of the past—the sexy, ostentatious Hollywood of the 1930s when the extravagant and bizarre were the routine and the honky-tonk Hollywood of the late '40s and '50s when the once glittering streets became cheap tourist traps.

In their place is rising a permanent financial, residential and cultural center that is still a power in the international entertainment market, but less possessed with ballyhoo and bravado.

"CONCEIT we've got rid of," says a long-time Hollywood observer. "We had to. But we're still one of the five best known cities in the world and that means something."

Hollywood and Vine, the Sunset Strip and other Hollywood locales are still among some of the most famous spots on earth and each year hundreds of thousands trek into town to see them.

They're due for a shock. They'll find a skyline studded with high-rise buildings where once banks of premiere searchlights stabbed night skies.

They'll find old landmarks have vanished. And new ones are everywhere!

At Sunset and Vine, a block down the street from celebrated Hollywood and Vine, gawking place of millions, they'll find one of Southern California's tallest buildings, a 22-story office and finance center.

SCORES of other high level trade and professional centers, including three 20 to 40-story buildings, are either going up or are in the planning stage.

Radio Corporation of America is building a nine-story West Coast headquarters around the corner at Sunset and Ivar. Three other skyscrapers are to rise across the street from the National Broadcasting Co. offices.

More than $1 million has been spent in laying a star-studded walk along famed Hollywood Boulevard, which contains plaques with the greats of Hollywood film history. The total bill for the street facelift is to date more than $20 million.

Many downtown district stores, which housed second-rate curio and souvenir shops during the downhill ride of the '50s, have been remodeled and turned into first class merchandise centers which rent for as much as $45,000 per floor.

It is necessary to interject here a brief biographical sketch of Hollywood to fully appreciate the import of the town's new rags to riches saga.

HOLLYWOOD, a pineapple plantation briefly in the late 19th century, was born in November 1903 when residents voted 68 to 77 to incorporate.

The name was given the community by Mrs. Harriet Wilcox, wife of a Kansas businessman who moved to Southern California to become a rancher. Mrs. Wilcox picked up the name from a Chicago suburb she had once visited and liked.

Until 1910 Hollywood was a sun-baked ranching area, connected to central Los Angeles by a single dirt road. With the invention of the motion picture camera, its year-round (in those days) sunshine attracted the fledgling movie industry.

The first studio-office was located in a bar at Sunset and Gower in 1911. Within three months there were 15 other companies in town and within three decades it was the center of 90 per cent of the world's film production and home of a multi-billion-dollar movie industry.

AFTER World War II it fell into decline.

The face of the outlying residential districts including the Hollywood Hills, celebrated for two generations as the home of the stars, also changed drastically.

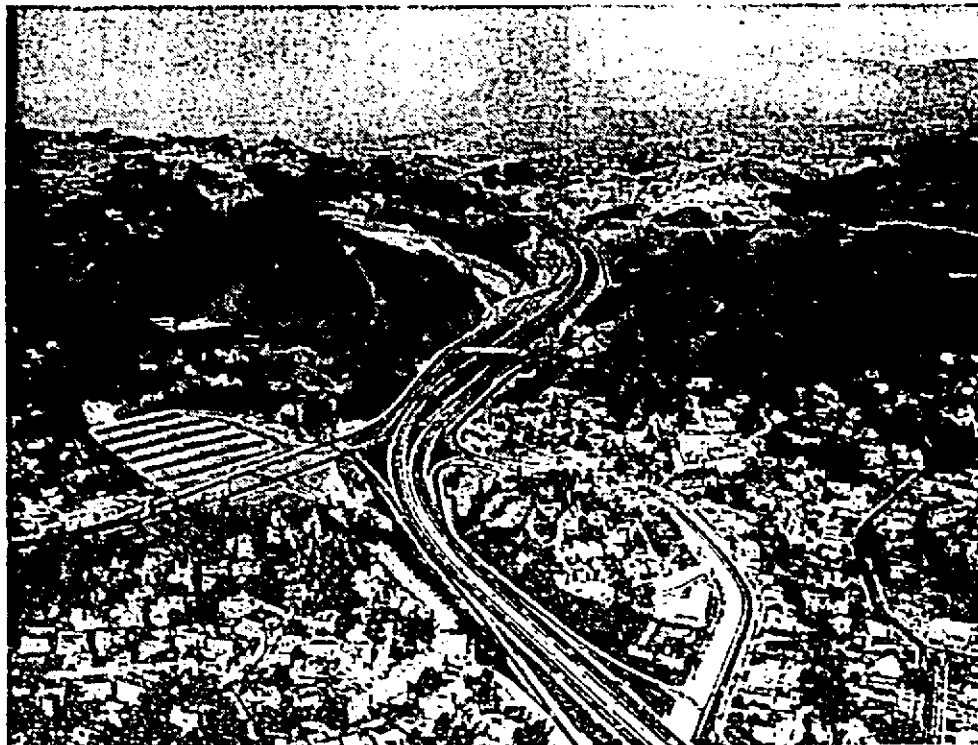

With a fast-rising permanent population, more than 25,000 multiple apartment houses have been built in Hollywood in the past 10 years.

And while the new home developments in the hills hardly match the elaborate mansions and palaces of yesteryears, they reflect the city's more stable and conservative opulence.

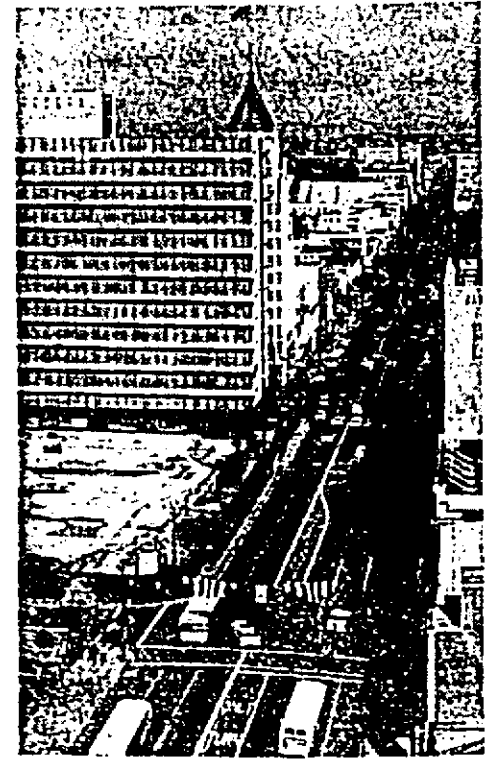

In one development, a 375-acre project in Nichols Canyon, 650 custom-built hillside homes are selling for $100,000 to $300,000 each.

OUT ON THE STRIP, where the famed night clubs such as Trocadero, Mocambo and Ciro's and the luxuri-

Mysterious Realm of the Skin Diver

By Lee Craig

IN OUR DAY, when World War II was yet a year or two away, skin diving was just about that.

Swimming trunks and dime-store underwater goggles gave us entry and an eye-popping — if somewhat distorted—view of a mysterious new world in which there was no sound and where the law of gravity had little effect.

We changed from dabblers to fanatics almost overnight when two products became available: swimfins and distortion-free diving masks.

Eventually, we developed tools for taking the offensive in our new environment.

We sharpened tire irons for prying the plentiful abalone from rocks. After we'd lost a few tire irons in the dense bottom growth, we learned to paint them a bright orange and to tie rubber wrist thongs on them.

Our first attempts to spear fish were made with wooden broom handles with four-pronged frog gigs on the ends. The only blood we drew with these was our own.

Finally, we came up with a clumsy, eight-foot pole with three straightened shark hooks, weighted so it would float with a foot of its length above water.

These allowed us to give each other deeper, bloodier wounds but occasionally resulted in a few speared fish, so we were pretty well satisfied.

THE WAR BROKE UP our group. We scattered among the armed forces and never got together again. Most of us have since confined our underwater activities to dips in the neighbor's pool.

However, a recent peek at the sport indicates it has managed to keep going without us.

The authoritative Skin Divers Magazine says there are approximately 250,000 Southlanders now who are ardent underwater fans.

The list of new-fangled gear available to them is unbelievable.

A well-dressed skin diver these days wears a soft-rubber face mask, fins, a rubber suit to keep him warm, a knife, waterproof watch, depth gauge, rubber booties to protect him from jagged rocks and either a snorkel or a couple of tanks of compressed air so he needn't bother surfacing every few minutes.

Auxiliary equipment is even more amazing.

MARKER BUOYS, safety floats, warning flags, life jackets, automatic decompression meters, underwater compasses, waterproof flashlights and a variety of spears capable of handling anything from a 600-pound grouper to a four-pound bass.

For those with weak eyes, there are face masks with

Today's well-dressed skin diver goes into action with a complex assembly of gear that enables him to extend the scope of his hobby far beyond limits of early days.

Mask, fins, homemade spears and leather lungs were the mainstay of skin divers in the beginnings of the sport. Above, author (left) and friend, Bruce Ogilby, in 1940.

built-in optically ground lenses. And, as an ultimate gift for the skin diver who has everything, a two-man submarine, battery-powered with an aircraft type control stick, can be obtained.

Of course, hazards of the sport have also grown, in some respects.

The chances are much greater, with SCUBA (self-contained underwater breathing apparatus), of diving to dangerous depths. Also, a diver spearing an illegal sport-fish now may feel a tap on his shoulder from another skin diver wearing a badge. In self defense, even the game wardens have had to go underwater.

ONE OF THE biggest boosts the hobby has received has been its growing family aspect.

Schools are now available where parents and children alike may learn diving from the time-tested experience of others. Kiddie-sized equipment is available and one manufacturer has come up with colorful wet suits designed to appeal to the woman of the house. Sales indicate they're rising to the bait.

Times have changed. Skin diving has become big business and a far cry from its pre-war horse and buggy days.

However, it's fun to recall when, if you saw a large, indistinct shape swimming along the bottom, it had to be something to spear.

Now, chances are, it would just be another skin diver.

MINOR BUT MEMORABLE

My Most Interesting Court Case

By Ruth M. Bauchet

Clerk of the Municipal Courts of the Long Beach Judicial District

As told to Walt Hoster

BECAUSE it was a milestone in legal annals and not because of the innate importance of the action, the most interesting case I ever handled is Case File No. 1—the first case as the Long Beach Municipal Court began to function. The date was July 24, 1925, also significant because it marked the establishment of the first Municipal Court in all of California.

The date is the anniversary of my first day in the Long Beach Municipal Court and now in retrospect after 38 years I realize how close I have been to the city I love and how I have felt the throb of its pulse.

Case No. 1 was a minor claim and delivery action in the sum of $250 and damages and court costs of $45. Subsequent cases ran into millions of dollars and an ever-changing panorama of thousands of stories written and enacted by the people of the Long Beach municipal area.

DURING THE FIRST year of operation the court handled 9,103 cases with a total revenue of $91,577.04. For the fiscal year which ended June 30, 1963, the rate has leaped to a total of 194,518 cases with a revenue of more than $1½ million.

That is how I have picked up the best of the pulse of the Long Beach area. I have seen your names and faces and I have met you.

Most poignant dramas—some comedy, some pathos—have been embraced in the 38 years I have been in the clerk's office or have been your Municipal Court clerk.

Noble and understanding men have been in the stories with you. They are the judges and their aids who listen and know truth and justice. They are the ones who settle your problems and differences and who countless times make friends from enemies. They are you, the people who form juries.

DEAN of the state's Municipal Court justices is Percy Hight, who served 20 years in the Superior Court and now presides in Department 5; Judge Martin DeVries, chosen Long Beach Man of the Year, came into the play in 1933 and now heads Department 2; Presiding Judge Charles T. Smith holds hearings in Department 6; Lyman B. Sutter is judge of Department 1; Judge Kenneth E. Sutherland heads Department 3, and J. Merrill Lilley is the sixth justice, presiding in Department 4.

You have met your clerk and the judges. Now meet some of the people.

If you live in the Long Beach Judicial District the odds are about three-to-one that you have been in court witness chair—as plaintiff, defendant or witness. The odds become even greater that you have had a part in the play when you consider the court categories, felonies, misdemeanors, traffic, civil witnesses were forced to travel to Los Angeles for the filing or trial of actions in a greater amount. Upon the establishment of the Long Beach Municipal Court the amount was raised to $1,000; upped and have become acquainted with the center stage—the and small claims. The cast in our play depicts everyone from jaywalker to murderer.

We have 194,000 cases a year and draw from an estimated half-million population in the judicial district. Yes, we have become acquainted.

TODAY the cases represent 1,161 felonies; 11,683 misdemeanors; 12,279 drunk drivers; 52,232 moving traffic violators; 117,820 illegal parkers; 5,034 civil action makers and 5,369 small claimers.

This shows an increase of nearly 2,000 per cent in the 38 years I have been in the clerk's office.

On Jan. 1, 1952, the court I helped establish became the Municipal Court of the Long Beach Judicial District and now includes Signal Hill and nearby unincorporated territory. I became clerk of court April 1, 1943.

We have a good and solid court system today. That is why I have fought so hard to keep our autonomy. The courts belong to the people and the people belong to the courts.

Exclusive Anthony Equipment

Anthony is the exclusive manufacturer of many pool accessories that you may want to add to your "Flipper" pool. The Anthony Automatic 290 Heater, Hydra-Sweep Automatic Pool Cleaner, clock controlled to clean any time night or day, and Antho-Pure the new Automatic Purifier that dispenses daily. Keeps pool constantly pure, ready for a swim.

USE GUARDEX® AUTOMATICALLY

So dependable is the pool maintenance protection provided by GUARDEX® Dry Chlorine Concentrate that it is the only product recommended for use in the new Antho-Pure Automatic Purifier. The new Anthony Automatic Purifier will hold an average six months' supply of GUARDEX.

GUARDEX, the effective modern method of pool chlorination, is available at leading pool supply dealers everywhere. GUARDEX reduces eye irritation so effectively that most users mention this advantage. Bleaching and color fading of swimwear is noticeably less when GUARDEX is used rather than liquid chlorine.

Ask your pool supply dealer about the many additional advantages of a GUARDEX Pool Maintenance Program for your swimming pool.

Old World Formality in a California Mood

By Stella George

PASSERSBY have, on more than one occasion, paused in front of the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. Pagalidis, 11231 Wembly Road, Los Alamitos, to admire the obviously customized exterior, the handsome white brick walls, the wide gate, and the simple, well-planned landscaping. There are subtle clues to the interior design of the house, two of which are a Greek key design which decorates the tops of high and low walls and an olive branch in a planter.

Befitting their Greek heritage, Mr. and Mrs. Pagalidis are fond of certain aspects of the more formal Old World way of living. They also like the Southern California way of life. The decorating of their home, carefully planned and executed, is an imaginative and delightful blend of both types of living.

Structural changes which were made in their tract house include a new front with double white doors that open into a wide entry and two additional bedrooms, for a total of five.

WHEREVER possible, in every room, a Grecian theme is carried out. A filigree screen at the right of the entry has the Greek key design. Heavy wall plaques facing the front doors are basically Grecian.

A large rectangular room at the left of the entry is divided into a formal dining area at one end, and a living area at the other. Carpeting is white as are the Austrian drapes and shutters. A large breakfront shows off gleaming polished silver pieces which see frequent use on the long walnut dining table.

Emerald green couches face each other across a coffee table with a gold base. A seven foot stereo is in front of the fireplace, the latter hidden from view since the owners felt it did not add to the decor of the room. Pearl high-back chairs in front of a side window form a cozy conversation corner. The entire area of the wall behind one couch holds a collection of Greek plates, artistically arranged to show each one to its individual advantage. In this room, as in the hall, heavy wall plaques in a Grecian theme dominate certain areas. A lamp base is a Greek urn.

IN THE MASTER bedroom the custom made bedspread is bordered in the gold Greek key design, as are valances along the windows. Details like these add to the overall perfection of the decor.

A new bedroom was added to one of the original bedrooms in such a way as to maintain privacy in the latter. A filigree screen acts as a partial divider, and the bed backs up to the screen.

The new bedroom serves as a bed-sitting room with formal furnishings tastefully arranged. A glass wall in the room faces the front garden.

A large pool in the rear garden is enhanced with simple landscaping done in a Greek motif. The entire "lawn" surrounding the home is of concrete. Since the home and walls are white, the total effect is elegant simplicity—modern, yet accented with European touches.

This is the type of home which invites cordial entertainment in the crystal and silver manner. Guests long remember many of the details: the silver punch bowl on the coffee table, the silver candlesticks on the tiny table between the two white chairs; the treasured collection of art and religious pieces adorning a portion of the wall in the living-dining area, some of which came from a little church thousands of miles away owned by Mr. and Mrs. Pagalidis.

Pagalidis home approach: Styling within and without the home has been along more formal Old World lines.

Outside House Painting
Now Eliminated

Another boon of the space age has been accomplished for the homeowner . . . an exterior wall coating so tough and durable that it is guaranteed to totally eliminate exterior house painting for over 10 years. This remarkable textured coating is Fiberglas FLEXON.

BEST IN NATION

Homeowners are requested not to spend a single penny on painting their residence until they hear the FLEXON STORY. This remarkable material insulates, waterproofs and beautifies, and every Fiberglas FLEXON job is factory guaranteed for 10 full years against chipping, flaking, or peeling.

FLEXON the miracle exterior wall coating is so indestructible and durable that it is absolutely guaranteed to eliminate the necessity for painting the outside walls of your home, apartment building or commercial property for 10 full years. This outstanding product when applied is approximately 20 times the thickness of ordinary paint and makes a wall surface that resists all climatic extremes.

Fiberglas, a product of Owens-Corning, brings to FLEXON its great strength, its wonderful insulating properties, its resistance to time, weather, and chemical attack.

PROVEN OVER MANY YEARS

FLEXON is one of the oldest, tried and true coatings now being marketed and has been applied on thousands of homes and commercial buildings. These buildings have remained in perfect condition after more than 10 years exposure in all types of weather.

The United States Government and many large corporations such as U.S. Steel Corporation, Aluminum Corporation of America, Pacific Telephone, and Shell Oil Company, are included on the honor roll of FLEXON users.

SHOT FROM A GUN

FLEXON is applied with special heavy duty spray equipment and is actually "shot from a gun" without muss, fuss or odor. FLEXON fuses itself to the wall surface and fills holes, cracks and covers building defects.

QUICK BREADS are a delight to make and fun to eat. You can spread a slice of quick bread with butter or jam for a delicious snack any time. Quick breads are also a lively touch for luncheons or dinners. And some are even good topped with ice cream or hard sauce for dessert.

Apricot Nut Bread is a new one that's especially delicious and one that features a chewy combination of rolled oats, dried apricots and nutmeats. The bread is typical of oatmeal quick breads—the rolled oats add unique nut-like flavor and textured chewiness. Bits of apricot and the nutmeats combine for further interest. All you do to make the bread is sift, combine and stir just to moisten dry ingredients. Then bake!

Quick breads are yummy when just cool enough to slice. Try spreading a fresh slice with smooth, softened cream cheese. The bread slices even more easily the next day, and it will continue to be a quick treat for several days. Bake it soon!

Apricot Nut Bread

1½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon salt
½ cup sugar
1 cup rolled oats (quick or old fashioned, uncooked)
1 cup chopped dried apricots
½ cup chopped nutmeats
2 eggs, beaten
½ cup liquid shortening
1¼ cups milk

Heat oven to moderate (350 degrees F.). Sift together flour, baking powder, soda, salt and sugar into bowl. Stir in oats, apricots and nutmeats. Add eggs, shortening and milk; stir only until dry ingredients are moistened.

Pour batter into greased 8½x4½x2½-inch loaf pan. Bake in preheated oven (350 degrees F.) 60 to 65 minutes. Cool several minutes; turn out of pan. (For ease in slicing, wrap and store bread one day.) Makes one loaf.

Recipe of the Week

FRESH PEACHES are basic in this week's prize recipe which wins $5 for Mrs. Bobby R. Wilkinson, 28 Claremont Ave., Long Beach 3. The recipe:

Peach Chiffon Pie

3 cups corn flakes
¼ cup butter or margarine
2 tblsp. sugar

Crush corn flakes into fine crumbs. Blend butter and sugar. Stir in corn flakes crumbs. Press evenly and firmly around sides and bottom of 9-inch pan and chill.

Peach Filling

1½ cups sliced fresh peaches
¾ cup sugar
1 tblsp. unflavored gelatin
¼ cup cold water

½ cup boiling water
1 tblsp. lemon juice
¼ tsp. salt
½ cup whipping cream
2 egg whites

Sprinkle peaches with sugar and allow to stand for 20 minutes. Soften gelatin in cold water; dissolve in boiling water; stir in lemon juice and salt. Combine with peaches. Chill until mixture begins to set. Whip cream until stiff. Beat egg white until stiff but not dry. Fold whipped cream and beaten egg whites into gelatin mixture. Spread in chilled corn flakes crumb crust. Let stand until firm. Garnish with additional sliced peaches.

What's your favorite recipe? For each recipe published in this space, Southland will pay $5. Men are urged to submit their recipes along with the ladies. Send yours, with name and address to: Recipe Contest Editor, Southland Magazine, 604 Pine Ave., Long Beach 12, Calif.

This splash pool is one of four safe toys that can be built for kids this summer. Sketch below shows 3 more.

By Bill Meyerriecks

SEEING that a toddler has a safe, wonderful time this summer right in his own back yard is stimulus enough for you to take a close look at this week's Sketchbook design idea. It consists of a four-set playground for youngsters, ages one to six. You can build one of them, like the splash pool, or two or all four to have a safe and sturdy play set.

Each of the four projects is designed to be cut from one sheet of exterior grade plywood. Dad can put one together in the time it would take him to go shoot a round of golf.

EACH PROJECT, too, is separate fun.

The 3x4-foot splash pool, for instance, will introduce a youngster to safe play habits in water. With parent close by, he or she won't learn to swim in the six or seven inches of water—but what a refreshing treat on a hot summer day!

The daring kindergartner will find the rocking boat the type his imagination can make into the Queen Mary, yet a child just learning to walk is entirely safe in it.

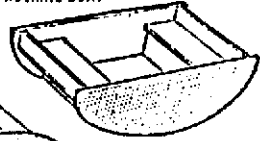

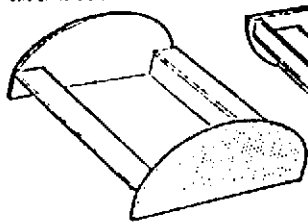

And what's a playground without a sandbox! The Sketchbook plan also shows how to make a canvas cover to fit this or the splash pool.

The teeter totter is a fine introduction to heavier ones found in most public playgrounds.

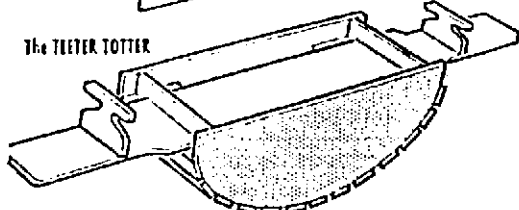

TO ORDER, specify Sketchbook Plan S-117 and send 50 cents with name and address to Building Editor, Southland Magazine, 604 Pine Ave., Long Beach 12, Calif. Plan includes cutting diagrams, materials and parts lists and detailed instructions for assembly. Build 'em right and paint 'em bright!

Hollywood

ous and ornate champagne oases, the Garden of Allah and Bublichi, have long since disappeared, new rumblings of new grandeur have begun.

Much of the "Boulevard" had become the haven of strip joints and beatnik houses, but this blight is slowly receding.

Several fine restaurants which held out through bad times are being joined by new apartments, restaurants and hotels. At least three new fancy hosteries are either going up or are planned, including two with a total of 500 rooms.

"We're going to bring some class to the Strip," says hotelman Marc Siegal who is building two Thunderbird Hotels on the Boulevard.

Movie row, along Hollywood Boulevard, also fell on lean times, but is coming out of the doldrums.

Last year 10 of the area's major theaters grossed nearly $250,000, or about one out of every four dollars spent in movies in the entire Southland.

ALTHOUGH Hollywood no longer has the corner on the celebrity market (the star system is passe and many of the leading lights of the industry live permanently elsewhere—including Lido Isle at Newport Beach, and Palm Springs) the town is working to build a permanent image as birthplace of the movies.

A Motion Picture Museum being built here to house the artifacts of the industry as well as provide a vehicle for demonstrating new developments in movie-making, and the reconstruction of Hollywood Boulevard as the "Walkway of Stars" are steps in that direction.

Descanso Lighted

Descanso Gardens Night Lighting Festival, presented by Descanso Gardens Guild, has created a night-time fairyland of twinkling lights, gushing waterfalls, sparkling fountains and rare statuary. The gardens, 1418 Descanso Dr., La Canada, will remain open each evening until 10 o'clock through July 28. The gardens are open to the public and ample, free off-street parking is available.

James MacArthur and 17-year-old newcomer to motion pictures, Mimsy Farmer, are cast as young lovers in Warner Bros.' film,

"Spencer's Mountain." They appear with Henry Fonda, Maureen O'Hara; and the beautiful Tetons formed the picture location.

Young Lovers

A NEW TEAM of young lovers will be coming to Southland motion picture theaters this week in "Spencer's Mountain," the Warner Bros. motion picture which Delmer Daves produced and directed in Technicolor and Panavision on location in beautiful Grand Tetons of Wyoming.

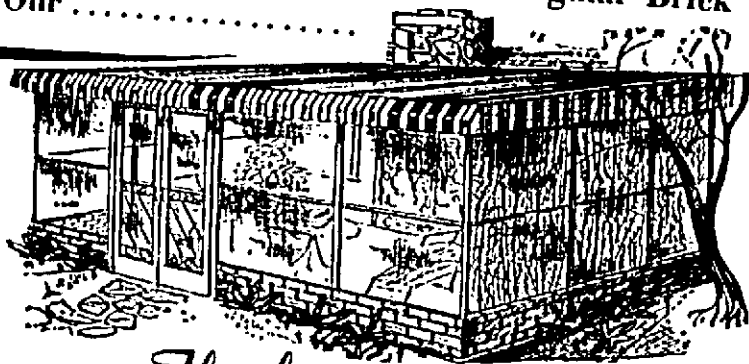

The young pair consists of James MacArthur, Helen Hayes' son who now has gained acting recognition on his own, and a 17-year-old blonde from Hollywood High School named Mimsy Farmer. MacArthur plays the eldest of nine children of Henry Fonda and Maureen O'Hara in the film. Mimsy, whose real name is Merle Farmer and whose "Alice in Wonderland" nickname has become her acting name, portrays a radiant young beauty whose freshness is apparent in many ways.

Jim and Mimsy find "first love" high in the Tetons, the mountain location frequently described as the most breathtaking in America.

Tiny 'National Park'

By Grover Brinkman

MAJESTY of the National Parks, from the Rockies westward, is unquestioned. Who has not thrilled to Zion's ruggedness; to Glacier's famous highway to the sun; to the heavenly music of Sequoia's unforgettable trees, or to the ruggedness that is Yellowstone?

Add to these the enthralling beauty of Yosemite, the awesome depth of the Grand Canyon, and dozens of other areas, all special in their own particular grandeur.

Most of us have seen at least some of these key beauty spots in America. We're all tourists, and each year, at vacation-time we explore a bit further.

But who of you have stood on a rugged bit of terrain that was once chronicled in the history books as "the smallest national park in America?"

TODAY it is called, simply, Tower Rock. It is an escarpment in the Mississippi River. Not even a road leads to it, so very few tourists find it.

But naming it the smallest U. S. national park has an intriguing story back of it.

During President Grant's administration, the Mississippi River near its confluence with the Ohio was dredged and cleared of rocks that were hazardous to navigation.

But Tower Rock was too big to be blasted, so the Army Engineers left the escarpment in the channel of the river. It was believed at the time that the little island might some day serve as the foundation for a proposed bridge at this point.

Another Clock

Belgium, a land of historic clock towers, is adding a brand new one, complete with 24-bell carillon, in the heart of Brussels, reports Pan American which serves the city by Jet Clipper. Like the medieval clock towers, the Brussels tower will feature 12 moving figures from Belgian folklore. The classic figure of an 18th Century burgher will stand atop the tower and strike the hour. This intricate structure will be the largest clock tower in Belgium.

BUT THE bridge has not been built, and today Tower Rock has been forgotten. The National Park Service does not recognize the island as a national park, because there is hardly any way to scale it, and approach to the rock itself is dangerous because of swift water.

Each year a few intrepid souls battle the swift river to attempt its scaling, more as a stunt than anything else. Rising about 60 feet above the river, the top of Tower Rock is about an acre in area.

Harness Plus Lap Belt Best

By Ben Zinser

Southland Magazine Medical Science Writer

A COMBINATION seat belt and shoulder harness affords three times as much protection against traffic injury as does a lap belt alone, according to Rocky Mountain Medical Journal.

Dr. H. E. Campbell, Denver, says it is no more difficult to fasten the combined harness and belt than it is to fasten the belt alone.

The harness, he says, keeps the driver's chest from striking the steering wheel and the passenger from striking the corner post or the dashboard. If the door pops open, the combination keeps the motorist from going partly out the door.

A 40-YEAR-OLD woman has safely undergone her first pregnancy while in the process of losing 240 pounds on a 900-calorie diet of tea, coffee and Metrecal, a diet food.

Dr. I. Frank Tullis of the University of Tennessee School of Medicine, Memphis, reports the woman gave birth to a normal and healthy girl. The baby weighed 7 pounds, 5 ounces and was still normal and healthy when a year old, Dr. Tullis says.

The mother weighed 461 pounds when admitted to his care. She lost 155 pounds during the 42 weeks prior to onset of pregnancy, and 83 pounds during pregnancy.

FIFTY-TWO of 61 patients suffering chronic pain of the tail bone have gained relief from combined use of a new drug, Valium, and physical therapy.

The finding is reported by Drs. John McGivney and Benny R. Cleveland of the University of Texas Medical Branch in Galveston.

The combined treatment, they say, "offers new hope for the patient who is unable to enjoy prolonged television viewing, travel by automobile or sitting for any length of time because of pain in the region of the tail bone."

A RARE disease called histidinemia has been seen in the past year in five persons—all children 8 years old.

The victim is unable to hear his own voice for more than a split second and cannot remember it long enough to put together an intelligible sentence.

Patients lack the enzyme histidase, and there is no way to correct the disease, says Dr. C. Donald Whedon, director of the National Institute of Arthritis and Metabolic Diseases.

DEATHS from pneumonia are on the increase again in the United States as well as in Canada, England and Wales, says Public Health Reports.

Mostly to blame is the bacterium Staphylococcus aureus, the report says. The death rate now runs about 34 per 100,000 population. The all-time low was 23.8 per 100,000, in 1954, as a result of development of the sulfa drugs and the antibiotics. Then the death rate began to rise.

Back in 1936 the pneumonia death rate was 95 per 100,000 population.

Best of Class

Just what, precisely, does this mean?

In dogs the answer is quite obvious. In organs, something very different, to be sure. Hammond consistently breeds "best of class" instruments, from our $495. F-100 to our magnificent $3895. concert organ.

Take our Concert Organ, for instance. It is unparalleled, surely "best of class". You can pay more . . . but you will not find its equal in tremendous tonal resources, its simplified means for producing an unbelievable variety of sounds and tones. And all Hammond Organs are unique in their dependability: Hammonds can never get out of tune nor change pitch, never are affected by changes in temperature or humidity, almost never require service.

If you're organ-minded, be sure to see the Hammond Organ. And you can see all the Hammond Organs only at the Hammond Organ Studios of Long Beach.

The Young Lions and the Egyptian Hangman

By Vera Williams

Southland Magazine Book Editor

When author Gerold Frank was a war correspondent, he reported the CAIRO trial in 1945 of two Jewish youths who had assassinated Lord Moyne, British minister of state in the Middle East.

Through years of observing and reporting other historic events—the Nuremberg and Eichmann trials, the United Nations, the rebirth of Israel—Frank was haunted by the memory of those two intellectuals—activists, who believed their act of violence would hurry the course of history and the freedom of their beloved Israel.

And so, two years ago, after completing of the biographies of Lillian Roth, Diana Barrymore, Sheliah Graham and Zsa Zsa Gabor, Frank returned to research and retrace the motives and brief lives of Eliahu Bet Zouri, 22, and Eliahu Hakim, 17, who had never seen each other until they met in Cairo on assignment from the Stern group to carry out "THE DEED" (Simon and Schuster, $4.95).

After the boys were hanged, fearless, proud and dignified, as they had lived, the director general of Egypt's prisons declared: "Today I saw two young lions die. I have never seen anything like it before."

The Egyptian hangman, pale and shaken, told a Jewish doctor: "This is the first execution in 20 years in which I had the impression that I am a criminal for what I do. I was emotional for the first time." He threw his arms around the doctor and kissed him on either cheek. "I embrace you. This is a kiss for the two boys. For them."

Egypt's three greatest attorneys had pleaded for their lives, but the boys pleaded the cause of 30 centuries of persecution and massacre of world Jewry. "Not mercy, but justice!" Bet Zouri thundered to the court.

Frank does not condone, does not justify the murder. Rather, he examines sympathetically the anatomy of the crime, delving deep into the minds of all the actors. The result is a magnificent, breath-taking reportorial achievement.

THE HISTORY of America's toughest prison, the dreaded "Rock," is told by veteran San Francisco newspaper reporter J. Campbell Bruce in "ESCAPE FROM ALCATRAZ" (McGraw-Hill, $4-$5.50).

The volume is subtitled "A Farewell to the Rock," in recognition of the closing of the federal penitentiary in San Francisco Bay last year.

Based on the true story of Frank Lee Morris, whose escape from this "escape proof" bastille in 1962 made worldwide headlines, the book relates the fantastic and bizarre tales which have characterized Alcatraz in the public imagination since the day it became a prison.

Bruce tells how the prison was planned and built, of its famous inmates including the "Birdman" and Al Capone, and of its history of riots, madness, bloodshed and murder.

TWO HIGHLY different Englishmen, both named Shaw, captured the imagination of the world during the Twenties for directly opposite reasons.

One sought fame and acclaim with an evangelic zeal; the other obscurity and inner peace away from the glare of the limelight.

They were, of course, George Bernard Shaw, socialist, playwright and England's most formidable man-of-letters since Shakespeare, and T. E. Lawrence (Shaw), the celebrated "Lawrence of Arabia" who became Air Force Pvt. Shaw to escape fame.

Strangely enough these two, G.B.S., then G6, and the 34-year-old T. E. Shaw (Lawrence) became fast friends.

This incredible relationship is recounted with painstaking care in "PRIVATE SHAW & PUBLIC SHAW" by Professor Stanley Weintraub (Braziller, $5.)

FRANK O'CONNOR

Irish author O'Connor defines the essence of the short story and presents provocative studies of Chekhov, Maupassant, Mansfield, Lawrence, Hemingway, Joyce, Turgenev, Copland and others in "THE LONELY VOICE" (World, $1).

The "Molecular Sponge Bath"

by Albert E. Holand Jr.

If you weigh 150 pounds, about 25 pounds is skin—far and away the largest organ of the body. And what an important organ it is! It protects against infection, aids in temperature control, acts as a blood reservoir, eliminates wastes and, in addition, it is the primary organ of concern from a cosmetic viewpoint. The cells of the skin are among the most rapidly growing in the body. Their average life is five or six days. There is a constant shedding of worn-out cells for new ones so that the skin you are wearing today is not the same skin that you had last week.

Skin secrets

Cosmetologists know that if the skin is scraped—removing the lifeless outer cells—the live cells underneath are accelerated in their growth and produce four or five times the usual number of cells. The savage in the jungle performs this skin scraping as a natural result of his environment, sleeping on rough ground, pushing through underbrush and so forth with his naked body. Civilized man, on the other hand, protects his body with shoes and clothing, lives a sedentary life and avoids the contact of his skin with abrasive objects. This tends to diminish the growth of skin cells and may be one of the contributing factors for the general lowered vitality of the skin in civilized man as compared with less civilized peoples.

Primitive wisdom

Soap—and, of course, detergents—are unknown to the primitive races of the world. Their cleanser is clay, which they use not only for cosmetic reasons, but also for medicinal purposes, for the healing of wounds, sores and festers. They place high values on rare earth deposits which they prize as remedies for many different ailments.

Is there any scientific evidence to show that the "witch doctor" gave good advice when he "prescribed" a mud bath for his patient? Let us look a bit closer at this clay and we will understand what a wondrous substance the Creator has given us.

It takes a bit of prodding of the imagination to realize that the plastic-like patty of clay you hold in your hand is not a lump of inert material. Actually it is a conglomeration of millions upon millions of separate and distinct microscopic "balls" which are called molecules. Each molecule has a surface which may be covered by any foreign material that it contacts when it is in solution. This molecular attraction causes the smallest particles to cling to its surface and thus acts like a "molecular sponge," purifying those things which it contacts. This is the same principle which purifies mountain spring water.

Scientists call this force of attraction "Adsorption." They employ it to remove materials from liquids which no ordinary filter can touch. To illustrate, try removing ink from water with a filter. Now mix clay into the same inky water and see what happens. The filter fails to remove the ink; the clay succeeds. It is the million of clay molecules with their "sponge" action that does the job.

The adsorption process was employed to "bleach" the white gasoline we used to buy; it is used by breweries to clarify beer; dry cleaners use it to remove dirt from cleaning fluids; organic chemists use it in medical laboratories for the removal of materials they wish to analyze. But, apparently only the "ignorant savage" has the native wisdom to apply this well-known scientific principle to the welfare of his own body. He has "discovered" that clay is the body and hair cleanser supreme. Cleansing with chemicals is civilized man's way; adsorption by molecular sponge action is nature's way. Take a tip from "nature's children" and bathe with clay as they do and you may well be on the path to that "Fountain of Youth" we are all so ardently seeking!

Cellular fall-out

It is an academic question as to how many cells might be found in a single strand of hair, how many cells in a square inch of skin surface. Rest assured that the count would be astronomical.

Hard water compounds, facial and body talcs and powders, lacquer used in hair-setting, lipstick dyes, hair tints—and we could go on and on—all tend to accumulate in this "cellular forest," clog the pores and form an extraneous coating which interferes with normal cell respiration and inhibits proliferation. Detergents and harsh soaps may emulsify, dissolve and otherwise chemically loosen the debris so that it may be washed away. Chemically the skin is clean. But only a "molecular sponge bath" with rare earth clays can physically attract the microscopic "dust" away from these dense cell areas—a molecular cell cleanser made by nature to do the job!

Clay wonderland

In the main, clays used by primitives were of the bentonite variety. Brownish in color and cosmetically unattractive to use, these clays became fashionable a few years back as "clay pack facials" and expensively packaged, they were sold as beauty treatments (we now know that they "only" cleansed the skin). However, these preparations were expensive and were messy to use. What was needed was an inexpensive white clay which could be used for cleansing the hair, face and entire body; one that would be compatible with modern hygienic standards, yet would possess the same "molecular sponge" action as clays used by the primitives.

Magnesium gel clay proved to be the answer. This amazing white clay absorbs 16 times its weight in water and forms a gel which is as attractive as cold cream. Prepared from the virgin product in your own home, it cost is nominal. One pound of the clay powder makes 16 pounds of the cleansing gel. Simply add one tablespoonful of magnesium gel clay to a cup of water and mix and in a few minutes your "molecular sponge bath" is ready. Apply to the hair first. Allow a few minutes until the "pulling" effect is felt, then rinse thoroughly with running water. No soap, no expensive rinses, no shampoos are necessary! Notice the body, the manageability of the hair that results (there has been no chemical softening of the hair fibers).

Cleanse the hands and skin as you would with ordinary soap and if you want a facial: put on a thin coating of the gel and let it dry. It is so easy and natural that you will wonder why someone didn't think of it before. And watch your friends' eyebrows rise when you tell them that the new look of your hair and skin is the result of taking a "clay bath and shampoo." Or, if you want to be a bit more subtle, call it your "molecular sponge bath."

Activated Magnesium Gel Clay is available under the trade-name "Klay-Klen"—Price $3.00 pound. If not available from your health food store, order direct. Made only by Albert E. Holand Co., Dept. M.B., Box 2281, Gardena, Calif.

men steaming their devious way downstream from St.
Louis. Sometimes today, when the river is very low, it is possible to wade out to the island from the Missouri shore; but at normal stage, the river's currents are swift and turbulent here and boaters with small craft must be cautious.

Except for a few trees and brush, the only living things atop Tower Rock are a few lizards. The area around it is desolate. On the Illinois side of the Mississippi is the historic river town of Grand Tower, named after the island.

THE ROCK was once called an Indian ceremonial site, and even today there is a rude cross chipped into its rock walls, evidently the work of some early missionary.

Old history books, delineating the drama of this region refer to Tower Rock as "our smallest national park," but today it is forgotten by everyone but barge pilots who curse it as a navigational hazard as they push their heavily-laden scows past the brooding escarpment dividing the current of the river.

'Health Spa'

A new concept of a swimming pool as a "health spa" is being realized by Sunset Pools, one of the nation's large pool builders.

The "Sunset Spa" as introduced in Long Beach last week, features the world-famed Jacuzzi Brothers airinjector water massage unit built into every Sunset pool, according to Graham Shepherd, manager of the display at 3624 Long Beach Blvd. The unit forms millions of tiny bubbles and water turbulence that is the heart of all water therapy, long used in noted
European health resorts,
Shepherd said.

This 19th Century telephone holds hidden treasure within.

By Phyllis Eileen Davis

NOBODY calls in or out on the 19th Century telephone that hangs on the wall of the 20th Century home at 6033 Faculty Ave., Lakewood, but the antiquated instrument still serves a practical purpose. It holds the family silverware.

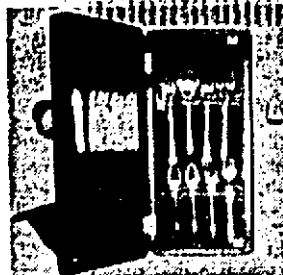

The first step in converting the phone was to salvage the tarnish-resistant holder and velvet from the discarded silver chest. Cardboard was cut to fit the sides, top, bottom, back and inside the door of the telephone cabinet. Each piece was covered with velvet and glued into place, providing a suitable lining.

Next the wooden holders for the forks and spoons were measured and cut in two lengths. In order to prevent the silver from falling forward, the pieces were mounted with flathead screws at a slight angle.

The knife holder was cut two inches narrower than the telephone door, shaped into a semi-circle with eight slots to hold the knives. Velvet was also glued to the exterior of the knife holder. When this was dry, the holder was mounted to the door. The finishing touch was to install magnetic catches both at the top and the bottom of the door.

CONVERTING such a relic into a unique and useful wall decoration can be a satisfying accomplishment. The old phone was found through an advertisement in a Sunday paper at a cost of $10. Antique shops and second-hand stores are also a source.

When the curious visitor asks, "What do you have in that antique telephone?" the answer is a proud display of hidden treasure!

Young Lovers

Although he portrays a naive teen-ager, Jim actually is 24, married and the father of a 2-year-old son.

"I think Del Daves gave me this part," says MacArthur, "for the reason that the boy has a peculiar maturity which they couldn't get by casting someone who was 17, the actual age in the story. But it's a complete departure for me. I've done nothing like this in any of my six previous films. I have to be the personification of an innocent adolescent but with other adult, serious thoughts going on inside."

Jim's talents, of course, are his own—but hasn't his distinguished mother been of some help?

Anyone who sees him make love to Mimsy Farmer in "Spencer's Mountain" will recognize that he is succeeding on his own.

Municipal Court Case

can era most of the cases were handled by an alcalde. Often the governor was the only Appellate Court in those times. When the Americans came, the alcalde system was supplemented by judges appointed by the military command. In some remote areas the law was administered by miners or ranchers, sometimes, possibly, by a band of vigilantes. The cases were handled speedily though not always mercifully or justly.

Today some cases seem prolonged. Sometimes the backlog seems great. Truth and justice will come foremost. The clerk's office works with you and the judges for you. You, the people, wrote the lines. We help you play them out.

So, Case No. 1 of the Long Beach Municipal Court has stretched into many thousands and has become a part of the lifeline of you, the people. Many persons and many machines now record your actions. The scrawls of my penmanship on that first case have aged 38 years. The scenes of the plays you write and act today are as up-to-date as "right now."

These case records, such as the dockets, the register of actions, the minute books and the indexes will be found today in the Municipal Court of the Long Beach Judicial District and may never be destroyed. The revenue disbursed each year exceeds the operational costs of the court, including the salaries paid to the judges and to the court personnel.

THE LAWS governing the disbursement of fees and fines are numerous and apply to special funds. Here I have a special word for traffic violators, the group which heads the list of cases in numbers.

When a person receives a traffic citation he erroneously and unfortunately assumes the arresting officer must "establish a quota." This is grossly erroneous thinking. This type of fine is paid to a Traffic Safety Fund and is used exclusively for official traffic control devices, the maintenance of equipment, supplies for traffic law enforcement, traffic accident prevention and for the improvement and construction of streets, bridges and culverts within the city.

Perhaps there has been a message in the Municipal Court story. Remember, it is your court in your Judicial District and all departments of the courts and all the people of the departments are here to help you.

You might also keep in mind the odds are greater than three to one that you will meet the witness chair. If you haven't been in court, the odds are, well—you will be."

Why that extra weight may not be fat!

Pre-menstrual "water logging" can add from 2 to 7 pounds to your weight. If every month your weight goes up, you feel stuffy and bloated, you are most likely suffering from pre-menstrual water logging. Your body takes on extra water that puts pressure on delicate tissues causing headaches and nervous irritability. That's when the new medical discovery Pampra helps your body to adjust to your period by gently relieving it of extra water and weight. It also relieves headaches and cramps during your period. Pampra contains no hormones, narcotics or stimulating drugs. It is a combination of medically proved ingredients that have helped thousands of women get wonderfully slim again. # Let's Stop Knocking Little League of medical-tinged accusations against pre-teen baseball competition. Some have claimed it's a menace to the community, others that it's a hindrance to proper bone structure.

Such contentions are sheer poppycock, says the man who probably should be recognized as the country's foremost medical authority on the subject. He is Dr. Creighton Hale, M.D., a physiologist who is employed by Little League, Inc., to conduct year-around investigations into the game's effect on the several million youngsters who spend their summer evenings on the diamond.

AFTER LENGTHY research, Dr. Hale found that only one per cent of boys in a five-year study of nearly three-quarters of a million cases ever sustained fractures, sprains, concussions or dental injuries. Most of the injuries were simple "strawberries" caused by sliding into base—damage that is repaired with a little iodine.

To the charges that boys not only get hurt physically, but they become injured emotionally by the overstress on winning, there is some eye-opening evidence of refutation.

In one check, 1,000 doctors answered a questionnaire on the effects of Little League play on their own sons. Ninety-four per cent of the thousand medical men said they thought it was beneficial. Eighty-three per cent said they thought there were no abnormal psychological responses in their own sons and 11 per cent said "sometimes."

THERE WAS A 90 to 10 ratio of replies saying that "playing to win" did not produce undesirable responses.

Then, there is the charge that the boys are too young for such a tough game as baseball, that their bones are not sufficiently formed. The terms "Little League shoulder" and "Little League elbow" have sprung up.

"Such injuries are incredibly rare," says Dr. Hale. "More boys get them from throwing rocks at birds than from baseball. It makes as much sense to call them 'Little League elbow' as it does to use the name 'Boy Scout finger' for every knife cut suffered by a boy simply because some Boy Scouts cut their fingers.

"There is a great misunderstanding about the susceptibility of youngsters to injury," explains Dr. Hale. "The fact is, the bone is hardest to fracture the day you're born and gets easier to fracture every day thereafter."

IF BOYS' BASEBALL is not harmful, is it then, perhaps valuable?

"I'd say it's one of the most important things to happen to our society in the past decade," says Charlie Brown, a Long Beach youth worker of many years experience. Brown has been teaching boys to play baseball since the early 1930s.

Brown conducts city-sponsored baseball clinics in Long Beach as well as private baseball schools throughout the Southern California region. He's been tutoring boys in baseball since the depression when he organized possibly the first little league in Albuquerque.

Charlie convinced the city

Close play at home proves this Little Leaguer can slide in major style. Learning right way is aim of juniors.

council of Albuquerque to invest $100 in bats and balls as an antidote to the soaring juvenile delinquency problem. Within two weeks Albuquerque had 80 teams and virtually no delinquency.

"You'll never convince me it wasn't baseball," claims Charlie, "and you'll never convince me that baseball hasn't done a similar job down through the years. There's nothing better for a kid than belonging to a team and learning to pull his share of the load."

BUT NOT EVEN Charlie will claim that all junior baseball programs are perfect—or even good. "I've seen some had ones, real bad. But the bad ones can be controlled by weeding out the bad coaches. A baseball program has got to have a purpose and the purpose can't be simply to win games."

Little League, the pioneer of wide-scale organized boys' baseball, is 25 years old and has nearly a million and a half youngsters playing in 24 countries. Though Little League, with headquarters at Williamsport, Pa., (boys 9 to 12) is only a small part of the overall junior baseball program, it's the one that takes the brunt of attacks. "It's like fighting a ghost," says Little League president Pete McGovern, a U. S. Rubber Co. executive. (Continued on Page 26) live who serves L. L. full time without pay.

McGOVERN believes he has all the answers to the criticisms—if only he could pinpoint their source.

His most often used answer at the moment is directed at all those who claim Little League is too dangerous for young boys. The injury insurance rate, he points out, is just $16.50 per year for an entire team.

So don't worry too much, Mom, if Sonny has a sore arm. He probably got it tossing rocks at robins. And don't worry about broken bones. A large-scale medical study shows that his chances of a serious injury are about one in a thousand.

ment the entire windows on both sides to make them firm and watertight.

The building architect is consulted as to how the windows are to fit into the structural motif. In order to plan control of light the stained glass men also must know exactly what the light intensity and atmospheric conditions will be in the area of the building where the windows are to be installed.

Study and research are required to understand and reflect in design and color the creeds of the many denominations. Liturgical art is exacting. Therefore, the window designer must refer often to the Bible, biographies of saints, and books on ecclesiastical heraldry and symbolism.

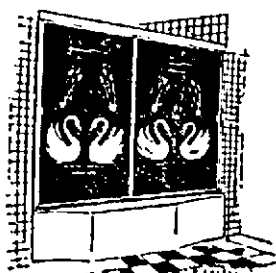

The Judson Studios, organized in 1897, moved into the present building when the University of Southern California School of Fine Arts and Architecture moved out of it. The Fine Arts School was founded by William Lees Judson, grandfather of Horace T. Judson. Three generations of the Judson family and scores of artists and craftsmen have been engaged 66 years in creating stained glass windows for churches throughout the United States, Hawaii, Japan and Korea.

Windows produced by the Judson Studios may be seen in 20 or more churches in the Long Beach-Orange County area. The Prayer and Meditation Room in Washington, which shows Gen. Washington kneeling in prayer, and the Protestant Level of the Air Force Chapel in Colorado Springs, Colo., are outstanding products of the studios.

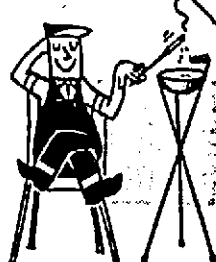

Horace T. Judson (above) is owner of studios devoted to making stained glass windows.

Discover how this slim guide in new Kotams tampon can give more protection, more comfort

At last there's a tampon that's really protective! For new Kotams is designed with a slim guide that places the tampon exactly where needed to give you the most complete protection possible.

Old-style ways of inserting a tampon can be very haphazard with bulky applicators—or no inserter at all. No wonder protection is so often incomplete!

But with new Kotams it's virtually impossible to position this tampon incorrectly. For the Kotams guide stem has a tapered grip that makes you hold it just the right way for perfect placement. There's no guesswork at all. The tampon is angled correctly, directed smoothly to the most comfortable and protective position. Then the stem releases immediately.

Positioning is so easy, so gentle and sure. The Kotams tampon is a small size, compressed so that it can expand 4 times its size for greater absorbency.

Try this new-style tampon in Regular or Super absorbency. They're attractively wrapped, individually, to carry discreetly in your purse.

That Business of Renting a Car

HOW DO I go about renting a car after flying, sailing or riding a train or

By Fred Taylor Kraft

bus to my vacation destination?

This is a question asked many times by readers of this column.

There are several firms which rent cars. I went to a worldwide leader, Hertz Rent a Car, for the answers.

"It's simple," answered J. Howard Burns, a zone manager for the company. "You need to be over 21, have a valid driver's license, and proper identification."

Is it expensive to rent a car?

"Not at all," says Burns. "Rates depend on make and model of vehicle. For example, our rates for a Chevrolet standard size sedan are $10 a day and 10 cents a mile. Compact cars cost less and luxury models cost more."

IF YOU WANT a car for a weekend, you can get one from Hertz from 5 p.m. Friday to 9 a.m. Monday for only $15, plus 10 cents a mile.

Here's an idea: Families and groups who have time to drive a rental car to their vacation spot may find that the overall cost may offer considerable savings. As many as six persons may share the cost of renting a sedan, and up to nine may ride in a station wagon.

Hertz provides free delivery and pickup to home, office or hotel. You may also utilize the "rent it here, leave it there" service by renting a car in one city and drop it off anywhere else in the United States, at another Hertz station. This service, Burns points out, is free. Furthermore, under the firm's "3-R" plan, you can make reservations for your plane ticket, rental car and hotel/motel accommodations with a single phone call.

(Hertz' size becomes important at this point. The firm has a wide variety of makes, models and sizes of vehicles at each of its 1,500 locations in 950 American cities.)

DO YOU PAY cash or "charge it"?

Burns says this is up to the customer. Nearly a million motorists hold Hertz Automatic Charge Cards. In addition, there is a new revolving credit plan by which any motorist may "drive now and pay later." Under this plan, anyone who can qualify for a retail store revolving credit account can enjoy as much as $200 in open car-rental credit from Hertz, paying a monthly charge of $10 which includes a small carrying charge.

It might be well to know, too, that there are 42 Hertz locations in the Greater Los Angeles area, including two in Long Beach (downtown and at the airport) and nine in Orange County.

IF YOU PLAN to motor up the Redwood Highway (Hwy. 199)—one of northern California's most scenic routes—you'll be glad to know that driving time between Crescent City and Grants Pass, Ore., was reduced and made safer at the same time only yesterday with the dedication of the new $7½ million Randolph Collier Tunnel.

The 1,835-foot bore through Oregon Mountains in the Siskiyou Range eliminates 128 curves and hairpin switchbacks and a steep 950-foot grade. The tunnel is a key link in the new Winnemucca-to-the-Sea Highway, a 495-mile direct route from north-central Nevada to the Pacific.

It is interesting to note that this segment of the new highway and the tunnel re-

VIVIANNE FREJDH, Scandinavian Airlines System hostess, puts to effective use an offensive weapon, used with marked success by Cleopatra to win the hearts of Caesar and Mark Antony. She lines her eyes with a brass applicator from a "Kohl Jar" which has been used by glamour girls of the Nile for 5,000 years. The cosmetic is made of finely powdered antimony in alluring shades of blue, or the smoke black of burnt almond shells for a seductive black effect.

Part of an exotic collection assembled from cities of the Middle East, the cosmetic aids, handicrafts, jewelry, silks and other products are available for showings at women's club meetings of 250 or more members. Clubs eligible for the program, "Middle East Arts & Crafts Kit," should write SAS, 8029 Wilshire Blvd., Beverly Hills.

DELAPLANE

"Do you advise locking suitcases in hotel rooms? And what do you do with money you don't want to carry but want kept safe?"

I DON'T lock suitcases in hotel rooms. I've never had anything taken but maybe I've been lucky. If I carried large amounts of cash, or had expensive jewelry, I'd put it in the hotel safe.

European hotels usually have a large chest to hang your clothes in. It has a key and a lock that any competent Boy Scout could open with a Scout knife. Irish hotels seldom bother to give you a room key. They don't lock doors.

Things you'd most likely lose would be what you leave in an unlocked car on the street. An inexpensive camera to you usually has a great deal more value in foreign currency and style of living. Don't make it tempting.

"We understand that it is wise to carry a letter of introduction from the Chief of Police in our town..."

NOT NEEDED except in some special countries that require it for visas. Nicaragua is one. Europeans are too sophisticated to be impressed. And in countries where people might be impressed, they usually can't read. Not English, anyway.

"We thought prices were terribly high in Paris..."

I DID TOO. This is one of the world's high-priced towns. France is a high-priced country, even for the French.

Austria, Portugal and Spain are the bargain countries. Cool, northern Spain right now is running me $18 a day for two people and a child—for everything but car rental. That's food, hotels, tips, drinks, cigarettes, barber, hairdressers, drugstores, magazines, books, baby-sitters. I mean living well. You could cut corners on this and drop it to $15, I'm sure.

Car rentals are the big cost. You can get a package deal—(Hertz in Madrid)—that gives you a month for $315 with 1,800 miles free. (Otherwise cost is $7.50 a day and about 9 cents a mile.)

"Where do you go for Mexican food in Mexico City please?"

HOSTERIA del Santo Domingo in the very oldest part of Mexico City, near the Church of Santo Domingo and the homes of the Captains who came with Cortez.

In the stylish part of town near the Hotel Presidente, the Fonda del Refugio has excellent food from all parts of Mexico. High prices for Mexico but low for your exchange.

For lunch, the terrace on the roof at the Hotel Majestic.

"We would like to go to a nice beach town in Mexico and possibly buy property."

ALL MY FRIENDS are high on Puerto Vallarta on the West Coast—reachable only by air from Guadalajara, Mazatlan and Los Angeles at present. I think Mazatlan a little further north is a nice beach town.

However, Mexican law is tough on foreigners owning property. If you buy within 15 miles of the sea coast, your property reverts to the State when you die. Any buying in Mexico should be checked with a Mexico City lawyer.

Azaleas: Landscape Beauties

Azaleas fill many needs in the landscape. Potted and the pots set in the ground they provide quick color.

GARDEN CHATS WITH GORDON LAWN FEEDING

GORDON says . . .

The pangs of hunger in lawns are shown by the color and texture of the foliage, which turns dull or pale green. Frequently proper care in feeding has not been continued through the winter and essential food elements have been locked from the soil. Alkali can also accumulate which locks up plant food.

Dichondra begins to bloom in March and April, producing mature seed in July. During this period the turf requires special attention and should be fed with Bandial Plush, beginning in January and continuing every three months through the year to maintain top condition. It is essential that a feeding be given at this time to give the lawn some extra vitality during the hot weather ahead.

Grass lawns should receive the same treatment. This program builds strong, thick turf and aids materially in the control of weeds.

We have experienced personnel to advise you on your lawn problems at the GARDEN SHOP NURSERY at 5431 E. Spring St. (at Bellflower Blvd.), Long Beach; phone HA 5-1362.

By Joe Littlefield

AZALEAS enhance any landscaping with their showy flowers. They may be used in several different ways.

Outdoor planters that are part of a wall and face north or east are good for growing azaleas.

Some azaleas tolerate sun or shade, or some of both. They must be in more shade than sun in hot, dry areas. Shade loving azaleas stand nearly a half day of sun or shade.

Used individually as potted plants, these shrubs add color to a patio, porch or lath house and may be grown in pots buried in the ground to provide needed temporary color.

ONE OF the past owners of a nationally known soap company had his gardener set potted blooming azaleas into the ground under an elm tree to create the most colorful area of his whole garden estate. If you have an elm tree, you'll understand why the pots were sunk into the ground. If you don't know, you'll soon learn when you notice your plants, any kind, planted under this type of tree, become smothered by the greedy, fast growing elm tree roots.

Proper watering is one of the least understood, but most successful garden tricks with potted azaleas. Fill the pot with water three or four times to complete a watering. This method of watering should be done from spring into fall season. Other potted or tubbed plants, too, should be watered same way.

The roots get a thorough soaking to their very tip ends. The planting medium gets a thorough rinsing. Every third or fourth time you water the pots that are not in the ground, skip hose watering and plunge the plant pot into a bucket or tub of water to several inches above the pot top. When bubbling of the water stops, the soil or peat has absorbed all the water it can hold. Take the pots out and excess water drains off.

NOW'S A GOOD time, if a plant needs it, to fertilize, then water well again. Azaleas and most other shade loving plants need acid type food.

Finish drastic pruning of azaleas, now. Cut wherever you think it helps to shape the bush. Don't worry about where to cut branches. New growth will pop out just below where you prune.

Absentee's Plant Aid

MANY HOMEMAKERS who in the past have relied on a neighbor to care for their house plants during vacation trips are now solving this problem the modern way—with Saran Wrap. Just water the plant thoroughly, then overwrap pot in a large sheet of saran, smoothing it to the sides and cinching excess wrap loosely around the base of the plant. Do not close off the soil surface completely since plant roots need some air. Place the wrapped pot in a semi-shaded and cool spot; soil moisture will remain at an optimum level for several weeks.

Similarly, if you have several small plants and do not wish to wrap them individually, they may be placed after watering in a cardboard box without lid and a sheet of saran simply stretched across the open top to simulate a "greenhouse." Choose a box deep enough that wrap will not touch the foliage, and place in a well lighted but not sunny area.

West Highland White Terriers are among specialties at Santa Barbara. This pup owned by Mrs. Florence Sherman.

THE PARADE

Dog Shows Hold Stage

By Eleanor Avery Price

SOUTH BAY Kennel Club has a match today at 224th Street and Normandy Avenue, Torrance. A match is a proving ground for young dogs. Next Saturday, Ventura Dog Fanciers show and trial will be held at Houser Field, Oxnard, and Santa Barbara Kennel Club will stage its classic July 28 at Santa Barbara polo grounds.

At the Santa Barbara event these clubs hold specialties: German Shorthaired Pointer Club of Southern California, California English Setter Club, Afghan Hound Club of California, Southern California Beagle Club, American Whippet Club, Standard Schnauzer Club of America, Pembroke Welsh Corgi Club of America, West Highland White Terrier Club of California, and United States Kerry Blue Terrier Club. Beatrice Godsol of Dixon will judge best in show.

West Highland White Terriers descended from old-type Cairns and were perpetuated by a few families, notably the Malcolm family of Poltalloch, Scotland. Earlier practice was to destroy the white puppies of the Cairns and save the blacks, which became the Scottish Terrier breed.

SUMMER is outdoor time for all, including most pets. Keep animals away from areas that are sprayed or dusted with chemicals. Also keep them off fertilized areas. It is believed that many dogs get fertilizer on their feet, scratch, and start a form of skin ailment that does not respond to any treatment until they are removed to another area.

Even though you use no insecticides and fertilizer, your dog can get into a heap of trouble just by chewing up your plants and outdoor furniture. There are commercial dog repellents that make the dog sneeze so he'll usually avoid anything so sprayed. Or you can dilute nicotine sulphate one teaspoonful to a quart of water and spray about the plants. Trouble is, some of these "treatments" will also keep you out of your own garden. You might try buttering objects with musterole or a thin solution of alum and water. Musterole may stain, but you won't need much! Be sure the dog has plenty of drinking water, for these "cures" will make him thirsty.

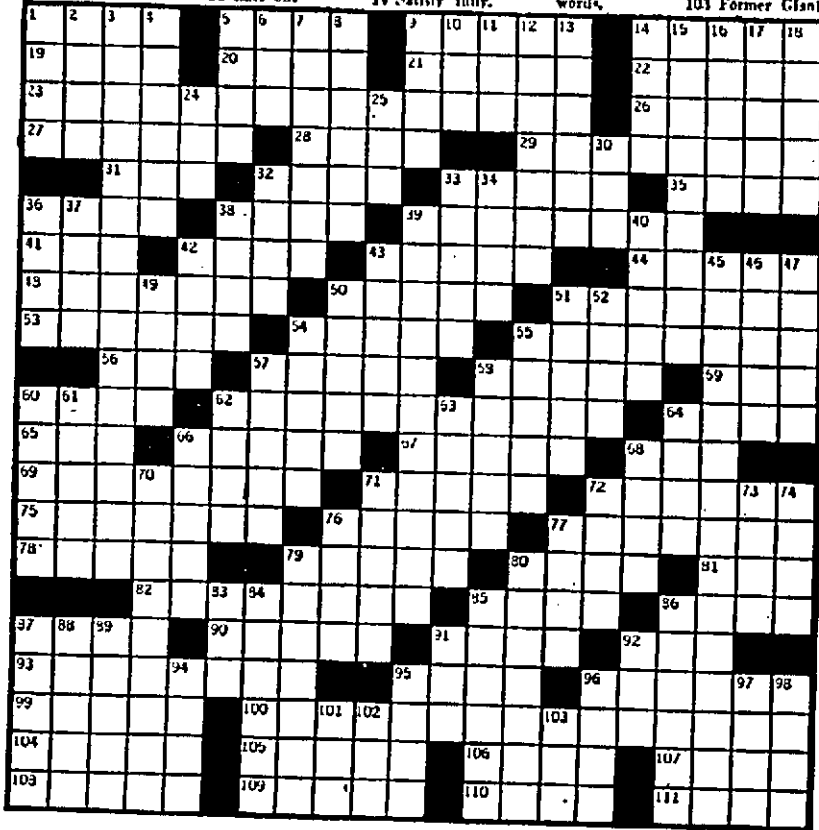

Obedience training is the best solution. And giving the dog more attention so he won't be bored and lonely will help.

ORANGE COUNTY Short-haired Cat Club has a kitten match today at Cambria Lodge, 1451 McFadden, Santa Ana. Many kinds of kittens will be there all day, including longhairs.

BILL WELCH

A Great Combination

THEY go together like Lunt and Fontanne, Drysdale and Koufax, Gilbert and Sullivan.

Steak and lobster. A perfect combination of flavors.

And the place to enjoy that combination in quiet, elegant splendor is the Tenderloin restaurant, 4363 Atlantic Ave.
Modern in design, with a decor of beautiful whites, golds and black, the Tenderloin is one of Long Beach's superior dining establishments, a gathering place for socialites, top business executives, political figures and sports names.

The Tenderloin's steak and lobster combination is arranged as beautifully on the plate as a work of art by Matisse or Rembrandt. The steak is a top sirloin, tender, juicy and charcoal-broiled to give it rich character. The lobster is from Australia—sweet, tender and accompanied by drawn butter for dipping. The combination ($4.50) includes a magnificent, huge salad mixed by a skilled waiter at the table; baked potato stuffed spectacularly with chopped bacon and melted butter; vegetable du jour, assorted sourdough and dark breads and coffee.

Equally delightful are the extravagant cuts of prime rib au jus, a wide variety of steaks (New Yorks, sirloins and ultra-tender tenderloins)
Utah mountain trout, beef
Stroganoff and chicken curry, priced from $3.50.

Astute manager Bill Welch notes that many important business deals are completed over the Tenderloin's white linen tablecloths during the popular luncheons, served Tuesday through Friday starting at 11:30 a.m.

Q. Arthur Miller, the playwright who was once married to Marilyn Monroe—is it true that he has renounced play-writing?—Jean Marshall, Wallingford, Conn.

A. No, he has finished a play, After the Fall, which Elia Kazan will direct.

Q. Who said: "The Anglo-Saxon conscience does not prevent the Anglo-Saxon from sinning; it merely prevents him from enjoying his sin"?—Harold Winniker, Milwaukee, Wis.

A. Salvador de Madariaga, Spanish diplomat and writer.

Q. Can you tell me if actress Dorothy Malone ever put her husband Jacques Bergerac on a weekly allowance so that he was discouraged from finding work?—Paul Rondo, Redlands, Calif.

A. Apparently there was no discouragement of working, whatever the financial arrangement may have been. "I begged him," Miss Malone testified at her recent divorce hearing, "to look for other than executive-type positions." Whereupon he was said to have raged, seized his wife by the throat, later "ended up twisting my ears."

Q. How old is Henry R. Luce, founder of Time and Life magazines?—J. Scott, Rye, N.Y.

A. Luce is 65.

A. Only some of the industrial exhibits.

Q. Did the late Pope's doctors ever tell him he was suffering from cancer?—Janet Elkins, St. Paul, Minn.

A. No. "We tried piously to deceive him," says Prof. Antonio Gasbarrini.

Q. Who was the Duchess of Argyll's father?—L. Swanson, Sioux City, Iowa.

A. George Hay Whigham, before his death at 82 in 1961 president of British Celine.

Q. Can you tell me how much Audrey Hepburn and Rex Harrison are receiving for their work in the film version of My Fair Lady?—Ann Pollock, Newark, N.J.

A. Miss Hepburn is receiving $1,000,000, Harrison $250,000.

Q. Do the seven original astronauts have personal life insurance over and above their GI insurance?—T. R., Houston, Texas.

A. Yes, each in the amount of $100,000.

Q. There is a strong rumor that President Kennedy recently appointed as chairman of the Foreign Intelligence Advisory Board, to replace Dr. James R. Killian, an attorney named Clark Clifford only because Clifford helped Kennedy in writing his book, Profiles in Courage. Is this true?—H. P. O., Washington, D. C.

A. Clifford helped in the preparation of Profiles in Courage, which was written by Kennedy and is soon to be telecast, but the Intelligence appointment, frowned upon in many quarters, was no payoff. Obviously, the President feels Clifford is qualified for the position, an opinion which several other knowledgeable men do not share.

Q. Bob Six, president of Continental Airlines—was he ever president of Chas. Pfizer & Co., the pharmaceutical house?—J. Hansen, New York, N.Y.

A. No, he was once married to a divorcee, Mrs. Henrietta Erhart Ruggles, daughter of the late William H. Erhart, once chairman of Chas. Pfizer & Co. They were divorced in 1952. Mr. Six subsequently married Ethel Merman, but is now married to actress Audrey Meadows.

Q. Doris Day recently finished a movie with James Garner called Move Over, Darling. Isn't this a remake?—Anna Morrison, Springfield, Ohio.

A. More than 20 years ago it was made with Cary Grant and Irene Dunne and entitled My Favorite Wife. It's the story of a man who, thinking his wife dead, remarries, only to have his first wife turn up on his second honeymoon.

Q. Would you please identify The Wolfenden Report.—C. L. Prentiss, Princeton, N. J.

A. It is the official report of the Committee on Homosexual Offenses and Prostitution presented several years ago to the British Parliament. It was prepared by a committee, headed by Sir John Wolfenden, of outstanding Englishmen drawn from the ranks of British lawyers, doctors, clergymen and sociologists. The report was recently published in this country.

Q. Can you tell what Judy Garland's husband, Sid Luft, does for a living?—Gordon Howard, Las Vegas, Nev.

A. Luft recently declared at a support hearing brought by his former wife, Lynn Bari, that he was without a job. He told the California Superior Court Commission that he had not bought a new suit in three years and that he obtains no money from Miss Garland other than their rent of $500 a month.

don't be a do-it-yourself doctor

by HERBERT L. HERSCHENSOHN, M.D.

The recklessness with which many persons take potent drugs not prescribed for them is difficult to understand. Is it possible that they neither know nor care that drugs can be dangerous if not taken with the proper precautions?

The sulfa drugs, when first introduced, required enormous amounts of water to prevent complications. Ann, a secretary, didn't know this, but she was aware of a painfully infected hangnail. A clerk in her office had had an infected finger for which her doctor prescribed sulfa drugs, and gave Ann the leftover tablets.

A few days later the infection around the fingernail subsided. Then suddenly, Ann felt a stabbing pain in her back. Within seconds she was writhing on the floor crying for relief.

At the hospital, it was discovered that sulfa crystals had formed in her kidneys, because she had taken the tablets without either copious amounts of water or haling soda, another precaution. As the crystals tried to pass through the delicate tissues they cut like tiny splinters of glass.

Another danger of self-administration occurs when taking drugs which are harmless for a while but to which the body eventually becomes sensitized. Penicillin is an outstanding example.

A society matron flew into a rage when her doctor refused to give her a shot of penicillin for a head cold. He explained that the injections were useless and, more important, might cause her to become so sensitive to this antibiotic that it could cause her harm if administered at a later time, when she really needed it.

A year later the doctor was called to her home and found her seriously ill with a lung infection. This time he needed no urging to use penicillin. Within half an hour after the injection, the woman felt as if thousands of pins were pricking her skin. She clutched her throat, gasped for breath and blacked out.

It took 10 days of hospital treatment to remedy the effects of the shot. She later admitted to the doctor that when he had refused to give her the shots for her head cold she found a nurse who had accumulated a supply of partially used vials of the antibiotic from various cases she had attended. This nurse was more than willing to give the wealthy matron all the shots she wanted.

Today, penicillin is available as tablets. This makes it even more likely to be used indiscriminately. These tablets must not be taken unless a doctor believes they are indicated and prescribes the dose required.

Antibiotics can have many strange effects if not taken properly. In a West Coast industrial plant a mysterious epidemic of itching appeared. At first it was thought to be caused by some substance being handled by the workers. But the cause was an assembly-line worker named Joe. Joe had a part-time job as a stockroom boy in a drugstore. He had access to many drugs, among them an antibiotic, aureomycin.

When any of his co-workers complained of anything, a cold, a wheeze, a pain in the back, Joe was ready with his bottle of capsules. He not only distributed them freely but recommended three times the dose prescribed by physicians for seriously ill patients. The intense, intractable itching followed.

Sometimes a drug will relieve a symptom for a while, but its continued use can cause the identical symptom. Unless this is known, a pernicious cycle occurs in which a person takes more of the drug, hoping for relief, at the same time aggravating the symptom he is trying to get rid of.

Alcohol can transform commonly used medicines into potions of crime and death. A Hollywood brawl occurred because a producer did not know about this and decided to doctor one of his party guests, a young actor who had an attack of chest pain. The producer, who had coronary heart disease for which he had been taking nitroglycerin tablets, gave one to his guest.

Earlier that evening the actor had imbibed quite freely. He was known for his mild nature and, although he drank considerably, the more he drank the gentler he usually became. However, after he had taken the nitroglycerin tablet, he suddenly attacked the producer, pinned him to the floor and tried to knock his teeth out.

The actor was one of those persons in whom nitroglycerin and alcohol do not mix, but cause one of the most violent forms of intoxication known. It can result in temporary insanity and crimes of a most brutal type.

dangerous combination

Alcohol and phenobarbital are another dangerous combination which is a frequent cause of death during sleep. If an autopsy is not performed police records may attribute the death either to possible suicide or heart attack.

A top executive of a large corporation and his wife had been to a party where they had a number of cocktails. When they got home the husband was so elated he felt he needed something to help him fall asleep. He resorted to a supply of phenobarbital tablets which he had often taken for insomnia. During the night he died.

No doctor would have permitted him to take the sedative after drinking. Liquor itself is a sedative, even though it excites at first. Its sedative action may be so delayed, however, that it happens to coincide with the sedating action of the phenobarbital. The total sedation may be deep enough to cause paralysis of the respiratory center in the brain and cause death.

Furthermore, a person who is under the influence of alcohol may not realize how much medicine he is taking and could easily take an excessive dose, or repeated doses, which can be fatal.

Drug addiction can often be traced to a "do-it-yourself doctor." The present furor in California about a widely used narcotic, Percodan, is based on the fact that this drug has been so easily obtainable and used without medical supervision.

Open your medicine cabinet and look at the collection of drugs staring back at you. What do you really know about the remedies you have collected?

Doctors of medicine devote their lives and countless hours studying the effects of drugs. They know the dangers as well as the virtues of the ingredients in the prescriptions they write and know what precautions to take.

In addition to the warnings issued by the manufacturers of the drugs and articles in medical journals, the Food and Drug Administration notifies each doctor by mail of special drug warnings of which the general public could not possibly be aware. A recent example of such a warning concerns the use of eye ointments containing cortisone-type ingredients.

If a person has eye trouble and decides to use such an ointment without consulting his doctor, it is possible for the cornea, if it is a thin one, to perforate or for the pressure within the eyeball to become dangerously high. In either case, blindness may result.

If you are healthy, you do not need medicine. If you are not healthy and are taking unprescribed medicines day after day, then you need a diagnosis. And for a diagnosis, consult a bona fide physician.

HE'S AMERICANIZING THE WORLD

by LLOYD SHEARER

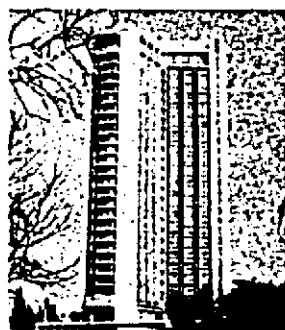

ROTTERDAM HILTON

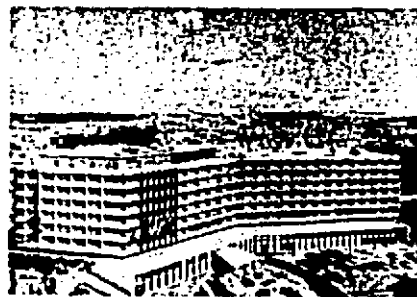

ATHENS HILTON

ROYAL TEHRAN HILTON

LONDON HILTON

CAVALIERI HILTON (ROME)

HONG KONG HILTON

Last month when Conrad Hilton opened three more of his hotels—in Tokyo, Hong Kong and New York—as part of the greatest spree of hotel-launching the world has ever known, I was working in London. One night I dined with an official from the American Embassy, and the conversation veered to the subject of the American Image in Europe. At the time, Connie Hilton had recently opened his 30-story hotel in London amid much criticism—the hotel overlooks Buckingham Palace, to the annoyance of some Englishmen who consider it an intrusion on the royal family's privacy.

"Do you know," the man from the State Department asked, "who would have made the perfect American representative abroad?"

I shook my head.

"Gary Cooper," he declared. "There was the American—shy, sincere, unsophisticated, a man of action, a man of the frontier, an American diamond in the rough."

None of this happened to be true of Gary Cooper. Sophisticated and debonair, educated in England, a painter by predilection and an actor by accident, Coop cultivated fast cars, impressionist paintings, modern architecture, the society of the yachting, international crowd, the acquisition of money and all the creature comforts it could buy. He was American, but just about as typical as Hollywood.

I told none of this, however, to the man from our State Department.

THE AMERICAN IMAGE

Instead, I volunteered the opinion that a more typical American now traveling the world, projecting a more realistic image of this nation, was the innkeeper, Conrad Nicholson Hilton.

At 75, Connie Hilton is probably the last of his kind.

Here is a man born in San Antonio, N. M., in 1887, when New Mexico was a territory, not a state; a product of the raw frontier whose formal education was haphazard and catch as catch can; a man of mixed stock, whose father was Norwegian Protestant and whose mother was German Catholic; a man who started his amazing rise with little more than guts, enterprise and an endless dream; a man whose career makes Horatio Alger look like a bum; a man who helped his family run a boarding house; a man who today runs a fabulous world-wide empire of some 60-odd hotels; a devout man of practiced faith and daily prayer; a tycoon whose handshake alone will confirm a multimillion dollar deal; a tall, simple, warm, smiling, friendly, uncultured, dynamic, highly charged American, his energy overflowing; a transplanted son of the hot desert endowed with all the virtues and faults, the strengths and weaknesses, of a man raised on the now-dead frontier of the West; a man as typically American as New Mexico, Texas, California, Chicago and New York; a man half-drowned in financial deals of enormous complexity and yet somehow still anointed with the chrism of innocence, wonder and the enjoyment of life.

After I finished describing Hilton, the officer from our London embassy grinned cynically. "This guy," he said flatly, "was once married to Zsa Zsa Gabor. Who could be married to Zsa Zsa Gabor and still remain innocent and typically American?"

I agreed that was a good question. "But surely," I countered, "you'll concede that any man who marries an actress is either neurotic or naïve. Conrad Hilton is not neurotic. But when it comes to women, he's incredibly naïve, which I submit is typical of Americans—especially businessmen."

"So far this year," I continued, "Hilton has opened up hotels in Teheran, London, Athens, Rotterdam, Rome, Montreal, Portland, Tokyo, Hong Kong and New York. I've been with him on several of these junkets, and some of the girls he's invited to go along for scenic purposes—well, you wouldn't believe it."

"On one recent flight he had a Hollywood actress who's long been recognized as a male collector. On another there was a society columnist with an I.Q. of 12. On a third we had a lady of the press who gushes like a severed artery and is referred to by her colleagues as 'the drone.'"

HOTELS, NOT WOMEN

"To all of them," I explained, "Hilton was courteous, gallant and respectful. He simply has no talent for judging women. The great love of his life is work. It broke up his first marriage, and it ruined his second, partially because he could not teach Zsa Zsa, the Hungarian charmer, any of the basic principles of bookkeeping or budget balancing. Hilton's greatest pleasure is drawn not from women, but from hotels. These constitute the passion of his life."

There are Hilton Hotels today in the U.S., Canada, Europe, Mexico, Asia, Australia and the West Indies. Next year and in 1965 others will sprout in Addis Ababa, Dublin, Manila, Caracas, Washington, D.C., Paris, Nicosia and St. Paul.

Conrad Hilton poses with second wife Zsa Zsa Gabor at the time of her night-club appearance in Las Vegas.

"Before I die," Hilton says, "I'd like to see at least one of our hotels in every leading city of the world."

When you ask him why, when you point out, as the London Observer recently did, that perhaps "Hilton Hotels are intended primarily to serve as air-conditioned havens for rich Americans alarmed by the hazards of foreign travel," when you accuse him of trying to Americanize the world, Hilton replies good-naturedly with: "What's wrong with that? What's wrong with bringing air conditioning to London and ice water to Athens and television to Hong Kong?"

"What's wrong with introducing American hotel know-how throughout the world? We don't build hotels overseas. We get local men to put them up according to our plans. They use native labor, native architects, native motifs, native materials. They maintain the character of their own country. All we do is lease the hotels and run them. We take one-third of the profits, the owners two-thirds.

"Whenever a Hilton Hotel has opened overseas, it has been followed by an increase in trade and tourism."

"I don't want to sound like a missionary," Hilton protests, "but what's wrong with showing the world the fruits of American freedom? I honestly believe, I really do, that Hilton International is contributing something to the cause of world peace. We're making jobs for people, we're promoting travel, local construction, a better understanding among people."

"You say the whole world is beginning to look alike, that there's not too much difference between the London Hilton and the Beverly Hilton. I ask you—what's the difference between a bowling alley in Los Angeles and a bowling alley in Paris? The world is shrinking and communications are expanding. That brings all of us closer together. The standard of living is beginning to level out. The closer people are, the more they begin to act and think alike. If they begin to act and think a little like Americans, what's wrong with that? I say, 'That's great.'"

HE LIVES BIG

A church-going Catholic, Conrad Hilton at 75 permits neither his work nor religion to cramp his joe de rivre. No egghead, a member of the American Legion, a one-time wearer of Stetson hats and high-heeled boots, a man seemingly obsessed by bigness, perhaps as a compensatory mechanism for his small-town background, a man whose modus vivendi is constructed on a trinity of work, prayer and the big dream, he lives the nonintellectual, soul-satisfying big deal life in a 60-room mansion, Casa Encantada, located on a Bel-Air hilltop in Los Angeles. He employs 15 domestics to care for the 9-acre estate, which boasts a swimming pool, a private elevator, 5 kitchens, laundry facilities for 25 families, service quarters for 12, with individual marbled baths.

Originally built at a cost of $2,500,000 for Mrs. Hilda Boldt Weber, widow of millionaire George Boldt of the Owens-Illinois Glass Co., the estate, completely furnished, was bought by Hilton in 1950 for $250,000. It is the type of tremendous, sprawling home which cries out for recognition and immediate owner identification, the kind of home Freud could write a tract and O'Hara a novel on, the type of home equated with the mentality of an Andrew Carnegie, a J. P. Morgan, a John D. Rockefeller and the other fin de siècle millionaires.

Here in his fabulous Casa Encantada, Spanish-speaking Conrad Hilton entertains on a grand scale for his friends, his children, his grandchildren, liking best to rumba and waltz into the early hours of the morning with young, bright, attractive women.

He has three sons by his first marriage (1925-1934), which ended in divorce. Nicky, his oldest, 37, and now the father of 2 boys, was the first husband of Elizabeth Taylor and is currently in charge of 8 Hilton airport motels. Hilton's second son, Barron, 36, is the father of 8 offspring and is a vice-president of Hilton Hotels. The third Hilton son, Eric, is father of three and the resident manager of the Shamrock Hilton in Houston.

With 13 grandchildren to his credit and more to come, with 33 domestic hotels, 18 foreign ones, another 13 under construction and 8 under contract, Conrad Hilton is now convinced that come what may, his name will endure.

In fact, he is quick to admit that for a small-town boy from Socorro County, New Mexico, he hasn't done badly. If anyone is to Americanize the world, Conrad Hilton is the man—and he's glad of it.

Sloppy teenagers

Is their untidiness a passing phase or a serious character defect?

Here's what experts—and youngsters—say

by ROSALIND MASSOW

Now a model of neatness, America's Junior Miss for 1963, Diane Sawyer, 17, admits she, too, was sloppy at 14.

■ "Nag, nag, nag—that's all my mother ever does," complains a girl of 15. "Pick up this, hang up that. What difference does it make to her if my room is a mess? I know where everything is!"

Ask an average American mother about her teenage daughter and she'll almost surely complain that her daughter is the sloppiest on earth.

A Wisconsin mother said she couldn't understand why her daughter was always running out of stockings until one day she discovered 16 pairs of dirty hose thrown in the back of a closet.

Parents complain that nothing seems to have value for adolescents. Expensive bicycles are left in the street, library books are buried under the bed, phonograph records are scattered everywhere, brand new dresses are heaped on chairs or even left on the floor.

As you read this, bitter battles are raging in millions of homes throughout the U. S., between parents and their untidy youngsters.

In or out of the home youngsters are consistent in their slovenly ways. School officials, recognizing the carelessness of the age, set up rigid standards of dress, banning dungarees and dirty sneakers.

Aggravation and frustration is the general tone of parent-child relationships. One mother is so fed up with her daughter's disregard of order that she does not bother cleaning up her room anymore.

Does her daughter care about it? Not a bit.

"I don't have time to put my clothes away," she said, "and anyway, nobody but me goes poking around my closet and bureau drawers, so who cares?"

NEED TO BE TAUGHT

It's mother who cares. Apart from damage to her self-esteem as a good housewife, she's afraid she's not teaching her children to be orderly, neat and responsible. And on the practical side, it's she who gets stuck with picking up what's strewn around.

No amount of yelling, nagging or even punishment seems to cure the teenage sloppy syndrome. But experts see nothing to get excited about. It's part of growing up, they say.

Teenagers who leave their rooms in disorder are usually revolting against adult control, says Dr. Mollie Schildkrout, Long Island child psychiatrist.

This 16-year-old rummaging through her drawer is perfectly at home in her cluttered room. Her idea of paradise is leaving clothes where they fall.

"Negative attitudes towards order are really an assertion of the child's independence," Dr. Schildkrot points out. "It's natural, normal and even necessary, to a moderate degree, for early adolescents to be messy, and parents should expect this behavior. The phase is temporary and should pass, providing parents have laid a healthy groundwork."

Although sloppiness is viewed as subconscious hostility towards parents, it also reflects the informality of our times. College boys today have made a practice of wearing shirts that aren't ironed and pants that aren't pressed. They prefer these garments just as they come out of the washing machine.

Girls, by exaggerating the new comfortable styles now in fashion, are fiercely asserting their individuality. The current view is that it's chic not to be chic.

Mrs. Helen Southard, consulting psychologist for the National YWCA, says that today's teenagers have a culture of their own, which adults should respect.

"One generation has no right to impose needless strictures on another generation. If teens want to wear dirty sneakers and dungarees, let them, as long as they are not acting against the rights of others.

"Parents should not nag youngsters about messy rooms, but should set certain limits on the clutter. If mother can't abide old apple cores or cookies crumbled on her youngster's desk, she should concentrate on that particular problem," says Mrs. Southard.

STRATEGY FOR MOM

"Decide what's important to you and how much you're going to fight," she concludes. "If you argue about clothes on chairs, dirty socks in drawers and all other sloppy habits, you'll be fighting constantly."

Scattered interests is also named as a major reason for teenage untidiness. Grace Hechinger, co-author of the new book, Teen-Age Tyranny, says varied activities are "natural and desirable. Teens do homework, watch TV and eat a sandwich at the same time. Adults should not be grim in disciplining them, but should help them concentrate on one thing at a time."

What does the adolescent girl herself feel?

"Much ado about nothing," says Diane Sawyer, 17, winner of the 1963 title of America's Junior Miss. An "A" student, just graduated from a Louisville, Ky., high school, third in her class, Diane says: "Every generation has its planned untidiness. Hair has to fall over your eyes in a certain way; your shirt has to be worn out of your skirt. It's all contrived carelessness, and not serious. Kids should be taught, however, to respect their own and other people's property."

All the experts agree that while parents should grin and bear it, they should also keep up the pressure, be patient and hope for the best.

SUMMER SCHOOLS. Approximately 4,000,000 American youngsters, 1 out of every 12 grade and secondary school students, are currently attending summer classes. At least half are enrolled in various enrichment or advanced-study programs. Many educators are in favor of abandoning long summer vacations, pointing out that the system of 90-day school vacations originated years ago when children were required to work on farms and didn't need as much education as they do today.

WHY MARRIED WOMEN WORK. The two major reasons why 42% of all wives with children between the ages of 16 and 18 are working or seeking jobs are these: (1) The high cost of raising children, which makes at least two paychecks in one family a necessity; (2) boredom with housework.

RUSSIA VS. U.S. Soviet Russia's over-all economic standard of living is just about what ours was in 1920. The one disturbing comparison, however, is the alarming difference between the Soviet education of scientists and ours. The Russians are turning out twice as many engineers and scientists as we are. They hand-pick their most brilliant students, see to it that they get a complete education. Since a nation's economy in this day and age is primarily dependent upon its technological excellence, the nation with the best scientists and engineers will come up with the most productive economy.

CAMPAIGN CONTRIBUTIONS. Presidential campaigns cost a fortune. To the relatively few big contributors, promises are frequently made and obligations kept. To prevent this, both the Republican and Democratic parties are trying to woo the small subscriber. Two years ago the Republican National Committee began selling "sustaining memberships" for $10 each, came up with about 70,000 members good for $700,000. The Democrats have had a similar project in effect since 1957, but with a $3,800,000 debt left over from the 1960 campaign, they've had to concentrate of late on $100- and $1,000-a-plate dinners. The word has gone out in both party headquarters, however, to "woo the little guy." So watch your mail. You're about to be wooed.

FAST TRIM. French barbers, who now refuse to cut hair without also giving shampoos, are threatening the "6-4-2" treatment for their male customers. The "6-4-2" consists of 6 runs with the clippers, 4 snips with the scissors, 2 strokes with the comb. The barbers claim that's all they're willing to do for 70 cents. They're demanding an increase in prices, or else the "6-4-2."

FACT OF LIFE. One out of every 20 U.S. babies is now born out of wedlock.

PAIN WORRY. The best way to visit the dentist is "to accent the positive, eliminate the negative." At a recent meeting of the Southern California Dental Association, Dr. Leonard Monheim, professor of anesthesiology at the University of Pittsburgh, pointed out: "More people stay away from the dentist's office because of the fear of pain than for pain itself. A lot of people start getting hurt before they even walk into the waiting room. But the truth is that patients can be very comfortable in the dentist's chair if they can overcome their preconceived fear and just latch on to the affirmative and convince themselves that the dentist will help not hurt them."

Britain's Prince Charles (r.) strolls with schoolmate.

TEN YEARS OF ELIZABETH. In the 10 years she's been Queen of Great Britain, Elizabeth II has broken with tradition, has tried to get closer to her people. She's abolished the court presentation of debutantes. She's introduced informal palace lunches. She's built an art gallery at Buckingham Palace so the public may see the great royal art collection. And most important of all, she's sent her son, Prince Charles, 14, to school instead of having him tutored at home like all previous royal heirs.

INGRID BERGMAN. Two years ago Ingrid Bergman taped in London a television of Henrik Ibsen's play, Hedda Gabler. It's a tragedy of a ruthless, selfish woman who ends up a suicide. The play was scheduled for simultaneous telecast in England and the U.S. BBC presented the play in England last Christmas, but CBS-TV has been unable to find any sponsor in this country for the $300,000 production. If the network doesn't broadcast it by the end of this year, it forfeits its option rights.

JAPANESE SUPERMARKETS. Supermarkets have invaded Japan's retail business, revolutionizing the traditional Nipponese shopping pattern. Housewives who used to shop in half a dozen neighborhood stores now visit one self-service market. In the past few years 3,000 supermarkets have been built in Japan.

RACE WAR. Russia wishes the U.S. would quickly settle its racial integration problem. Reason: Asia and Africa tend to see the basic world struggle in terms of whites vs. nonwhites. Since the Chinese Reds are nonwhites, there is a tendency for Asians and Africans to side with them. Russians believe that the race struggle works against them, since as members of the white race, they're in the minority.

Air Force Sergeant Ted Wing and family have fun fishing from trout-farm stream during visit to Rogers. From left: Debbie Kay, 13; Ted, 37; Betty, 32; young Ted, 9.

The "arrest": Trooper Leon Clinton (r.) hauls Wings' car, invites family to visit town for 24 hours, all expenses paid.

Kiwanis Club throws banquet for Wings; present are Mayor Puckett, Trooper Clinton (standing, 3d and 4th from left).

A GOOD PLACE TO GET arrested

If a cop stops you in Rogers, Ark., don't panic—you're about to have the time of your life.

ROGERS, ARK.

One morning a few weeks ago, Master Sgt. Ted Wing and his family fell into one of the most unusual tourist traps in the nation.

The Wings were on an automobile trip which took them through this pleasant small town (population 7,600) in the northwest corner of Arkansas. As Ted, his wife, Betty, and their two children were driving along, a police car suddenly wheeled onto the highway, roared in pursuit of the Wings and waved them to the side of the road.

Wing obediently stopped his car, and as he waited nervously for the trooper and his companion to approach, he wondered what was up. As far as he knew, he hadn't broken any laws.

His bewilderment grew when the trooper grinned, held out his hand and said: "Howdy, folks! I'm Leon Clinton and this is Mayor Puckett. We'd like you to be our guests today here in Rogers."

This strange "arrest" was the start of a 24-hour holiday on the town for the entire Wing family. By the time they departed Rogers next morning, they had received the red-carpet treatment in full.

They were royally wined, dined and shown the sights of the town by the mayor himself. They were interviewed on the local radio station and made honorary citizens of Rogers. To the delight of the children, they were given a ride on a fire truck and a complete tour of the Daisy Mfg. Co., makers of air rifles.

Finally, they spent the night in the town's best hotel and drove off in the morning with their car freshly washed and serviced. And it was all free.

Operation Tourist Trap is part of a unique piece of tourist propaganda dreamed up three years ago by state trooper Leon Clinton and seconded by Mayor Seward Puckett.

A car with kids

Clinton explains: "Once a week during the summer we stop an out-of-state car with kids in it and invite the family to visit our town, all expenses paid. It's our way of showing folks that Rogers is a friendly place." He added that not every family he "arrests" is willing to go along with the idea, but that most of them are intrigued and give it a try.

Operation Tourist Trap has been so successful that other towns are thinking of imitating it. As for Clinton, the man who thought it up in the first place, he has this to say: "It's a lot more fun than handing out tickets."

ANSWERS

1. TRUE. Even in this scientific age, some people feel that everything in their lives is caused by luck.
2. TRUE. But if they claim they can "prove it," they're likely to mention as proof only those situations that support their theory—ignoring those that do not.
3. TRUE. But there is no scientific basis to the widespread notion that good and bad luck days exist.
4. TRUE. The individual who depends on luck for success, rather than his own effort, generally fails.
5. FALSE. The complainer doesn't suffer greater misfortunes than anyone else. He just refuses to face the fact that life is not a bowl of cherries, that everyone meets frustration occasionally.
6. FALSE. "Unlucky" people talk a lot about their misfortunes. Some even boast about their bad luck.
7. TRUE. Some people fear that talking about their good luck arouses envy and hostile thoughts that actually bring bad luck. Believing that others enjoy hearing about bad luck, people are likely to discuss their troubles, not their triumphs.
8. FALSE. Some people expect life to go well without lifting a finger. They fail to take ordinary precautions against accident or failure, thus frequently "create" their own bad luck.
9. FALSE. You are probably too absorbed in yourself to care about other people's troubles.
10. FALSE. Instead of rejoicing, you feel that your sudden good fortune is merely a trick.
11. FALSE. Both types are equally unrealistic.
12. TRUE. People who are not superstitious often use luck as an excuse for success or failure.
13. TRUE. If you are preoccupied with your luck, you are likely to be unable to cope with life as it is.

What is luck? "A person's own appraisal of reality," according to Dr. Feldman. His research has revealed the following:

Most people say they are not superstitious, but many believe that "bad luck" dogs their steps. Typical is the "everything-happens-to-me" fellow. Whenever he wears a new suit, he spills something on it; whenever he drives a new car, he scrapes a fender.

The truth is that the mishaps he gripes about do happen to him—but happen infrequently. And he ignores the fact that they also happen to others.

Most of us take mishaps in stride, but Mr. Unlucky sees sinister forces at work when he breaks a shoelace, stubs a toe, misses a train.

What's wrong with him? Basically he's a Peter Pan who won't grow up. He wants everything to come easily.

His opposite, Mr. Lucky, is equally immature. He, too, attributes his fate to Lady Luck rather than to his own actions and efforts. Because he is sold on luck, he may never know the real value of his abilities.

Most of us, of course, don't take luck too seriously. We may knock on wood now and then, but we don't hesitate to make major decisions on Friday the 13th. Most of us are much too sensible to believe deeply in luck.

Or are we?

What Are the 5 Requirements of an Ideal Laxative

for People 45 and Older?

A frequent complaint of people in their middle years is constipation. The cause is commonly insufficient bulk in the diet and a general slowing of bodily functions. Based on these facts, a medical study concludes that an ideal laxative for people 45 and older must meet five essential requirements: 1. Sufficient Bulk—2. Soft, Moist Bulk—3. Gentle Action—4. No Harsh Ingredients—5. No Digestive Interference. Doctor-recommended Saraka Granules effectively meet all of these requirements. Saraka's natural, all-vegetable ingredients supply the soft, bland bulk and mild stimulating action to promote normal elimination. And without irritation, griping, or interference with other bodily functions. For a generous trial supply, send 10¢ to Saraka, Dept. P-2, Kenilworth, New Jersey.

Bringing Up Baby***
Hints Collected by
Mrs. Dan Gerber,
Mother of 5

wanderlust, anyone?

Of course! Babies, like everyone else, want to see the world. What better reason for trying to creep? And those first attempts at creeping are adorably awkward, wonderful to behold. Some try it forward, others backward. Still others fancy crabwise creeping. No matter what style your baby selects, the important thing is that he's learning the 3 big C's: Confidence, Co-ordination, Control. Happy new horizons!

Girl or boy creepers, sit-about or gadabouts, every darling one of them needs protein . . . to help develop strong muscles. Tasty way to give baby extra protein: Gerber High Meat Dinners. These baby-style "casseroles" have 3 times as much meat (and therefore much more protein) as regular combination baby dinners. And all this savory meat is subtly blended with garden-good vegetables for bright flavor . . . hearty nourishment. 5 varieties, strained or junior.

Roaming routine. When baby becomes a "four-walker" you'll really have to keep an eye on your traveler. Good idea to schedule his roaming times when you have some watching time. Say, when you're taking a "breather" or doing some sit-down chores. When you return baby to his play pen, a favorite toy, a snack of Gerber Fruit Juice or a Teething Biscuit will help overcome possible resentment at the confinement.

Lip-smacking sipping with nutritional leanings. Gerber Strained Fruit Juices leave nothing to be desired in the way of flavor delight . . . and they're high in vitamin C. Has baby tried the new Orange-Apricot or Apple-Cherry Juices yet?

Reminder division. Rooms where baby has crawl privileges should be checked constantly for safety. Household hazards which may not occur to you: floor-drooping plants, dangling appliance cords, rocking chairs, dropped pins or buttons.

A word from Dan Gerber. "Our agricultural experts work on a year-in, year-out basis to improve the quality of your baby's food. Take Gerber Green Beans, for example. Over a period of years, our Agricultural Research Department experimented with several green bean varieties to develop a superior strain. As a result of these efforts, the beans we use are tender, succulent and extra-flavorful . . . have less fiber, more flesh . . . and most important, they have a deeper color which indicates a higher nutritive value."

Important: Gerber prepares over 100 baby foods — cereals, strained and junior — to meet your baby's nutritional needs. We're proud to say: "Babies are our business . . . our only business!"

Happy ideas for babyhood

SUGGESTIONS FROM
MRS. DAN GERBER

Something special for your pride 'n' joy—protection personified in the shape of Gerber Snap-On Cover-All Bibs. Generously cut, they cover baby from shoulder to lap...give waterproof protection from spills and splashes. Deep, dribble-catching pocket across bottom of bibs is another clothes-saving feature. Adjustable neck openings and under-arm snaps for easy on-and-offing.

Gerber Cover-All Bibs are made of soft, white polyvinyl film that's easily wipeable and machine-washable. Decorated with a frisky kitten and bright-eyed bunnies, printed with pink, blue or yellow non-toxic ink. Available at your favorite food store or supermarket.

Happy hints to help perfect hand-to-mouth co-ordination: Gerber Cookies for toddlers and Gerber Teething Biscuits. The Cookies have an old-fashioned flavor that's cinnamon-y good right down to the last crunchy munch. Nutritious, too! They have twice as much protein as most other cookies, plus important B-vitamins in the icing. Gerber Teething Biscuits are extra hard and waffle-surfaced to provide the biting satisfaction baby wants and needs. Scalloped edges make them easy for little hands to hold.

Cereal magic with a fruitful viewpoint: Gerber Strained Oatmeal or Mixed Cereal with Applesauce and Bananas. Each cereal is cooked with fruit and ready to serve. The flavors are delightfully subtle...the texture marvelously moist and smooth. In the nutrition department, both are enriched with iron and important B-vitamins. Why not try a jar soon and watch your baby's appetite rise to the occasion?

I looked and looked for a long time before I found the girl I thought was right for me. So I took her home to meet my mother and said: "Mom, this girl is great. She loves to cook, she loves to sew, she takes care of the house, she does everything."

"Wonderful," said my mother enthusiastically. "I'll use her on Tuesdays and Thursdays."

A new bourbon-flavored tooth paste was invented, and a group of people have been testing it for the past six months. And do you know what the findings were? After six months of using the bourbon-flavored tooth paste, they reported that they had 40% more cavities and couldn't care less!

A fellow walked into a psychiatrist's office, took out a cigarette, tore off the paper and began pushing the tobacco up his nose. The doctor took one look at the man and said, with concern: "Oh, I see you need my help."

"Yeah," replied his patient. "You got a match?"

The scientists say that we are living in a wonderful world. They say that today with atomic energy you can take one lump of coal and heat up a whole building for an entire year. Well, this is nothing new! I had a landlord in Brooklyn who did just exactly that for 15 years.

MY FAVORITE JOKES

by GENE BRENNER

Editor's Note: Gene Brenner, Brooklyn born and bred, is a young artist turned comedian. Like many artists, Gene could never make a living from his paintings, so he took odd jobs around the country. One of these was as social director at a Catskill Mountain resort. Another was as a comic in a burlesque house. Gene then graduated to the night club circuit, appeared at the Playboy in Chicago, the Town Casino in Buffalo, the Bali-Hai in Dallas and many others. A bachelor, Brenner lives in New York City, where he still spends his spare time painting.

The Internal Revenue Bureau has a system for getting my money which is called "Estimated Income for Next Year." And they expect me, in a business which fluctuates as much as mine does, to estimate what I'll make next year! Well, I filled it out for them. I wrote down $15,000. But I didn't sign it. I figure if I have to guess what I'm going to make, let them guess who sent it in!

I don't know why I have to have such bad luck. In my business, I'm supposed to be well dressed. But because my wife is such a nut, I have to travel around the country with just one suit! She had been bugging me for two years to take her on a boat trip, so we finally went on a cruise. And you know the two portholes in the stateroom? She thought they were the washer and drier!

And speaking of my luck, I once had a strange dream in which I kept seeing the number five. I got up and looked at my watch—it was five o'clock. I ran downstairs and a bus was coming—number five bus. I got on the bus—on it were five people. The bus was going to the race track so I went along and sat through four races. On the fifth one, I made my move. I went up to window number five and put $500 on number five. He came in fifth!

STRONG WORDS by Ton Smits

ANECDOTE OF THE WEEK

Peter O'Toole, who stars in Lawrence of Arabia, was in Hollywood recently to promote his picture. Invited to a producer's home for dinner, he was asked by the hostess which part of the turkey he preferred.

"If it's okay with you," he said, "I'm partial to the breast."

The hostess smiled diplomatically. "I don't know how they describe that part of the turkey in Yorkshire," she said, "where I understand you come from, Mr. O'Toole. But here in America we call it 'white meat.'"

The following day O'Toole stopped at a florist shop in Beverly Hills, bought an expensive corsage for the producer's wife, enclosed a card which said, "Thank you so much for last night. Please do me a favor and pin the enclosed on your white meat." ■

ACCIDENT INSURANCE

Only 50¢ a MONTH

Independent Press-Telegram

It costs a whale of a lot to be laid up by an accident—any kind of accident. When the family bread-winner is hurt and can't work, his income is usually reduced or stopped entirely. Result? The family savings are drained so much that it may take years to recover from the high accident costs.

Bills for medical treatments, X-rays, hospital rooms, wheel chairs and a dozen other unexpected expenses, take a big chunk out of anyone's hard-earned savings.

This insurance is designed to help you solve the Accident Expense Problem. You may find it hard to believe, BUT this policy—at a cost of little more than a penny a day does pay the benefits shown below, for accidents at work, at home, in your automobile, on the street, and even at play.

Hundreds of claims are paid every week to men and women, like yourself, who never expected to be hurt. But they realized that, since one American in every 12 gets hurt each year, they just couldn't afford to be without this low-cost protection.

Take advantage of this great Reader Service—the personal accident insurance that brings you cash when you need it most! Send in your application today!
